Two Mishaps In Texas Take Lives Of Twelve

Icy Montana Braces For New Blizzard

27 People Die In Cold Wave Across Nation

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Snow-swept, frozen Montana braced Saturday for a new blizzard and cold wave.

The storm warnings went up just as Montana was beginning to dig out of record snows and thaw out from record cold. A seven-mile ice gorge on the Missouri River threatened a rest home near Townsend, Mont., and stockmen raced to get feed to thousands of stranded cattle and sheep.

The same cold wave which pushed Montana's temperature to a low of 46 below Friday had spread from the Rockies to the Appalachian Mountains and claimed at least 27 lives across the nation.

DEAD

There were seven dead in Montana, eight in Illinois, six in Iowa, four in Indiana, and one each in Michigan and Kansas.

Temperatures went to an unofficial 30 below at Belle Fourche, S. D., 25 below at Phillip, S. D., and 19 below at Rapid City. Record lows were reached at Valentine, Neb., with 22 below and at Spencer, Iowa, with 13 below.

The new storm beating down on Montana was not expected to be as severe as the blizzard which buried Helena under a record 21.5 inches of snow Thursday. But forecasters said 30-mile-per- hour winds would sweep at least three inches of snow and sub-zero cold into the state, adding up to "a blizzard condition."

Just in case, officials marshalled a small army of 650 men and 300 pieces of snow removal equipment to battle the new storm.

Townsend, a community 32 miles southeast of Helena became the greatest danger center. The Missouri River was frozen solid for seven miles at Townsend and the flooding backwaters were within less than a mile of town.

The flood waters were already two feet deep in an area where a rest home and a butchering plant were located. Pumps were at work keeping the water out of the home and Sheriff Roger L. Foster said, "If the water rises another two or three feet we'll have to evacuate the 20 or so persons from the home."

Townsend itself was under no immediate flood danger, Foster said, but he added this was "a possibility we can't overlook."

About 150 head of cattle stranded on an island in the Missouri were already falling victims to the flood. Some had died and ice was frozen six inches deep on the legs of others.

United Givers Show Gain In Fund Operation

The grand total at the end of the sixth week of the United Givers fund effort reached $205,998.57, according to James W. Moore, chairman.

"This leaves approximately $20,000 to go in this single fund which supplies money for operating budgets of 13 charitable health and welfare organizations in the United Givers program," Moore said.

The newest addition to the list of 100 per cent supporters is Monroe Automobile and Supply Co. which brings the total number of firms whose employes have all contributed through the payroll deduction plan to 86.

Moore urged all workers who have cards out to secure the pledges and turn them in so the drive can be closed during the coming week.

TEXAS DEFEATED

Mythical Crown Dashed By Loss

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse rolled over Colgate 71-0 yesterday and promptly accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day. But with it all, the Orangemen might be in for a bitter disappointment. They decided to head for Dallas because they figured they'd play Texas for the mythical national championship.

Hardly an hour after Syracuse KO'd the Cotton Bowl, Texas went down to a 14-9 defeat at the hands of Texas Christian in the biggest of a long string of upsets.

DEFEAT

Texas defeat left only Syracuse (8-0) and Southern California (8-0) which defeated Bayloy 17-8, as the only major undefeated, untied teams in the country.

Texas still can make it, and probably will, by beating Texas A&M in the Longhorn's final game Thanksgiving Day. Another Texas loss would send Arkansas against Syracuse. The Razorbacks took first place in the Southwest Conference, which sends its champ to the Cotton Bowl, by whipping

'Winter'

While winter is not officially here until late in December, Monroe and a large part of the nation have had a foretaste of what to expect. After several days when the temperature here was up as high as 70 degrees, only a few hours later down came real mid-winter temperature.

We of North Louisiana can look with thanksgiving at places like Helena, Montana where Saturday morning was recorded as low as 35 degrees below zero.

Advances

The Northeast State college is moving on all the time. The past few days three new and badly needed new buildings have received approval at an estimated cost of over a million and half dollars.

We also note that the Kilpatrick residence at 905 Filhiol avenue, is to be purchased. Personally, we have long been of the belief that as the college grows that some places on Filhiol avenue may be required for expansion purposes.

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP) — Legally free after 10½ years in jail awaiting trial for murder, Robert Lee Johnson was still too bewildered Saturday to leave the strange security of life behind the bars.

String Of Birthdays Reaches 105 Marker

WINNSBORO — James M. King can look back on more birthdays than most people, and today he'll observe another one, his 105th. Scene of the observance will be at his home near Fort Necessity on Winnsboro Route Two, where an informal family dinner will be held.

Last night members of his family reported that "Uncle Jim's excellent health will permit him to enjoy a birthday celebration and visits of friends and relatives to the fullest extent."

He has been in the hospital only once, and that was on his 99th birthday. Since then his only illness has been a slight cold.

The retired farmer and merchant's only handicap, relatives said, is impaired eyesight. He eats three meals a day, whatever type of food he wants, sleeps well, and particularly enjoys listening to the radio.

His favorite programs are ball games and news. "Uncle Jim" stays up throughout each day. He says that, "If I took a nap during the day I wouldn't sleep good at night," and he attributes his long active life to regular hours and hard work. He has never used tobacco in any form.

A native of Independence County, Ark., King was 11-years-old when the Civil War ended. He has lived in Franklin parish since 1870, and has been in the same house for the past 72 years. The cemetery where his father,

Wisconsin Berries Get Seize Order

First Batch In Area To Be Under Suspect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Welfare Department said Saturday night it is asking the Justice Department to seize in Chicago a shipment of tainted cranberries grown in Wisconsin.

Cranberries previously found to be contaminated with a weed killer had been produced in Oregon and Washington. This is the first suspect batch to have been produced outside the Pacific Northwest states.

The Wisconsin shipment is now in a Chicago warehouse. The Food and Drug Administration said its chemists had tested the berries and found them to contain residues of aminothiazole, a weed killer which the government has said causes cancer in rats.

652 DAYS

The cranberries involved in Saturday's action amount to 652 bags of 60 pounds each of whole frozen berries — a total of 39,120 pounds. The Welfare Department said the berries were shipped from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., on Oct. 8.

It was in Wisconsin Rapids only Thursday night that Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he had eaten four helpings of cranberries in disregard of the advise of Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming.

Flemming last Monday had advised people to shun cranberries until the present situation is cleared up.

Favrot Declines Comment About School Case

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Dist. Atty. J. St. Clair Favrot Saturday declined to comment on a charge that he failed to consult attorneys for the joint legislative committee on segregation before replying to a federal motion to integrate schools here.

William M. Shaw, general counsel for the segregation committee, told Favrot and school board president Pat Collier in a letter Wednesday that Favrot's choice of legal defense was not an appropriate one at this time.

Favrot filed five motions to the U.S. District Court suit, one asking that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People be included as an indispensible party.

LETTER

Shaw's letter also told Favrot "this fight is not a one-man operation and the wisest course is to use the best assistance available."

The school integration motion was filed for several Negro children by A. P. Tureaud, New Orleans, long-time counsel for the NAACP.

The motion asked that the federal court order East Baton Rouge and St. Helena Parishes to

Woman Loses 144 Pounds

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A woman volunteer in a University of Tennessee Medical School research program has peeled off 144 pounds of fat in 39 weeks.

Dr. I. Frank Tullis, chief of the school's division of medicine, said the woman — who weighed 473 pounds at the start—has existed on a milk shake-like formula plus black coffee, tea and water in prescribed amounts.

She is one of three "seriously overweight" volunteers taking part in the program delving into the cause of fatness and what happens when people lose weight.

The volunteers are fed the formula four times daily. It has a dried milk base with adequate protein, fat, carbohydrate, vitamin and mineral content.

Leaders May Be Unable To Resign

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—If a new federal investigation results in a federal court suit in Dallas county, election official may find themselves barred even from resigning to keep from registering Negro voters.

Justice Department officials, who ordered federal agents back into the west Alabama county to check again on complaints of discrimination, have refused to discuss the possibility of an injunction suit.

Complaints that Negroes were denied the right to vote because of their race brought a suit in Macon County nearly a year ago. Its purpose was to prevent registration officials from rejecting any prospective Negro voter who meets the qualifications fixed by law.

HEAD

The chairman of the Dallas County Board of Registrars, J. L. Tackett of nearby Marion Junction, says he wouldn't be surprised to see a companion suit filed in this country where Negroes outnumber white residents nearly 2-1.

Despite the preponderance of Negro population, only some 520 of them are registered to vote compared with an estimated 8,000 white voters.

Dallas was one of six Alabama counties where federal Civil Rights Commission agents looked into complaints from rejected Negroes last year. Grand juries impounded registration records in Dallas and four other counties to keep them out of the hands of the commission investigators.

2 Children Lose Lives In Flames

CLAYTON (Special) — Two Negro children were burned to death here about 3 p.m. yesterday when they were trapped in a housefire resulting from a faulty heater. Loretta Lee Pankey, age two and her eleven-month old brother, Willard Connel, were fatally burned when their mother, Ella Pankey, left the two near a wood heater in the frame home while she was busy washing in the back yard.

REPORTS

According to reports, the door was left ajar and the wind blew flames from the heater out of the faulty piping, catching the wallpaper on fire, which quickly spread throughout the house.

The mother did not notice the smoke until some time later, and intense heat made it impossible to get near the doorway and rescue the children inside. Neighbors were summoned, but all attempts at rescue were useless. A fire truck arrived to combat the blaze, but only half of the frame dwelling was saved by firemen.

Other houses nearby were endangered by the wind-whipped flames but firemen took precautionary measures to insure safety, and no other buildings were ignited.

Radio Contact Lost With Red Space Station

MOSCOW (AP)—Radio contact has been lost with Lunik III, the Soviet space station that took the first pictures of the hidden side of the moon, Tass reported Saturday. The moon-circling rocket was launched Oct. 4.

Prof. Leonid Sedov, prominent Soviet scientist who earlier this year was elected president of the International Astronautical Federation, made the disclosure in an article in the Communist party paper Pravda, Tass said.

He said radio contact might have been lost because of a collision with a meteorite. Sedov also said the Russians had hoped to obtain more details from their space vehicle on its later travels.

REPORTED

Sedov was reported Saturday en route to the United States to attend a conference of the U.S. Rocket Society in Washington, D.C.

Survey Notes Dull Wives Are Happier

DETROIT (AP)—A wife who's duller than her husband is more likely to have a happy marriage than if she's smarter than he is.

That, at least, is the preliminary conclusion of extensive research of Duke University psychiatrists into the marital bliss of older couples ranging in age from 60 to 93. The study generally jibes with earlier findings about younger married couples.

The findings about aged couples were described by Duke doctors Ewald W. Busse and Carl Eisdorfer at the Gerontological Society which wound up its three-day annual meeting here Saturday. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

The doctors arrived at their conclusion by interviewing the aged couples about their marriage happiness and giving them intelligence and psychological tests under scientifically controlled conditions. Then, the results of the interviews and tests were compared.

In the comparisons, the research report showed, a much higher number of the less happy couples had a wife who was mentally superior to her husband than the happy couples.

In questioning the couples about their marriage, the researchers asked them to rate their attitude in five degrees ranging from very happy to very unhappy. When the partners gave different answers, the lowest rating was used.

"None of these couples were very unhappy," Busse and Eisdor-

Six Listed As Former Area People

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Six former Ruston, La. residents were among 12 people killed in Texas last night in separate mishaps involving passenger vehicles and trains.

The Doyle Patton family, including Patton, his wife and four children, all formerly of Ruston, and two nieces, were riding in a pickup truck which was involved in a collision with a passenger train at a grade crossing near here.

The other mishap occurred in Sudan, Tex., when four men met death as their car was crushed by a freight train.

County Medical Investigator Frank Murray said it was impossible to tell for certain how many bodies were in the Patton truck, but it was feared eight had died.

SEARCH

"We have used search lights and done everything we can, but I doubt if we have all the bodies. We'll have to go back in daylight and look some more," he said.

Police tentatively identifed the Houston dead as Patton, 31; his wife Jauanita, 29; their children, Don, 10; Janice, 12, Sandra, 6, and Randy, 5, and two nieces, Rena Bryant, 2, and Lynn Brant, 8 months.

The latter two were children of James Bryant, of Houston.

The accident happened in the north part of Harris County. The northbound train drug the smashed truck a half-mile down the track.

Patton was employed as a maintenance man for a heating and air conditioning firm. The Pattons had moved from Ruston about three months ago.

Newsmen on the scene said the crossing had no flashing signals.

Parts of the truck were scattered along the roadbed. The train appeared to be undamaged.

The collision occured about 6

Aged Rebel Demands Food, People, Music

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams observed his 117th birthday by demanding coffee, scrambled eggs, and lots of people and music.

"When are all the people coming and where's the music?" the last surviving veteran of the Civil War asked Saturday when a daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, wished him a happy birthday at 5 a.m.

"Otherwise, he didn't have anything to say about his birthday," Mrs. Bowles said. "He promptly called for coffee. A half-hour later he got the scrambled eggs."

There was another cup of coffee at midmorning. By that time several congratulatory telegrams arrived.

WELL-WISHERS

Among the well-wishes was Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who also was celebrating a birthday.

Another telegram was from 4th Army Headquarters at Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio.

A postman delivered several bundles of letters and birthday cards.

2 Children Lose Lives In Flames

CLAYTON (Special) — Two Negro children were burned to death here about 3 p.m. yesterday when they were trapped in a housefire resulting from a faulty heater. Loretta Lee Pankey, age two and her elevenmonth old brother, Willard Connel, were fatally burned when their mother, Ella Pankey, left the two near a wood heater in the frame home while she was busy washing in the back yard.

REPORTS

According to reports, the door was left ajar and the wind blew flames from the heater out of the faulty piping, catching the wallpaper on fire, which quickly spread throughout the house.

The mother did not notice the smoke until some time later, and intense heat made it impossible to get near the doorway and rescue the children inside. Neighbors were summoned, but all attempts at rescue were useless. A fire truck arrived to combat the blaze, but only half of the frame dwelling was saved by firemen.

Other houses nearby were endangered by the wind-whipped flames but firemen took precautionary measures to insure safety, and no other buildings were ignited.

Radio Contact Lost With Red Space Station

MOSCOW (AP)—Radio contact has been lost with Lunik III, the Soviet space station that took the first pictures of the hidden side of the moon, Tass reported Saturday. The moon-circling rocket was launched Oct. 4.

Prof. Leonid Sedov, prominent Soviet scientist who earlier this year was elected president of the International Astronautical Federation, made the disclosure in an article in the Communist party paper Pravda, Tass said.

He said radio contact might have been lost because of a collision with a meteorite. Sedov also said the Russians had hoped to obtain more details from their space vehicle on its later travels.

REPORTED

Sedov was reported Saturday en route to the United States to attend a conference of the U.S. Rocket Society in Washington, D.C.

In his article reporting the loss of radio contact, Sedov wrote: "This can be explained by vari-

Survey Notes Dull Wives Are Happier

DETROIT (AP)—A wife who's duller than her husband is more likely to have a happy marriage than if she's smarter than he is.

That, at least, is the preliminary conclusion of extensive research of Duke University psychiatrists into the marital bliss of older couples ranging in age from 60 to 93. The study generally jibes with earlier findings about younger married couples.

The findings about aged couples were described by Duke doctors Ewald W. Busse and Carl Eisdorfer at the Gerontological Society which wound up its three-day annual meeting here Saturday. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

The doctors arrived at their conclusion by interviewing the aged couples about their marriage happiness and giving them intelligence and psychological tests under scientifically controlled conditions. Then, the results of the interviews and tests were compared.

In the comparisons, the research report showed, a much higher number of the less happy couples had a wife who was mentally superior to her husband than the happy couples.

In questioning the couples about their marriage, the researchers asked them to rate their attitude in five degrees ranging from very happy to very unhappy. When the partners gave different answers, the lowest rating was used.

"None of these couples were very unhappy," Busse and Eisdor-

Six Listed As Former Area People

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Six former Ruston, La., residents were among 12 people killed in Texas last night in separate mishaps involving passenger vehicles and trains.

The Doyle Patton family, including Patton, his wife and four children, all formerly of Ruston, and two nieces, were riding in a pickup truck which was involved in a collision with a passenger train at a grade crossing near here.

The other mishap occurred in Sudan, Tex., when four men met death as their car was crushed by a freight train.

County Medical Investigator Frank Murray said it was impossible to tell for certain how many bodies were in the Patton truck, but it was feared eight had died.

SEARCH

"We have used search lights and done everything we can, but I doubt if we have all the bodies. We'll have to go back in daylight and look some more," he said.

Police tentatively identifed the Houston dead as Patton, 31: his wife Jauanita, 29; their children, Don, 10; Janice, 12, Sandra, 6, and Randy, 5, and two nieces, Rena Bryant, 2, and Lynn Brant, 8 months.

The latter two were children of James Bryant, of Houston..

The accident happened in the north part of Harris County. The northbound train drug the smashed truck a half-mile down the track.

Patton was employed as a maintenance man for a heating and air conditioning firm. The Pattons had moved from Ruston about three months ago.

Newsmen on the scene said the crossing had no flashing signals.

Parts of the truck were scattered along the roadbed. The train appeared to be undamaged.

The collision occured about 6

Aged Rebel Demands Food, People, Music

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams observed his 117th birthday by demanding coffee, scrambled eggs, and lots of people and music.

"When are all the people coming and where's the music?" the last surviving veteran of the Civil War asked Saturday when a daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, wished him a happy birthday at 5 a.m.

"Otherwise, he didn't have anything to say about his birthday," Mrs. Bowles said. "He promptly called for coffee. A half-hour later he got the scrambled eggs."

There was another cup of coffee at midmorning. By that time several congratulatory telegrams arrived.

WELL-WISHERS

Among the well-wishes was Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who also was celebrating a birthday.

Another telegram was from 4th Army Headquarters at Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio.

A postman delivered several bundles of letters and birthday cards.

Before serving the eye-opener cup of coffee, Mrs. Bowles turned

The two doctors also said their research showed that a marriage is more likely to be happy if the husband is considerably older than his wife.

"The age difference in the happy group," they concluded, "is 5.9 years between the husband and wife; while in the less happy, the male is, at best, a month or so older than the wife."

They said they have not determined why this is so.

Of the couples studied, 41 per cent are sexally active, that is, they have sexual relations to some degree.

Sexual activity was not much different between the happy or less happy couples, the report said, but the happy oldsters did have sexual relations more often.

Twenty per cent of the males and 28 per cent of the females of the happy couples reported sexual relations at least once a week. Why the reported difference exists between husband and wives is not known.Presumably, one or the other partners has a poor memory.

She told him the "lots of people" he had asked for would arrive Sunday, when the old soldier's family is planning the biggest reunion ever.

Mrs. Bowles said practically all the 10 surviving children will attend but said she could not estimate the number of grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Bowles refused to make any changes in plans for the celebration despite a cold wave that moved in. It was raining and the Weather Bureau forecast a Sunday low of 27.

An American Legion band is scheduled to serenade Williams in the afternoon from the lawn of Mrs. Bowles' little frame home in northwest Houston.

The public has been invited.

"We probably won't have as many people and things will be a bit messy in the house if this rain keeps up," Mrs. Bowles said. "But we'll go right ahead with the plans. It won't bother Daddy."

A five-tier birthday cake topped by two Confederate flags and a picture of Williams in uniform was presented by Houston's KPRC-TV. The white icing has red, white and blue candles. Smaller Confederate flags flank this greeting: "Col. Williams, happy birthday, 117 years."

Saturday's action that the seizure was being initiated on the ground that the berries were shipped illegally in interstate commerce since no tolerance standards for aminothiazole in foods has been established.

This was the third seizure action instituted by the government since Flemming announced Monday that residues of the weed killer had been detected in some of the cranberries grown this year in the Pacific Northwest.

Information on the shipment of Wisconsin-grown berries was received here Saturday as plans were being pushed by Flemming to meet with representatives of the cranberry industry here next week.

Flemming said Saturday he has decided to convert the meeting into an open public conference in the auditorium of the Welfare Department building. The announcement Friday indicated it would be a closed session.

Flemming will preside at the conference to open on Wednesday morning, rather than Tuesday as originally planned.

Nixon was on what he termed a nonpolitical trip—although he saw a lot of politicians—when the cranberry question came up earlier this week.

Wisconsin Rapids is a cranberry center, and the vice president told reporters there, "I certinly expect to have cranberries for both Christmas and Thanksgiving." He said that at a banquet he ate four helpings.

Flemming said the tainted berries in the Chicago warehouse constitute the first lot grown outside the Pacific Northwest in which FDA scientists have detected residues of aminothiazole.

Tests are being conducted on an emergency basis throughout the country in an effort to separate cranberries and cranberry products containing traces of the weed killer from those not contaminated.

An Associated Press check of FDA regional offices indicated that most of the tests were turning out negative—that is, safe.

California's state health director, Dr. Malcolm Merrill, said Saturday at Berkeley that traces of the weed killer had been found in 46 of 65 samples of cranberries tested by the California Department of Health.

But Merrill said he did not believe the amounts found were a hazard to health.

Flemming announced that of 104 lots of cranberries tested to date in the 17 district laboratories of the FDA 101 have been found to be safe.

A survey among United States executives revels that nearly 30 per cent of them would like to retire between the ages of 58 and 62. Only 2 per cent want to retire under 48, while nearly 6 per cent set the age at 73 or over.

The government, insisting among other things that the registrars had no right to resign, has appealed to the Supreme Court.

Alabama law says registrars, appointed for four - year terms, may hold office until their successors are appointed. The Justice Department argued that "may" in that instance means "must."

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., who heard the case in Montgomery, ruled that the registrars in Tuskegee had a legal right to quit. One had been elected to the Legislature, the other had been appointed to another office.

But Johnson added this significant note of warning: "nothing stated in this opinion should be construed to mean that this court sanctions or will sanction the proposition that registrars are free to resign at will, indiscriminately and in bad faith, and thereby cast off all of their responsibilities and obligations as such officers."

In another major reversal, Maryland prevented defending champion Clemson from clinching the Atlantic Coast Conference title, 28-25.

In the Big Eight, Missouri tied Kansas and Iowa State for second place and a chance for the Orange Bowl by whipping Kansas State 26-0. Kansas defeated Oklahoma State 28-14 and Iowa State walloped San Jose State 55-0 in nonconference play.

Big Eight leader Oklahoma barred from consecutive appearances in the Orange Bowl, defeated Army 28-20.

Washington defeated California 20-0 and can clinch the host berth in the Rose Bowl by beating Washington State.

In the East, Penn State crushed Holy Cross 46-0, and Penn retained its Ivy League lead with a 24-6 decision over Columbia.

State Highway Patrolman John Bentley identified the men in the Sudan wreck as Modesto Olmos, 20, and Jesus Olmos, 30, believed to be from Moulton, Tex., and Lupe Cantu, age and address undetermined. The fourth victim was not immediately identified.

The car the men were in was carried 200 yards by the westbound freight.

Bentley said the four men were apparently farm laborers who had been working in the vicinity.

Site of the accident was just northwest of Sudan on an access road leading to the Negro district of the town.

Woman Killed In Car Wreck

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A car went off the road, struck a culvert and overturned several Times Friday night near Coushatta, 45 miles south of here, killing Hazel Lou Wooley, 24, of Shreveport.

State police said Miss Wooley was apparently thrown under the car. She was pinned under the wreckage when officers arrived.

A companion, Sterling Chandler, 35, an airman stationed at Barksdale Air Force Base, was not seriously injured. He told troopers Miss Wooley was driving.

Nickel was considered a comparatively rare metal until the latter part of the 19th Century, when extensive ore deposits were discovered on the island of New Cledonia in the South Pacific. The island remained the world's chief source of nickle until early this century, when Canadian production surpassed it.

Fermi Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, who discovered plutonium, is the winner of the $50,000 Enrico Fermi Award for 1959.

The Atomic Energy Commission which administers the award, said Friday that Seaborg was recommended by the AEC's general advisory committee and the choice was approved by President Eisenhower.

Seaborg, 47, is chancellor of the University of California. The citation said the scientist was honored "for discoveries of plutonium and several additional elements and for leadership in the development of nuclear chemistry and atomic energy."

Authorities Working On Okla. Slaying

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Police Friday still sought to untangle the mysterious slaying of a young Army wife.

A Negro suspect stoutly maintains he is innocent.

The possibility arose that Fern Romero, 25, was raped and her throat cut last Tuesday afternoon, not in the predawn hours of Tuesday as had been thought.

The white woman's body was found nude, lying in a pool of blood in her bedroom about noon Wednesday. Her two children, 27 months and 6 months, had been without food or care 36 hours until the slaying was discovered by neighbors.

Friday, police were told it had been determined the woman was slain approximately 36 hours before the autopsy. This would put the time at about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Romero's husband was attending an advanced artillery class at Ft. Bliss, Tex., at the time of the slaying. His permanent station is nearby Ft. Sill.

Still missing is a door facing containing a chain lock which officers feel is an important clue. Also missing is the woman's car keys and purse.

The children, in good condition, are being cared for by Ft. Sill authorities.

The Romeros were married in Baton Rouge, La., June 2, 1956. A Requiem Mass has been scheduled there Monday for Mrs. Romero, a native of Centreville, Miss.

Engineer Group Sets Meeting For Tuesday

A talk on the role of electronics in missile and space technology will highlight the Tuesday meeting of the Monroe subsection of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, it was announced yesterday. The meeting was set for 7 p.m. at the Hollywood.

Guest speaker for the program will be W. L. Shepherd, former Monroyan and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Shepherd of Monroe. He is presently serving as assignment chief of the Applications Engineering Section of Chance-Vought Electronics Division.

Shepherd graduated from Neville High School, Northeast at the time it was still a junior college and LSU. He served with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, with the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Laboratories in Redstone, Alabama, and on the Regulus I and Regulus II flight programs.

ASSEMBLY-LINE MILK

Automation Invades Dairy

ROSEMONT, N. J. (UPI) — Probably the latest thing in assembly-line dairy farming is going up on a farm formerly owned by bandleader Paul Whiteman.

It combined automation and separation in an effort to produce the ultimate in contented cows and uniformity in their milk.

The new concept in dairy farming is the brainchild of Prof. Mark Singley, an agricultural engineer is Lloyd B. Wescott, president of the board of control of the state Department of Institutions and Agencies. Wescott recently bought Whitman's Mulhocaway Farm in this rural Hunterdon County area after his own place had been taken over for use as a water reservoir.

Wescott is investing almost a quarter of a million dollars and his prize herd of 100 Guernseys in the project, according to Singley. Begun in August, the construction will be finished next spring.

It will mark a number of departures from dairy farming tradition, according to Singley.

For one thing, he said, the cows will not be put out to pasture the year around. And for another, they will be given complete freedom within the confines of their quarters, he said.

The campus is a quadrangle of one-story buildings, fences and alleyways designed to route the cows through an assembly line process of feeding, loafing and milking.

They also will be able to romp in a courtyard in the center of the quadrangle. But they will be broken into herds of 25 and there will be no socializing, according to Singley.

The segregation idea, he said, was Wescott's. It was designed to put milk cows of the same age and temperament into separate herds to avoid social "collisions." "Bossy" cows would be kept away from their milder counterparts, he said.

Also, said Singley, the cows will be fed on a specially-made feed instead of brush. Again, he said, the theory is designed to produce high standard milk through uniform, high - quality feeding. Productivity also will become uniform, he said.

It is contemplated that only two men will be needed to operate the dairy plant, he said. They will be aided by the latest in automation.

The whole concept is called "loose housing" by the dairy industry. It is opposed to the traditional "stanchion barn" method which uses pasture feeding and more restrictive measures in measures in dairy farming, he added.

Boy Discovered Huddled With Dead Relative

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A 3-year-old boy who had been staying with his grandmother since Tuesday because she was lonely, was found huddled next to her lifeless body in an unheated house Friday night.

Mary Chelig, 70, apparently died of a heart attack, the medical examiner's office said.

Her grandson, David Barber, was unable to say how long she had been dead. The boy was found by his father, Alphonsus Barber.

The father explained that Mrs. Chelig had been a widow for two years, and had been so lonely during the time that he and his wife, Rosemary, 34, often allowed one of their five children to stay with her.

Students Find Food In Cabin Survive Storm

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Cocoa and boiled beans they found in an abandoned cabin provided the only nourishment for two young college students trapped for more than two days in a Montana blizzard.

The storm swirled down on Rich Maxwell of Warm Springs, Mont., and Robert Amick of Billings, Mont., while they were hunting elk in the primitive mountain country of western Montana.

Maxwell finally hiked six miles through waist-deep snow to find help. Amick had a lame knee.

They had walked about six miles into the Blackfoot Valley when it started snowing hard, said Maxwell.

The youths came across the cabin which had a supply of wood, some cocoa and a jar of dry beans.

The boys tried to hike back to their car the next day, but turned back in waist-deep drifts when Amick's knee pained him. Snow continued to fall. The temperature was near zero.

They ate the beans and drank cocoa, taking turns eating from a spoon they found in the cabin.

Maxwell then set out for help.

Ireland Asks Powers To Keep Weapons Safe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Ireland asked the world's nuclear powers Friday to keep their atomic weapons "under their own lock and key" and guarantee not to transfer them to any other country.

External Affairs Minister Frank Aiken put a resolution before the General Assembly's Main Political Committee renewing Ireland's proposal to restrict membership in the world's "nuclear club" to the powers that now possess such weapons.

The freeze apparently would limit nuclear weapons to the United States, Britain an Russia, although Aiken left a loophole for the admission of France, which plans to hold an atomic test in the Sahara Desert.

The Netherlands and Ceylon expressed support for the Irish resolution in the first session of debate on it.

Aiken made it clear that the "nuclear club" freeze was a stopgap until possession and use of nuclear weapons is outlaws for all powers by international treaty.

The resolution, he said, asked the atomic powers to "assume the responsibility before their own people and before humanity for seeing that nuclear weapons are not spread throughout the world, until a cut-off of all production can be achieved and existing stocks devoted to peaceful uses."

See Donnybrook Rivers, Harbors

By B. N. TIMMONS
World Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —Attention in Washington is focusing on the liklihood of an all - out political Donnybrook next year over the Rivers and Harbors bill — with several Louisiana projects at stake.

The main speculation centers on whether President Eisenhower will again veto the oil, as he did in 1958, and whether Congressional opponents have mustered enough strength since then to override the veto.

The bill itself is now before the Senate Public Works Committee, having passed the House last session. At this stage, it is far from its final form.

Senator and representatives from both parties have the strongest possible incentive to add additional projects to the bill and thereby provide extra campaign fodder for the elections next November.

The Republicans, in particular, have a motive to make the bill generous — at least for states that are doubtful politically. Whoever they nominate for president, he will not have the enormous popularity and prestige that swept Mr. Eisenhower into office.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, will be firmly in the White House when the next Rivers, and Harbors bill is passed. This is the Chief Executive who vetoes the 1958 bill and made the veto stick. Congress trimmed a great many projects from measure before he would sign it.

He tried the veto again last summer on the Public Works Appropriations bill. It worked again. Congress passed a new bill, only slightly scaled down. It, too, was vetoed but for the first time since Mr. Eisenhower's inauguration, Congress mustered the two-thirds vote required to override. With the precedent broken once, many observers are wondering if it can be done again.

The bill as it stands now contains two projects for Louisiana. One is the Petit - Anse - Tigre Carlin project in North Vermillion Bay to provide a deeper channel and a mooring area for fishing vessels. Its estimated cost is $106.000 in Federal funds and $42,000 in local money.

The other project is much bigger. It would authorize construction of a channel 12 feet deep and 125 feet wide along Bayou Lafourche south of the Intracoastal Canal. The total cost would be $6.007,000, of which the Federal Government would pay $4,664,000.

Two other projects may be included if studies by the Corps of Engineers are completed in time. One is a navigation channel at Freshwater Bayou and a refuge harbor, which was delayed by local objections. A spokesman for the Engineers says the Corps hopes to complete its report on this project shortly.

Farther in the future are reports on studies of deepening the Ouachita River channel to nine feet as far north as Camden, Ark.; enlarging the Intracoastal Waterway to a minimum width of 300 feet and 16 foot depth from the Mississippi River to Brownsville, Texas; and a whole string of flood control projects upstream from Shreveport on the Red River.

Seaton Hopes Guam Can Get Representation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton hopes Congress will pass legislation at its next session to provide Guam with representation in Congress, the Interior Department said Friday.

In a statement summarizing the secretary's recent four - week inspection tour of U. S. possessions in the Pacific, the department said Seaton met with the legislature of Guam and heard requests for a resident commissioner in Congress.

A resident commissioner could serve on House committees and take part in House debate but would have no vote.

The department said Seaton "assured the legislators that their requests would be given his personal attention and that their desire for congressional representation is in keeping with the American system of government," the department said.

In addition to Guam, Seaton visited American Samoa and other islands in the trust territory of the Pacific.

The main speculation centers on whether President Eisenhower will again veto the oil, as he did in 1958, and whether Congressional opponents have mustered enough strength since then to override the veto.

The bill itself is now before the Senate Public Works Committee, having passed the House last session. At this stage, it is far from its final form.

Senator and representatives from both parties have the strongest possible incentive to add additional projects to the bill and thereby provide extra campaign fodder for the elections next November.

The Republicans, in particular, have a motive to make the bill generous — at least for states that are doubtful politically. Whoever they nominate for president, he will not have the enormous popularity and prestige that swept Mr. Eisenhower into office.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, will be firmly in the White House when the next Rivers, and Harbors bill is passed. This is the Chief Executive who vetoes the 1958 bill and made the veto stick. Congress trimmed a great many projects from measure before he would sign it.

He tried the veto again last summer on the Public Works Appropriations bill. It worked again. Congress passed a new bill, only slightly scaled down. It, too, was vetoed but for the first time since Mr. Eisenhower's inauguration, Congress mustered the two-thirds vote required to override. With the precedent broken once, many observers are wondering if it can be done again.

The bill as it stands now contains two projects for Louisiana. One is the Petit - Anse - Tigre Carlin project in North Vermillion Bay to provide a deeper channel and a mooring area for fishing vessels. Its estimated cost is $106,000 in Federal funds and $42,000 in local money.

The other project is much bigger. It would authorize construction of a channel 12 feet deep and 125 feet wide along Bayou Lafourche south of the Intracoastal Canal. The total cost would be $6.007,000, of which the Federal Government would pay $4,664,000.

Two other projects may be included if studies by the Corps of Engineers are completed in time. One is a navigation channel at Freshwater Bayou and a refuge harbor, which was delayed by local objections. A spokesman for the Engineers says the Corps hopes to complete its report on this project shortly.

Farther in the future are reports on studies of deepening the Ouachita River channel to nine feet as far north as Camden, Ark.; enlarging the Intracoastal Waterway to a minimum width of 300 feet and 16 foot depth from the Mississippi River to Brownsville, Texas; and a whole string of flood control projects upstream from Shreveport on the Red River.

Seaton Hopes Guam Can Get Representation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton hopes Congress will pass legislation at its next session to provide Guam with representation in Congress, the Interior Department said Friday.

In a statement summarizing the secretary's recent four - week inspection tour of U. S. possessions in the Pacific, the department said Seaton met with the legislature of Guam and heard requests for a resident commissioner in Congress.

A resident commissioner could serve on House committees and take part in House debate but would have no vote.

The department said Seaton "assured the legislators that their requests would be given his personal attention and that their desire for congressional representation is in keeping with the American system of government," the department said.

In addition to Guam, Seaton visited American Samoa and other islands in the trust territory of the Pacific.

Students Find Food In Cabin Survive Storm

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Cocoa and boiled beans they found in an abandoned cabin provided the only nourishment for two young college students trapped for more than two days in a Montana blizzard.

The storm swirled down on Rich Maxwell of Warm Springs, Mont., and Robert Amick of Billings, Mont., while they were hunting elk in the primitive mountain country of western Montana.

Maxwell finally hiked six miles through waist-deep snow to find help. Amick had a lame knee.

They had walked about six miles into the Blackfoot Valley when it started snowing hard, said Maxwell.

The youths came across the cabin which had a supply of wood, some cocoa and a jar of dry beans.

The boys tried to hike back to their car the next day, but turned back in waist-deep drifts when Amick's knee pained him. Snow continued to fall. The temperature was near zero.

They ate the beans and drank cocoa, taking turns eating from a spoon they found in the cabin.

Maxwell then set out for help.

Ireland Asks Powers To Keep Weapons Safe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Ireland asked the world's nuclear powers Friday to keep their atomic weapons "under their own lock and key" and guarantee not to transfer them to any other country.

External Affairs Minister Frank Aiken put a resolution before the General Assembly's Main Political Committee renewing Ireland's proposal to restrict membership in the world's "nuclear club" to the powers that now possess such weapons.

The freeze apparently would limit nuclear weapons to the United States, Britain an Russia, although Aiken left a loophole for the admission of France, which plans to hold an atomic test in the Sahara Desert.

The Netherlands and Ceylon expressed support for the Irish resolution in the first session of debate on it.

Aiken made it clear that the "nuclear club" freeze was a stopgap until possession and use of nuclear weapons is outlaws for all powers by international treaty.

The resolution, he said, asked the atomic powers to "assume the responsibility before their own people and before humanity for seeing that nuclear weapons are not spread throughout the world, until a cut-off of all production can be achieved and existing stocks devoted to peaceful uses."

Rockefeller Outlines His Labor Ideas

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Nelson Rockefeller told university students here Saturday to get into politics, but once again he disclaimed immediate plans of his own for a presidential venture.

Some 5,000 students and townspeople turned out on a crisp, sunny Saturday morning to hear New York's Republican governor speak in the University of Oregon basketball pavilion.

He got a good round of applause, took time to answer questions, and prepared to take in the Oregon State-Stanford football game at neighboring Corvallis and speak again at still another university.

There were no lapel buttons in sight to suggest a political campaign was under way and Rockefeller said he hadn't come to Oregon for that, anyway. In California, which he visited earlier, his possible contest with Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination prompted frequent speculation on the reason for his trip.

He told the student group that politics "is the business of human liberty" and Americans should be active in it.

He denied there and repeated the denial here that he had come west to feel the political pulse. It was just his interest in national and international affairs he said.

But Rockefeller told a news conference that Oregon's 37-year-old Gov. Mark Hatfield—who won office a year ago in the face of a Democratic tide — would be a "wonderful vice-presidential candidate."

He scheduled a late evening meeting with Hatfield and his advisors at the state capital, Salem, after a talk there at Willamette University. The two have conferred before and there have been occasional suggestions that Hatfield might be a running mate for him.

Although Rockefeller said he had made no decision on being a presidential candidate, Oregon's unusual primary election law could be important to him. He will be entered in the presidential primary here against Nixon—if both continue to be regarded as candidates—whether he wants a direct test of strength or not.

New Helicopter Announced By Texas Company

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A new helicopter that can operate with a load well above 17,000 feet and with an estimated ceiling of 30,000 feet was announced Saturday by Bell Helicopter Corp. after tests on Pike's Peak in Colorado.

The model thus overcomes some difficulties of earlir models which had flying difficulty in the thin air of high altitudes.

The new craft is called the 47G3 and is powered by a new Franklin turbo-supercharged engine made by Aircooled Motors, Inc., of Syracuse, N.Y.

A Bell spokesman said the craft provides "the pilot reserve power and safe rotor margins" for mountain work.

The model will be manufactured at the Hurst plant between Fort Worth and Dallas. First deliveries are expected March 1.

Flags Fly For Missing Cuban Major

HAVANA (AP) — Flags flew at half staff Saturday for Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, missing army commander given up for dead. But many Cubans were saying the mourning might apply equally to Cuba itself.

This island nation under Prime Minister Fidel Castro passed through another bad week. Castro lost by death two of the commanders who helped him overthrow Fulgencio Batista.

Besides Cienfuegos, Castro lost Maj. Cristino Naranjo and two corporals in a shooting spree at Cuban army headquarters here. While the slaying of Naranjo was blamed on a confusion of identities, it reflected the tension and temper building up in revolutionary Cuba.

And Castro had lost support of many other Cubans assailed as "rats fleeing a ship in danger." They are the Cuban disillusioned with the way the revolution is drifting.

Yet Castro, worried, weary and haggard, still is Cuba's most popular man. As those called rats dropped him, thousands of people for whom he promised a better life still cheered him.

Diplomats said Cuba's latest note to the United States did nothing to smooth badly ruffled relations between the two countries. The note rejected U.S. charges that the Castro regime is waging an anti-American campaign.

These sources said the note indicated Castro and his Cabinet have no intention of modifying policies Washington considers anti-American. For example, the Castro regime continued to expropriate rich U.S.-owned ranch and farm lands without waiting for formal legal action.

Reports from abroad that Castro's Cuban enemies are joining forces to try to overthrow him was another damaging development of the week. Although Castro's supporters publicly laugh at the prospects of his regime being overthrown, many are disturbed.

Still another blow fell on Cuba's ailing tourist trade, once a major prop to the nation's economy. An announcement in New York said various cruise ships that normally visit Havana with their thousands of free-spending Americans are omitting calls to Cuba this year.

Havana's tourist hotels already faced a bleak winter season of empty rooms because of tourist cancellations. Some of them feared the latest development was almost a death blow.

Rich Canine Dies At 15

ARNOLDS PARK, Iowa (AP)—Blondie, a golden cocker spaniel who had been beneficiary of her late owners' will, is dead.

The late Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hall bequeathed Blondie to neighbors, the Oliver Salzkorns, plus $200 monthly for giving the dog "loving care."

The Salzkorns moved into the couple's house rent free.

The Salzkorns were to get $5,000 if Blondie got a "suitable burial." The house is to be sold, under the will to provide the money.

Blondie was about 15 years old and her sight was failing.

The Halls—he was 74 and she 62—died three days apart last April. He died of a heart attack and she of apparent natural causes. Hall was a retired carpenter who had devoted much of his time to growing and selling vegetables in the community.

The court must find that the Salzkorns gave Blondie a decent burial before they get the $5,000, because the court is charged with seeing that the provisions of the will are carried out.

The Hall estate was estimated to be worth more than $20,000. Other beneficiaries of the estate are Hall's two nephews, Glenn Hall, who is to get $2,000, Jon Hall, who was bequeathed $1,000; and the Immanuel Lutheran church, which is to get $1,000.

Mill Strike Now In Third Year

EDITOR'S NOTE: A year ago this month, 1,200 textile workers walked quietly off their jobs at the Harriet - Henderson cotton mills. There followed a series of near - riots, shootings and dynamitings which finally prompted local officials to ask for help from the National Guard. Quiet has returned to Henderson this fall. But the effects of the long, unsettled strike are still being felt. A UPI reporter who covered much of the strike has revisited Henderson for an up-to-date report. His dispatch follows.

By KLINK COOK

HENDERSON, N.C. (UPI) — Businessmen in this small mill and tobacco town hardly realize there are some 600 unemployed members of the Textile Workers Union of America (AFL-CIO) engaged in a year-old strike at two cotton mills.

The Harriet - Henderson cotton mills, long considered the main stream in Henderson's economy, are producing at full capacity nine months after reopening with non-union help.

Along Main Street, businessmen say sales have increased by as much as 30 per cent above the same period last year.

The union walked out of the mills Nov. 10, 1958, in a dispute over arbitration privileges in a new contract. During the year that followed, dynamitings, shootings and other violence filled the strike scene.

NATIONAL GUARD CALLED

National Guard units were sent here to help quell recurring outbursts. Extra law officers and part-time deputies were hired in an effort to restore order to the town.

By early summer, the picket lines had quieted. Strikers assumed a passive resistance toward workers entering mill gates.

The mills reopened Feb. 16 with a handful of non-union help and, by May 30, operated at full capacity.

He said he expects his mills to be producing 27,000 pounds more per week by Dec. 1.

"Business has never been so good," said R. E. Satterwhite, owner of three large furniture stores. "I don't know where the customers are coming from. Very few sales have been made to people from out-of-town."

STRIKERS MAKE PAYMENTS

He said the unemployed strikers were "making their payments on time. I haven't had to repossess any furniture since the strike began."

School officials said this was the first year in their memory when book rentals for children of strikers "were all paid up." Spokesmen for public utilities said light, water and telephone bills "were paid when due if not before."

The union, camped outside the mill gates, suffered during the early months of the strike.

But, when it became evident the mills were resuming operations at full scale, the national union backed the strikers with food, clothing and money. A welfare system was set up to fill the basic needs of the strikers.

Twelve months after the strike began, union members cling to the belief they will win the apparently stalemated strike and get their jobs back. Some of the 1,200 who walked off the job a year ago have quit the struggle and gone back to work in the mills. But a majority is sticking with the union and refuses to reenter the mills without a contract.

Cooper, whose mills had operated for 14 years with a TWUA contract, said he would not negotiate again with the union. "I'm doing better now than I did last year. I don't want the union back."

Executive Withdraws Acceptance

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Aircraft executive Dr. Charles L. Critchfield Saturday withdrew acceptance of his appointment as director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency.

"Under present circumstances," he said, "I do not believe I could do justice to this important job."

Critchfield is director of scientific research for Convair, a division of General Dynamics Corp.

He said he has informed the Defense Department of his decision.

Critchfield said that general misunderstanding and public controversy had impaired his ability to serve.

The scientist was referring to statements by Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif and others who said there might be a conflict of interest in Critchfield's appointment to the Pentagon scientific agency because he still would retain his Convair job and pay, estimated at $40,000 annually.

A 1951 law permits the Pentagon to employ consultants but forbids them to participate in defense contract discussions involving their own firms.

"When I was asked by the Department of Defense to accept the post," Critchfield said, "I saw in the appointment an opportunity to serve the country in an area of critical importance where scientific confidence was essential."

He said he then was informed of the 1951 consultant law.

"I accepted the appointment, declining government pay," he said. "It is obvious now, however, that general misunderstanding and public controversy have most certainly impaired my ability to serve."

Under the appointment, Critchfield would have received no government pay. His predecessor, Roy W. Johnson, received a $19,000 a year salary.

In Washington, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said Critchfield had made his decision and "We, of course, accept it with regret."

McElroy also said in his statement it has been "most unfortunate that in this instance a situation of public controversy should have developed which will prevent the Defense Department from having the benefit of Dr. Critchfield's widely recognized scientific duties in this important post."

McElroy said Critchfield had been appointed under a provision of the 1951 law which he said "specifically authorized a procedure for obtaining a limited number of persons of outstanding experience and ability not otherwise available."

In the case of an appointment to one of these jobs without federal pay, McElroy said, every safeguard is erected to insure that the appointee will not be involved in any government business with a company in which he has a pecuniary interest.

"This had been done in the case of Dr. Crutchfield," McElroy added.

ARPA is responsible for the direction or performance of such advanced projects in the field of research and development as the secretary of defense designates, by individual project or by category.

Authority is provided for the agency to make contracts with private business and scientific help. With McElroy's approval the agency may acquire or build needed facilities.

Journalism Group Names New Leaders

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — V. M. (Red) Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Morning Tribune, was elected today as president of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity.

Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The Associated Press, was named honorary president.

Newton, who has led the fraternity's fight against secrecy in government, succeeds James A. Byron, news director of WBAP AM-TV, Fort Worth, Tex. Byron was elected chairman of the executive council to succeed Robert J. Cavagnaro, AP general executive in San Francisco.

Vice presidents elected at the closing business session of the four-day SDX convention were: E. W. Scripps II of Scripps - Howard Newspapers, Washington, for professional chapter affairs; Maynard Hicks, assistant journalism professor, Wahington State University, for undergraduate chapter affairs, and Buren McCormack, vice president and editorial director, Wall Street Journal, for expansion.

Edward Lindsay, editor of the Lindsay-Schaub Newspapers, Decatur, Ill., was named secretary, and Walter Burroughs, publisher, Costa Mesa (Calif.) Globe, treasurer.

Elected to the executive council were Robert M. White II, president, New York Herald Tribune; H. Eugene Goodwin, journalism director, Pennsylvania State University; Theodore F. Koop, Washington news director, Columbia Broadcasting System; Ralph Sewell, assistant managing editor, Daily Oklahoman and Times; Oklahoma City; Frank Angelo, managing editor, Detroit Free Press.

The fraternity will meet in New York in 1960, in Jackson, Miss., in 1961 and in Tulsa, Okla., in 1962.

GOOD PHILOSOPHY

NEW YORK (AP) — Wally Cox is one Broadway performer who doesn't mind talking about a flop appearance.

The television comedian recently appeared in "Moonbirds," a fantasy that survived for just five performances. Cox told about it all in a lecture at an arts club.

"You can't sleep very well," admits Cox. "You ask yourself are you really good any more, and so on . . . sometimes this leads to great success."

Federal Agent Tells About Apalachin Meet

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal Treasury agent told Friday how Buffalo's 1956 "man of the year," John C. Montana, got caught on a barbed wire fence as he tried to flee a state police roundup at the Apalachin underworld convention two years ago.

The agent, Kenneth T. Brown, said the silver-haired, dapper former Buffalo councilman was muddy and had his trousers covered with burrs as he hung panting on the barbed wire fence when police closed in on the hilltop mansion of the late Joseph Barbara Sr., where the meeting took place.

Brown testified in federal court at the trial of 21 men charged with conspiring to obstruct justice in a grand jury investigation of the "congress of crime."

More of the more than 60 men rounded up on the estate insisted they merely had dropped in to see their friend, Barbara, who was ill. Montana said he happened to be there because the brakes on his car had failed and he was waiting to have them fixed.

Mrs. Marguerite Russell, a housekeeper in the Barbara home at the time, testified she had heard Montana apologize to Barbara for being late.

Brown, an agent in the Treasury Department's Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Revenue Division, said Montana was one of about 10 men he had seen duck into the woods when the state police moved in.

PLAY MATERIALIZES

NEW YORK (AP) — After a five year delay, Liam O'Brien suddenly found the inspiration to write a play in three months.

O'Brien, author of "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," was asked by producer Saint Subber in 1954 to dramatize a short story, "The Masculine Principle."

After wrestling with the project for a while, O'Brien gave up, but the plot notion lingered. Early this year he wired Subber he would like to tackle it anew and got an okay.

Subber accepted swift script, now has it on his Broadway production agenda.

Mill Strike Now In Third Year

EDITOR'S NOTE: A year ago this month, 1,200 textile workers walked quietly off their jobs at the Harriet - Henderson cotton mills. There followed a series of near - riots, shootings and dynamitings which finally prompted local officials to ask for help from the National Guard. Quiet has returned to Henderson this fall. But the effects of the long, unsettled strike are still being felt. A UPI reporter who covered much of the strike has revisited Henderson for an up-to-date report. His dispatch follows.

By KLINK COOK

HENDERSON, N.C. (UPI) — Businessmen in this small mill and tobacco town hardly realize there are some 600 unemployed members of the Textile Workers Union of America (AFL-CIO) engaged in a year-old strike at two cotton mills.

The Harriet - Henderson cotton mills, long considered the main stream in Henderson's economy, are producing at full capacity nine months after reopening with non-union help.

Along Main Street, businessmen say sales have increased by as much as 30 per cent above the same period last year.

The union walked out of the mills Nov. 10, 1958, in a dispute over arbitration privileges in a new contract. During the year that followed, dynamitings, shootings and other violence filled the strike scene.

NATIONAL GUARD CALLED

National Guard units were sent here to help quell recurring outbursts. Extra law officers and part-time deputies were hired in an effort to restore order to the town.

By early summer, the picket lines had quieted. Strikers assumed a passive resistance toward workers entering mill gates.

The mills reopened Feb. 16 with a handfuI of non-union help and, by May 30, operated at full capacity.

He said he expects his mills to be producing 27,000 pounds more per week by Dec. 1.

"Business has never been so good," said R. E. Satterwhite, owner of three large furniture stores. "I don't know where the customers are coming from. Very few sales have been made to people from out-of-town."

STRIKERS MAKE PAYMENTS

He said the unemployed strikers were "making their payments on time. I haven't had to repossess any furniture since the strike began."

School officials said this was the first year in their memory when book rentals for children of strikers "were all paid up." Spokesmen for public utilities said light, water and telephone bills "were paid when due if not before."

The union, camped outside the mill gates, suffered during the early months of the strike.

But, when it became evident the mills were resuming operations at full scale, the national union backed the strikers with food, clothing and money. A welfare system was set up to fill the basic needs of the strikers.

Twelve months after the strike began, union members cling to the belief they will win the apparently stalemated strike and get their jobs back. Some of the 1,200 who walked off the job a year ago have quit the struggle and gone back to work in the mills. But a majority is sticking with the union and refuses to reenter the mills without a contract.

Cooper, whose mills had operated for 14 years with a TWUA contract, said he would not negotiate again with the union. "I'm doing better now than I did last year. I don't want the union back."

Executive Withdraws Acceptance

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Aircraft executive Dr. Charles L. Critchfield Saturday withdrew acceptance of his appointment as director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency.

"Under present circumstances," he said, "I do not believe I could do justice to this important job."

Critchfield is director of scientific research for Convair, a division of General Dynamics Corp.

He said he has informed the Defense Department of his decision.

Critchfield said that general misunderstanding and public controversy had impaired his ability to serve.

The scientist was referring to statements by Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif and others who said there might be a conflict of interest in Critchfield's appointment to the Pentagon scientific agency because he still would retain his Convair job and pay, estimated at $40,000 annually.

A 1951 law permits the Pentagon to employ consultants but forbids them to participate in defense contract discussions involving their own firms.

"When I was asked by the Department of Defense to accept the post," Critchfield said, "I saw in the appointment an opportunity to serve the country in an area of critical importance where scientific confidence was essential."

He said he then was informed of the 1951 consultant law.

"I accepted the appointment, declining government pay," he said. "It is obvious now, however, that general misunderstanding and public controversy have most certainly impaired my ability to serve."

Under the appointment, Critchfield would have received no government pay. His predecessor, Roy W. Johnson, received a $19,000 a year salary.

In Washington, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said Critchfield had made his decision and "We, of course, accept it with regret."

McElroy also said in his statement it has been "most unfortunate that in this instance a situation of public controversy should have developed which will prevent the Defense Department from having the benefit of Dr. Critchfield's widely recognized scientific duties in this important post."

McElroy said Critchfield had been appointed under a provision of the 1951 law which he said "specifically authorized a procedure for obtaining a limited number of persons of outstanding experience and ability not otherwise available."

In the case of an appointment to one of these jobs without federal pay, McElroy said, every safeguard is erected to insure that the appointee will not be involved in any government business with a company in which he has a pecuniary interest.

"This had been done in the case of Dr. Crutchfield," McElroy added.

ARPA is responsible for the direction or performance of such advanced projects in the field of research and development as the secretary of defense designates, by individual project or by category.

Authority is provided for the agency to make contracts with private business and scientific help. With McElroy's approval the agency may acquire or build needed facilities.

Journalism Group Names New Leaders

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — V. M. (Red) Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Morning Tribune, was elected today as president of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity.

Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The Associated Press, was named honorary president.

Newton, who has led the fraternity's fight against secrecy in government, succeeds James A. Byron, news director of WBAP AM-TV, Fort Worth, Tex. Byron was elected chairman of the executive council to succeed Robert J. Cavagnaro, AP general executive in San Francisco.

Vice presidents elected at the closing business session of the four-day SDX convention were: E. W. Scripps II of Scripps - Howard Newspapers, Washington, for professional chapter affairs; Maynard Hicks, assistant journalism professor, Wahington State University, for undergraduate chapter affairs, and Buren McCormack, vice president and editorial director, Wall Street Journal, for expansion.

Edward Lindsay, editor of the Lindsay-Schaub Newspapers, Decatur, Ill., was named secretary, and Walter Burroughs, publisher, Costa Mesa (Calif.) Globe, treasurer.

Elected to the executive council were Robert M. White II, president, New York Herald Tribune; H. Eugene Goodwin, journalism director, Pennsylvania State University; Theodore F. Koop, Washington news director, Columbia Broadcasting System; Ralph Sewell, assistant managing editor, Daily Oklahoman and Times; Oklahoma City; Frank Angelo, managing editor, Detroit Free Press.

The fraternity will meet in New York in 1960, in Jackson, Miss., in 1961 and in Tulsa, Okla., in 1962.

FREETHINKER?

Officials Debating Life Of Premier

PARIS (AP)—A cardinal and two members of the French Academy are debating whether Premier Edouard Herriot died as he had lived—a freethinker.

Shortly before he died in 1957, Herriot received the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church. He was given a church burial despite a life as an agnostic, exciting lively discussion at the time.

The debate was reopened two days ago by biologist Jean Rostand, as he took the seat in the sedate French Academy left vacant by Herriot's death, and by novelist Jules Romains.

Eulogizing Herriot, Rostand said that despite rumors concerning his last moments, the former Premier "died with his secret." This brought a statement from Piere Cardinal Gerlier, an old friend of Herriot with whom he had many religious discussions.

"I affirm before God—and qualified witnesses can support me—that at the time of the talk I had with him on religion, Premier Herriot was perfectly lucid, that he replied to my questions in a firm voice and that twice he expressed his desire for religious funeral services," the cardinal said.

In his inaugural address to the academy, Romains said: "Certain well-intentioned persons included, on the basis of a certain appearance, that the dying Herriot went back on the conception of things which he had had since his youth."

Noting that Herriot had received the visit "of an important ecclesiastical personality" shortly before he died, Romains added: "He—Herriot—was naturally too courteous, too tolerant, too sensitive to the expressions of human sympathy from wherever they came to have badly welcomed such a gesture and not to have been touched by it."

Romains produced a letter from Herriot's widow referring to "legends which were created after the death of the Premier" and saying Herriot died "perfectly calm, in full liberty of his thoughts, as he had arrived on earth."

Cardinal Gerlier replied that it was wrong to put in opposition the words "of the man when he was well and his dying murmurs.

Rostand issued a statement deploring the storm he had raised saying: "All arguments are indecent and vain. I refuse to prolong the controversy."

Lion Leader Gives Report From Camp

MANGHAM (Special) — M. F. "Pat" Brown, of Minden and District Governor of Lions International, spoke to the Mangham Lion's Club at their luncheon meeting here recently.

In his informative and inspirational talk, Lion Governor Brown described the Lion's Camp for Crippled Children which is located 5 miles south of Alexandria.

One of the projects of Louisisiana Lions, Brown told that the land has been purchased, the buildings are under construction and the first summer camp will be held in the coming summer of 1960.

Urging the Mangham group to continue contributing generously, he pointed out that all physically (not mentally) handicapped children between the ages of 6 and 14 will have an opportunity to attend.

RECREATION

In addition to handicraft and recreation, the camp also provides for therapy. Brown explained that it is a non-profit organization where all directors pay.

President Bob Chapman introduced the speaker and the group pledged additional financial support to the camp.

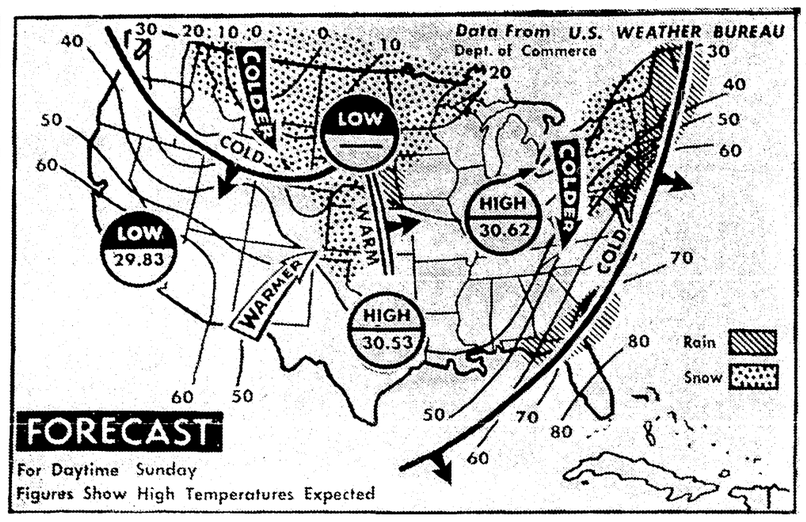
Attending were Lions C. W. Berry; Rev. Paul Brooks; Chapman; F. A. Childress; Stanley Douciere; Bill Frey; E. C. Harper; Ben Hixon; Bennie M. Hixon; Bennie N. Hixon; J. J. Hollis; S. L. Thames; Ira Bruce; and guests District Governor Brown and W. G. Dunn of Minden.

'WATER WITCH'

NEWTON, Miss. (UPI) — Robert McDaniel, 56, still usesa divining rod to locate water in Newton County.

He maintains he has never missed in 20 years of "water witching."

Five major airports are planned for the 3,000-year-old Empire of Ethiopia — with provisions for jet travel at two of them.



WEATHER FORECAST — Snow is due Sunday in the northern Rockies, parts of the northern Plains and upper Mississippi valley, with flurries expected in portions of the upper Ohio valley, lower Lakes and northern Appalachians. Rain is forecast for Carolina, Georgia and New England coastal areas. It will be much colder east of the Appalachians and northern Plains, warmer in central Plains and middle Mississippi valley. Moorehead, Price Want To Direct

Vincent Price and Agnes Moorehead, stars of C. J. Tevlin's Liberty Pictures production, "The Bat," would like to direct motion pictures. The film opens Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

Products of the Broadway theatre, both Price and Miss Moorehead are serious students of the drama. They probably know as much about the theatre, collectively, as any other pair in Hollywood.

Price, an art collector and connoisseur, believes that his artistic ground would prove a valuable supplement to his acting experience, in the direction of films. "The Bat," incidentally, is the seventieth film in which he has appeared. He has worked with many fine directors and has studied their methods and techniques.

Miss Moorehead, thrice nominated for Academy Awards, is a truly dedicated actress. She devotes much of her time between pictures traveling about the country lecturing on acting at schools and universities, and also conducts private classes in acting at her Beverly Hills home.

"I feel that I could give certain pictures that 'women's appeal' which producers say is so important," she said, between scenes of "The Bat," at Allied Artists' studio. "I would like to co-direct, with a man, first. I have, of course, directed a number of stage productions and also on radio. But I don't know whether I'll ever get a chance to direct pictures. It seems definitely to be a man's world. I know that in silent pictures there were several successful women directors, but with talking pictures they seem to have faded away."

In "The Bat," a streamlined version of the famous stage play by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, Price appears as a sinister doctor; Miss Moorehead, seldom seen on the screen as her charming self, plays the role of a successful novelist who becomes perilously involved in a series of spine-chilling incidents.

Gen. Doolittle Gets Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, famed World War II flyer, Saturday was named winner of the 1959 Silver Quill Award "for most distinguished service to business and industry."

The award is sponsored each year by National Business Publications, an international association of 200 publishers of technical, professional, industrial, scientific, merchandising and marketing magazines.

Past winners of the award include Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Herbert Hoover.

Doolittle, at different times during World War II, was commander of the 12th Air Force in North Africa, the Strategic Air Force and the 15th and 8th Air Forces.

Two Injured In Accidents Around Area

BASTROP (Special) — Two automobile accidents were reported in this area yesterday.

Jessie Washington, Negro, 70, toppled from the rear of a pickup truck and landed on the hood of a passing car. His injuries were not critical but local authorities said he was sent to a Monroe hospital.

According to Bastrop police, a truck, loaded with furniture driven by J. C. Manning, had made a turn off Roberts street onto McCright street when Washington toppled from the top.

As Arthur Wallace, age 17, was traveling west past the truck, the Negro fell onto the hood of his vehicle, doing $10 damage to the left front, officers said.

The second accident, about 7 o'clock last night, occurred about 17 miles from here on the Crossett highway. William B. Rogern, age 43, of Route 3, Bastrop, was pinned in his car when he apparently lost control and the vehicle rolled over.

State police helped to release him, and he was rushed to the local hospital by Blackwell-Golden ambulance.

State police said they did not know who reported the accident, how it happened, or the condition of the injured man. According to hospital authorities, the victim was still unconscious last night, and his condition was listed as possibly critical, since he was thought to be sufefring from skull fractures and internal injuries.

He was driving an out-of-state car, and it could not be determined if he lived in Bastrop or elsewhere.

E. Carroll Clerk Asks Re-Election

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Mrs. Edna Bishop Brock is a candidate for re-election as clerk of Court of East Carroll Parish.

Her statement follows:

"I am seeking re - election strictly on my qualifications, my experience and my record since I have been in office. I promised you I would make you a good clerk, that I would do my best to serve you honestly, fairly and efficiently, and that rich and poor would be treated alike. I believe that I succeeded in doing just that.

"I am proud of my record as clerk of court and ask the voters of East Carroll Parish to consider my candidacy for re-election as clerk on the basis of proven ability, efficiency, honesty and cooperation. I have and always will operate the office of Clerk of court in such a manner that those needing its facilities will be treated kindly, courteously and without favoritism."

PUBLIC RECORDS

The integrity and security of the public records of this Parish are highly important to each resident thereof; especially is it important and essential to the property owners that those records be faithfully and correctly prepared and maintained. This I have done throughout my entire tenure of office and if re-elected I promise that the office of Clerk of Court will be maintained in the same faithful tradition.

In my opinion we have a very efficient office and with the able assistance of Mrs. Inez Bell Gilfoil, my chief deputy, and Mrs. Elaine Noland Bell, my typist, we have been highly commended in many instances with regard to the accessability of the records of this office and the management as a whole. But I could not have attained these results by myself.

"I have and shall devote the entirety of my time to the duties and responsibilities of the office."

Dragon Staff At Mangham Is Elected

MANGHAM (Special) — In an election, Cynthia Kenton, Sandra Austin; Bebe Noble; Dianne Johnson; Donald Adams and Rhonnie Sharbono were named to the Dragon Staff from the junior class at Mangham High School.

Candidates to the staff of the school yearbook must have at least a "B" average in English, and are voted upon by Principal Bennie M. Hixon; Miss Virgie Evans and senior members of the annual staff.

Senior members include editor, Ann Williamson; photographer, Mary Bell Steinhelper; business manager, Rita Pilgreen, and Jerry Templeton, Bennie Bradshaw; Noble Ellington; Jerry Smith; Carolyn Thomason and Marilyn Lyles.

Two members were elected from the sophomore class to assist. They are Dianne Thomason and Barbara Eppinette.

Less than 5 per cent of Wyoming or Arizona is arable.

Newspaper Says Firm Bought Plugs

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Newspaper said Saturday a safe-manufacturing company paid $30,000 over a two-year period for plugs on the quiz show "The $64,000 Question" and neither the network nor the show sponsors knew about it.

The newspaper quoted a Cleveland advertising man as saying he arranged the weekly plugs on the CBS quiz show—at $300 a week—with a representative of the show not connected with the network or sponsor.

Edson Penn, president of the Cleveland firm of Penn and Hamaker, was quoted by the newspaper as saying that the plug was his own idea and "If I could come up with another like it, darned if I wouldn't try it again."

Penn was quoted as saying that he paid $300 a week to arrange that when the "secret" questions for the following week's show we put into a safe before the television audience, the safe had a sign reading "Protected by Diebold, Inc." The safemaking firm of Diebold, Inc., was Penn's client.

The safe itself was phony, according to the newspaper. The newspaper quoted Penn as saying that he thought his idea of a plug for the safemakers would not only help his client but would "even lend the show a touch of basic honesty."

Testimony before a congressional committee has shown that many of the quiz show essions were rigged in favor of particular contestants.

The newspaper said Penn told of making the arrangement for the plug after "a lot of dickering," and being told that nothing must be put in writing.

Asked if he thought he was buying air time, Penn was quoted as saying "we were buying a squeeze play and we knew it," and that he never knew whether the sum he paid was credited to the sponsor of the quiz show.

A spokesman for Revlon, Inc., which bought the air time for "the $64,000 Question," said later that Revlon would not have given up "even a split second" of the time it purchased.

Home Baked Treats Always In Best Taste

Delicious goodies from your own kitchen are always wonderful gifts. But, what makes them even nicer is the way you dress them up.

Little individual cakes, for instance, are so gay when tied with ribbons.

Ornamental - shaped cookies are even more appreciated if you bake them with a hole at the top and then tie a ribbon through them for hanging the cookies on the tree.

Coffee cans, painted, trimmed and lined with doilies, are just-right containers for a gift of home-roasted nuts.

Festive little mincemeat or cranberry pies are even more giftable if set on a small paper plate and wrapped with cellophane, clear or colored, and tied with a sprig of holly.

FREETHINKER?

Officials Debating Life Of Premier

PARIS (AP)—A cardinal and two members of the French Academy are debating whether Premier Edouard Herriot died as he had lived—a freethinker.

Shortly before he died in 1957, Herriot received the last scraments of the Roman Catholic Church. He was given a church burial despite a life as an agnostic, exciting lively discussion at the time.

The debate was reopened two days ago by biologist Jean Rostand, as he took the seat in the sedate French Academy left vacant by Herriot's death, and by novelist Jules Romains.

Eulogizing Herrior, Rostand said that despite rumors concerning his last moments, the former Premier "died with his secret.' This brought a statement from Piere Cardinal Gerlier, an old friend of Herriot with whom he had many religious discussions.

"I affirm before God—and qualified witnesses can support me—that at the time of the talk I had with him on religion, Premier Herriot was perfectly lucid, that he replied to my questions in a firm voice and that twice he expressed his desire for religious funeral services," the cardinal said.

In his inaugural address to the academy, Romains said: "Certain well-intentioned persons included, on the basis of a certain appearance, that the dying Herriot went back on the conception of things which he had had since his youth."

Noting that Herriot had received the visit "of an important ecclesiastical personality" shortly before he died, Romains added: "He—Herriot—was naturally too courteous, too tolerant, too sensitive to the expressions of human sympathy from wherever they came to have badly welcomed such a gesture and not to have been touched by it."

Romains produced a letter from Herriot's widow referring to "legends which were created after the death of the Premier" and saying Herriot died "perfectly calm, in full liberty of his thoughts, as he had arrived (on earth)."

Cardinal Gerlier replied that it was wrong to put in opposition the words "of the man when ne was well and his dying murmurs.

Rostand issued a statement deploring the storm he had raised, saying: "All arguments are indecent and vain. I refuse to prolong the controversy."

Lion Leader Gives Report From Camp

MANGHAM (Special) — M. E. "Pat" Brown, of Minden and District Governor of Lions International, spoke to the Manghm Lion's Club at their luncheon meeting here recently.

In his informative and inspirational talk, Lion Governor Brown, described the Lion's Camp for Crippled Children which is located 5 miles south of Alexandria.

One of the projects of Louisisiana Lions, Brown told that the land has been purchased, the buildings are under construction and the first summer camp will be held in the coming summer of 1960.

Urging the Mangham group to continue contributing generously, he pointed out that all physically (not mentally) handicapped children between the ages of 8 and 14 will have an opportunity to attend.

RECREATION

In addition to handicraft and recreation, the camp also provides for therapy. Brown explained that it is a non-profit organization where all directors pay.

President Bob Chapman introduced the speaker and the group pledged additional financial support to the camp.

Attending were Lions C. W. Berry; Rev. Paul Brooks; Chapman; F. A. Childress; Stanley Douciere; Bill Frey; E. C. Harper; Ben Hixon; Bennie M. Hixon; Bennie N. Hixon; J. J. Hollis; S. L. Thames; Ira Bruce; and guests District Governor Brown and W. G. Dunn of Minden.

Moorehead, Price Want To Direct

Vincent Price and Agnes Moorehead, stars of C. J. Tevlin's Liberty Pictures production, "The Bat," would like to direct motion pictures. The film opens Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

Products of the Broadway theatre, both Price and Miss Moorehead are serious students of the drama. They probably know as much about the theatre, collectively, as any other pair in Hollywood.

Price, an art collector and connoisseur, believes that his artistic ground would prove a valuable supplement to his acting experience, in the direction of films. "The Bat," incidentally, is the seventieth film in which he has appeared. He has worked with many fine directors and has studied their methods and techniques.

TAX DECISION

Richland Sets Vote On Library

RAYVILLE (Special) — The fate of the Richlnd Parish Library is in the hands of the voters this Tuesday, November 17, when property owners of the parish will approve or disapprove the library maintenance tax.

The oldest parish library in the state, at the present, the Richland Parish Library is operating under one of the lowest maintenance supports of any parish in the state. By decision of the Richland Parish Library Board of Control, a group of citizens who serve without pay as the library's guiding board, an increase of one mill in the maintenance tax is being asked this year. Total millage, if approved, will give the library 2½ mills, an amount equal to, or less than, tax support for libraries in most parishes of similar size.

In explaining the requested increase, a spokesman for the Library Board stated that "The Richland Parish Library has been operating with a very narrow financial margin. Increased costs in recent years have necessitated the purchase of fewer books each year, and the passage of time has made it urgent to improve the appearance, equipment and services in the headquarters library and the branches. The most important need at the present is purchase of a new bookmobile, one of the most widely used of the library's services. After examination of budgetary demands, and of plans for the future, it was apparent that without an increase in millage support, not only only could there be no expansion of services, but some of those services currently offered would have to be curtailed. In other words, unless increased support is received, the library could not possibly advance, it could not even stand still, but would gradually go backwards.

DETAILS

In order that people of thc parish may be well-informed on the issue, the Library Board gives budgetary details as follows: Maximum annual budget under the old maintenance support was $27,000, which sum was used to maintain the headquarters library, five library branches and the bookmobile, as well as for the purchase of new books and other equipment. With approval of the added one-mill increase, estimated net receipts for the library will be about $45,000. In addition to the purchase of a new bookmobile, the Library Board plans necessary renovations at the headquarters library and all the branches; plans to schedule additional hours of service at the various branches; intends to increase the number of new books purchased each year, and will bring the present 1955 level staff salaries up to the current level. Other expansions in service and improvements in facilities are also anticipated.

In reminding property owners of Richland Parish to vote on Tuesday, November 17, the spokesman from the Library Board states, "Unless a maintenance tax is revoted, the parish library cannot continue to function after its present means of support expires at the end of the 1959 tax receipts."

Mangham High Receives Annual Student Book

MANGHAM (Special) — The 1959 yearbook of Mangham High School, has been received here. It was dedicated to Mrs. R. L. Bell, Jr.

Mrs. Bell, librarian at Mangham High School, serves as yearbook Sponsor, Library Club Sponsor, and teaches in the High School department.

The former Miss Faye Brunson, she is a graduate of Mangham High School and Northeast State College holding a degree in both English and Library Science. She studied at Louisiana Tech as an Art major.

Mrs. Bell is a member of the O.E.S. the Mangham Methodist Church, where she has served as sponsor of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, the Mangham Literary Club, serving as sponsor of the Mangham Teen - Club, and many other civic activities which promote activities for young people.

TRIBUTE

The tribute which dedicated the Dragon to Mrs. Bell is as follows:

"With all due consideration and regard, the graduating class of 1959 respectfully dedicates the 1959 Dragon to Mrs. Faye Brunson Bell.

"Teacher, librarian, consistent optimist — Mrs. Bell's happiness lies in the happiness of those around her, particularly young people. She promotes the teaching of social skills, serves in an advisory capacity and listens to teenage problems and doubts with keen interest and understanding.

"Her interests are as wide as her smile and the word 'prejudice' isn't in her vocabulary.

"Her enthusiasm is contagious and one cannot be around Mrs. Bell long without feeling that life, its heartaches and disappointments, is truly worth living.

"All that seek self - confidence; all that hunger for understanding; all that need a life —stop by and visit our MHS librarian, Mrs. Faye Bell."

Small Outboard Motor Appeals

The smallest outboard motor in or near its power class is the new 7.5-horsepower Scott engine made by the Marine Products Division of McCulloch Corp. It is only 30 inches high and weighs just 34 pounds; is 27 pounds lighter than previous motors of this size.

Other features of this motor that will appeal to fishermen are a lower powerhead to keep it out of the way of fishing lines, and a new and different lower unit and propeller that enable it to push through grassy obstacles without becoming snarled.

Mitchell Names 'Watchdogs' To Police Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell Friday appointed two "watchdog" officials to police labor - management compliance with the new union reform law.

He named Daniel L. O'Connor, 45 a former FBI agent, to head the enforcement division of the newly created Bureau of Labor-Management Reports.

Mitchell also selected Morris Weisz. 45-year-old government career man, to take charge of the reports and analysis section of the bureau. Both will carry the title of assistant commissioner of labor reports.

O'Connor, an attorney in private practice before he was tapped for his present job, will supervise the work of an estimated 150 investigators when the bureau reaches full strength.

His division will check complaints of union members on possible violations of the provisions dealing with union elections, trusteeships and financial reports.

Weisz will handle the task of receiving, filing and making public the reports from unions, employers and labor-management consultants required by the law. Most of them are due Dec. 14.

Humane Society Complains At Frat Floats

MIAMI (UPI) — The Humane Society complained today that a University of Miami fraternity tied live chickens to a Homecoming float, then abandoned them, still trussed, in a wooden crate.

Two of the chickens were dead. Five others were bedraggled.

The chickens had been used to depict the University of South Carolina's mascot, the Gamecock. Two fraternities used live chickens on their floats in the Orange Bowl Friday night, but only one group trussed the fowl.

"It's just pure sadism," said Charles W. Pusey, director of the Miami Humane Society. "We'll go right to the limit with this."

Forsman Anderson, another society official, said he had received dozens of complaints from parade viewers.

"I called the university and they promised me that anti-cruelty lectures will be given in all classes because of this business," said Anderson. "But they wouldn't tell me what fraternities were involved."

Foreigners Find Shelter In Prison

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) —Four foreigners who were shoved across the Iron Curtain border 13 times inside four days finally found provisional shelter—in a West German jail.

The quartet, three Yugoslav refugees and an exiled Spaniard, seem quite happy about it, police said. The four were caught first by West German police at the border near here last Tuesday. They claimed they had been expelled by Communist East Germany.

West German authorities returned them to East Germany, advising them to get proper documents and come back again. Back they came, within a few hours, still without documents. Again they were sent East. The four spent the night in no man's land on the bridge linking East and West Germany.

An East German police officer finally placed them on the next west-bound interzonal train. Upon arrival, West German border police sent them back East again.

This went on until Friday the 13th. That afternoon, East German police made one more attempt to get rid of the four. This time they were successful. A West German police officer decided it was time to stop the strange game. He had the four booked on a charge of unauthorized border crossing because they still had no documents. They had defected to the East from a camp for homeless foreigners in Nuernberg last summer.

The investigation also produced a new headache for police: One of them, a Yugoslav, has a police record and a court order is out forbidding him to reside in West Germany.

Missing Door Clue In Death Of Army Wife

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Investigators of the mysterious slaying of a 25-year-old Army wife have turned up an important clue—a missing door.

Mrs. Fern Romero was raped and her throat cut in her home here.

A Negro under investigation has demanded a lie detector test to substantiate his claim of innocence in the killing. It was indicated he would be taken to Oklahoma City for the test.

Mrs. Romero was found lying in a pool of blood in her bedroom about noon Wednesday. Authorities said it has been determined she was slain approximately 36 hours before the autopsy which would put her death at about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

A door facing containing a chain lock is missing and officers felt it is an important clue. Also missing are the woman's car keys and purse.

Her two young sons, 27 months and 6 months old, were found in the home and are being cared for by Ft. Sill authorities.

Her husband, Capt. Louis Romero, was attending an artillery class at Ft. Bliss, Tex., at the time of the slaying. His permanent station is nearby Ft. Sill.

Mrs. Romero was a native of Centreville, Miss.

Funeral services will be held Monday at Baton Rouge, La., where she and Capt. Romero were married. Burial will take place at Centreville.

TAX DECISION

Richland Sets Vote On Library

RAYVILLE (Special) — The fate of the Richlnd Parish Library is in the hands of the voters this Tuesday, November 17, when property owners of the parish will approve or disapprove the library maintenance tax.

The oldest parish library in the state, at the present, the Richland Parish Library is operating under one of the lowest maintenance supports of any parish in the state. By decision of the Richland Parish Library Board of Control, a group of citizens who serve without pay as the library's guiding board, an increase of one mill in the maintenance tax is being asked this year. Total millage, if approved, will give the library 2½ mills, an amount equal to, or less than, tax support for libraries in most parishes of similar size.

In explaining the requested increase, a spokesman for the Library Board stated that "The Richland Parish Library has been operating with a very narrow financial margin. Increased costs in recent years have necessitated the purchase of fewer books each year, and the passage of time has made it urgent to improve the appearance, equipment and services in the headquarters library and the branches. The most important need at the present is purchase of a new bookmobile, one of the most widely used of the library's services. After examination of budgetary demands, and of plans for the future, it was apparent that without an increase in millage support, not only only could there be no expansion of services, but some of those services currently offered would have to be curtailed. In other words, unless increased support is received, the library could not possibly advance, it could not even stand still, but would gradually go backwards.

DETAILS

In order that people of the parish may be well-informed on the issue, the Library Board gives budgetary details as follows: Maximum annual budget under the old maintenance support was $27,000, which sum was used to maintain the headquarters library, five library branches and the bookmobile, as well as for the purchase of new books and other equipment. With approval of the added one-mill increase, estimated net receipts for the library will be about $45,000. In addition to the purchase of a new bookmobile, the Library Board plans necessary renovations at the headquarters library and all the branches; plans to schedule additional hours of service at the various branches; intends to increase the number of new books purchased each year, and will bring the present 1955 level staff salaries up to the current level. Other expansions in service and improvements in facilities are also anticipated.

In reminding property owners of Richland Parish to vote on Tuesday, November 17, the spokesman from the Library Board states, "Unless a maintenance tax is revoted, the parish library cannot continue to function after its present means of support expires at the end of the 1959 tax receipts."

Mangham High Receives Annual Student Book

MANGHAM (Special) — The 1959 yearbook of Mangham High School, has been received here. It was dedicated to Mrs. R. L. Bell, Jr.

Mrs. Bell, librarian at Mangham High School, serves as yearbook Sponsor, Library Club Sponsor, and teaches in the High School department.

The former Miss Faye Brunson, she is a graduate of Mangham High School and Northeast State College holding a degree in both English and Library Science. She studied at Louisiana Tech as an Art major.

Mrs. Bell is a member of the O.E.S. the Mangham Methodist Church, where she has served as sponsor of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, the Mangham Literary Club, serving as sponsor of the Mangham Teen - Club, and many other civic activities which promote activities for young people.

TRIBUTE

The tribute which dedicated the Dragon to Mrs. Bell is as follows:

"With all due consideration and regard, the graduating class of 1959 respectfully dedicates the 1959 Dragon to Mrs. Faye Brunson Bell.

"Teacher, librarian, consistent optimist — Mrs. Bell's happiness lies in the happiness of those around her, particularly young people. She promotes the teaching of social skills, serves in an advisory capacity and listens to teenage problems and doubts with keen interest and understanding.

"Her interests are as wide as her smile and the word 'prejudice' isn't in her vocabulary.

"Her enthusiasm is contagious and one cannot be around Mrs. Bell long without feeling that life, its heartaches and disappointments, is truly worth living.

"All that seek self - confidence; all that hunger for understanding; all that need a life —stop by and visit our MHS librarian, Mrs. Faye Bell."

Small Outboard Motor Appeals

The smallest outboard motor in or near its power class is the new 7.5-horsepower Scott engine made by the Marine Products Division of McCulloch Corp. It is only 30 inches high and weighs just 34 pounds; is 27 pounds lighter than previous motors of this size.

Other features of this motor that will appeal to fishermen are a lower powerhead to keep it out of the way of fishing lines, and a new and different lower unit and propeller that enable it to push through grassy obstacles without becoming snarled.

Selwyn Lloyd Returns After Mending Rift

LONDON (UPI) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd returned home Friday from a two-day fencemending mission to Paris that sealed one rift in the Western aliance and pointed the way to settling others before an East-West summit conference.

The talks between Lloyd, French Premier Michael Debre and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were so friendly that British newspapers referred to them as "almost embarrassingly effusive."

The French cabinet meeting under President Charles de Gaulle in Paris said the meetings had been "infinitely useful."

What they did was end part of the Western quarrel over when to have a summit conference. De Gaulle won the issue by insisting on next spring—probably in May. The United States, Britain an Russia had been holding out for next month.

Britain now has swung behind De Gaulle's summit strategy. The United States is going along and summit preparations among the Western Allies have been eased. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has said only that he wants a meeting "the sooner the better."

Lloyd now must try to smooth over a strain in relations with West Germany. This will be attempted next week when Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flies to London from Bonn for talks.

Dalai Lama Repeats Claim Against China

MUSSOORIE, India (AP)—The Dalai Lama today repeated his charges that Red China has engaged in wholesale slaughter in Tibet. But he was unable to document his charges for a team of international jurists.

The self-exiled king of Tibet said 65,000 Tibetans had die fighting the Red Chinese.

"In an attempt to impose reforms, there has been wanton killing of individuals an on many occasions large numbers of veritable massacres with a view to terrorizing the people into submission," he said.

The legal inquiry committee on Tibet, set up by the International Commission of Jurists in Geneva, asked for documents to support these charges.

Federal Loans Made Techsters

RUSTON (Special) — Federal loans totalling $10,545 have been completed at Louisiana Tech for 22 students, averaging $479 each and being granted mostly to men students, W. H. McLaurin, business manager of the college here, announced this week.

Seventy-seven Tech students obtained application blanks for the loans and 41 applied. Several applications were not approved mainly because of a lack of the funds, which are made available under terms of the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

ADDITIONAL

A few additional applications will be considered in the second semester of this school year, McLaurin said. Blanks are available from the business manager, who has been designated as the institutional representative of the National Defense Student Loan Fund at Tech. The federal loans in the spring term may be requested by graduating high school pupils as well as Tech students.

The primary and most essential condition of an applicant's eligibility for one of these loans is that he is in need of the requested loan in order to complete his course of study.

Selwyn Lloyd Returns After Mending Rift

LONDON (UPI) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd returned home Friday from a two-day fencemending mission to Paris that sealed one rift in the Western aliance and pointed the way to settling others before an East-West summit conference.

The talks between Lloyd, French Premier Michael Debre and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were so friendly that British newspapers referred to them as "almost embarrassingly effusive."

The French cabinet meeting under President Charles de Gaulle in Paris said the meetings had been "infinitely useful."

What they did was end part of the Western quarrel over when to have a summit conference. De Gaulle won the issue by insisting on next spring—probably in May. The United States, Britain and Russia had been holding out for next month.

Britain now has swung behind De Gaulle's summit strategy. The United States is going along and summit preparations among the Western Allies have been eased. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has said only that he wants a meeting "the sooner the better."

Lloyd now must try to smooth over a strain in relations with West Germany. This will be attempted next week when Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flies to London from Bonn for talks.

Dalai Lama Repeats Claim Against China

MUSSOORIE, India (AP)—The Dalai Lama today repeated his charges that Red China has engaged in wholesale slaughter in Tibet. But he was unable to document his charges for a team of international jurists.

The self-exiled king of Tibet said 65,000 Tibetans had die fighting the Red Chinese.

"In an attempt to impose reforms, there has been wanton killing of individuals an on many occasions large numbers of veritable massacres with a view to terrorizing the people into submission," he said.

The legal inquiry committee on Tibet, set up by the International Commission of Jurists in Geneva, asked for documents to support these charges.

'Proving Ground For Teachers'

Behind The Scenes

By TOMMY PARKS

Staff Writer

How are school teachers developed? Practically everyone at one time in his life has pondered this question, and the answer is very interesting.

Since colleges are considered veritable "proving grounds for teachers," let's go to the nearest college to see if we can come up with the answer.

At Northeast State College, we are told that the campus abounds with hundreds of prospective school teachers, from beginning freshmen to graduating seniors.

BASIC STUDY

A college student who plans to become a school teacher finds he —or she — must spend the first two years studying "practically everything." Only during the last two years does he begin studying professional courses that are specifically designed to train him as a teacher. During these advanced studies, the prospective teacher may find himself learning such things as psychology of the pupil, manuscript writing, principles of education, testing and measuring classwork, using audio - visual aids, guidance counseling, and latest methods or techniques in teaching school students.

All this studying is termed "basic or background" material, and the future teacher must keep in mind this background material and knowledge, for he will soon have the opportunity to apply what he knows — when he does student teaching during his senior year.

"Student teaching' may be regarded as the final step in the development of a school teacher. In this final step, the college student is taken from the campus and placed in a local public school, where he is required to teach his major subject for one semester (13 weeks).

TOTAL

At Northeast College this semester, there are 60 such student teachers who are now teaching school daily throughout the Twin Cities. Of this total, 34 are high school teachers and 26 are elementary teachers.

The future school teacher finds that his practice teaching session is one of the most outstanding periods of his career. During this time, he is observed by a supervising teacher — a member of the school faculty whose class he is teaching.

These classroom supervising teachers are specially trained to supervise, direct, and work with student teachers to pinpoint any deficiencies or weak points in the preparations, methods, techniques, and various other qualities he may show.

As an example of a typical supervising teacher, let's look into the background of L. M. Frey Jr., who supervises student teachers of English at Ouachita Parish High School.

UNDERSTANDING

He, as all others like him, once upon a time did student teaching, too, and is in a position to understand the problems involved. Frey, a native of Monroe and former student at Ouachita High School, attended the New Mexico Military Institute, later the Southern Methodist University, the University of Mississippi (where he received his master of education degree), and is presently doing advanced study at the University of Arkansas between school sessions.

Charles Tillman

"It is very common to find a teacher — regardless of how high a degree he has — still taking university courses, because this matter of teaching school is always progressing and changing," he commented.

What does he think develops a school teacher? "Adequate training, along with actual classroom experience, plus a desire to serve youth."

Just as Frey supervises prospective teachers of English, there are countless other supervisors for student teachers in litrally every subject, including those who teach the elementary grades.

PROVISIONS

In some instances, special provisions have to be made. Future coaches, for example, do their practice teaching in their minor study field rather than in physical education classes. Many times, future teachers in coaching and in history work in the same classroom.

Student teachers in high school are required to observe one class being taught, then teach one class each school day — a total of ten hours of classroom activity each week. Those in elementary schools are required to remain at the school all day each day for their practice teaching.

At Northeast College, students doing practice teaching are directed by two college staff members: Mrs. Evelyn Barnes, director of secondary student teaching and Charles M. Tillman, director of elementary student teaching.

During the course of the semester, each of these directors, assistant professors of education, visits the classroom where every student teacher is holding class.

From these purposeful visits, Mrs. Barnes and Tillman observe the methods and ability of the student teacher and evaluate him accordingly.

Actually, these two directors

may be called "teachers of teachers," for their students are really teachers, too.

WORTHWHILE

"Being a teacher of teachers does present some problems at times," Mrs. Barnes observed, "but we both agree that the end result is well worth the effort."

The "end result" Mrs. Barnes mentioned is the brand new school teacher, just graduated from college and prepared to take his or her place at the head of a classroom and undertake one of the most difficult, most rewarding jobs in the world — teaching school.

"Not everyone realizes what teaching school involves," Tillman explained, pointing to the various and ever - present extra-curricula activities demanded of the teacher.

Rare indeed is the teacher, at any school or at any grade, who does not sponsor some group, club or organization. These school organizations call for regular meetings, a year's calendar of activities, and various programs throughout the school term.

PROGRAMS

In addition to sponsoring an organization, there is a continuous stream of assembly programs, stage productions, school plays, ball games, and other school functions that demand time and work from the classroom teacher.

Added to these duties are the everyday (and many times everynight) responsibilities of grading homework and test papers, preparing lesson plans for the coming classes, and attending to the countless little details that go along with regular classroom duties.

School teachers, however, seemingly thrive on such a strenuous schedule. Itis a rare one indeed who would consider changing places with anyone.

It is not unusual for a teacher to stand before his or her students all day, help build a parade float for some club as soon as classes dismiss, then arrive early at the same night's football game to set up sales for the ball programs, and spend what's left of the game cheering for his or her team. Then, to put a final touch on the day's schedule, the teacher might rush home and spend a few more hours preparing lessons or work for tomorrow's classes.

To suggest to a teacher that he or she might like some other kind of work better, however, would most likely invite a haughty stare and calm rebuttal. It seems these school teachers are a proud group — proud of the work they do, proud of the students they teach, and proud to be what they are.

That is how school teachers are developed.

Senecas Lose Another Fight Over Treaty

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

KINZUA, Pa. (AP)—When the Seneca Indians signed a treaty with the United States government in 1794 they expected the pact to hold "as long as the moon would rise, the grass be green, the river flow and the sun shine."

But now, 165 years and several court cases later, the government is ready to break the treaty and take back a portion of the land granted the Indians in western New York State.

The proposed 113-million-dollar flood control dam to be erected just below this little river valley community will create a huge reservoir that will take an estimates 9,000 acres of the Senecas' rich, bottom land along the upper Allegheny River.

The Senecas would be compensated for their property. That promise fails to gratify them.

"Maybe the government will give a lot of money for my farm," says Franklin John. "But where can I buy the equal of what I've built here? And where can I get other tax-free land?"

John, a mountain of man, is the "biggest dirt farmer" among the Indians in the southern portion of their 30,000-acre reservation bordering the Allegheny.

Many of John's fellow Indians believe the government would pay John enough for his land to make him "rich," in cash at least, according to Leo Cooper, a former president of Seneca Nation. "But he doesn't want the money."

And it's the same way with the others. They don't want the money, they just want to hold on to their ancestral lands.

Stretching 1,900 feet between two wooded mountain slopes, the Kinzua Dam will be the largest project of its kind in the northeastern United States.

During these advanced studies, the prospective teacher may find himself learning such things as psychology of the pupil, manuscript writing, principles of education, testing and measuring classwork, using audio - visual aids, guidance counseling, and latest methods or techniques in teaching school students.

All this studying is termed "basic or background" material, and the future teacher must keep in mind this background material and knowledge, for he will soon have the opportunity to apply what he knows — when he does student teaching during his senior year.

"Student teaching' may be regarded as the final step in the development of a school teacher. In this final step, the college student is taken from the campus and placed in a local public school, where he is required to teach his major subject for one semester (13 weeks).

TOTAL

At Northeast College this semester, there are 60 such student teachers who are now teaching school daily throughout the Twin Cities. Of this total, 34 are high school teachers and 26 are elementary teachers.

The future school teacher finds that his practice teaching session is one of the most outstanding periods of his career. During this time, he is observed by a supervising teacher — a member of the school faculty whose class he is teaching.

These classroom supervising teachers are specially trained to supervise, direct, and work with student teachers to pinpoint any deficiencies or weak points in the preparations, methods, techniques, and various other qualities he may show.

As an example of a typical supervising teacher, let's look into the background of L. M. Frey Jr., who supervises student teachers of English at Ouachita Parish High School.

UNDERSTANDING

He, as all others like him, once upon a time did student teach-

Charles Tillman

ing, too, and is in a position to understand the problems involved. Frey, a native of Monroe and former student at Ouachita High School, attended the New Mexico Military Institute, later the Southern Methodist University, the University of Mississippi (where he received his master of education degree), and is presently doing advanced study at the University of Arkansas between school sessions.

"It is very common to find a teacher — regardless of how high a degree he has — still taking university courses, because this matter of teaching school is always progressing and changing," he commented.

What does he think develops a school teacher? "Adequate training, along with actual classroom experience, plus a desire to serve youth."

Just as Frey supervises prospective teachers of English, there are countless other supervisors for student teachers in litrally every subject, including those who teach the elementary grades.

PROVISIONS

In some instances, special provisions have to be made. Future coaches, for example, do their practice teaching in their minor study field rather than in physical education classes. Many times, future teachers in coaching and in history work in the same classroom.

Student teachers in high school are required to observe one class being taught, then teach one class each school day — a total of ten hours of classroom activity each week. Those in elementary schools are required to remain at the school all day each day for their practice teaching.

At Northeast College, students doing practice teaching are directed by two college staff members: Mrs. Evelyn Barnes, director of secondary student teaching and Charles M. Tillman, director of elementary student teaching.

During the course of the semester, each of these directors, assistant professors of education, visits the classroom where every student teacher is holding class.

From these purposeful visits, Mrs. Barnes and Tillman observe the methods and ability of the student teacher and evaluate him accordingly.

Actually, these two directors

may be called "teachers of teachers," for their students are really teachers, too.

WORTHWHILE

"Being a teacher of teachers does present some problems at times," Mrs. Barnes observed, "but we both agree that the end result is well worth the effort."

The "end result" Mrs. Barnes mentioned is the brand new school teacher, just graduated from college and prepared to take his or her place at the head of a classroom and undertake one of the most difficult, most rewarding jobs in the world — teaching school.

"Not everyone realizes what teaching school involves," Tillman explained, pointing to the various and ever - present extra-curricula activities demanded of the teacher.

Rare indeed is the teacher, at any school or at any grade, who does not sponsor some group, club or organization. These school organizations call for regular meetings, a year's calendar of activities, and various programs throughout the school term.

PROGRAMS

In addition to sponsoring an organization, there is a continuous stream of assembly programs, stage productions, school plays, ball games, and other school functions that demand time and work from the classroom teacher.

Added to these duties are the everyday (and many times everynight) responsibilities of grading homework and test papers, preparing lesson plans for the coming classes, and attending to the countless little details that go along with regular classroom duties.

School teachers, however, seemingly thrive on such a strenuous schedule. Itis a rare one indeed who would consider changing places with anyone.

It is not unusual for a teacher to stand before his or her students all day, help build a parade float for some club as soon as classes dismiss, then arrive early at the same night's football game to set up sales for the ball programs, and spend what's left of the game cheering for his or her team. Then, to put a final touch on the day's schedule, the teacher might rush home and spend a few more hours preparing lessons or work for tomorrow's classes.

To suggest to a teacher that he or she might like some other kind of work better, however, would most likely invite a haughty stare and calm rebuttal. It seems these school teachers are a proud group — proud of the work they do, proud of the students they teach, and proud to be what they are.

That is how school teachers are developed.

Senecas Lose Another Fight Over Treaty

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

KINZUA, Pa. (AP)—When the Seneca Indians signed a treaty with the United States government in 1794 they expected the pact to hold "as long as the moon would rise, the grass be green, the river flow and the sun shine."

But now, 165 years and several court cases later, the government is ready to break the treaty and take back a portion of the land granted the Indians in western New York State.

The proposed 113-million-dollar flood control dam to be erected just below this little river valley community will create a huge reservoir that will take an estimates 9,000 acres of the Senecas' rich, bottom land along the upper Allegheny River.

The Senecas would be compensated for their property. That promise fails to gratify them.

"Maybe the government will give a lot of money for my farm," says Franklin John. "But where can I buy the equal of what I've built here? And where can I get other tax-free land?"

John, a mountain of man, is the "biggest dirt farmer" among the Indians in the southern portion of their 30,000-acre reservation bordering the Allegheny.

Many of John's fellow Indians believe the government would pay John enough for his land to make him "rich," in cash at least, according to Leo Cooper, a former president of Seneca Nation. "But he doesn't want the money."

And it's the same way with the others. They don't want the money, they just want to hold on to their ancestral lands.

Stretching 1,900 feet between two wooded mountain slopes, the Kinzua Dam will be the largest project of its kind in the northeastern United States.

Praise And Appraisal

"Praise and appraisal" — that was the theme of National Education Week, which has been observed throughout the United States in the week just ended.

Far from being resentful of the school reappraisal that has taken place since Russia's launching of Sputnik 1 caused a furor in this country, teachers and educators generally have welcomed demands for changes in and a general study of America's education system. If this country does not already have the best education system in the world, which many believe it does have, the teachers are fully as anxious as anyone to see that this goal is achieved.

"Don't stop criticizing us teachers." That was one of the requests voiced by a prominent educator, Earl H. Hanson, superintendent of schools in Rock Island, Ill., in answering the post-Sputnik attacks on our schools. "Teachers," he says, "should be less sensitive to the public's indignation." Personally, he hopes it will keep coming. Continuing, he said:

"Many teachers and school administrators, including me, were surprised and stung to bitter anger at the criticisms that exploded a year or so ago, and some still resent it. Most of them hotly defended themselves, and it is only natural that they should. Teachers, after all, are not in the business to get rich; they are in it because they love it. And the impulse to defend the thing you love — regardless of the merits of the case — is very human and very strong. Furthermore, teaching is a profession that demands strong personality; and the more dynamic and colorful a person is, the madder he gets when attacked.

"Nevertheless, I still believe that criticism of the schools is a fine thing. In the first place, criticism is a hair skirt. It makes us scratch, keeps us from relaxing too comfortably on our laurels. . ."

There is no profession which cannot be criticized and criticism is often of value but what critics say must not be accepted at face value, without competent and careful appraisal, or the changes will make conditions worse instead of better.

Futhermore, in appraising our system of education, we must take into consideration our objectives. If our education were intended only to make us better at war, we might say Russia's education system is better. If our hope is to increase our literacy, our culture, our progress, our happiness, our democracy and our faith in humanity and in God, we believe our system is superior to Russia's. Nevertheless, the price of all of these good things is eternal vigilance. That is why appraisal and reappraisal are so vital.

Some who are experts in one field asume they are experts in all fields. Scientists may attempt to tell educators what they should do but the scientist is basing his ideas almost wholly on what he believes will advance science. He has less knowledge than the educator of what it takes to make a balanced education or to provide a variety of educational advantages, so that some students may advance in one field and some in another.

An example of this was found when an educator had the courage to strike back at Vice-Admiral Hyman G. Rickover's criticism of the American school system.

Martin W. Essex, president of the American Association of School Administrators, said Admiral Rickover "misled the American people" in comparing Soviet and American schools.

The admiral, Mr. Essex continued, "is not competent in an area in which he is posing as an expert.'

Speaking to the Ohio School Boards Association, Mr. Essex who heads Akron, O., schools, declared:

"Admiral Rickover has been supporting his views with a Russian school examination which he said American students could not pass.

"Perhaps he is competent to report on the Soviet's atomic icebreaker but I must question his ability to ask pertinent questions about education and evaluate his answers.

"Soviet students are furnished test questions in advance, often are given a choice of which ones to answer and, in many cases, are given a chance to take the test again if they fail. As a result, failure in a Soviet school is a rarity."

Thus we see that the Russian students, who have been rated by some as more advanced than the American students, may be given even better chances for correct answers than were United States quiz contestants who are now under strong attack.

Much has been said and written in criticism of the schools and, for this reason and in connection with National Education Week, it seems appropriate to mention some of the goals and objectives of the teachers and educators. This can be done effectively by quoting "Ten golden rules our schools should live by," which follows:

"1. Classes small enough to permit individual attention for each child. (25 children per class at the elementary level is considered a good average).

"2. Provisions that permit each pupil to learn at his rate of speed, in different ways, and at different levels of achievement.

"3. A curriculum reviewed critically and often so that it remains current with the changing needs of children and society.

"4. A staff of enthusiastic, alert teachers, none with less than a bachelor's degree. Some teachers in the school will hold the master's degree or higher, or be working toward these.

"5. Teachers salaries that compare favorably with income of other persons in the community with similar education and years of experience. These salaries, of course, should be high enough so that teachers aren't forced into non-school employment, after hours to make ends meet.

"6. Teachers unburdened with an unreasonable number of non-teaching duties in their school assignments.

"7. High quality text books and other learning tools. A well-equipped library with a balanced supply of encyclopedias, dictionaries, current news magazines, scientific journals, and other reference materials of concern and interest to young people. Tools of learning, such as film-strips, foreign-language records, charts, globes, maps, pictures, tape-recorders.

"8. An enrollment large enough, particularly at the high school level, to justify a comprehensive program.

"9. A building (which serves as "home" for children many hours a day) which is clean, safe, comfortable, and uncrowded.

"10. Efficient and effective administrative leadership which seeks to stimulate quality teaching in every classroom. Such leadership also will exhibit capacity to manage efficiently the records, personnel and school plant."

School criticism should always start on the level of appraisals and attack should be resorted to only when it can be shown clearly that the practices objected to will be against the best interests of the school system, the students and the nation.

About 15 per cent of the wounded died during the Civil War, 8 per cent in World War I, 4 per cent in World War II and 2 per cent in the Korean war.

Castro's Impudence Bad

Petty Little Tyrant Stirs People To Wrath Against U.S. While Living Off American Business

The time has come for the United States to assert itself as a nation against a petty little tyrant who employs anti-Yanquism to keep himself in power. Fidel Castro needs a target to stir up his mob but can the United States tolerate his making us his target? Must we tolerate it?

Cuba's two principal sources of income derive from the United States. One is the tourist trade which, in the latter years of the Batista regime, became the leading source of income and the tourists were mostly Americans; the second source, of course, is sugar of which commodity Cuba has been the largest producer in the world.

* * *

The Uniter States permits Cuba to provide more than one-third of the sugar consumption of the United States, over 3,000,000 tons a year. The United States pays Cuba three cents a pound more than Cuba could get on the world market. In a word, the United States pays double the world price for sugar and Cuba gets an additional $160,000,000 a year thereby.

If Castro desecrates the American flag again, if he makes any more anti-American speeches, we ought to stop buying sugar in Cuba. The United States can purchase all the sugar it requires within the United States and in Mexico and the Philippines. Castro might attempt to sell his sugar to the Russians but it is doubtful whether they would pay the price the United States pays by law to maintain the economy of Cuba and it is more doubtful that they would want to disturb the economy of the Ukraine, a large beet sugar grower, by bringing in an enormous Cuban crop.

* * *

Fidel Castro, like many revolutionists, needs to keep himself in power either by genuine reforms or by developing a foreign target against which he hurls imprecations. It is unsound for the United States to tolerate Castro's impudence because it sets a bad example for other Latin-American countries. There needs to be dignity in such matters.

The United States recognized Castro too early and too rapidly. The State Department assumed that he was a reformer who would end the reign of a dictator.

It has never been explained why dictators are bad in some countries while acceptable in others. Stalin was an absolute dictator as Khrushchev declared him to be at the 20th Congress of the Russian Communist Party in his Cult of Personality speech. Nevertheless, Franklin D. Roosevelt sat and dined with Stalin and we entertained Khrushchev who is much like Stalin.

* * *

We objected to Batista because he was a dictator but took Castro to our hearts without much knowledge of the man and surely without foreknowledge that he would attempt to arouse all of Latin America against us and stimulate an attack on the Panama Canal. This we do not need to take from anybody. The soft policy toward Castro was probably inspired by those in the State Department who believe that when a man shouts, Democracy!, he must be accepted as an honest and decent person. Do they not know the allegory of "stop thief!"?

The United States remains the best market in the world for the sale of raw materials and manufactured goods. It is sound to use this advantageous market for political purposes. If Cuba seeks to disturb the Latin-American world to the disadvantage of the United States, this country need not assist Cuba economically so that it might be able to do us more harm. That is not only turning the other cheek but it is humiliating ourselves before a bewhiskered clown who seems so much like our own anarchical Beatniks.

* * *

Cuba is now a definite peril to the United States. It has interfered in the affairs of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Panama. It is too close to Florida to permit it to fall into the hands of Moscow-controlled Latin-American Communists. It stimulates rebellion in other countries and maintains an agitational atmosphere which imperils the peace of the Caribbean.

It is bad enough that Castro exists. He need not be subsidized by the United States. His government is being subsidized by the United States despite the fact that American property and life have been endangered and are constantly being threatened.

Our policy of weakness makes no sense at all—not in the world as we find it today.

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

Biggest Vote Seen

Hawaii And Alaska Certain To Make Number Of Ballots Largest

With Hawaii and Alaska casting their presidential votes for the first time, the U. S. is certain to poll the largest total ever for President in 1960, but the same old wheelhorses — New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan, to name a half dozen of the most important — will have the major role in determining the outcome.

* * *

At this stage, however, with speaking tours by major presidential contenders already under way from coast to coast, several important factors are evident. One is the tendency of aspirants to warm up to the big bloc votes, which are becoming more and more important in presidential elections.

The blocs, the political pros say, are more important than the issues, though the issues first create and then sway the blocs. Republicans have won two presidential elections in the past 30 years — the last two — with a big and nationally admired figure, Dwight D. Eisenhower. It is doubtful, in the light of developments, if they could have combined blocs and issues to win without him.

* * *

While the 1960 nominees will be important in the U. S. political world the winner may well be decided by the degree of unit of various blocs in their support of one nominee or the other. It has been estimated for example that in 1948, President Truman defeated the Republican nominee largely with the strong majority backing of the farm and big city Negro votes. What seems to have been consistently overlooked however, is the strength in that election of the old folks vote which also helped Truman in states like California, Illinois and Ohio all of which he carried although narrowly in each case.

This vote came from people who credited the previous Democratic administrations with the creation of social security. In the 1960 election social security will hardly be an issue, because its support is now bi-partisan. But estimates as high as 12 million of the 16 million eligibles over 65 are placed on the number who will vote, out of an estimated total vote of more than 64,000,000.

* * *

It is regarded here by political statisticians as questionable that the senior citizens will be anywhere nearly unified in their support, unless one candidate or the other singles them out with a program for better living conditions and that is not unlikely. Nevertheless they will be an increasing factor as a potential bloc from 1960 on, and any candidate who underestimates their importance must ignore the findings of senatorial subcommittee on their problems, which has already made another report and will have another upcoming about the time Congress reassembles in January.

The organized labor vote is slightly more important numerically than the old folks bloc and has more intensive direction than any other bloc. But the secret ballot checks the effort of leaders of labor's political organization to compel the rank and file of unions to vote as they direct and the enactment of the Landrum - Griffin labor reform bill tends to shake the previous overwhelmingly Democratic complexion of labor political support.

* * *

Polls seem to indicate that bloc support by labor, the aging and agriculture favors the Democrats. The last session of Congress however, virtually ignored the farm bloc, though passing some minor farm legislation, and the agricultural vote as a percentage of the whole vote has shrunk to a point where it could be controlling in only a few states. Those states still for the most part support Republicans for Congress. Those where agricultural districts supported Democrats for Senate and House in 1958, outside the South, have found that some of those they helped elect didn't vote as expected, and are reported as possibly swinging back to Republicans for Congress.

* * *

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is now regarded as the most likely Republican nominee. Nixon has increased in stature since his trips to South America and Russia, and there is recent evidence in polls that he tops the leading Democratic possibilities. He would have problems as Republican nominee in California, his own state, where the Democrats have demonstrated they have more labor and old age votes, in addition to a big edge in registered voters.

New York would be a close state, as would Illinois, though Nixon is represented as stronger in Ohio than any Democrat with the exception of Senator Frank Lausche, an unlikely Democratic nominee. Also, under some circumstances the northern Negro vote could give a majority to the Republicans. But the blocs will all cast their shadow on the 1960 political screen.

Views Of Our Readers

Dear Editor:

Let us analyze the political situation, and separate the blow-hards and the clowns from the men, or reasonable facsimiles, thereof.

You hear it continuously: "The Noe Team is the Go Team." It should be "The Noe Team is the Blow Team."

If Jimmy Noe had done all he's been crowing about, neither the Army or the State of Louisiana would ever have needed anyone else. He's taking credit for everything that has happened, practically since 1492.

Has no one given a thought to the "why" (or the motive) behind Noe's decision to try for the office of the Governor?

He has enough money to burn a wet dog, and is probably making several times the money paid the Governor, from his various holdings.

His motive is an ulterior one: I personally, have no doubt of his purpose in running: He is a walking proponent of integration.

Earl Long once said "Segregation is morally wrong." Suddenly, so many people jumped down his throat, he at once retracted, or at least, modified the statement. Now, he sneaks around under Noe's coattail so when Noe sells the people down the river to integration he can say "What could I do, I was only Lt. Governor?"

Are we going to let two of the sorriest Bush League politicians blind our eyes long enough to sell us integration wrapped in a package labeled "Bigger pensions to the aged?"

If we Louisianaians are that stupid we deserve what we'll get, and Brother, we'll get it! We'll have the rottenest administration ever to be in the Governor's Mansion.

Frankly, how are you going to like sitting shoulder to shoulder with "Gov." Noe's colored friends? You'll get the opportunity — just as sure as he's elected.

Has he ever committed himself, plainly and without reservations, on the integration question? No, he carries on his continuous and expensive publicity, throwing mud and dodging issues the people want to know.

Did you ever try to get a car title in a hurry? Or, anything else, from the do-nothing Long administration, in sort of a rush? You'll get that "go to hell, I'm a friend of Gov. Long's" attitude thrown at you.

Now, are we going to keep the windmills spinning in the Noe breeze? Remember, this farce is expensive. Its costing you, taxpayers!

So, let's analyze: Morrison is not acceptable, or qualified. And, so, right long the line. Davis is sincere, but very preoccupied and unconcerned. Usually, someone else does his "Governoring" for him. Rainach, seemingly qualified, has made several statements bordering on the anti-labor view. However, for his sincerity and on his promise to fight for segregation (so far, the one and the only one who has unreservedly pledged to do so) I say Rainach is the man. If he isn't, anyone else except Noe and Long will do. Even Morriosn. At least he has the good and common sense not to be a clown.

The world has laughed at Louisiana during the past four years.

"Let's say "So Long" to Long, and "No!" to Noe from now to Eternity!

We've had our show, and its no go! For Long & Noe - Adios, and So Long."

Yours truly,
Luther McCoy

RAPS SLUSH FUNDS

Monroe, La.

To The Editor:

I noticed in your editorial several days ago a statement that with the amount of money collected by the unions per month it would be hard to control their activities. I have been hoping our government would do something to curb that flow of millions.

When the Taft - Hartley act was in the senate (in the making) I wrote letters to the honorable Messrs. Taft, Hartley, Ball, Case and several others asking if they could pass a law curtailing that money situation, as I figured there is the trouble.

How does the gas case compare with the above case?

Japs Selling Soft

Businessmen Under Instructions Take It Easy In Huckstering

TOKYO, Japan — Mr. Moto is giving it the soft sell. Japanese businessmen are under firm instructions from their Government to take it easy in huckstering for customers. This is particularly true in the big marketing area of Southeast Asia where, a while back, the Japs went buying raw materials and selling manufactures with gunboat diplomacy under the flag of the Rising Sun.

* * *

But the Japs today have done what aerial navigators call a One Eighty — a full reversal of sales tactics. They are taking their trade back into the lands they once conquered — the Philippines, Burma, Thailand, Vietnam, Indonesia — but they are leaving the flag behind. In a carefully planned campaign to achieve the "co-prosperity sphere" which eluded them as warriors, the Japs feel that their first step is to rub out those wartime memories.

"If the Japs had a National Security Council," says a spokesman at the American Embassy in Tokyo, "its top objective would be to overcome the heritage of World War II."

* * *

This accounts for the soft sell approach. It also accounts (although the motives soon get mixed) for the $1.2 billion in reparation payments which the Japanese Government is sending to Southeast Asia over the next 20 years.

The Japs have a foreign aid policy of their own. They are investing millions through such agencies as the Colombo Plan, the World Bank and Development Fund, the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East, the International Cooperation Administration. On top of this are government - to-government loans, like the $70 million of credit to India, and various private investments.

* * *

Japan is no longer a toy-and-textile nation. It is a manufacturer of capital goods with the capability of lifting the whole economy of non-Communist Asia by industrialization. The need is for raw materials. So, Japan is part of a three - way deal to tap the high grade iron deposits in Orissa Province of India, four hundred miles from the sea. Japan is laying out $8 million for the railway and mining equipment, the U.S. is in for $20 million, India for local construction estimated at $39 million. The pattern holds for Japanese plans to take tin, bauxite and lumber from other Asian sources, and to return the minerals in manufactured articles.

Up to a point, this is the classical method of building an export market. The Japs are there with the first contacts. They have, or they soon will have, the best nearby products. They are trying to fill a vacuum which will be filled by Communist China if they fail. They are on a rising economy — 25 per cent above prewar standards — and are aiming to make their success succeed in a big way.

* * *

But one element is missing here. To this classic pattern belongs the time - tested economic law — the flag must follow the trade. Without a long-ranging Navy and Air Force to protect its persons, property and prestige, how can Japan do this far - off business? The friendship approach might be all right if the Chinese Communists would enter into a contest of smiles and bows. But the Reds are already pressing upon these same borders where the Japs are building up trade. What happens if the party gets rough?

It's a good question because it leads into an overlooked phase of Japanese recovery from World War II. This recovery or re-education has not been so smooth and complete as often supposed. It has been jerky, uneven, half-bake, much like the adolescence of a problem child.

Seven Navy - built American science bases in the Antarctic cover an area of four million square miles.

An example of this was found when an educator had the courage to strike back at Vice-Admiral Hyman G. Rickover's criticism of the American school system.

Martin W. Essex, president of the American Association of School Administrators, said Admiral Rickover "misled the American people" in comparing Soviet and American schools.

The admiral, Mr. Essex continued, "is not competent in an area in which he is posing as an expert.'

Speaking to the Ohio School Boards Association, Mr. Essex who heads Akron, O., schools, declared:

"Admiral Rickover has been supporting his views with a Russian school examination which he said American students could not pass.

"Perhaps he is competent to report on the Soviet's atomic icebreaker but I must question his ability to ask pertinent questions about education and evaluate his answers.

"Soviet students are furnished test questions in advance, often are given a choice of which ones to answer and, in many cases, are given a chance to take the test again if they fail. As a result, failure in a Soviet school is a rarity."

Thus we see that the Russian students, who have been rated by some as more advanced than the American students, may be given even better chances for correct answers than were United States quiz contestants who are now under strong attack.

Much has been said and written in criticism of the schools and, for this reason and in connection with National Education Week, it seems appropriate to mention some of the goals and objectives of the teachers and educators. This can be done effectively by quoting "Ten golden rules our schools should live by," which follows:

"1. Classes small enough to permit individual attention for each child. (25 children per class at the elementary level is considered a good average).

"2. Provisions that permit each pupil to learn at his rate of speed, in different ways, and at different levels of achievement.

"3. A curriculum reviewed critically and often so that it remains current with the changing needs of children and society.

"4. A staff of enthusiastic, alert teachers, none with less than a bachelor's degree. Some teachers in the school will hold the master's degree or higher, or be working toward these.

"5. Teachers salaries that compare favorably with income of other persons in the community with similar education and years of experience. These salaries, of course, should be high enough so that teachers aren't forced into non-school employment, after hours to make ends meet.

"6. Teachers unburdened with an unreasonable number of non-teaching duties in their school assignments.

"7. High quality text books and other learning tools. A well-equipped library with a balanced supply of encyclopedias, dictionaries, current news magazines, scientific journals, and other reference materials of concern and interest to young people. Tools of learning, such as film-strips, foreign-language records, charts, globes, maps, pictures, tape-recorders.

"8. An enrollment large enough, particularly at the high school level, to justify a comprehensive program.

"9. A building (which serves as "home" for children many hours a day) which is clean, safe, comfortable, and uncrowded.

"10. Efficient and effective administrative leadership which seeks to stimulate quality teaching in every classroom. Such leadership also will exhibit capacity to manage efficiently the records, personnel and school plant."

School criticism should always start on the level of appraisals and attack should be resorted to only when it can be shown clearly that the practices objected to will be against the best interests of the school system, the students and the nation.

About 15 per cent of the wounded died during the Civil War, 8 per cent in World War I, 4 per cent in World War II and 2 per cent in the Korean war.

Castro's Impudence Bad

Petty Little Tyrant Stirs People To Wrath Against U.S. While Living Off American Business

The time has come for the United States to assert itself as a nation against a petty little tyrant who employs anti-Yanquism to keep himself in power. Fidel Castro needs a target to stir up his mob but can the United States tolerate his making us his target? Must we tolerate it?

Cuba's two principal sources of income derive from the United States. One is the tourist trade which, in the latter years of the Batista regime, became the leading source of income and the tourists were mostly Americans; the second source, of course, is sugar of which commodity Cuba has been the largest producer in the world.

* * *

The Uniter States permits Cuba to provide more than one-third of the sugar consumption of the United States, over 3,000,000 tons a year. The United States pays Cuba three cents a pound more than Cuba could get on the world market. In a word, the United States pays double the world price for sugar and Cuba gets an additional $160,000,000 a year thereby.

If Castro desecrates the American flag again, if he makes any more anti-American speeches, we ought to stop buying sugar in Cuba. The United States can purchase all the sugar it requires within the United States and in Mexico and the Philippines. Castro might attempt to sell his sugar to the Russians but it is doubtful whether they would pay the price the United States pays by law to maintain the economy of Cuba and it is more doubtful that they would want to disturb the economy of the Ukraine, a large beet sugar grower, by bringing in an enormous Cuban crop.

* * *

Fidel Castro, like many revolutionists, needs to keep himself in power either by genuine reforms or by developing a foreign target against which he hurls imprecations. It is unsound for the United States to tolerate Castro's impudence because it sets a bad example for other Latin-American countries. There needs to be dignity in such matters.

The United States recognized Castro too early and too rapidly. The State Department assumed that he was a reformer who would end the reign of a dictator.

It has never been explained why dictators are bad in some countries while acceptable in others. Stalin was an absolute dictator as Khrushchev declared him to be at the 20th Congress of the Russian Communist Party in his Cult of Personality speech. Nevertheless, Franklin D. Roosevelt sat and dined with Stalin and we entertained Khrushchev who is much like Stalin.

* * *

We objected to Batista because he was a dictator but took Castro to our hearts without much knowledge of the man and surely without foreknowledge that he would attempt to arouse all of Latin America against us and stimulate an attack on the Panama Canal. This we do not need to take from anybody. The soft policy toward Castro was probably inspired by those in the State Department who believe that when a man shouts, Democracy!, he must be accepted as an honest and decent person. Do they not know the allegory of "stop thief!"?

The United States remains the best market in the world for the sale of raw materials and manufactured goods. It is sound to use this advantageous market for political purposes. If Cuba seeks to disturb the Latin-American world to the disadvantage of the United States, this country need not assist Cuba economically so that it might be able to do us more harm. That is not only turning the other cheek but it is humiliating ourselves before a bewhiskered clown who seems so much like our own anarchical Beatniks.

* * *

Cuba is now a definite peril to the United States. It has interfered in the affairs of the Dominician Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Panama. It is too close to Florida to permit it to fall into the hands of Moscow-controlled Latin-American Communists. It stimulates rebellion in other countries and maintains an agitational atmosphere which imperils the peace of the Caribbean.

It is bad enough that Castro exists. He need not be subsidized by the United States. His government is being subsidized by the United States despite the fact that American property and life have been endangered and are constantly being threatened.

Our policy of weakness makes no sense at all—not in the world as we find it today.

Biggest Vote Seen

Hawaii And Alaska Certain To Make Number Of Ballots Largest

With Hawaii and Alaska casting their presidential votes for the first time, the U. S. is certain to poll the largest total ever for President in 1960, but the same old wheelhorses — New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan, to name a half dozen of the most important — will have the major role in determining the outcome.

* * *

At this stage, however, with speaking tours by major presidential contenders already under way from coast to coast, several important factors are evident. One is the tendency of aspirants to warm up to the big bloc votes, which are becoming more and more important in presidential elections.

The blocs, the political pros say, are more important than the issues, though the issues first create and then sway the blocs. Republicans have won two presidential elections in the past 30 years — the last two — with a big and nationally admired figure, Dwight D. Eisenhower. It is doubtful, in the light of developments, if they could have combined blocs and issues to win without him.

* * *

While the 1960 nominees will be important in the U. S. political world the winner may well be decided by the degree of unit of various blocs in their support of one nominee or the other. It has been estimated for example that in 1948, President Truman defeated the Republican nominee largely with the strong majority backing of the farm and big city Negro votes. What seems to have been consistently overlooked however, is the strength in that election of the old folks vote which also helped Truman in states like California, Illinois and Ohio all of which he carried although narrowly in each case.

This vote came from people who credited the previous Democratic administrations with the creation of social security. In the 1960 election social security will hardly be an issue, because its support is now bi-partisan. But estimates as high as 12 million of the 16 million eligibles over 65 are placed on the number who will vote, out of an estimated total vote of more than 64,000,000.

* * *

It is regarded here by political statisticians as questionable that the senior citizens will be anywhere nearly unified in their support, unless one candidate or the other singles them out with a program for better living conditions and that is not unlikely. Nevertheless they will be an increasing factor as a potential bloc from 1960 on, and any candidate who underestimates their importance must ignore the findings of senatorial subcommittee on their problems, which has already made another report and will have another upcoming about the time Congress reassembles in January.

The organized labor vote is slightly more important numerically than the old folks bloc and has more intensive direction than any other bloc. But the secret ballot checks the effort of leaders of labor's political organization to compel the rank and file of unions to vote as they direct and the enactment of the Landrum - Griffin labor reform bill tends to shake the previous overwhelmingly Democratic complexion of labor political support.

* * *

Polls seem to indicate that bloc support by labor, the aging and agriculture favors the Democrats. The last session of Congress however, virtually ignored the farm bloc, though passing some minor farm legislation, and the agricultural vote as a percentage of the whole vote has shrunk to a point where it could be controlling in only a few states. Those states still for the most part support Republicans for Congress. Those where agricultural districts supported Democrats for Senate and House in 1958, outside the South, have found that some of those they helped elect didn't vote as expected, and are reported as possibly swinging back to Republicans for Congress.

* * *

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is now regarded as the most likely Republican nominee. Nixon has increased in stature since his trips to South America and Russia, and there is recent evidence in polls that he tops the leading Democratic possibilities. He would have problems as Republican nominee in California, his own state, where the Democrats have demonstrated they have more labor and old age votes, in addition to a big edge in registered voters.

New York would be a close state, as would Illinois, though Nixon is represented as stronger in Ohio than any Democrat with the exception of Senator Frank Lausche, an unlikely Democratic nominee. Also, under some circumstances the northern Negro vote could give a majority to the Republicans. But the blocs will all cast their shadow on the 1960 political screen.

Views Of Our Readers

Dear Editor:

Let us analyze the political situation, and separate the blow-hards and the clowns from the men, or reasonable facsimiles, thereof.

You hear it continuously: "The Noe Team is the Go Team." It should be "The Noe Team is the Blow Team."

If Jimmy Noe had done all he's been crowing about, neither the Army or the State of Louisiana would ever have needed anyone else. He's taking credit for everything that has happened, practically since 1492.

Has no one given a thought to the "why" (or the motive) behind Noe's decision to try for the office of the Governor?

He has enough money to burn a wet dog, and is probably making several times the money paid the Governor, from his various holdings.

His motive is an ulterior one: I personally, have no doubt of his purpose in running: He is a walking proponent of integration.

Earl Long once said "Segregation is morally wrong." Suddenly, so many people jumped down his throat, he at once retracted, or at least, modified the statement. Now, he sneaks around under Noe's coattail so when Noe sells the people down the river to integration he can say "What could I do, I was only Lt. Governor?"

Are we going to let two of the sorriest Bush League politicians blind our eyes long enough to sell us integration wrapped in a package labeled "Bigger pensions to the aged?"

If we Louisianaians are that stupid we deserve what we'll get, and Brother, we'll get it! We'll have the rottenest administration ever to be in the Governor's Mansion.

Frankly, how are you going to like sitting shoulder to shoulder with "Gov." Noe's colored friends? You'll get the opportunity — just as sure as he's elected.

Has he ever committed himself, plainly and without reservations, on the integration question? No, he carries on his continuous and expensive publicity, throwing mud and dodging issues the people want to know.

Did you ever try to get a car title in a hurry? Or, anything else, from the do-nothing Long administration, in sort of a rush? You'll get that "go to hell, I'm a friend of Gov. Long's" attitude thrown at you.

Now, are we going to keep the windmills spinning in the Noe breeze? Remember, this farce is expensive. Its costing you, taxpayers!

So, let's analyze: Morrison is not acceptable, or qualified. And, so, right long the line. Davis is sincere, but very preoccupied and unconcerned. Usually, someone else does his "Governoring" for him. Rainach, seemingly qualified, has made several statements bordering on the anti-labor view. However, for his sincerity and on his promise to fight for segregation (so far, the one and the only one who has unreservedly pledged to do so) I say Rainach is the man. If he isn't, anyone else except Noe and Long will do. Even Morriosn. At least he has the good and common sense not to be a clown.

The world has laughed at Louisiana during the past four years. "Let's say "So Long" to Long, and "No!" to Noe from now to Eternity!

We've had our show, and its no go! For Long & Noe - Adios, and So Long."

Yours truly,
Luther McCoy

RAPS SLUSH FUNDS

Monroe, La.

To The Editor:

I noticed in your editorial several days ago a statement that with the amount of money collected by the unions per month it would be hard to control their activities. I have been hoping our government would do something to curb that flow of millions.

When the Taft - Hartley act was in the senate (in the making) I wrote letters to the honorable Messrs. Taft, Hartley, Ball, Case and several others asking if they could pass a law curtailing that money situation, as I figured there is the trouble.

How does the gas case compare with the above case?

Japs Selling Soft

Businessmen Under Instructions Take It Easy In Huckstering

TOKYO, Japan — Mr. Moto is giving it the soft sell. Japanese businessmen are under firm instructions from their Government to take it easy in huckstering for customers. This is particularly true in the big marketing area of Southeast Asia where, a while back, the Japs went buying raw materials and selling manufactures with gunboat diplomacy under the flag of the Rising Sun.

* * *

But the Japs today have done what aerial navigators call a One Eighty — a full reversal of sales tactics. They are taking their trade back into the lands they once conquered — the Philippines, Burma, Thailand, Vietnam, Indonesia — but they are leaving the flag behind. In a carefully planned campaign to achieve the "co-prosperity sphere" which eluded them as warriors, the Japs feel that their first step is to rub out those wartime memories.

"If the Japs had a National Security Council," says a spokesman at the American Embassy in Tokyo, "its top objective would be to overcome the heritage of World War II."

* * *

This accounts for the soft sell approach. It also accounts (although the motives soon get mixed) for the $1.2 billion in reparation payments which the Japanese Government is sending to Southeast Asia over the next 20 years.

The Japs have a foreign aid policy of their own. They are investing millions through such agencies as the Colombo Plan, the World Bank and Development Fund, the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East, the International Cooperation Administration. On top of this are government - to-government loans, like the $70 million of credit to India, and various private investments.

* * *

Japan is no longer a toy-and-textile nation. It is a manufacturer of capital goods with the capability of lifting the whole economy of non-Communist Asia by industrialization. The need is for raw materials. So, Japan is part of a three - way deal to tap the high grade iron deposits in Orissa Province of India, four hundred miles from the sea. Japan is laying out $8 million for the railway and mining equipment, the U.S. is in for $20 million, India for local construction estimated at $39 million. The pattern holds for Japanese plans to take tin, bauxite and lumber from other Asian sources, and to return the minerals in manufactured articles.

Up to a point, this is the classical method of building an export market. The Japs are there with the first contacts. They have, or they soon will have, the best nearby products. They are trying to fill a vacuum which will be filled by Communist China if they fail. They are on a rising economy — 25 per cent above prewar standards — and are aiming to make their success succeed in a big way.

* * *

But one element is missing here. To this classic pattern belongs the time - tested economic law — the flag must follow the trade. Without a long-ranging Navy and Air Force to protect its persons, property and prestige, how can Japan do this far - off business? The friendship approach might be all right if the Chinese Communists would enter into a contest of smiles and bows. But the Reds are already pressing upon these same borders where the Japs are building up trade. What happens if the party gets rough?

It's a good question because it leads into an overlooked phase of Japanese recovery from World War II. This recovery or re-education has not been so smooth and complete as often supposed. It has been jerky, uneven, half-bake, much like the adolescence of a problem child.

Seven Navy - built American science bases in the Antarctic cover an area of four million square miles.

Many Irons In The Fire

Chinese Study

Editor's Note — Red China has more irons in the fire than backyard smelters. Where science is concerned, the People's Republic is working with singleminded enthusiasm. Will it overtake the United States and the Soviet Union? Here's an enterprising look at where Red China stands in science and technology, gathered from sources on both sides of the Bamboo Curtain.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Red China is brewing up some of the next surprises in science and technology.

For most of its 10 years, the Chinese People's Republic has stressed education and science as mainsprings of her highly advertised "great leap forward."

One goal was creating a new army of scientists and technologists.

"Now they are beginning to reap the fruits—and in five years or so we can expect some razzle-dazzle in science," says a prominent American physicist. He asked not to be identified, since he has continuing contacts with Russians and Chinese at international scientific meetings.

He recently observed some of the Chinese students studying in the Soviet Union.

"Even the Russians are flabbergasted about their energy and utter devotion," he reports. "The Chinese students will study until 2 a.m., then be up at 7 a.m., taking calisthenics before starting another long day.

"One Soviet scientist remarked: 'We understand you Americans, but we don't understand the Chinese.'

"Another Russian scientist first told me last summer the joke: 'If you are an optimist, study Russian, and if you are a pessimist, then study Chinese'."

U.S. scientists and newsmen are not permitted to visit Red China. But other nationals who have visited, and scientists with indirect contacts, agree that science and technology are being avidly pursued in the new China arising in this age of science.

Most think China wants to make her own A-bombs. A few think China may produce them within a few or five years, vastly changing the world's military and strategic position.

Red China's first problem was building schools, finding teachers to train thousands of scientists and technicians. From all signs, this is well under way.

Dr. J. Tuzo Wilson, professor of geophysics at the University of Toronto, visited China last year, including a new center of institutes and universities in Peiping.

As many as 100,000 scientists and students may be working there, he reports in a new book "One Chinese Moon," (Hill and Wang, New York). Dr. Wilson said he was told there now are 200 colleges and universities in China, with about 450,000 students.

A large percentage is studying science. Others are taking scientific training abroad, with up to 6,000 Chinese students said to be in the Soviet Union alone. Scientific equipment is reported being bought from the U.S.S.. and East European countries.

A Chinese-born physicist, now doing research at a large American university, told of meeting a Soviet expert in physics who was impressed with some Chinese accomplishments.

The Russian found the Chinese making better crystals of germanium—the hearts of transistors—than the Russians did. He also thought their photographic emulsions for tracing atomic particles better than any made in the United States.

These apparently were the product of Chinese scientists who had gone to school in the United States and elsewhere before the Chinese revolution 10 years ago.

Before the Sino-Japanese war and subsequent upheavals, China was credited with numerous good scientists, particularly in biology.

The work of young Chinese scientists in physics and mathematics is not regarded yet as generally top-rate by some qualified American observers. But a few Chinese theoretical physicists are credited with doing good work.

An American scientists who frequently visits Asian countries reports signs that Red China scientists are trying to lure home some Chinese researchers now based in Taiwan, or Formosa. One lure is that the scientists would have better support and greater opportunity to publish their work if they did return.

A majority of basic research journals published in Red China for foreign distribution are written in English rather than Russian, another scientist reports. He thinks this indicates the Chinese are anxious to win approval and standing in the eyes of American and British scientists.

Dr. Wilson, in his month of travel, was impressed among other things with the surge of national pride and patriotic fervor in Red China, especially among youths, and by the planning for the future.

"It is of vital importance that we assess what is happening as accurately and dispassionately as we can, because what happens in China is going to affect us—probably with a smash of tremendous impact — and that soon," he writes.

He notes that the Chinese are following the West—for Westerners are not starting to grow pigtails, or put on mandarin coats, or give up mass production methods in favor of handcrafts.

"The common pride and perversity of human nature prevents the Chinese from admitting this," Dr. Wilson says, "but it remains nonetheless true that they have abandoned many of the trappings of a civilization 3,000 years old to adopt many of the new ideas of the West, as the Russians did before them. We should recognize this and do our best to be worthy of the leadership thrust upon us."

Better Do A Study

Trouble Shooter

By BILL DEAN

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Gen. Thomas S. Power leaned toward his intercom. "Rod," he said, "I think you'd better do a study."

In his office downstairs in Strategic Air Command headquarters, Dr. Rodney H. Smith, a good-looking, 41-year-old scientist, cocked his head toward the squawk box as the SAC commander asked: "How much warning will I get of a surprise attack."

Smith, in turn, put the question to his experts in one of SAC's least known agencies: Operations Analaysis.

The civilian team—specialists in electronics, mathematics, statistics, geophysics and meteorology —fanned out across the country to huddle with intelligence officers, communications personnel and air defense people at Colorado Springs.

One Operations Analysis man headed for the Far East to gather data. Another was sent to Europe.

The team of scientists then weighed what they learned about worldwide radar, available communications systems and the various ways in which the enemy might strike. Finally, Dr. Smith briefed Gen. Power and his staff on what was learned.

Not long afterward, on Oct. 1, 1957, Gen. Power told the world that henceforth part of SAC's global jet bomber force would always be on 15 minutes alert—prepared to be airborne and combat ready in a quarter of an hour.

It was a dramatic break from tradition during one of the chillier phases of the cold war. As one SAC man explained: "It used to take 24 hours to go to war."

Power, like many military and businessmen today, had made his decision only after hearing what his scientists had to say.

The door to Operations Analysis is just a few steps inside the main entrance of SAC's headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha. Yet comparatively few of the 3,700 people who work in the building are aware of the agency.

The uncluttered, quiet, gray-walled sanctum of 25 scientists is divided into small cubicles, each with a large blackboard. Except for four or five airmen, the men are civilians.

Smith's own office is a large, carpeted room with a mahogany conference table, a big mahogany desk an a dozen leather-upholstered chairs.

As OA's chief, Smith is one of the military's "civilian generals," the equivalent of a brigadier. His rank among his civilian colleagues is evident, too: he has the biggest blackboard in the place.

"We're scientific advisers to Gen. Power an his staff," the earnest, personable Smith explains. "We are available on the spur of the moment. We're not assigned to any particular functions."

In general, the OA civilians apply scientific method and special training to the problems of military aircraft an missiles and air warfare.

Though still relatively few in number, Operations Analysts make up a fast-rising segment of both military and business worlds. Best known are those of the Rand Corp. in Santa Monica, Calif., fighting theoretical future wars with mathematical formulae and electronic calculators.

"They're a lot more ivory tower than we are," smiles Dr. Smith, who like the rest of his staff, works in shirtsleeves. "We live day in and day out with the military. Typically we're much closer to the problem and we try to get out our answers a whole lot quicker."

"The real difference between us and Rand is the use of the product. They explore a problem and put out a published report. Our product is injected into the work of the SAC headquarters staff."

Operations Analysis was born at the outset of World War II when the British called on civilian scientists who developed radar to help speed the new device into military operation.

When the first analysts went to work for the U.S. 8th Bomber Command, Brig. Gen. Ira Eaker asked them: "How can I put twice as many bombs on my targets?"

As the war progressed OA men found ways not only to double but triple the number of bombs on a target area.

Today's scientific surge is taxing the ability of the Operations Analysis scientists to keep pace.

"We spend half our time keeping abreast of developments — reading, attending meetings, visiting laboratories," says Paul A. Hower, 42, an electronics expert and deputy director of SAC's Operation Analysis.

"There are plenty of translations of Russian scientific literature and technical intelligence is pretty good," he reports.

"We know a lot about the Russians' electronics capability. It's very comparable to ours, though they do things differently."

A man doing scientific analysis surely needs time to just think. When does Hower find the time?

"I do most of my thinking while I'm mowing the lawn," he laughs.

Smith and Hower give you the impression the marriage between science and the military is a happy one.

SAC officers suggest this is partly because the operation has been completely successful and has paid its way. At the same time the scientists have spelled out to the generals the conditions necessary to get the job done and apparently have made them stick.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 13 productions brought to Broadway by David Merrick during the past five years have grossed $25,500,000, according to trade estimates.

Nine of the projects have already reaped dividends, two are on the way, and the remaining pair are classed as the only financial misses.

Merrick currently has five shows running, "Gypsy," "The World of Suzie Wong," "La Plume de Ma Tante," "Destry Rides Again" and "Take Me Along."

ON CATLIN

Double Feature

GEORGE CATLIN AND THE OLD FRONTIER. By Harold McCracken. Dial. $18.50. George Catlin: Episodes from "Life Among the Indians" and "Last Rambles." Edited by Marvin C. Ross. University of Oklahoma. $12.50.

Born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1796, died in Jersey City, N. J., in 1872, Catlin produced, says Ross, "the most remarkable portraiture record of North American Indians known to us." McCracken hails him in these words: "No other artist or writer in the field of the North American Indian and the Old West has had as long and broad an influence."

Catlin studied law, but in Philadelphia he met Sully, Willson, Peale and other painters, was elected to the Pennsylvania Academy, turned to portraiture, became a friend of a sitter, DeWitt Clinton, and then embarked definitely on his western travels and painting career, starting from St. Louis where the indorsement of the Clark of Lewis and Clark helped him on his way. That was in 1830. In five years he had scores of sketches and finished pictures of braves, squaws, villages and ceremonies. He exhibited them in eastern cities, then London and Paris. Kings and queens might see and approve, but the United States Congress would not vote to buy this essential unique record. In later years he went to the West Coast and the jungles of South America. He died, practically penniless, and only then did a sizable body of his work settle in the Smithsonian.

These are not art books so much as picture books; Catlin was too good a friend of the Indian to take esthetic liberties in line, pattern or color; he was a recorder, not a creator. McCracken, with 36 color reproductions and 13 black-and-whites, is the biographer, following his artist in more detail than anyone else on his wide wanderings. The more precise scholarship is in Ross' book, which concentrates on the three years in the 1850s when Catlin went to our west coast and South America; Ross' 152 black and white reproductions show the less familiar originals of that particular period, plus the artists's second versions, or copies, of his earlier works.

"HERE WE GO AGAIN." The Kingston Trio. Capital T1258, $3.98. This is the Trio that did not stay on the slow boat to fame; they caught the first rocket to the top. Dave Guard, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane are three good reasons why folk music is so popular with folks today. One quality of this group so often over looked is their performance of a song with the direct and personal warmth of an individual stylist. The Kingston Trio merely whetted the appetite of folk for more folk music with their recording of Tom Dooley. Selections include Molly Dee, Across The Wide Missouri, Goober Peas and A Worried Man.

"EXOTICA VOL III." The Exotic Sounds of Martin Denny. Liberty LST 7116, $4.98. First gaining fame in the Hawaiian Islands then in the United States for his unusual sounds. Martin Denny has often been copied, but he always remains original with his arrangements. The musical interest is very good and the stereo depth and directionality are excellent. Some of the selections are Hello Young Lovers, Harbor Lights, Limehouse Blues, and Caravan.

"WITH THESE HANDS." Roger Williams. Kapp KS3030, $4.98. Roger Williams' fame started after he recorded "Autumn Leaves" for Kapp Records. Since that time he has consistently appeared on all hit record charts and became well known to radio and television. "With These Hands" is music for your every mood. Tunes less familiar makes this an unrepeated album.

"TIME TO SWING." Dakota Station. Capital T1241, $3.98. Arrangements and orchestra conducted by Sid Feller. Born in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Dakota made her album debut in "The Late, Late Show." From there she leaped to the top of the list as one of the country's finest jazz singers of our day. A great stylist herself, with the backing of Sid Feller and his crew varrying their instrumental power to give just the right amount of support, Dakota has recorded another hit album.

CLASSICAL

BEETHOVEN: Symphony No. 4, in B flat, Op. 60-Overture "Coriolan" Op. 62. Ernest Ansermet conducting the L'orchestre De La Suisse Romande. London CS6070, $5.98. Stereo definition and separation on this disc are very good. Beethoven composed his Symphony No. 4 a high spirited youth-score in 1806, later he composed his ever popular and elegantly concise Symphony No. 5. Ernest Ansermet has retained the joyous score throughout. The Overture "Coriolan" was written for Heinrich Joseph von Collin's Coriolan play derived from Plutarch's "Lives."

"OPERATIC RECITAL." Guiseppe de Stefano. London OS-25081, $5.98. de Stefano is accompanied by the Orchestra of L'Accademia di Santa Cecilia, Rome on side one, on side two he is accompanied by the Zurich Tonhallen Orchestra. The stereo effect is superb. London's engineers have done a remarkable job of recording di Stefano's voice. Guiseppe is probably Italy's most favorite tenor today. He has opened the La Scala season in Italy for the past three successive years. Side one includes excerpts from Andrea Chenier, Tosca, and Turandot. Side two Werther, Manon, Carmen, Faust, and Les Pecheurs De Perles.

"MA VLAST" — complete recording. Bedrich Smetana. Rafael Kubelik conducting the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. London CSA2202, $11.96, two records. Smetana composed Ma Vlast ("My Country") under a great affliction, deafness. Suffering from disordered hearing he began work on the cycle in 1874. Later he became stone deaf. He did not let this stop him by 1879 the cycle was complete. To appreciate My Vlast it is necessary to hear all six poems in one concert. Rafael Kubelik has captured and held the fervour that Smetana must have had for his country, Czechoslovakia. The overall stereo effect is great and the recorded sound is of the highest fidelity.

Fresher Rose For Novelist Gertrude Stein

THE THIRD ROSE: GERTRUDE STEIN AND HER WORLD. By John Malcolm Brinnin. Atlantic - Little, Brown, $6.

Gertrude Stein, who wrote some three dozen books, has inevitably been much written about. Besides her innumerable appearances in volumes on Left-Bank Paris of 1900-50, she has been the subject of a couple of bibliographies and six other entire books. Stein scholars and biographers have long since got around to repeating themselves — just the fault some of the more spiteful critics charge her with. But now Brinnin, 13 years after her death, honors her with another biography, detailed and exhaustive, sympathetically illustrated, and even those who knew Stein best will find fresh insights and information.

The main story is quickly told — born Pittsburgh 1874, studied Radcliffe and Johns Hopkins, settled Paris 1903 first with brilliant erratic brother Leo and then with Alice B. Toklas — who now in their rue Christine apartment presides over the Stein collection of key paintings of the 20th Century. "Three Lives," "The Making of Americans," "Tender Buttons," "The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas," "Four Saints in Three Acts" and "Wars I Have Seen," among other books of hers, have raised up an army of friends and at least a corporal's guard of foes.

Brinnin puts an end to the nonsense about automatic writing; she used a pencil and ruled children's notebooks, not the ouija board. He stresses her creative intellectuality, the cubist content of her work, her major role in restoring to the theater some of its ancient ritual, and the litany - like charcter of both "Four Saints" and "The Mother of Us All."

"Rose is a rose is a rose is a rose" provided the title—a friend could take the first two roses, he told Brinnin, but found the third thorny. Brinnin is for Stein, or as he phrases it inversely, "She may not endure, as James Joyce and Picasso may not endure." But this is no blanket indorsement, this is not a Stein - can - do - no-wrong study. You might like "The Mother" less, or "Tender Buttons" more. The important thing is the over-all view. Soberly weighing plus against minus, the Brinnin ledger shows few red entries, and many in black. This examination of the Stein record, the fullest to date, results, as it was bound to, in the unchallengeable affirmation of her top place in our letters.

State Official Gives Ruling On Wide Cars

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — State Atty. Gen. George McCanless ruled Friday those wide, wide new cars must comply with a Tennessee law requiring truck-type clearance lights on vehicles over 80 inches wide.

Greg O'Rear, state safety commissioner, said the highway patrol would begin enforcement of the law after allowing motorists reasonable time to equip their cars with the amber and red lights and reflectors.

"We have no other choice," he said.

A check of auto manufacturers' specifications showed nine 1960 model cars with widths ranging up to 1.9 inches over 80 inches.

McCanless, in an opinion requested by O'Rear, said any car over 80 inches wide must carry eight clearance lights and six reflectors. Violation is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $50 and 30 days in jail.

O'Rear said owners of the extra wide cars would be given a grace period in which to equip their cars as required by law. He said he had not decided when enforcement would commence.

The 1960 cars over 80 inches wide include standard models of Chevrolet, Continental, Edsel, Ford, Imperial, Lincoln, Mercury, Oldsmobile and Pontiacs, O'Rear said.

The first victim was the patrol itself. O'Rear ordered the patrol's only 1960 model car a Ford, parked until it could be equipped with clearance lights. Another 31 patrol cars on order also must be similarly equipped, he said, before they can be used.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

One of the most pressing problems in library administration is that of having enough copies of popular books to meet the demand when the books are new, without having so many copies that eventually a great number are left sitting on the shelves. I have worried about this for a long time and with the increased use of the library, our waiting lists have grown longer and longer. We hope that we have partially solved this problem by subscribing to a service whereby we receive a number of new books at their height of popularity and return them when they are no longer needed. Last week we received the first shipment of books under this plan and it helped us to cut down on the waiting lists a great deal. If our patrons would cooperate by returning the books as soon as they have finished reading them, all of the books in our collection could move faster. This is another effort on our part to give you, the people of Ouachita Parish the best service that we can.

In addition to the books mentioned above, we have added a number of new titles to our collection in the past week. Two new mystery stories are: "The List of Adrian Messenger" by Philip McDonald and "Plot It Yourself" by Rex Stout. An interesting new novel, centered around Gibraltar is "The Rock" by Warren Tute. While Dorothy Stevenson is the author of a novel with an English background called "Still Glides the Stream."

The backbone of a library collection is it's non-fiction collection and we are working constantly to build it up. A number of interesting new books are now available for you. "Philosophy for a Time of Crisis" is the title of a very fine book by Adrienne Koch. "Reading the Bible Aloud" by J. Edward Lantz will give pleasure and inspiration to many people. "The Church Plans for Kindergarten Children" by Katherine Tobey is a very splendid book. "The Masks of God" by Joseph Campbell sheds new light on the world of primitive mythology. A new book dealing with the beat generation is "The Holy Barbarians" by Lawrence Lipton. "The Face of Disaster" by Donald Robinson is an account of how Americans have reacted to great national disasters. "The Road to Harper's Ferry" by J. C. Furnas is an interesting account of the anti-slavery movement in this country. "The Compact History of the American Red Cross" by Charles Hurd is an excellent book and one of which we are very proud, especially since it was a gift from our local Red Cross Chapter. "Your Child in a Scientific World" is a very helpful book for parents by Albertina Weinlander as is "Kindergarten; Your Child's Big Step" by Minnie Berson. "The Case for Basic Education" by James D. Koerner should be of interest to parents as well as teachers. "Christmas with Ed Sullivan" is an interesting collection which will be in great demand a little later on, Billie Burke's new book is called "With Powder on My Nose" and many people will want to read it.

In the field of science there are several new books. "The Voyage of the Beagle" by Charles Darwin has just been reprinted in a lovely edition. "Wildlife in America" by Peter Matthiessen is a very fine and beautiful new book. "Eat Fat and Grow Thin" by Dr. Richard Mackarness is another book of diet. "A Psychiatrist's World" is a collection of essays by Karl Menninger.

Gardening books are always popular and we have several new ones to offer this week. "The Gardner's World" is a splendid book by Joseph Wood Krutch. "Landscaping with Vines" is the title of a book by Frances Howard. One of the most beautiful cookbooks which we have had in a long time is the "General Foods Kitchens Cookbook." Recently we have had many calls for books on judo, so we have added several to our collection. One is "Popular Judo" by Pat Butler. Another is "Jiu Jitsu Complete" by Klyose Nakae and the other is "Judo on the Ground" by E. J. Harrison. In the field of literature there are several new books "The Family Reader of American Masterpieces" is a lovely collection by Ralph L. Woods. "Have Pen Will Autograph" is a humorous account of his experiences written by Harnett T. Kane. "The Anger of Achilles" is a lovely new translation of Homer's Iliad by Robert Graves.

"Three Against the Wilderness" is an exciting story of courage in the Canadian woods. "New Orleans" by Oliver Evans is a lovely descriptive book of that city. "Embarcadero" by Richard Dillon is a collection of true tales of sea adventure around San Francisco. "The Desperate People" is an exciting account of the Eskimos written by Farley Mowat. "Armada" by Garrett Mattingly, interestingly retells this great period in English history. "Picket's Charge" by George R. Stewart has all of the thrill of the Civil War. "In the Days of McKinley" by Margaret Leech sheds new light on a period of our history about which little has been written. "The Story of Indonesia" by Louis Fischer is a very much needed and splendid new book.

Another Book From Faulkner

THE MANSION. By William Faulkner. Random House. $4.75.

Though Faulkner recollects having the Snopeses in mind more than 30 years, your memory of them probably goes back only to 1940 when he introduced them in "The Hamlet." He left them, and their problems of money, ambition and sex, pretty much alone till 1957 when they returned in "The Town." There you again meet Flem and his wife Eula, and also both Charles Mallison and Gavin Stevens. Now here they are back in the old Major de Spain "mansion" remodeled pretentiously, "that - ere big white elephant of a house" with "them colyums" rising two stories, to describe it in the vernacular of V. K. Ratliff.

Mink, or M. C., Snopes is being sentenced. "Did you or didn't you kill Jack Houston?" the judge demands, but Mink won't tell — so Faulkner does. Mink had a cow, Houston had a herd, Mink's got into Houston's pasture. They dickered over it; Mink thought he was smart, Houston was smart and also ruthless, and the upshot was that Mink dug post holes nearly 40 days to pay the feed bill. But Houston's mean streak drove him and Mink also too far. Mink sneaked the family savings out from behind a fireplace brick, bought a gun, and shot Houston right off his wild and brutish stallion.

All during the trial he expected Flem to rescue him, but Flem was off in Texas with Eula, determined to stay away long enough so her baby did not appear to have been born scandalously early. When Mink served most of his 20 years, he was lured into an escape attempt by a tricky maneuver of Flem's involving some salacious photos, so Mink's sentence is doubled, and his passion to get even is intensified correspondingly. It is fatefully the child Linda, born too soon, who will petition for Mink's release and thus set him off his mad hunt for her supposed faithless father.

Though there isn't a single baffling long sentence, here are some Faulkner trademarks, for instance the habit of putting down two words for the reason he can't decide which he prefers, as in "what he sculpted, made," and "he flung, threw the pistol," and "there would be, was a back door."

But of the three Scopes novels this is the best, most meaningful and direct. Faulkner's men and women as always back and fill, take one step forward and two steps back; this verbal tangle, though it may look pointless and impossible to unravel, produces a surprisingly lush texture of emotion, character and scene. And in a sense it is nothing new. It may be better, but it's still the same, Faulkner's unevennesses do not affect the constant unchanging stories, and you don't review a new novel, you just review an extension of an old. One overlaps another. He writes not a string of books, but a Mississippi "comedie humaine."

Infantryman At The Front Is Top Work

INFANTRYMAN AT THE FRONT By Grady P. Arrington (Vantage, $3.50).

What happened in the turbulent years 1944-45, when the Allied armed forces swept across the English Channel and brought Hitler's Germany to her knees, will always remain one of the greatest adventures of mankind. Infantryman at the Front tells of those days from the viewpoint of an American foot soldier, . . . a story as gripping as a novel, yet so alive with truth that no one who reads it will ever forget it.

Here is the Battle of the Bulge, not as a paragraph in a history book but as a life-and-death struggle in which thousands of Americans lost their lives; and here, in vivid detail, is all the soul-sickening backwash of the battles that led to the heart of Berlin: the devastation; the effects upon soldier and civilian; the wild madness of suddenly released, starving DP's and prisoners of war.

Through the experiences of an Arkansas farm boy, a young man innately friendly and considerate, we see how an American infantryman can change from a jittery private to a sometimes merciless beast, indifferent to suffering and even feeling positive pleasure in inflicting it while engaging the enemy in house-to-house combat.

We see what it means to be in danger of losing one's life at any second; sense how it feels when comrades are struck down. We hear the infantryman's age - old gripes; share his lull - in - battle thoughts of home, family, and friends, and his confusion as to what the war is all about. We understand his uneasiness of mind, from U. S. embarkation port to European battle zone; enjoy his rough humor; and admire, constantly, the sheer guts which enable him to "fight his way through hell like a raving maniac, then emerge to retrieve his sense of benevolence and generosity toward mankind."

This is anything but a typical "war-is-hell" book . . . or a paean of praise. It is a searingly honest portrait of the American foot soldier, straightforward, uninhibited, understandable.

Running The Scales

By John Cale

Last weekend in the heart of the oil well and cattle country — Dallas, Texas, — a bit of the sheen of the golden age of opera came to life once more.

As was the case in 18th Century Italy, a soprano who had been making notorious headlines in Europe during late summer, turned into the box office hit of the year in the person of Maria Callas.

Her title role in "Lucia de Lamamoor," brought in $35,000 in receipts, a record sum for a single performance. Miss Callas who was dismissed from New York's Metropolitan Opera several seasons back by manager Rudolph Bing has thus far brought good financial fortune to the Dallas opera. But with a list of role refusals behind her at the "Met," and several cancellations to her credit in Italy, there is reason for opera officialdom to be concerned out Texas way.

GENTLE STRINGS

The refined performance of the Julliard String Quartet highlighted the Monroe musical scene last week, following the appearance of the Goldowsky Grand Opera Theatre on the La. Tech series in Ruston. The Dallas Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Paul Kletski is the next attraction billed for the Ruston series and is set for two performances on December 3. The Northeast State series has no more bookings until after the Thanksgiving-Christmas holidays.

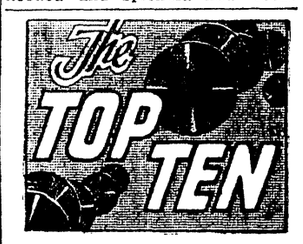
"My Fair Lady" starring England's Diane Todd will open for a nine - day run in Shreveport on November 23.

An amazing sign of the times was the assembly of culture hunters which attended the program of the Julliard Quartet here Wednesday. Some estimates put the size of the audience at only a slightly smaller figure than the group which turned out for a political rally on the same evening. As for the entertainment value, there is no doubt that the political players can take a bow. But as to attracting an audience of such dimensions, due credit must go to the four gentlemen playing the cello, viola and two violins. Some reparts claimed curiosity played its part in drawing crowds to both events, and this is perhaps true. Still there were no doubt many who wanted a closer look-listen.

Not too many years ago, one public event in Monroe and West Monroe was considered sufficient for the evening. The fact that two or three such gatherings now can hold their own simultaneously is good evidence that the northeast Louisiana population is on the upswing.

LOCAL SYMPHONY

The Twin City Symphony has opened its membership drive for the 1959 - 60 season. This orchestra, comprised largely of local musicians and students is under the direction of Dr. Harry Lemert, head of the Fine Arts Department at Northeast State College. It is one of three membership supported culture organizations in the Monroe-West Monroe area, the other two being Little Theatre and the Northeast State Concerts Association. Instead of causing a drain on local and state tax sources — as is the case in many European countries these three organizations assure an adequate supply of entertainment before local footlights paid for by the persons most interested. For those who are inclined to want a greater choice, add the La. Tech series and try to match the cultural offerings per square week anywhere in the country outside of New York City. It would be difficult to do.



1. MACK THE KNIFE, Bobby Darin.
2. MR. BLUE, Fleetwoods.
3. PUT YOUR HEAD ON MY SHOULDER, Paul Anka.
4. DON'T YOU KNOW, Della Reese.
5. DECK OF CARDS, Wink Martindale.
6. TEEN BEAT, Sandy Nelson.
7. PRIMROSE LANE, Jerry Wallace.

Many Irons In The Fire

Chinese Study

Editor's Note — Red China has more irons in the fire than backyard smelters. Where science is concerned, the People's Republic is working with singleminded enthusiasm. Will it overtake the United States and the Soviet Union? Here's an enterprising look at where Red China stands in science and technology, gathered from sources on both sides of the Bamboo Curtain.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Red China is brewing up some of the next surprises in science and technology.

For most of its 10 years, the Chinese People's Republic has stressed education and science as mainsprings of her highly advertised "great leap forward."

One goal was creating a new army of scientists and technologists.

"Now they are beginning to reap the fruits—and in five years or so we can expect some razzle-dazzle in science," says a prominent American physicist. He asked not to be identified, since he has continuing contacts with Russians and Chinese at international scientific meetings.

He recently observed some of the Chinese students studying in the Soviet Union.

"Even the Russians are flabbergasted about their energy and utter devotion," he reports. "The Chinese students will study until 2 a.m., then be up at 7 a.m., taking calisthenics before starting another long day.

"One Soviet scientist remarked: 'We understand you Americans, but we don't understand the Chinese.'

"Another Russian scientist first told me last summer the joke: 'If you are an optimist, study Russian, and if you are a pessimist, then study Chinese'."

U.S. scientists and newsmen are not permitted to visit Red China. But other nationals who have visited, and scientists with indirect contacts, agree that science and technology are being avidly pursued in the new China arising in this age of science.

Most think China wants to make her own A-bombs. A few think China may produce them within a few or five years, vastly changing the world's military and strategic position.

Red China's first problem was building schools, finding teachers to train thousands of scientists and technicians. From all signs, this is well under way.

Dr. J. Tuzo Wilson, professor of geophysics at the University of Toronto, visited China last year, including a new center of institutes and universities in Peiping.

As many as 100,000 scientists and students may be working there, he reports in a new book "One Chinese Moon," (Hill and Wang, New York). Dr. Wilson said he was told there now are 200 colleges and universities in China, with about 450,000 students.

A large percentage is studying science. Others are taking scientific training abroad, with up to 6,000 Chinese students said to be in the Soviet Union alone. Scientific equipment is reported being bought from the U.S.S.. and East European countries.

A Chinese-born physicist, now doing research at a large American university, told of meeting a Soviet expert in physics who was impressed with some Chinese accomplishments.

The Russian found the Chinese making better crystals of germanium—the hearts of transistors—than the Russians did. He also thought their photographic emulsions for tracing atomic particles better than any made in the United States.

These apparently were the product of Chinese scientists who had gone to school in the United States and elsewhere before the Chinese revolution 10 years ago.

Before the Sino-Japanese war and subsequent upheavals, China was credited with numerous good scientists, particularly in biology.

The work of young Chinese scientists in physics and mathematics is not regarded yet as generally top-rate by some qualified American observers. But a few Chinese theoretical physicists are credited with doing good work.

An American scientists who frequently visits Asian countries reports signs that Red China scientists are trying to lure home some Chinese researchers now based in Taiwan, or Formosa. One lure is that the scientists would have better support and greater opportunity to publish their work if they did return.

A majority of basic research journals published in Red China for foreign distribution are written in English rather than Russian, another scientist reports. He thinks this indicates the Chinese are anxious to win approval and standing in the eyes of American and British scientists.

Dr. Wilson, in his month of travel, was impressed among other things with the surge of national pride and patriotic fervor in Red China, especially among youths, and by the planning for the future.

"It is of vital importance that we assess what is happening as accurately and dispassionately as we can, because what happens in China is going to affect us—probably with a smash of tremendous impact — and that soon," he writes.

He notes that the Chinese are following the West—for Westerners are not starting to grow pigtails, or put on mandarin coats, or give up mass production methods in favor of handcrafts.

"The common pride and perversity of human nature prevents the Chinese from admitting this," Dr. Wilson says, "but it remains nonetheless true that they have abandoned many of the trappings of a civilization 3,000 years old to adopt many of the new ideas of the West, as the Russians did before them. We should recognize this and do our best to be worthy of the leadership thrust upon us."

Better Do A Study

Trouble Shooter

By BILL DEAN

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Gen. Thomas S. Power leaned toward his intercom. "Rod," he said, "I think you'd better do a study."

In his office downstairs in Strategic Air Command headquarters, Dr. Rodney H. Smith, a good-looking, 41-year-old scientist, cocked his head toward the squawk box as the SAC commander asked: "How much warning will I get of a surprise attack."

Smith, in turn, put the question to his experts in one of SAC's least known agencies: Operations Analaysis.

The civilian team—specialists in electronics, mathematics, statistics, geophysics and meteorology —fanned out across the country to huddle with intelligence officers, communications personnel and air defense people at Colorado Springs.

One Operations Analysis man headed for the Far East to gather data. Another was sent to Europe.

The team of scientists then weighed what they learned about worldwide radar, available communications systems and the various ways in which the enemy might strike. Finally, Dr. Smith briefed Gen. Power and his staff on what was learned.

Not long afterward, on Oct. 1, 1957, Gen. Power told the world that henceforth part of SAC's global jet bomber force would always be on 15 minutes alert—prepared to be airborne and combat ready in a quarter of an hour.

It was a dramatic break from tradition during one of the chillier phases of the cold war. As one SAC man explained: "It used to take 24 hours to go to war."

Power, like many military and businessmen today, had made his decision only after hearing what his scientists had to say.

The door to Operations Analysis is just a few steps inside the main entrance of SAC's headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha. Yet comparatively few of the 3,700 people who work in the building are aware of the agency.

The uncluttered, quiet, gray-walled sanctum of 25 scientists is divided into small cubicles, each with a large blackboard. Except for four or five airmen, the men are civilians.

Smith's own office is a large, carpeted room with a mahogany conference table, a big mahogany desk an a dozen leather-upholstered chairs.

As OA's chief, Smith is one of the military's "civilian generals," the equivalent of a brigadier. His rank among his civilian colleagues is evident, too: he has the biggest blackboard in the place.

"We're scientific advisers to Gen. Power an his staff," the earnest, personable Smith explains. "We are available on the spur of the moment. We're not assigned to any particular functions."

In general, the OA civilians apply scientific method and special training to the problems of military aircraft an missiles and air warfare.

Though still relatively few in number, Operations Analysts make up a fast-rising segment of both military and business worlds. Best known are those of the Rand Corp. in Santa Monica, Calif., fighting theoretical future wars with mathematical formulae and electronic calculators.

"They're a lot more ivory tower than we are," smiles Dr. Smith, who like the rest of his staff, works in shirtsleeves. "We live day in and day out with the military. Typically we're much closer to the problem and we try to get out our answers a whole lot quicker."

"The real difference between us and Rand is the use of the product. They explore a problem and put out a published report. Our product is injected into the work of the SAC headquarters staff."

Operations Analysis was born at the outset of World War II when the British called on civilian scientists who developed radar to help speed the new device into military operation.

When the first analysts went to work for the U.S. 8th Bomber Command, Brig. Gen. Ira Eaker asked them: "How can I put twice as many bombs on my targets?"

As the war progressed OA men found ways not only to double but triple the number of bombs on a target area.

Today's scientific surge is taxing the ability of the Operations Analysis scientists to keep pace.

"We spend half our time keeping abreast of developments — reading, attending meetings, visiting laboratories," says Paul A. Hower, 42, an electronics expert and deputy director of SAC's Operation Analysis.

"There are plenty of translations of Russian scientific literature and technical intelligence is pretty good," he reports.

"We know a lot about the Russians' electronics capability. It's very comparable to ours, though they do things differently."

A man doing scientific analysis surely needs time to just think. When does Hower find the time?

"I do most of my thinking while I'm mowing the lawn," he laughs.

Smith and Hower give you the impression the marriage between science and the military is a happy one.

SAC officers suggest this is partly because the operation has been completely successful and has paid its way. At the same time the scientists have spelled out to the generals the conditions necessary to get the job done and apparently have made them stick.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 13 productions brought to Broadway by David Merrick during the past five years have grossed $25,500,000, according to trade estimates.

Nine of the projects have already reaped dividends, two are on the way, and the remaining pair are classed as the only financial misses.

Merrick currently has five shows running, "Gypsy," "The World of Suzie Wong," "La Plume de Ma Tante," "Destry Rides Again" and "Take Me Along."

ON CATLIN

Double Feature

GEORGE CATLIN AND THE OLD FRONTIER. By Harold McCracken. Dial. $18.50. George Catlin: Episodes from "Life Among the Indians" and "Last Rambles." Edited by Marvin C. Ross. University of Oklahoma. $12.50.

Born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1796, died in Jersey City, N. J., in 1872, Catlin produced, says Ross, "the most remarkable portraiture record of North American Indians known to us." McCracken hails him in these words: "No other artist or writer in the field of the North American Indian and the Old West has had as long and broad an influence."

Catlin studied law, but in Philadelphia he met Sully, Willson, Peale and other painters, was elected to the Pennsylvania Academy, turned to portraiture, became a friend of a sitter, DeWitt Clinton, and then embarked definitely on his western travels and painting career, starting from St. Louis where the indorsement of the Clark of Lewis and Clark helped him on his way. That was in 1830. In five years he had scores of sketches and finished pictures of braves, squaws, villages and ceremonies. He exhibited them in eastern cities, then London and Paris. Kings and queens might see and approve, but the United States Congress would not vote to buy this essential unique record. In later years he went to the West Coast and the jungles of South America. He died, practically penniless, and only then did a sizable body of his work settle in the Smithsonian.

These are not art books so much as picture books; Catlin was too good a friend of the Indian to take esthetic liberties in line, pattern or color; he was a recorder, not a creator. McCracken, with 36 color reproductions and 13 black-and-whites, is the biographer, following his artist in more detail than anyone else on his wide wanderings. The more precise scholarship is in Ross' book, which concentrates on the three years in the 1850s when Catlin went to our west coast and South America; Ross' 152 black and white reproductions show the less familiar originals of that particular period, plus the artists's second versions, or copies, of his earlier works.

Dave Guard, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane are three good reasons why folk music is so popular with folks today. One quality of this group so often over looked is their performance of a song with the direct and personal warmth of an individual stylist. The Kingston Trio merely whetted the appetite of folk for more folk music with their recording of Tom Dooley. Selections include Molly Dee, Across The Wide Missouri, Goober Peas and A Worried Man.

"EXOTICA VOL III." The Exotic Sounds of Martin Denny. Liberty LST 7116, $4.98. First gaining fame in the Hawaiian Islands then in the United States for his unusual sounds. Martin Denny has often been copied, but he always remains original with his arrangements. The musical interest is very good and the stereo depth and directionality are excellent. Some of the selections are Hello Young Lovers, Harbor Lights, Limehouse Blues, and Caravan.

"WITH THESE HANDS." Roger Williams. Kapp KS3030, $4.98. Roger Williams' fame started after he recorded "Autumn Leaves" for Kapp Records. Since that time he has consistently appeared on all hit record charts and became well known to radio and television. "With These Hands" is music for your every mood. Tunes less familiar makes this an unrepeated album.

"TIME TO SWING." Dakota Station. Capital T1241, $3.93. Arrangements and orchestra conducted by Sid Feller. Born in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Dakota made her album debut in "The Late, Late Show." From there she leaped to the top of the list as one of the country's finest jazz singers of our day. A great stylist herself, with the backing of Sid Feller and his crew varrying their instrumental power to give just the right amount of support, Dakota has recorded another hit album.

CLASSICAL

BEETHOVEN: Symphony No. 4, in B flat, Op. 60-Overture "Coriolan" Op. 62. Ernest Ansermet conducting the L'orchestre De La Suisse Romande. London CS6070, $5.98. Stereo definition and separation on this disc are very good. Beethoven composed his Symphony No. 4 a high spirited youth-score in 1806, later he composed his ever popular and elegantly concise Symphony No. 5. Ernest Ansermet has retained the joyous score throughout. The Overture "Coriolan" was written for Heinrich Joseph von Collin's Coriolan play derived from Plutarch's "Lives."

"OPERATIC RECITAL." Guiseppe de Stefano. London OS-25081, $5.98. de Stefano is accompanied by the Orchestra of L'Accademia di Santa Cecilia, Rome on side one, on side two he is accompanied by the Zurich Tonhallen Orchestra. The stereo effect is superb. London's engineers have done a remarkable job of recording di Stefano's voice. Guiseppe is probably Italy's most favorite tenor today. He has opened the La Scala season in Italy for the past three successive years. Side one includes excerpts from Andrea Chenier, Tosca, and Turandot. Side two Werther, Manon, Carmen, Faust, and Les Pecheurs De Perles.

"MA VLAST" — complete recording. Bedrich Smetana. Rafael Kubelik conducting the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. London CSA2202, $11.96, two records. Smetana composed Ma Vlast ("My Country") under a great affliction, deafness. Suffering from disordered hearing he began work on the cycle in 1874. Later he became stone deaf. He did not let this stop him by 1879 the cycle was complete. To appreciate My Vlast it is necessary to hear all six poems in one concert. Rafael Kubelik has captured and held the fervour that Smetana must have had for his country, Czechoslovakia. The overall stereo effect is great and the recorded sound is of the highest fidelity.

Fresher Rose For Novelist Gertrude Stein

THE THIRD ROSE: GERTRUDE STEIN AND HER WORLD. By John Malcolm Brinnin. Atlantic - Little, Brown, $6.

Gertrude Stein, who wrote some three dozen books, has inevitably been much written about. Besides her innumerable appearances in volumes on Left-Bank Paris of 1900-50, she has been the subject of a couple of bibliographies and six other entire books. Stein scholars and biographers have long since got around to repeating themselves — just the fault some of the more spiteful critics charge her with. But now Brinnin, 13 years after her death, honors her with another biography, detailed and exhaustive, sympathetically illustrated, and even those who knew Stein best will find fresh insights and information.

The main story is quickly told — born Pittsburgh 1874, studied Radcliffe and Johns Hopkins, settled Paris 1903 first with brilliant erratic brother Leo and then with Alice B. Toklas — who now in their rue Christine apartment presides over the Stein collection of key paintings of the 20th Century. "Three Lives," "The Making of Americans," "Tender Buttons," "The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas," "Four Saints in Three Acts" and "Wars I Have Seen," among other books of hers, have raised up an army of friends and at least a corporal's guard of foes.

Brinnin puts an end to the nonsense about automatic writing; she used a pencil and ruled children's notebooks, not the ouija board. He stresses her creative intellectuality, the cubist content of her work, her major role in restoring to the theater some of its ancient ritual, and the litany - like charcter of both "Four Saints" and "The Mother of Us All."

"Rose is a rose is a rose is a rose" provided the title—a friend could take the first two roses, he told Brinnin, but found the third thorny. Brinnin is for Stein, or as he phrases it inversely, "She may not endure, as James Joyce and Picasso may not endure." But this is no blanket indorsement, this is not a Stein - can - do - no-wrong study. You might like "The Mother" less, or "Tender Buttons" more. The important thing is the over-all view. Soberly weighing plus against minus, the Brinnin ledger shows few red entries, and many in black. This examination of the Stein record, the fullest to date, results, as it was bound to, in the unchallengeable affirmation of her top place in our letters.

State Official Gives Ruling On Wide Cars

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — State Atty. Gen. George McCanless ruled Friday those wide, wide new cars must comply with a Tennessee law requiring truck-type clearance lights on vehicles over 80 inches wide.

Greg O'Rear, state safety commissioner, said the highway patrol would begin enforcement of the law after allowing motorists reasonable time to equip their cars with the amber and red lights and reflectors.

"We have no other choice," he said.

A check of auto manufacturers' specifications showed nine 1960 model cars with widths ranging up to 1.9 inches over 80 inches.

McCanless, in an opinion requested by O'Rear, said any car over 80 inches wide must carry eight clearance lights and six reflectors. Violation is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $50 and 30 days in jail.

O'Rear said owners of the extra wide cars would be given a grace period in which to equip their cars as required by law. He said he had not decided when enforcement would commence.

The 1960 cars over 80 inches wide include standard models of Chevrolet, Continental, Edsel, Ford, Imperial, Lincoln, Mercury, Oldsmobile and Pontiacs, O'Rear said.

The first victim was the patrol itself. O'Rear ordered the patrol's only 1960 model car a Ford, parked until it could be equipped with clearance lights. Another 31 patrol cars on order also must be similarly equipped, he said, before they can be used.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

One of the most pressing problems in library administration is that of having enough copies of popular books to meet the demand when the books are new, without having so many copies that eventually a great number are left sitting on the shelves. I have worried about this for a long time and with the increased use of the library, our waiting lists have grown longer and longer. We hope that we have partially solved this problem by subscribing to a service whereby we receive a number of new books at their height of popularity and return them when they are no longer needed. Last week we received the first shipment of books under this plan and it helped us to cut down on the waiting lists a great deal. If our patrons would cooperate by returning the books as soon as they have finished reading them, all of the books in our collection could move faster. This is another effort on our part to give you, the people of Ouachita Parish the best service that we can.

In addition to the books mentioned above, we have added a number of new titles to our collection in the past week. Two new mystery stories are: "The List of Adrian Messenger" by Philip McDonald and "Plot It Yourself" by Rex Stout. An interesting new novel, centered around Gibraltar is "The Rock" by Warren Tute. While Dorothy Stevenson is the author of a novel with an English background called "Still Glides the Stream."

The backbone of a library collection is it's non-fiction collection and we are working constantly to build it up. A number of interesting new books are now available for you. "Philosophy for a Time of Crisis" is the title of a very fine book by Adrienne Koch. "Reading the Bible Aloud" by J. Edward Lantz will give pleasure and inspiration to many people. "The Church Plans for Kindergarten Children" by Katherine Tobey is a very splendid book. "The Masks of God" by Joseph Campbell sheds new light on the world of primitive mythology. A new book dealing with the beat generation is "The Holy Barbarians" by Lawrence Lipton. "The Face of Disaster" by Donald Robinson is an account of how Americans have reacted to great national disasters. "The Road to Harper's Ferry" by J. C. Furnas is an interesting account of the anti-slavery movement in this country. "The Compact History of the American Red Cross" by Charles Hurd is an excellent book and one of which we are very proud, especially since it was a gift from our local Red Cross Chapter. "Your Child in a Scientific World" is a very helpful book for parents by Albertina Weinlander as is "Kindergarten; Your Child's Big Step" by Minnie Berson. "The Case for Basic Education" by James D. Koerner should be of interest to parents as well as teachers. "Christmas with Ed Sullivan" is an interesting collection which will be in great demand a little later on, Billie Burke's new book is called "With Powder on My Nose" and many people will want to read it.

In the field of science there are several new books. "The Voyage of the Beagle" by Charles Darwin has just been reprinted in a lovely edition. "Wildlife in America" by Peter Matthiessen is a very fine and beautiful new book. "Eat Fat and Grow Thin" by Dr. Richard Mackarness is another book of diet. "A Psychiatrist's World" is a collection of essays by Karl Menninger.

Gardening books are always popular and we have several new ones to offer this week. "The Gardner's World" is a splendid book by Joseph Wood Krutch. "Landscaping with Vines" is the title of a book by Frances Howard. One of the most beautiful cookbooks which we have had in a long time is the "General Foods Kitchens Cookbook." Recently we have had many calls for books on judo, so we have added several to our collection. One is "Popular Judo" by Pat Butler. Another is "Jiu Jitsu Complete" by Klyose Nakae and the other is "Judo on the Ground" by E. J. Harrison. In the field of literature there are several new books "The Family Reader of American Masterpieces" is a lovely collection by Ralph L. Woods. "Have Pen Will Autograph" is a humorous account of his experiences written by Harnett T. Kane. "The Anger of Achilles" is a lovely new translation of Homer's Iliad by Robert Graves.

"Three Against the Wilderness" is an exciting story of courage in the Canadian woods. "New Orleans" by Oliver Evans is a lovely descriptive book of that city. "Embarcadero" by Richard Dillon is a collection of true tales of sea adventure around San Francisco. "The Desperate People" is an exciting account of the Eskimos written by Farley Mowat. "Armada" by Garrett Mattingly, interestingly retells this great period in English history. "Picket's Charge" by George R. Stewart has all of the thrill of the Civil War. "In the Days of McKinley" by Margaret Leech sheds new light on a period of our history about which little has been written. "The Story of Indonesia" by Louis Fischer is a very much needed and splendid new book.

THE MANSION. By William Faulkner. Random House. $4.75.

Though Faulkner recollects having the Snopeses in mind more than 30 years, your memory of them probably goes back only to 1940 when he introduced them in "The Hamlet." He left them, and their problems of money, ambition and sex, pretty much alone till 1957 when they returned in "The Town." There you again meet Flem and his wife Eula, and also both Charles Mallison and Gavin Stevens. Now here they are back in the old Major de Spain "mansion" remodeled pretentiously, "that - ere big white elephant of a house" with "them colyums" rising two stories, to describe it in the vernacular of V. K. Ratliff.

Mink, or M. C., Snopes is being sentenced. "Did you or didn't you kill Jack Houston?" the judge demands, but Mink won't tell — so Faulkner does. Mink had a cow, Houston had a herd, Mink's got into Houston's pasture. They dickered over it; Mink thought he was smart, Houston was smart and also ruthless, and the upshot was that Mink dug post holes nearly 40 days to pay the feed bill. But Houston's mean streak drove him and Mink also too far, Mink sneaked the family savings out from behind a fireplace brick, bought a gun, and shot Houston right off his wild and brutish stallion.

All during the trial he expected Flem to rescue him, but Flem was off in Texas with Eula, determined to stay away long enough so her baby did not appear to have been born scandalously early. When Mink served most of his 20 years, he was lured into an escape attempt by a tricky maneuver of Flem's involving some salacious photos, so Mink's sentence is doubled, and his passion to get even is intensified correspondingly. It is fatefully the child Linda, born too soon, who will petition for Mink's release and thus set him off his mad hunt for her supposed faithless father.

Though there isn't a single baffling long sentence, here are some Faulkner trademarks, for instance the habit of putting down two words for the reason he can't decide which he prefers, as in "what he sculpted, made," and "he flung, threw the pistol," and "there would be, was a back door."

But of the three Scopes novels this is the best, most meaningful and direct. Faulkner's men and women as always back and fill, take one step forward and two steps back; this verbal tangle, though it may look pointless and impossible to unravel, produces a surprisingly lush texture of emotion, character and scene. And in a sense it is nothing new. It may be better, but it's still the same, Faulkner's unevennesses do not affect the constant unchanging stories, and you don't review a new novel, you just review an extension of an old. One overlaps another. He writes not a string of books, but a Mississippi "comedie humaine."

Infantryman At The Front Is Top Work

INFANTRYMAN AT THE FRONT By Grady P. Arrington (Vantage, $3.50).

What happened in the turbulent years 1944-45, when the Allied armed forces swept across the English Channel and brought Hitler's Germany to her knees, will always remain one of the greatest adventures of mankind. Infantryman at the Front tells of those days from the viewpoint of an American foot soldier, . . . a story as gripping as a novel, yet so alive with truth that no one who reads it will ever forget it.

Here is the Battle of the Bulge, not as a paragraph in a history book but as a life-and-death struggle in which thousands of Americans lost their lives; and here, in vivid detail, is all the soul-sickening backwash of the battles that led to the heart of Berlin: the devastation; the effects upon soldier and civilian; the wild madness of suddenly released, starving DP's and prisoners of war.

Through the experiences of an Arkansas farm boy, a young man innately friendly and considerate, we see how an American infantryman can change from a jittery private to a sometimes merciless beast, indifferent to suffering and even feeling positive pleasure in inflicting it while engaging the enemy in house-to-house combat.

We see what it means to be in danger of losing one's life at any second; sense how it feels when comrades are struck down. We hear the infantryman's age - old gripes; share his lull - in - battle thoughts of home, family, and friends, and his confusion as to what the war is all about. We understand his uneasiness of mind, from U. S. embarkation port to European battle zone; enjoy his rough humor; and admire, constantly, the sheer guts which enable him to "fight his way through hell like a raving maniac, then emerge to retrieve his sense of benevolence and generosity toward mankind."

This is anything but a typical "war-is-hell" book . . . or a paean of praise. It is a searingly honest portrait of the American foot soldier, straightforward, uninhibited, understandable.

Running The Scales

By John Cale

Last weekend in the heart of the oil well and cattle country — Dallas, Texas, — a bit of the sheen of the golden age of opera came to life once more.

As was the case in 18th Century Italy, a soprano who had been making notorious headlines in Europe during late summer, turned into the box office hit of the year in the person of Maria Callas.

Her title role in "Lucia de Lamamoor," brought in $35,000 in receipts, a record sum for a single performance. Miss Callas who was dismissed from New York's Metropolitan Opera several seasons back by manager Rudolph Bing has thus far brought good financial fortune to the Dallas opera. But with a list of role refusals behind her at the "Met," and several cancellations to her credit in Italy, there is reason for opera officialdom to be concerned out Texas way.

GENTLE STRINGS

The refined performance of the Julliard String Quartet highlighted the Monroe musical scene last week, following the appearance of the Goldowsky Grand Opera Theatre on the La. Tech series in Ruston. The Dallas Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Paul Kletski is the next attraction billed for the Ruston series and is set for two performances on December 3. The Northeast State series has no more bookings until after the Thanksgiving-Christmas holidays.

"My Fair Lady" starring England's Diane Todd will open for a nine - day run in Shreveport on November 23.

An amazing sign of the times was the assembly of culture hunters which attended the program of the Julliard Quartet here Wednesday. Some estimates put the size of the audience at only a slightly smaller figure than the group which turned out for a political rally on the same evening. As for the entertainment value, there is no doubt that the political players can take a bow. But as to attracting an audience of such dimensions, due credit must go to the four gentlemen playing the cello, viola and two violins. Some reparts claimed curiosity played its part in drawing crowds to both events, and this is perhaps true. Still there were no doubt many who wanted a closer look-listen.

Not too many years ago, one public event in Monroe and West Monroe was considered sufficient for the evening. The fact that two or three such gatherings now can hold their own simultaneously is good evidence that the northeast Louisiana population is on the upswing.

LOCAL SYMPHONY

The Twin City Symphony has opened its membership drive for the 1959 - 60 season. This orchestra, comprised largely of local musicians and students is under the direction of Dr. Harry Lemert, head of the Fine Arts Department at Northeast State College. It is one of three membership supported culture organizations in the Monroe-West Monroe area, the other two being Little Theatre and the Northeast State Concerts Association. Instead of causing a drain on local and state tax sources — as is the case in many European countries these three organizations assure an adequate supply of entertainment before local footlights paid for by the persons most interested. For those who are inclined to want a greater choice, add the La. Tech series and try to match the cultural offerings per square week anywhere in the country outside of New York City. It would be difficult to do.

1. MACK THE KNIFE, Bobby Darin.
2. MR. BLUE, Fleetwoods.
3. PUT YOUR HEAD ON MY SHOULDER, Paul Anka.
4. DON'T YOU KNOW, Della Reese.
5. DECK OF CARDS, Wink Martindale.
6. TEEN BEAT, Sandy Nelson.
7. PRIMROSE LANE, Jerry Wallace.
8. (TIL) I KISSED YOU, Everly Brothers.
9. POISON IVY, Coasters.
10. LONELY STREET, Andy Williams.

College Place Baptist Sets Homecoming

The College Place Baptist Church will observe homecoming on its fifteenth anniversary, today, the pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg has announced.

A goal of 1500 has been set for the two organizations that day, 1,000 in Sunday School and 500 in Training Union. The services of the day will include Dr. A. V. Washburn, secretary of the Sunday School Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board of Nashville, Tennessee, slated to speak at the 11:00 a.m. service. The church will then have dinner on the ground followed by the anniversary service which will be at 2:00 p.m. At that time the main message will be brought by Dr. L. T. Hastings, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Monroe. The speaker for the evening service at 7:30 will be Dr. Earl Guinn, president of Louisiana College and formerly interim pastor of the College Place Baptist Church.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services of this day according to the pastor. College Place Baptist Church has grown from a charter membership of 240 in November of 1944 to a present membership of over 1700. The Sunday School enrollment is 1435, and the Training Union enrollment is 590.

College Place Baptist Church is located on Sherrouse Avenue in the College Town area of Monroe.

West Monroe Church Names Supply Pastor

The Highland Presbyterian Church, Wellerman Road at Jersey Street, West Monroe, has secured the services of the Rev. D. L. O'Neal, D.D., Executive of Church Extension for Red River Presbytery, as supply minister, it was announced today.

Dr. O'Neal will preach at the Highland Church each Sunday at 11:00 a.m. He will continue to serve the new church, organized November 1 with a charter membership of 105, until a regular minister is secured.

Elected to the board of elders were N. A. Randall, E. R. Wilson, James S. Rutledge and A. D. Brown. To the Board of Deacons the following were elected: D. C. Frantom, Raymond Odom, J. W. Roberson, James R. Johnston, Alton Calhoun and James L. McGuire.

Dr. O'Neal will preside today at the ordination of James S. Rutledge and A. D. Brown as Ruling Elders.

Small English Village Scene Of Epic Film

LYTCHETT MINSTER, England, (AP) — The ordinary folk of this sleepy English village — the lady of the manor and the dairymaid the village doctor and the cowherd—have teamed together in a novel work of religious faith. They've made a movie.

Using their own camera, working every Sunday for three years they produced an epic film of the life of John the Baptist.

It is now going round the world.

Not long ago the movie, called "Voice in the Wilderness," was shown at the 16th International Conference on Audio-Visuals in the Church at Green Lake, Wis. It has been screened also in New York and Ottawa. New sound tracks are being prepared in German, Iranian and Japanese.

It was the lady of the manor —to whom English country folk still touch their caps in deference —who thought of it all. Actually Lady Madeline Lees, grey-haired widow of a baronet, doesn't live in the manor any more because she can't afford it.

Making the movie fulfilled her life's ambition. Years ago, she watched the villagers of Oberammergau in Bavaria presenting their famous passion play. She vowed she would make Lytchett Minster, home of the Lees family for generations, the English Oberammergau.

"The only way to achieve it seemed to be by means of a film," she says.

"My husband and I had been to Palestine. We began to reconnoiter Palestinian scenery in and around Lytchett Minster."

Local ponds and streams became the River Jordan. Clay and sand pits served as the desert. For the streets of Jerusalem and Nazareth, there were the backyards and stables of the manor house itself.

Lady Lees' husband, Sir John Lees, died in 1955, but she carried on with her idea with the help of her family and the villagers.

Missionary Says Eskimos 'Enthusiastic'

BAKER LAKE, N.W.T. (AP)—After 30 years of labor in the frozen vineyard of the Far North, Canon William J. R. James still holds no affection for this bleak land on the upper west shore of Hudson Bay.

"I don't like the North," explains the 59-year-old Anglican missionary, "but I love the work."

His work is to bring the Gospel to some 500 Eskimos inhabiting a vast diocese covering 75,000 square miles of desolation in the Keewatin District of the Northwest Territories. His flock is small but what they lack in numbers they make up in enthusiasm.

Church services, conducted entirely in the Eskimo dialect, have become so popular that he holds two every Sunday, each time packing almost 200 persons into a 24 x 30-foot church.

Some of the Eskimos even show up for a third service, held in English in the afternoon and intended for the small number of government employes here.

One of the Eskimos plays the accordion, and the rest—following the ringing lead of the wiry canon —sing the well-known Anglican hymns in strange-sounding Eskimo with a gusto that would put to shame many more prosperous congregations.

There is a pump organ in the canon's neat home near the cream-colored clapboard church but he hasn't installed it because it would reduce available standing room.

Born in England, Canon James came here in 1930 straight from Wycliffe College at the University of Toronto.

Why did he choose so remote and harsh a missionary field?

"I came here because of the challenge," he says. "I have no regrets. It is my life's purpose and I should follow it. Fortunately, my temperament is fitted for isolation."

Originally he had thought of going to the prairies further south, but decided to accept the greater challenge of the Far North after praying for guidance. He is not married.

One missionary had preceded him to this region and had spent three years among the Keewatin District Eskimos. But they still believed in vague spirits and a medicine man was spiritual leader when the canon arrived.

"The ice was broken, but I still had to go to them," canon James says. Today most of the district's Eskimos have given up their nomadic ways and have congregated at Baker Lake. Consequently, the missionary's dogsled journeys into the wilderness to serve the natives as doctor, dentist and teacher have become fewer.

"The Eskimos themselves are very devout," the canon proudly says of his flock. "I love them, and I think that is what appeals to them most."

St. Paschals Church Sets Devotional

A 40 - hour devotion opened with the 8 a.m. mass at St. Paschals Catholic Church in West Monroe, it was learned today.

Father Lambert of the Order of Friars Minor was scheduled to preach the special sermons at the opening and evening masses today and on Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

He pointed out St. Paschals is the patron of the Eucharist, giving this as a special reason for all members of the parish to take part daily in the ceremonies of the devotional period. He noted confession, communion and a visit to the church were required of members.

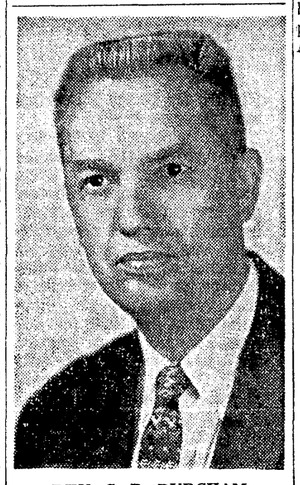
In other activities at St. Paschals, a men's Holy Name Society was organized and meetings were scheduled for the second Sunday in each month. Dick Lebrun was elected president and Dr. Walter Krone was named secretary - treasurer of the organization.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Please explain that verse which says that it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom. I have heard that this has reference to a small opening in the wall of the old city of Jerusalem. F. D.

ANSWER: It is more likely that this is an Oriental proverb intended to make very vivid the truth that it is impossible for a rich man to enter the kingdom. Rich men become so accustomed to gaining entrance almost everywhere because they can buy their way in that they assume they can enter heaven by the same means. Their easy access to places of advantage is part of their way of living.

This would be a gloomy future indeed for the rich man who has a genuine desire to enter the kingdom and share in the joys and privileges of those who are numbered with the redeemed. But that is the very purpose of the proverb. Its sequel is plain, "With men it is impossible, but with God, all things are possible." Heaven is one place where the rich and the poor have equal opportunity and equal access. It is only through personal repentance and faith that we enter heaven. One can never buy his way in. The price has been paid, and the price was the sacrifice of Christ who died for all, and who saves all who believe on Him.



REV. C. R. BURCHAM

Ministerial Group Names New Officers

The Monroe Ministerial Association met Wednesday at the First Baptist Church and officers for 1960 were elected, it was reported today.

In the absence of Dr. James T. Horton, outgoing association president, Dr. George W. Pomeroy presided.

Elected to serve as president was Rev. C. R. Burcham of St. John's Christian Church. Rev. Donald Davies of Grace Episcopal was elected vice president and the Rev. R. B. Holladay, assistant pastor at the First Methodist Church was elected secretary - treasurer.

In further business, the group agreed to hold the union Thanksgiving services for downtown churches at the First Presbyterian Church. Services were set for 9:30 a.m. November 26 with the Rev. John O. Stewart of the First Christian Church delivering the sermon. The choir of the host church under the direction of Davis Bingham will furnish the music.

Present at the meeting were the reverends G. W. Pomeroy, John O. Stewart, Wayne Gray, Lea Joyner, W. M. Allen, Raymond Rugg, Bob Holladay, C. R. Burcham, Donald Davies and Major Louis Mockabee of the Salvation Army.

W.M. Church Sets Special Meeting

A special institute on the subject, "Stewardship" will be conducted for five nights beginning Monday, November 16 at 6 p.m. at Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, Ninth and Linderman streets, it was announced today.

J. E. Wilson, Sr., will teach the course for one hour each night at the West Monroe church.

"God's Plan for Our Lives" will be the theme of the program and Leslye Mae Thomas will lead the devotional worships, according to Rev. P. Rayfield Brown, III, church minister.

College Place Baptist Sets Homecoming

The College Place Baptist Church will observe homecoming on its fifteenth anniversary, today, the pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg has announced.

A goal of 1500 has been set for the two organizations that day, 1,000 in Sunday School and 500 in Training Union. The services of the day will include Dr. A. V. Washburn, secretary of the Sunday School Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board of Nashville, Tennessee, slated to speak at the 11:00 a.m. service. The church will then have dinner on the ground followed by the anniversary service which will be at 2:00 p.m. At that time the main message will be brought by Dr. L. T. Hastings, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Monroe. The speaker for the evening service at 7:30 will be Dr. Earl Guinn, president of Louisiana College and formerly interim pastor of the College Place Baptist Church.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services of this day according to the pastor. College Place Baptist Church has grown from a charter membership of 240 in November of 1944 to a present membership of over 1700. The Sunday School enrollment is 1435, and the Training Union enrollment is 590.

College Place Baptist Church is located on Sherrouse Avenue in the College Town area of Monroe.

West Monroe Church Names Supply Pastor

The Highland Presbyterian Church, Wellerman Road at Jersey Street, West Monroe, has secured the services of the Rev. D. L. O'Neal, D.D., Executive of Church Extension for Red River Presbytery, as supply minister, it was announced today.

Dr. O'Neal will preach at the Highland Church each Sunday at 11:00 a.m. He will continue to serve the new church, organized November 1 with a charter membership of 105, until a regular minister is secured.

Elected to the board of elders were N. A. Randall, E. R. Wilson, James S. Rutledge and A. D. Brown. To the Board of Deacons the following were elected: D. C. Frantom, Raymond Odom, J. W. Roberson, James R. Johnston, Alton Calhoun and James L. McGuire.

Dr. O'Neal will preside today at the ordination of James S. Rutledge and A. D. Brown as Ruling Elders.

Small English Village Scene Of Epic Film

LYTCHETT MINSTER, England, (AP) — The ordinary folk of this sleepy English village — the lady of the manor and the dairymaid the village doctor and the cowherd—have teamed together in a novel work of religious faith. They've made a movie.

Using their own camera, working every Sunday for three years they produced an epic film of the life of John the Baptist.

It is now going round the world.

Not long ago the movie, called "Voice in the Wilderness," was shown at the 16th International Conference on Audio-Visuals in the Church at Green Lake, Wis. It has been screened also in New York and Ottawa. New sound tracks are being prepared in German, Iranian and Japanese.

It was the lady of the manor —to whom English country folk still touch their caps in deference —who thought of it all. Actually Lady Madeline Lees, grey-haired widow of a baronet, doesn't live in the manor any more because she can't afford it.

Making the movie fulfilled her life's ambition. Years ago, she watched the villagers of Oberammergau in Bavaria presenting their famous passion play. She vowed she would make Lytchett Minster, home of the Lees family for generations, the English Oberammergau.

"The only way to achieve it seemed to be by means of a film," she says.

"My husband and I had been to Palestine. We began to reconnoiter Palestinian scenery in and around Lytchett Minster."

Local ponds and streams became the River Jordan. Clay and sand pits served as the desert. For the streets of Jerusalem and Nazareth, there were the backyards and stables of the manor house itself.

Lady Lees' husband, Sir John Lees, died in 1955, but she carried on with her idea with the help of her family and the villagers.

Missionary Says Eskimos 'Enthusiastic'

BAKER LAKE, N.W.T. (AP)—After 30 years of labor in the frozen vineyard of the Far North, Canon William J. R. James still holds no affection for this bleak land on the upper west shore of Hudson Bay.

"I don't like the North," explains the 59-year-old Anglican missionary, "but I love the work."

His work is to bring the Gospel to some 500 Eskimos inhabiting a vast diocese covering 75,000 square miles of desolation in the Keewatin District of the Northwest Territories. His flock is small but what they lack in numbers they make up in enthusiasm.

Church services, conducted entirely in the Eskimo dialect, have become so popular that he holds two every Sunday, each time packing almost 200 persons into a 24 x 30-foot church.

Some of the Eskimos even show up for a third service, held in English in the afternoon and intended for the small number of government employes here.

One of the Eskimos plays the accordion, and the rest—following the ringing lead of the wiry canon —sing the well-known Anglican hymns in strange-sounding Eskimo with a gusto that would put to shame many more prosperous congregations.

There is a pump organ in the canon's neat home near the cream-colored clapboard church but he hasn't installed it because it would reduce available standing room.

Born in England, Canon James came here in 1930 straight from Wycliffe College at the University of Toronto.

Why did he choose so remote and harsh a missionary field?

"I came here because of the challenge," he says. "I have no regrets. It is my life's purpose and I should follow it. Fortunately, my temperament is fitted for isolation."

Originally he had thought of going to the prairies further south, but decided to accept the greater challenge of the Far North after praying for guidance. He is not married.

One missionary had preceded him to this region and had spent three years among the Keewatin District Eskimos. But they still believed in vague spirits and a medicine man was spiritual leader when the canon arrived.

"The ice was broken, but I still had to go to them," canon James says. Today most of the district's Eskimos have given up their nomadic ways and have congregated at Baker Lake. Consequently, the missionary's dogsled journeys into the wilderness to serve the natives as doctor, dentist and teacher have become fewer.

"The Eskimos themselves are very devout," the canon proudly says of his flock. "I love them, and I think that is what appeals to them most."

St. Paschals Church Sets Devotional

A 40 - hour devotion opened with the 8 a.m. mass at St. Paschals Catholic Church in West Monroe, it was learned today.

Father Lambert of the Order of Friars Minor was scheduled to preach the special sermons at the opening and evening masses today and on Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

He pointed out St. Paschals is the patron of the Eucharist, giving this as a special reason for all members of the parish to take part daily in the ceremonies of the devotional period. He noted confession, communion and a visit to the church were required of members.

In other activities at St. Paschals, a men's Holy Name Society was organized and meetings were scheduled for the second Sunday in each month. Dick Lebrun was elected president and Dr. Walter Krone was named secretary - treasurer of the organization.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Please explain that verse which says that it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom. I have heard that this has reference to a small opening in the wall of the old city of Jerusalem. F. D.

ANSWER: It is more likely that this is an Oriental proverb intended to make very vivid the truth that it is impossible for a rich man to enter the kingdom. Rich men become so accustomed to gaining entrance almost everywhere because they can buy their way in that they assume they can enter heaven by the same means. Their easy access to places of advantage is part of their way of living.

This would be a gloomy future indeed for the rich man who has a genuine desire to enter the kingdom and share in the joys and privileges of those who are numbered with the redeemed. But that is the very purpose of the proverb. Its sequel is plain, "With men it is impossible, but with God, all things are possible." Heaven is one place where the rich and the poor have equal opportunity and equal access. It is only through personal repentance and faith that we enter heaven. One can never buy his way in. The price has been paid, and the price was the sacrifice of Christ who died for all, and who saves all who believe on Him.

REV. C. R. BURCHAM

Ministerial Group Names New Officers

The Monroe Ministerial Association met Wednesday at the First Baptist Church and officers for 1960 were elected, it was reported today.

In the absence of Dr. James T. Horton, outgoing association president, Dr. George W. Pomeroy presided.

Elected to serve as president was Rev. C. R. Burcham of St. John's Christian Church. Rev. Donald Davies of Grace Episcopal was elected vice president and the Rev. R. B. Holladay, assistant pastor at the First Methodist Church was elected secretary - treasurer.

In further business, the group agreed to hold the union Thanksgiving services for downtown churches at the First Presbyterian Church. Services were set for 9:30 a.m. November 26 with the Rev. John O. Stewart of the First Christian Church delivering the sermon. The choir of the host church under the direction of Davis Bingham will furnish the music.

Present at the meeting were the reverends G. W. Pomeroy, John O. Stewart, Wayne Gray, Lea Joyner, W. M. Allen, Raymond Rugg, Bob Holladay, C. R. Burcham, Donald Davies and Major Louis Mockabee of the Salvation Army.

W.M. Church Sets Special Meeting

A special institute on the subject, "Stewardship" will be conducted for five nights beginning Monday, November 16 at 6 p.m. at Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, Ninth and Linderman streets, it was announced today.

J. E. Wilson, Sr., will teach the course for one hour each night at the West Monroe church.

"God's Plan for Our Lives" will be the theme of the program and Leslye Mae Thomas will lead the devotional worships, according to Rev. P. Rayfield Brown, III, church minister.

Troops Fire On Bahutu Tribesmen

BRUSSELS, (UPI)—Belgian-led African troops fired on attacking Bahutu tribesmen in Ruanda Friday in a new "get tough" policy aimed at wiping out a savage African tribal war.

The troops, rushed into Ruanda from the Belgian Congo last week, opened fire with machine guns and rifles when the Bahutus attacked them with spears and arrows, according to reports reaching here.

Three Bahutus were killed and two injured.

The Belgian force resorted to firepower after fighting between the Bahutus and the giant Watutsi — the latter supported by Batwa pygmies with poison dart blowguns—took a sudden vicious turn.

Bahutus were reported to have driven elderly inhabitants of one village into flaming huts at spearpoint. Many of them died.

Rene MacColl said in a copyrighted dispatch from Nyanza, Ruanda, to the London Daily Express, that 500 Africans had been killed in the jungle war so far.

He told of "headless corpses, the bodies with hands or feet hacked off as trophies, the bodies slashed beyond recognition by machete or spear..."

Belgium moved 2,000 troops from the Congo into Ruanda to try to control the battling, which has been going on for two weeks. Instead, it has worsened.

A troop of the colonial army guided by a spotter plane surrounded 500 looting Bahutus this morning near the village of Muhondo, about 40 miles north of Kigali.

The Africans attacked with spears and arrows and then the troops started firing.

The Belgian troops had been having a tough time finding the elusive natives until they brought spotter planes into the action.

Reports reaching here said about 600 Africans had been arrested laden with spoils from burned villages.

There was no estimate of what percentage of the 2,500,000 Bahutus and Watutsis who inhabit Ruanda were engaged in the warfare.

But groups of Africans from adjacent Urundi were reported moving into the embattled territory to help their tribesmen.

GRANT FOR COLLEGIANS

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II have enlisted the aid of New England college presidents in establishment of an annual $1,000 cash award for the man or woman from Boston who "has done most for the theater during each calendar year."

The presidents will serve as a committee to select the annual winners.

Hammerstein says he and his composing partner may later establish similar grants in other American cities.

Colombo Plan Delegates Render Vote

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) —Delegates to the annual Colombo Plan conference voted Friday to continue the plan until 1966, five years past its scheduled 1961 expiration date.

The 21-nation conference also accepted an annual report showing a record $1,400,000,000 in aid to underdeveloped Asian nations during the year ending in June. Eighty per cent of the total came from the United States. Greater amounts will be available for the coming year.

The voting followed criticism of Washington by South Viet Nam, a major recipient of U.S. aid, for its new "buy American" policy aimed at getting borrowing nations to spend their loans in America.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Vu Van Mau also said terms offered by the American Development Loan Fund "are too difficult for any underdeveloped countries to meet," and threaten to make the price of goods and costs of services noncompetitive.

Therefore, Vu said, the proposed International Development Assn. for easy-term loans to new nations is most welcome.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio told four visiting U.S. senators — J. Allen Frear (D-Del), Clair Engle (D-Calif), Hugh Scott (R-Pa) and Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) — that Indonesia welcomes American aid, but refuses to make itself over into America's image.

In an apparent attempt to dampen Western fears that Indonesia's request Thursday for extending plan membership to all countries was a move to bring Communist nations into the program, Subandrio told a news conference the proposal was "only a wish for the future."

The conference ends Saturday with a communique which informed sources said shows a relatively rosy economic picture for Asia and Southeast Asia, but also some very dark clouds churned up by an exploding birth rate.

The Colombo Plan for furnishing loans and technical information to underdeveloped countries was founded among British Commonwealth nations in 1950. Since then, it has been joined by all non-Communist nations in South and Southeast Asia, plus the United States and Japan.

AF Issues Stop Order On Technical Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has ordered private contractors to stop sending technical data of any kind to iron curtain countries without first obtaining government approval, it was disclosed Friday.

The Air Force said some of its contractors occasionally had sent unclassified or non-secret information to "eastern bloc" representatives or private persons without first getting clearance. The data was in the form of sales bulletins or sales promotion manuals.

In reply to questions, the Air Force said it has told all its contractors it was "prejudicial to national security" for them to answer inquiries from Communist bloc nations without government approval.

The Air Force sounded the warning in a Nov. 6 letter to the Air Material Command, Air Research and Development Command, Air Force procurement districts, Air Force representatives in industrial plants and Air Force contractors.

They were told that Eastern bloc countries had been seeking information or brochures from air force contractors.

The contractors were notified to send any such inquiries to the Air Force intelligence staff's foreign liaison branch to determine whether information could be supplied.

The Air Force also warned that supplying non-secret technical data even to friendly countries is governed by the State Department's regulations on international traffic in arms.

Bomb Threats Spread Fear In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—New telephone bomb threats Friday spread fears that another "mad bomber," may be on the loose in a quiet Staten Island neighborhood where a housewife without a known enemy was killed in a booby-trapped garage.

Police said four other persons in the general vicinity of Mrs. Concetta Giarletta's home had received calls that they "will be next."

Authorities, recalling the nationwide wave of threats that preceded the arrest of "mad bomber" George Metesky nearly three years ago, predicted there would be many such calls by children and adults with warped senses of humor.

Authorities assigned dozens of additional policemen and detectives to calm the fears of jittery residents of the Port Richmond area of Staten Island. All of the reinforcements are residents of Staten Island but had been on duty in Manhattan.

Mrs. Giarletta died Thursday of more than 50 wounds she suffered in the explosion of a grenade which had been planted to go off when her garage door was opened. The explosion, on Tuesday night, tore off both legs and embedded shrapnel in her abdomen and oth-

Harriman And Brown Talk GOP

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown and New York's ex-Gov. W. Averell Harriman got together Friday to kick the Republicans around a bit.

The GOP has failed to recognize the nation must grow, resulting in a tight money policy which stymies adequate credit for schools, home building and small business, declared the two Democrats at Brown's press conference.

"And Republican peace is about the same as Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence," added Harriman. "There's a cessation of hostilities but no real peace."

The two agreed California and New York will play vital parts in next year's Democratic convention to assure a "fighting, liberal platform" and "selection of the best candidate."

There's no doubt a Democrat will be elected president, predicted Harriman, but he wouldn't say who appears at this time to be leading the field of possible candidates for nomination.

Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota all have supporters in New York, said the former governor.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas isn't talked about much.

"How about Pat Brown of California?" asked a reporter.

Harriman glanced at Brown, then replied: "Gov. Brown hasn't told us yet whether he will be a candidate, but we've been watching his record in California and he's highly thought of."

Troops Fire On Bahutu Tribesmen

BRUSSELS, (UPI)—Belgian-led African troops fired on attacking Bahutu tribesmen in Ruanda Friday in a new "get tough" policy aimed at wiping out a savage African tribal war.

The troops, rushed into Ruanda from the Belgian Congo last week, opened fire with machine guns and rifles when the Bahutus attacked them with spears and arrows, according to reports reaching here.

Three Bahutus were killed and two injured.

The Belgian force resorted to firepower after fighting between the Bahutus and the giant Watutsi — the latter supported by Batwa pygmies with poison dart blowguns—took a sudden vicious turn.

Bahutus were reported to have driven elderly inhabitants of one village into flaming huts at spearpoint. Many of them died.

Rene MacColl said in a copyrighted dispatch from Nyanza, Ruanda, to the London Daily Express, that 500 Africans had been killed in the jungle war so far.

He told of "headless corpses, the bodies with hands or feet hacked off as trophies, the bodies slashed beyond recognition by machete or spear . . ."

Belgium moved 2,000 troops from the Congo into Ruanda to try to control the battling, which has been going on for two weeks. Instead, it has worsened.

A troop of the colonial army guided by a spotter plane surrounded 500 looting Bahutus this morning near the village of Muhondo, about 40 miles north of Kigali.

The Africans attacked with spears and arrows and then the troops started firing.

The Belgian troops had been having a tough time finding the elusive natives until they brought spotter planes into the action.

Reports reaching here said about 600 Africans had been arrested laden with spoils from burned villages.

There was no estimate of what percentage of the 2,500,000 Bahutus and Watutsis who inhabit Ruanda were engaged in the warfare.

But groups of Africans from adjacent Urundi were reported moving into the embattled territory to help their tribesmen.

GRANT FOR COLLEGIANS

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II have enlisted the aid of New England college presidents in establishment of an annual $1,000 cash award for the man or woman from Boston who "has done most for the theater during each calendar year."

The presidents will serve as a committee to select the annual winners.

Hammerstein says he and his composing partner may later establish similar grants in other American cities.

AF Issues Stop Order On Technical Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has ordered private contractors to stop sending technical data of any kind to iron curtain countries without first obtaining government approval, it was disclosed Friday.

The Air Force said some of its contractors occasionally had sent unclassified or non-secret information to "eastern bloc" representatives or private persons without first getting clearance. The data was in the form of sales bulletins or sales promotion manuals.

In reply to questions, the Air Force said it has told all its contractors it was "prejudicial to national security" for them to answer inquiries from Communist bloc nations without government approval.

The contractors were notified to send any such inquiries to the Air Force intelligence staff's foreign liaison branch to determine whether information could be supplied.

The Air Force also warned that supplying non-secret technical data even to friendly countries is governed by the State Department's regulations on international traffic in arms.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas isn't talked about much.

"How about Pat Brown of California?" asked a reporter.

Harriman glanced at Brown, then replied: "Gov. Brown hasn't told us yet whether he will be a candidate, but we've been watching his record in California and he's highly thought of."

Farm Bureau Setting Up New Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is quietly completing plans to set up a new organization designed to give farmers a stronger hand in bargaining for the prices of their crops.

The farm group's new marketing and bargaining subsidiary will start small. It is expected to begin operations next year with a one-man staff concentrating on service to local and area-wide farmer cooperatives which sell fruits and vegetables to processors.

But this relatively small start does not disguise the fact that the nation's biggest farmer organization is stepping into an area of growing importance in the fast-changing farm and food industry.

The Farm Bureau subsidiary, not yet formally named, will be working with farmers who contract the sale of their crops without going through local or central open markets. In many cases, contracts are signed before the crops involved are even planted.

Contract marketing has been widely used in the past by farmers producing crops for canning, sugar beets, and several other commodities. Farm Bureau officials now see signs that the system will spread to other major crops that have, until now, been sold mostly in bulk through open markets.

Farm Bureau spokesmen said that after their new subsidiary gets its program of aid to local bargaining groups underway in the fruit and vegetable field, the next step is likely to be expansion into poultry marketing. After that, they said, may come the same type of activity in marketing hogs, cattle, and other livestock.

The farm group said its bargaining subsidiary would not do any nationwide bargaining of its own. It is not going to be a device for getting a monopoly of any food or for fixing prices, Farm Bureau officials emphasized.

The main job of the new organization, these officials said, will be to strengthen the hand of local and area farmer bargaining groups by giving them as much information as the buyers have on the other side of the bargaining table.

The local groups would be fed reports on supply and demand conditions and contract prices for their crop in other areas. The new national group would also analyze proposed contract terms in advance and might give legal and other aid in setting up new farmer bargaining groups.

If producers of any one commodity want to coordinate the work of bargaining groups in scattered growing areas, the new Farm Bureau subsidiary could serve as a clearing house, officials said.

Test Program Is Outlined For Richland

MANGHAM (Special) — Milton Posey, Richland Parish counselor, gave an account of his plans for aiding teachers with the diagnostic testing program and counselling in high school on Thursday when the Richland Parish Classroom Teachers met in Mangham.

Cynthia Kenton, entertained the group with a piano solo, "Rustles of Spring" by Sinding.

Also on the program were three skits presented by the first grade students of Mrs. C. N. Underwood.

Miss Carrie Hatch presided and introduced the speaker who reviewed briefly the physcial, social and intellectual need of students.

Posey pointed out that a teacher's knowledge of individual students is essential in meeting these needs.

In addition to diagnostic test in ormation, Posey recommended a cumulative personal record of revelatory data for each student.

At the present time, Posey is conducting a counselling service at Mangham High School one day each week for the Mangham seniors.

At the conclusion of the meeting, faculty members of the Mangham school served refreshments to those in attendance.

Catahoula Registration Hits 4,320

JONESVILLE (Special) — There are 4,320 persons registered to vote in Catahoula parish in the December 5 primary election, according to Mrs. Mary Swaggart, registrar of voters. The figure is not official.

Mrs. Swaggart said that of this number there were 339 Negroes. The number also included five white persons registered as Republicans in the parish. All the others registered as Democrats.

The total number of registered voters is approximately 200 short of the 1956 elections when approximately 4,500 were registered. No reason was given for the decrease of registered voters. The population of Catahoula parish shows a gain for Catahoula over the 1950 census according to a recent survey.

3 Soldiers Held After Bank Theft

CEDARTOWN, Ga. (UPI) — Three soldiers who had been AWOL 13 days were nabbed by police Friday for stealing all the cash in a small town bank.

An investigation indicated today that the soldiers also had robbed an Atlanta supermarket for money to buy the getaway car, police said. The three were arrested at a roadblock 90 minutes after the Liberty National Bank here was cleaned out of $44,965, every cent in the till.

Thomas E. Burke, 20, of Alma, Ga., Charles Ray Sims, 18, of Laurel, Ky., and Larry Francis McAulson, 19, of Parish, N. Y., will be prosecuted here on the bank robbery charges, according to Sheriff John Redding.

Then they will be delivered to authorities to answer charges of staging a $3,700 holdup at a food store in Atlanta Nov. 2, Redding said.

Georgia Bureau of Investigation agents Jim Hillen and Denver Gaston said the 1953 Oldsmobile used in the bank robbery was purchased in Rome, Ga., evidently with part of the supermarket loot. Agents said checks stolen in the Atlanta holdup were recovered in the car.

The soldiers, AWOL from Ft. Benning, Ga., since Nov. 1, were nabbed at a police roadblock near Buchanan, about 26 miles from here. They offered no resistance to arresting officers. The stolen money, stuffed in paper sacks and suitcases, was found in the car.

McAulson's parents were shocked when informed their son had been charged with bank robberry. Mr. and Mrs. William McAulson said in Parish that Larry "never had been in any kind of trouble before" and was a "fair student in high school."

The couple said they last heard from their son in Augusta and he was last home in July after serving a year in Korea. They were reported en route to Georgia to see him.

Mamie Smiles And Looks Trim On Birthday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower was glowing and smiling on her birthday Saturday—and looking as trim and every bit as young as the day she became America's First Lady.

A bit impatiently, President Eisenhower posed with her for pictures and then retreated quickly.

Mrs. Eisenhower was 63. Her next birthday will be the last as the wife of a president, and from all reports she isn't at all unhappy about that.

The joys of retirement evidently are far more attractive to her than the duties and responsibilities that fall upon an occupant of the White House.

All White House officials would say about a birthday celebration was that there would be a small private dinner Saturday night at the Augusta National Golf Club, where the Eisenhowers are vacationing. The guests at their cottage are Mr. and Mrs. George E. Allen of Washington, who are old friends.

And of course there were presents to be opened.

For a birthday picture, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower appeared on the walk in front of their white frame cottage. The President was eyeing clouds in the west, and obviously eager to lay hands on a golf club.

"It looks like it's going to rain," he said.

"Oh, it's going to be all right," Mrs. Eisenhower said.

And it was. The sun stayed out and pushed the temperature into the 70s.

Haddock, ocean perch, whiting and flounder are the most popular fish to be found on American dinner tables. Cod used to be the favorite but its popularity has declined sharply.

NE Pledge Class Of 43 Is Largest

Sigma Tau Gamma's pledge class of 43 members at Northeast State is the largest current semester pledge group in the national social fraternity.

The report was made by E. Kennedy Whitesitt, Sigma Tau Gamma executive secretary, during his visit to the local affiliate, headed by Jack Harper.

Whitesitt was here to assist Northeast's affiliate members with preparations for installation ceremonies planned for the forthcoming spring semester.

ENTHUSIASM

The national officer expressed enthusiasm over the progress which local members have made during the first term's affiliation with the fraternity. The Northeast group, organized as Delta Kappa Rho, last spring petitioned Sigma Tau Gamma for membership. The petition, which was soon approved, was followed by the college fraternity's rapid progress in fulfilling installation requirements.

Speaking at a joint meeting of members and pledges, Whitesitt states, "Sigma Tau Gamma endeavors through its chapter programs to promote the highest ideals of manhood, brotherhood and citizenship, and to uphold ideals and traditions of colleges in which its members are students."

Pledge class officers of the college fraternity here include: Edwin P. Thomas of Webb, Miss., president; Stewart Stover of Seminole, Okla., vice president; Donald Middleton, Monroe, secretary-treasurer; Clyde Elliott, Monroe, historian-reporter; sergeants-at-arms, Benjamin Tatum, Halls, Tenn., and Wallace Cox, Haynesville.

WOMAN RAPED

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A 22-year-old white housewife told police she was raped early Saturday by a knife-wielding Negro.

Police arrested one Negro a short time later and held him for questioning.

Detectives said the woman gave this account:

Her husband left for work at 3 a.m., leaving her and their two small children at home.

About 4:15 the intruder removed a window screen, entered the house, went to the bedroom and touched her on the shoulder. She woke up screaming.

He placed a cloth over her mouth, put a knife to her throat and raped her.

There's nothing like a new car—and no new car like a Chevrolet. This is the 1960 Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Coupe!

PEOPLE SAY THESE ARE THE THINGS THEY WANT IN A CAR...and CHEVROLET for '60 comes closest to meeting every need!

Interviews with thousands of car owners across the country show clearly what they like or dislike about their present cars . . . and what they want most in their 1960 cars. Here's what the people tell us they want . . . and here's how Chevrolet meets their needs.

"Price, that's what's uppermost in my mind." All Impalas and Bel Airs with V8 engines are lower in price, as are automatic transmissions and many other popular options. Also Biscaynes now include as standard equipment conveniences formerly optional at extra cost.

"And how about operating economy? And resale value?" You keep right on saving after you buy your favorite Chevrolet, too. And Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value means you'll get more back when you trade.

"Give me plenty of good old-fashioned comfort." There's comfort and then some in this one. Chevy's long on space, for one thing. Once you're under way you'll know just how comfortable Full Coil suspension makes your ride.

"Safety—don't forget safety!" You're surrounded by safety features in a new Chevrolet. You've got big, sturdy brakes underfoot, for example, that last longer. As it has been for years, safety is standard equipment in Chevy.

"Let's keep upkeep down, too." More than ever, Chevrolet for 1960 is built to stay on the road and out of the repair shop. You can tell that from its hushed, unruffled way of going, from the solid thunk of Chevy's big doors. Of course, if you should need service, you're always near efficient, economical attention to your needs.

"I want a car that will stand up to the driving I do." For proof of Chevy's staying power, just spend a minute watching the nearest road. You'll see more Chevrolets traveling on it than any other car—evidence-on-wheels of Chevrolet durability. (And that higher resale value attests to it, too.)

"Me for a sweet-handling car." Handling's always been Chevy's forte, and 1960 is no exception. But really, this kind of lightness and precision you've simply got to enjoy for yourself.

". . . a car you can look at and be smug about buying it." Chevrolet for 1960 leaves the low-price field far behind when it comes to fashion. But you're the best judge of styling, so take a good close look at Chevrolet. We warn you: you're about to fall in love.

"And performance. Let's have a hot one!" Chevy's spirited V8's have set the standard for ultra-efficient power in American-built passenger car engines. You've got a long list of performance-minded transmissions to pick from, too.

So that, friends, is what you told us you want. We think it can be summed up rather well in just one word: value.

'NOT CANDIDATE'

Brown Breezes Into Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown was the first of four leading Democratic presidential hopefuls to breeze into town Saturday and immediately announced he was going to a football game.

Brown spoke with newsmen and as he finished talking, in walked Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Michigan Gov. G. Menen Williams were due in later.

All four Democrats were to speak briefly at the Oklahoma Democrats' $25-per-plate dinner.

The California govrnor said flatly he was not a candidate for vice president and would decide later this month if he is more than a favorite son entrant in the presidential race.

"I hope I haven't any delusions of granduer, but I have confidence in our ability, if you'll pardon me for saying that," said Brown.

Brown announced plans to attend the Oklahoma-Army football game at nearby Norman. Symington said he didn't know if he would go to Norman.

In explaining his reasons for not wanting second place on the presidential ticket, Brown said: "California is faced with some real tough problems and while I'm not saying the lieutenant governor couldn't handle them if I leave, I'd want to stick it out and see the job as governor through." He explained this meant that he wouldn't want to leave California unless he was the presidential candidate.

Brown said he would take the religious aspect into account and added, "I can't really do anything about that, I'm committed on that." Both Brown and Kennedy are Catholics.

Last Thursday, Oklahoma Baptists went on record at their state convention with a resolution a Baptist leader, Dr. M. E. Ramay, said "could be aimed at a Catholic presidential candidate." It did not name any faith but the resolution said the Baptists opposed "the election to any governmental office in state or nation any person whose first allegiance is to any other power which would influence or lead him to fail to take a bold stand for our principal of spearation of church or state."

Oklahoma Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, a Prebyterian, has not said who he favors as a nominee but apparently leans toward Kennedy. Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla), master of ceremonies at Saturday night's banquet, supports Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Symington asserted leadership was lacking in this country. He said the President's handling of the labor situation in general was "too little and too late."

In a speech prepared for delivery before some 4,000 Oklahoma Democrats. Williams declared Republicans "have been behaving like beatniks in Brooks Brother clothing."

He said the Republicans "are apathetic, do-nothing, unwilling to work for a better future, full of excuses, cynical about the possibilities of progress, and constantly trying to justify, rather than remedy, their failing," he said.

"The Republicans believe that government's job is to do the least it possibly can," he said. "We must replace this with the Democratic party's idea, and ideal of government's job: to lead and serve the people: to act in their behalf; and to reflect and express the great aspirations of a country whose heritage celebrates a manifest destiny."

Applications For Grants Made At Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Eight Louisiana Tech girls have applied for the new Ruby B. Pearce Memorial Scholarship, amounting to $300 a year or $150 a semester.

Miss Sallie Robinson, retired guidance director at Tech and chairman of this scholarship committee, said the applicants were being considered by the committee members individually. She added that the successful applicant probably will be named at a meeting of the committee sometime next week.

The scholarship was established to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. Ruby B. Pearce, who was registrar at Tech for many years. The scholarship was provided by her husband, W. Floyd Pearce, Ruston insurance executive.

The purpose of the Pearce scholarship is to assist some worthy girl (or girls if the committee in charge deems it wise to divide the amount) who has completed half the number of semester hours required for graduation in her curriculum.

The recipient must have maintained an over - all average of C plus, must possess a pleasing personality, good character, ambitious purpose and qualities of leadership. When there is more than one applicant, the question of need will be a determining factor in selection.

Plans Laid By FFA For Activities

OAK RIDGE (Special) — Members of the Future Farmers of America Chapter discussed future events at their meeing Monday. They made plans to take part in the P-TA meeting and in the annual initiation of Green Hands.

Another meeting to complete the initiation plans was set for Friday. Those to receive the initiation are Mason McEnery, Calvin Smith, T. L. Jones, Sidney Jones, Bill Nobels, Oscar Copeland and William Earl Stanley.

Jacky Nolan, president, gave and interesting resume of his trip to the national convention held in Kansas City.

The group voted to give $5.00 to the United Fund.

S. P. Smith, FFA advisor, stressed the importance of completing the work set up for the year.

'NOT CANDIDATE'

Brown Breezes Into Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown was the first of four leading Democratic presidential hopefuls to breeze into town Saturday and immediately announced he was going to a football game.

Brown spoke with newsmen and as he finished talking, in walked Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Michigan Gov. G. Menen Williams were due in later.

All four Democrats were to speak briefly at the Oklahoma Democrats' $25-per-plate dinner.

The California govrnor said flatly he was not a candidate for vice president and would decide later this month if he is more than a favorite son entrant in the presidential race.

"I hope I haven't any delusions of granduer, but I have confidence in our ability, if you'll pardon me for saying that," said Brown.

Brown announced plans to attend the Oklahoma-Army football game at nearby Norman. Symington said he didn't know if he would go to Norman.

In explaining his reasons for not wanting second place on the presidential ticket, Brown said: "California is faced with some real tough problems and while I'm not saying the lieutenant governor couldn't handle them if I leave, I'd want to stick it out and see the job as governor through." He explained this meant that he wouldn't want to leave California unless he was the presidential candidate.

Brown said he would take the religious aspect into account and added, "I can't really do anything about that, I'm committed on that." Both Brown and Kennedy are Catholics.

LSU Routs Maroons; Northeast Falls

Tigers Win, 27-0, On State Bobbles

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

TIGER STADIUM, BATON ROUGE, LA. — Taking a lesson from its Tennessee conquerors, LSU used two Mississippi mistakes for first half touchdowns, then picked up two more without any help to whip the Maroons, 27-0, here last night before a frigid 65,000.

LSU's Bengals took a state fumble and intercepted pass and made a pair of touchdowns out of them in the initial half, then scored after marches of 80 and 83 yards in the fourth period to win their eighth victory of the season against one lone loss.

Tennessee ended an LSU 19-game winning streak and knocked the Tigers from the nation's No. 1 spot by turning an interception and a fumble into touchdowns for a 14-13 upset last week.

Durel Matherne, doing most of the quarterbacking in place of the injured Warren Rabb, passed to Johnny Robinson for two touchdowns, the second and the last, and Hart Bourque and Don Purvis picked up their first touchdowns of the season as LSU soundly whipped the team that held them to a narrow 7-6 victory last year at Jackson.

Matherne threw six yards to Robinson for one TD and 21 yards for the other. Chinese Bandit Bourque went six yards for the night's first touchdown and Purvis danced 14 for his six-pointer.

Another Bandit, Tommy Neck, kicked the first two conversions and Purvis converted after his touchdown. Matherne tried to run for two points after the final TD but didn't make it.

Mississippi State, winner of only two games over minor league opposition, tried for a field goal after stalling at the LSU 20 in the first half with Walter Suggs booting wide and went to the Bengal nine to lead off the third period in its most serious threat.

The southeastern conference contest was played in 42-degree temperature but the cold didn't chill the enthusiasm of the crowd, surprisingly big.

All-American Billy Cannon was held to only 32 yards in 16 carries by the maroon defense but turned in some terrific punting, booting four for a 52.5 average. The big Bengal back, who returned a punt 89 yards for a touchdown in the 7 - 3 victory over Ole Miss two weeks ago, was held to seven yards on two returns last night.

Big Earl Gros was the top gainer for LSU, going 59 yards on six carries. Robinson got 59 yards on 16 tries.

Matherne, dividing the quarterbacking with Bandit Darryl Jenkins, connected on seven passes in 11 attempts for 102 yards in the best showing of his LSU career.

Monroe's Elton Upshaw, who ran with the go team during practice last week, did not play.

Quarterback Billy Hill was state's top rusher with 34 yards in nine trips. Willie Daniel got 29 yards on nine runs.

LSU had the big edge in game statistics, getting 20 first downs to state's nine, gaining 211 yards on the ground to 122 for state and gaining 122 through the air to 54 for Wade Walker's maroons.

Guards Ed McCreedy, Emile Fournet and Tommy Lott, tackle Bo Strange and fullback Donnie Daye led LSU's defense while big Walter Suggs was a standout in state's line.

Gus Kinchen put State in a hole to help set up the first touchdown in the first period with a 33-yard punt that hit the goal line and bounded back to the five.

Billy Tohill ran one play for three yards before Bobby Bethune gained six yards and fumbled on the 13. Max Fugler and Kinchen recovering for LSU.

Cannon got nowhere at the middle. Daye went for two yards then Cannon picked up five to the six. Darryl Jenkins then ran the option and pitched out the Bourque who went wide for the touchdown, his first of the season.

Bourque picked up more cheers seconds later by recovering a state fumble on the Maroon 30. Lynn LeBlanc's kickoff, a line shot, hit State fullback Walter Flowers on the chest and bounced off, setting off a wild scramble for the ball with Bourque coming up with it.

The Tigers moved to the 12 in four plays but Cannon fumbled at the 11 and Ray Osbourne recovered for State to end the threat.

Later LSU fumbled again, Johnny Robinson losing the ball on the Tiger 34 and Ed Smith recovered for State.

The Maroons moved to the 20 before Tohill missed on a couple of passes and Walter Suggs was wide on a field goal try from the 27.

Late in the second period, State quarterback John Carrero was rushed badly with the ball at the LSU 45 and Donnie Daye intercepted on the sidelines at the Bengal 40.

One play later the period ended.

LSU marched the 60 yards to score in eight plays, Cannon ripping off 34 of the yards with an off tackle burst, before being pulled down by Carrero on the four.

Robinson gained two off left tackle before Cannon lost four around end. Matherne then hit on a jump pass to Robinson for the touchdown with just 43 seconds remaining in the half.

Neck, after LSU was assessed a five yard penalty for illegal procedure back to the eight, converted to make it 14-0 at halftime.

Mississippi State made its most serious threat of the game to start off the third period, marching 74 yards to the LSU nine. Billy Hill gained 18 around end and Macon, Miss., flash Willie Daniel picked up 21 yards, almost going all the way, in the drive's big gainer.

Daniel's run put State on the 17 with first and 10 but LSU stiffened to halt the drive at the nine, pulling down Bill Schoenrock there after he took a pass from Carrero on fourth down.

Later in the third, the Bengals took over after a punt on their 20 and drove for their third touchdown. Earl Gros got them off to a good start with a 32-yard dash on the first play, fumbling on the State 47 but Jimmy Bond, trailing the play, recovered for LSU.

Purvis, Robinson and Gros gave LSU another first at the 36 and Matherne picked up another with a 10-yard pickup. Purvis lost two before Matherne passed for eight to Robinson as the quarter ended.

Gros gained five to the 15, Matherne missed on a pass to Earl before little Purvis went wide around right end for 15 yards and the touchdown.

The little "Scooter" converted to make it 21-0.

LSU went the farthest for its last touchdown, marching 83 yards in the closing minutes of the contest to score.

Matherne sparked the drive, hitting on passes to Daye and Gros once each and Robinson twice for a total of 54 yards. He missed connections on only one pass during the drive, overshooting Scotty McClain in the end zone just before hitting Robinson with a 21-yarder for the touchdown.

Matherne tried to run around end for a two-pointer after the TD but was pulled down short to leave the score at 27-0.

Jacksonville Bags 27-To-12 Triumph

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. (Special) The Jacksonville State Gamecocks got in early licks to notch their sixth victory of the season Saturday in a 27-12 decision over Northeast Louisiana State. A misty rain fell throughout the contest.

Three first half touchdowns, two of them before the Northeast Indians could unlimber, put the Gamecocks ahead to stay, although Jacksonville barely had the edge in first downs, 13 to 13, and barely showed an edge in over-all yards gained with a net of 275 against 257 for Northeast.

Wayne Keahey, 175-pound fullback, headed the Gamecock scoring with two touchdowns. He capped a 61-yard drive to score the opener of the game on an eight--yard run in the first quarter, and he counted the last for Jacksonville from three yards out after a 64-yard march.

Longest scoring play of the game was a 38-yard touchdown jaunt by Jacksonville's Bill Nichols after the Cocks had began moving from their own 43 after a punt exchange.

But a moment later, Northeast came up with a pass play that almost matched the Nichols yardage. The Indians had recovered a Gamecock fumble on the Jacksonville 36. Two line smashes by Stewart Stover and Jim Laudadio gained just one yard, and then Bob Randel fired a pass to end Jerry Head for the first Northeast touchdown on a 35-yard play.

Jacksonville recovered a fumble on the Indian 35 just before the half ended, and J. E. Phillips climaxed the Gamecock drive when he took a pass from Harold Shankles on the eight and scored.

Northeast grabbed the game's final touchdown in the fourth quarter after recovering a fumble on the Jacksonville 15. Randel passed to Robert Earle for 12, and then Stover crashed over from the three.

Ron Elkins kicked points behind two second quarter and a third period touchdown by Jacksonville. Northeast missed its conversion attempts.

Northeast's Stover was the game's leading ground-gainer with 98 yards in 14 attempts. Jim Gentles led Jacksonville with 75 yards in nine carries. Keahey picked up 55 in 11.

NO BOWL HOPES YET

Dietzel Satisfied, Points For Wave

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

TIGER STADIUM — Coach Paul Dietzel, satisfied with LSU's 27-0 victory over Mississippi State here Saturday night, is thinking about Tulane and not a bowl game.

"Next week is the one we've been waiting for all year," said Dietzel after his victory over the Maroons.

"We have agreed not to say anything about a bowl game until the Monday night following the Tulane game," he explained.

LSU, with an 8-1 record for the season, meets Tulane here next Saturday in the final game of the year.

Dietzel, describing Mississippi State as having a "fine young ball club," said he was satisfied with the victory.

"We played it just like we planned it," he said, adding, "It was a real lovely little victory."

Dietzel pointed out that "nobody has stomped Mississippi State this year."

Praising quarterbacks Durel Matherne and Darryl Jenkins, Dietzel said he didn't play Elton Upshaw, Neville's former all-stater, because the time wasn't right.

"I didn't plan on playing Elton early in the game but I planned on playing him later if there was a time. But there just wasn't a time."

Because of injuries to regular quarterback Warren Rabb and Go Team halfback Wendell Harris LSU had a problem with its substitution system," Dietzel explained.

"For instance, at one time in the third quarter Johnny Robinson was dead; he couldn't go back into the game," Dietzel said.

He said that Rabb would be taken out of his cast Sunday morning and would probably be ready for next Saturday's game with the Greenies. Rabb has an injured right knee.

Although the mercury dropped to near freezing before the game was over Dietzel said he thought it was perfect weather for football.

Several of the Tigers wore long underwear.

When asked how he went about boosting the squad up after last week's 14-13 loss to Tennessee Dietzel said, "The people in Baton Rouge did it."

An estimated crowd of 10,000 met the Tigers at the airport here last Saturday night when they returned from Knoxville.

Reminded that Georgia won the Southeastern Conference title Saturday and asked would this take any incentive out of the play for his squadmen, Dietzel answered philosophically. "A champion doesn't just lie on the mat after he's been slapped down. We weren't our sharpest tonight but we certainly came back."

He added, "All is not lost, ever, as far as I'm concerned, I think something will happen and we'll get the No. 1 spot back."

He concluded with a smile, "I'm a dreamer."

RACE SNARLED

Hogs Nip SMU, Clinch Loop Tie

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas gained no worse than a title tie in the Southwest Conference and perhaps a Cotton Bowl berth Saturday with a 17-14 victory over Southern Methodist on sophomore Lance Alworth's 13-yard touchdown run and clinching two-point conversion.

It was Arkansas's last conference game and pushed the Razorbacks into first place with a 5-1 record. Texas Christian upset previously unbeaten Texas 14-9, leaving the Longhorns with a 4-1 mark and TCU at 3-1.

Texas can clinch the host berth in the Cotton Bowl by beating Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day, although Arkansas and TCU could tie the Longhorns for the title. The Longhorns get the bowl spot against Syracuse, which accepted Saturday, over Arkansas because they defeated the Razorbacks and over TCU because the Frogs have been in the New Year's Day classic since Texas' last trip.

An Arkansas-TCU tie would give it to the Porkers, who beat the Frogs.

Arkansas made it against Southern Methodist on the running of Alworth, who scored the first TD, and Joe Paul Alberty after trailing 14-7 at the half. Alworth and Alberty, who counted the second on an 11-yard run and in the third on a four-yard run. Lenny Kahn booted conversions after the first two touchdowns.

SLC scored in the third period on an eight yard run by fullback Jim Hanley. Elbert Harris ran the two-point conversion.

'Pokes Stop SLC, 20-8

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Fullback Harold Thomas scored all three touchdowns as McNeese whipped Southeastern Louisiana 20-8 Saturday night in a Gulf States Conference game before 1,500 Homecoming fans.

Thomas tallied in the first quarter on a one yard run, in the third on a four-yard run. Lenny Kahn booted conversions after the first two touchdowns, combined for 200 yards rushing between them.

After Don Meredith had passed SMU into the seven-point lead, Arkansas' ground game got rolling in the third period, moving 59 yards for the TD that broke the Mustangs.

Alworth then led another drive that reached the SMU 2 before being stopped with only 16 seconds left.

And even that paid off for Arkansas. Meredith completed a screen pass to Jim Welch, who fumbled when hit and the ball rolled outside the end zone for a safety.

A crowd of 31,000 watched the game played in 34-degree temperature and sw Meredith better the all-time NCAA record for passing accuracy. Meredith threw his 352nd pass in a 3-year career and completed four for 217. It was a percentage of 61.9 and bettered record set by Paul Larson of California in 1952-53-54 of 57.1 for 350 passes or more.

Rebs Borrow Tiger Chant, 'We're No. 1'

MEMPHIS (AP) — Mississippi's young giants, as big as horses but nimble as ponies, frolocked happily through their showers Saturday with "We're No. 1" on every tongue.

Coach John Vaught, his blunt features cracked in a rare smile, had praise for every Rebel, but especially quarterback Jack Gibbs, fullback Charlie Flowers and the center of the Ole Miss line.

"Center Ken Kirk and guard Marvin Terrell played their best game ever," he said. "So did our end, Larry Grantham. But they were all good. The finest bunch of boys we've ever had."

A former Mississippi great, one-time fullback John (Kayo) Dottley moved through the dressing room, slapping backs.

"Absolutely No. 1," he said. "And if that Flowers isn't all-America, nobody is."

It was quiet in the Tennessee dressing room. The glum Vols, beaten 37-7, packed quickly for the trip back to Knoxville.

"We had a flat day against a great football team," said coach Bowden Wyatt. "We were afraid They flew on us and whipped us down to the final minute."

The weary Vols sagged noticeably after a first half in which they fought the powerful Rebels on nearly even terms. Ole Miss had a halftime lead of 10-7 by virtue of a 43-yard field goal by Bob Khayat.

"We had hoped to reach the half with a 10-7 lead ourselves but Mississippi turned the tables on us," Wyatt said, referring to an attempted field goal by Gene Etter that hit a headwind and fell off to the right.

Wyatt said the Rebels "hurt us real bad with their flat passes. And they mauled us down the middle. That Flowers looked real good, a great ball player."

Flowers picked up 168 yards in his 26 carries—more than Tennessee's entire total offense. The Vols made 143.

Alert Oklahoma Subdues Cadets

NORMAN, OKLA. (AP) — An alert Oklahoma football team converted three fumbles into touchdowns and survived a devastating passing game for a 28-20 triumph over Army Saturday.

A crowd of 59,000 sat through 28-degree weather and saw Oklahoma's strong running game overcome the passing magic of Army quarterback Joe Caldwell.

The loose-jointed Cadet completed 21 of 42 passes for 279 yards, but that wasn't enough to offset numerous Army miscues. Caldwell's performance set an all-time Army passing record for completions and yardage in one game.

Army flashed for a quick opening touchdown on a 37-yard pass play. Caldwell zipped the ball to George Kirschenbauver and the speedy halfback went about 30 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown.

Oklahoma utilized the power thrust of fullback Prentice Gautt in a 70-yard drive to get the tying touchdown late in the first period. Gautt made 31 yards in the march and Mike McCelllan got the touchdown, scoring on a pitchout from Bobby Boyd from the 1.

Center Jim Davis then kicked the first of his four extra points, giving the Sooners the lead. They never trailed again.

Oklahoma, scoring in every period, got an easy TD midway in the second period. End Paul Benien recovered a fumble in the end zone after Kirschenbauver was hit hard at the 5.

The Sooners counted again in the third quarter, picking up a fumble by fullback Al Rushazt on the 9. Boyd cruised across on the first play for a touchdown.

Oklahoma's final touchdown came at the start of the final period after recovering another fumble on the Army 20. Four plays later Boyd plunged over from the 1.

Army got its second touchdown on Caldwell's fourth-down 11-yard pass to end Don Usry.

Army kept in the fight after Oklahoma's final touchdown, again depending on Caldwell for key yardage. Caldwell completed four in a row after taking over on the Army 30. Rushazt got the TD on a one-yard plunge.

Missouri Rolls

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Mel West's breakaway thrusts sent Missouri rolling to a 26-0 Big Eight football victory over Kansas State Saturday.

The triumph before a chilled crowd of about 15,000 kept alive the Tigers' hopes for an Orange Bowl berth.

SECOND-HALF COMEBACK

Spartans Crush Wildcats' Hopes With 15-10 Victory

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State's 15-10 victory over Northwestern on a second half two-touchdown surge in a day of Big Ten upsets made the Spartans a surprise longshot contender in the conference title race Saturday.

Never before this confusing season has a two-time loser taken the title and the accompanying trip to the Rose Bowl.

With the Illinois 9-6 dumping of favored Wisconsin, Michigan State, Wisconsin and Northwestern all had 4-2 records in a three-way tie for first.

But Michigan State only plays six conference games and will have to wait and see what happens to Northwestern and Wisconsin each of which play seven league games. It will be Northwestern's turn to try Illinois next week and Wisconsin will meet last-place Minnesota.

Both would have to lose or tie to give the Spartans their third trip to the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Northwestern, ranked sixth in the AP poll this week, was beaten last Saturday 24-19 by Wisconsin.

It was the second week that Michigan State, now with a 4-2 conference record, had played spoiler. Last week the Spartans blasted Purdue, 15-0.

Northwestern showed great power and poise early in the game. The Wildcats surged 61 yards in 15 plays to score the first time they had the ball.

Ron Burton's power running was alternated with the crisp, short passes of Bob Eickhoff, who made three completions during the march—the last carrying from the 10-yard line to the one. Eickhoff went over on a sneak and Mike Stock kicked the point.

Michigan State picked up three points with 16 seconds to go in the first half on a 25-yard field goal by Art Brandstatter. Northwestern countered with a 35-yard field goal by Stock in the third period.

Michigan State got back in the game on a 28-yard scoring pass from Dean Look to Herb Adderley.

The recovery of a Burton fumble on the Wildcat 36 set up the second Spartan touchdown. Park Baker, lightest man on the squad at 12 pounds, made a key 11-yard gain and Look went over on a quarterback sneak from a foot out on the second play of the final quarter.

MSU tried to pass for two points after both touchdowns, but both tries failed.

It was the final Big Ten and home game for the unpredictable Spartans who finish out the season next Friday night against Miami. Michigan State is 5-3 over-all and 4-2 in the Big Ten.

Look, praised by Coach Duffy Daugherty as the best quarterback he has ever coached, retained his record of hitting a scoring pass in every game he has played this season.

Look turned down a $50,000 pro baseball contract for a final collegiate football fling as a senior. His decision very likely cost Northwestern $50,000 — the Rose Bowl payoff to the contending Big Ten team.

Look passed perfectly, 7-for-7 for 87 yards. It was a Big Ten team single-game record for perfect passing. The old mark was 5-for-5 by Wisconsin in 1941.

Northwestern passers hit 13 of 22 for 151 yards, but Michigan State outrushed the Wildcats 143 yards to 108.

Northwestern blew two good scoring opportunities.

John Talley was hitting his receivers in a Wildcat second-period drive from the Northwestern 37 to the Michigan State 14. But Talley was dumped in his backfield trying to pass and Stock was wide on a 42-yard field goal attempt.

Northwestern moved from its 25 to the Michigan State 17 midway in the fourth period, but the Spartan line held. Late in the game Northwestern penetrated as far as the MSU 30 before a fumble killed the last Wildcat hope.

LSU Routs Maroons; Northeast Falls

Tigers Win, 27-0, On State Bobbles

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

TIGER STADIUM, BATON ROUGE, LA. — Taking a lesson from its Tennessee conquerors, LSU used two Mississippi mistakes for first half touchdowns, then picked up two more without any help to whip the Maroons, 27-0, here last night before a frigid 65,000.

LSU's Bengals took a state fumble and intercepted pass and made a pair of touchdowns out of them in the initial half, then scored after marches of 80 and 83 yards in the fourth period to win their eighth victory of the season against one lone loss.

Tennessee ended an LSU 19-game winning streak and knocked the Tigers from the nation's No. 1 spot by turning an interception and a fumble into touchdowns for a 14-13 upset last week.

Durel Matherne, doing most of the quarterbacking in place of the injured Warren Rabb, passed to Johnny Robinson for two touchdowns, the second and the last, and Hart Bourque and Don Purvis picked up their first touchdowns of the season as LSU soundly whipped the team that held them to a narrow 7-6 victory last year at Jackson.

Matherne threw six yards to Robinson for one TD and 21 yards for the other. Chinese Bandit Bourque went six yards for the night's first touchdown and Purvis danced 14 for his six-pointer.

Another Bandit, Tommy Neck, kicked the first two conversions and Purvis converted after his touchdown. Matherne tried to run for two points after the final TD but didn't make it.

Mississippi State, winner of only two games over minor league opposition, tried for a field goal after stalling at the LSU 20 in the first half with Walter Suggs booting wide and went to the Bengal nine to lead off the third period in its most serious threat.

The southeastern conference contest was played in 42-degree temperature but the cold didn't chill the enthusiasm of the crowd, surprisingly big.

All-American Billy Cannon was held to only 32 yards in 16 carries by the maroon defense but turned in some terrific punting, booting four for a 52.5 average The big Bengal back, who returned a punt 89 yards for a touchdown in the 7 - 3 victory over Ole Miss two weeks ago, was held to seven yards on two returns last night.

Big Earl Gros was the top gainer for LSU, going 59 yards on six carries. Robinson got 50 yards on 16 tries.

Matherne, dividing the quarterbacking with Bandit Darryl Jenkins, connected on seven passes in 11 attempts for 102 yards in the best showing of his LSU career.

Monroe's Elton Upshaw, who ran with the go team during practice last week, did not play.

Quarterback Billy Hill was state's top rusher with 34 yards in nine trips. Willie Daniel got 29 yards on nine runs.

LSU had the big edge in game statistics, getting 20 first downs to state's nine, gaining 211 yards on the ground to 122 for state and gaining 122 through the air to 54 for Wade Walker's maroons.

Guards Ed McCreedy, Emile Fournet and Tommy Lott, tackle Bo Strange and fullback Donnie Daye led LSU's defense while big Walter Suggs was a standout in state's line.

Gus Kinchen put State in a hole to help set up the first touchdown in the first period with a 33-yard punt that hit the goal line and bounded back to the five.

Billy Tohill ran one play for three yards before Bobby Bethune gained six yards and fumbled on the 13, Max Fugler and Kinchen recovering for LSU.

Cannon got nowhere at the middle, Daye went for two yards then Cannon picked up five to the six. Darryl Jenkins then ran the option and pitched out the Bourque who went wide for the touchdown, his first of the season.

Bourque picked up more cheers seconds later by recovering a state fumble on the Maroon 30. Lynn LeBlanc's kickoff, a ilne shot, hit State fullback Walter Flowers on the chest and bounced off, setting off a wild scramble for the ball with Bourque coming up with it.

The Tigers moved to the 12 in four plays but Cannon fumbled at the 11 and Ray Osbourne recovered for State to end the threat.

Later LSU fumbled again, Johnny Robinson losing the ball on the Tiger 34 and Ed Smith recovered for State.

The Maroons moved to the 20 before Tohill missed on a couple of passes and Walter Suggs was wide on a field goal try from the 27.

Late in the second period, State quarterback John Carrero was rushed badly with the ball at the LSU 45 and Donnie Daye intercepted on the sidelines at the Bengal 40.

One play later the period ended.

LSU marched the 60 yards to score in eight plays, Cannon ripping off 34 of the yards with an off tackle burst before being pulled down by Carrero on the four.

Robinson gained two off left tackle before Cannon lost four around end. Matherne then hit on a jump pass to Robinson for the touchdown with just 43 seconds remaining in the half.

Neck, after LSU was assessed a five yard penalty for illegal procedure back to the eight, converted to make it 14-0 at halftime.

Mississippi State made its most serious threat of the game to start off the third period, marching 74 yards to the LSU nine. Billy Hill gained 18 around end and Macon, Miss., flash Willie Daniel picked up 21 yards, almost going all the way, in the drive's big gainer.

Daniels run put State on the 17 with first and 10 but LSU stiffened to halt the drive at the nine, pulling down Bill Schoenrock there after he took a pass from Carrero on fourth down.

Later in the third, the Bengals took over after a punt on their 20 and drove for their third touchdown. Earl Gros got them off to a good start with a 32-yard dash on the first play, fumbling on the State 47 but Jimmy Bond, trailing the play, recovered for LSU.

Purvis, Robinson and Gros gave LSU another first at the 36 and Matherne picked up another with a 10-yard pickup. Purvis lost two before Matherne passed for eight to Robinson as the quarter ended.

Gros gained five to the 15, Matherne missed on a pass to Earl before little Purvis went wide around right end for 15 yards and the touchdown.

The little "Scooter" converted to make it 21-0.

LSU went the farthest for its last touchdown, marching 83 yards in the closing minutes of the contest to score.

Matherne sparked the drive, hitting on passes to Daye and Gros once each and Robinson twice for a total of 54 yards. He missed connections on only one pass during the drive, overshooting Scotty McClain in the end zone just before hitting Robinson with a 21-yarder for the touchdown.

Matherne tried to run around end for a two-pointer after the TD but was pulled down short to leave the score at 27-0.

Jacksonville Bags 27-To-12 Triumph

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. (Special) The Jacksonville State Gamecocks got in early licks to notch their sixth victory of the season Saturday in a 27-12 decision over Northeast Louisiana State. A misty rain fell throughout the contest.

Three first half touchdowns, two of them before the Northeast Indians could unlimber, put the Gamecocks ahead to stay, although Jacksonville barely had the edge in first downs, 13 to 13, and barely showed an edge in over-all yards gained with a net of 275 against 257 for Northeast.

Wayne Keahey, 175-pound fullback, headed the Gamecock scoring with two touchdowns. He capped a 61-yard drive to score the opener of the game on an eight--yard run in the first quarter, and he counted the last for Jacksonville from three yards out after a 64-yard march.

Longest scoring play of the game was a 38-yard touchdown jaunt by Jacksonville's Bill Nichols after the Cocks had began moving from their own 43 after a punt exchange.

But a moment later, Northeast came up with a pass play that almost matched the Nichols yardage. The Indians had recovered a Gamecock fumble on the Jacksonville 36. Two line smashes by Stewart Stover and Jim Laudadio gained just one yard, and then Bob Randel fired a pass to end Jerry Head for the first Northeast touchdown on a 35-yard play.

Jacksonville recovered a fumble on the Indian 35 just before the half ended, and J. E. Phillips climaxed the Gamecock drive when he took a pass from Harold Shankles on the eight and scored.

Northeast grabbed the game's final touchdown in the fourth quarter after recovering a fumble on the Jacksonville 15. Randel passed to Robert Earle for 12, and then Stover crashed over from the three.

Ron Elkins kicked points behind two second quarter and a third period touchdown by Jacksonville. Northeast missed its conversion attempts.

Northeast's Stover was the game's leading ground-gainer with 98 yards in 14 attempts. Jim Gentles led Jacksonville with 75 yards in nine carries. Keahey picked up 55 in 11.

NO BOWL HOPES YET

Dietzel Satisfied, Points For Wave

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

TIGER STADIUM — Coach Paul Dietzel, satisfied with LSU's 27-0 victory over Mississippi State here Saturday night, is thinking about Tulane and not a bowl game.

"Next week is the one we've been waiting for all year," said Dietzel after his victory over the Maroons.

"We have agreed not to say anything about a bowl game until the Monday night following the Tulane game," he explained.

LSU, with an 8-1 record for the season, meets Tulane here next Saturday in the final game of the year.

Dietzel, describing Mississippi State as having a "fine young ball club," said he was satisfied with the victory.

"We played it just like we planned it," he said, adding, "It was a real lovely little victory."

Dietzel pointed out that "nobody has stomped Mississippi State this year."

Praising quarterbacks Durel Matherne and Darryl Jenkins, Dietzel said he didn't play Elton Upshaw, Nveille's former all-stater, because the time wasn't right.

"I didn't plan on playing Elton early in the game but I planned on playing him later if there was a time. But there just wasn't a time."

Because of injuries to regular quarterback Warren Rabb and Go Team halfback Wendell Harris LSU had a problem with its substitution system," Dietzel explained.

"For instance, at one time in the third quarter Johnny Robinson was dead; he couldn't go back into the game," Dietzel said.

He said that Rabb would be taken out of his cast Sunday morning and would probably be ready for next Saturday's game with the Greenies. Rabb has an injured right knee.

Although the mercury dropped to near freezing before the game was over Dietzel said he thought it was perfect weather for football.

Several of the Tigers wore long underwear.

When asked how he went about boosting the squad up after last week's 14-13 loss to Tennessee Dietzel said, "The people in Baton Rouge did it."

An estimated crowd of 10,000 met the Tigers at the airport here last Saturday night when they returned from Knoxville.

Reminded that Georgia won the Southeastern Conference title Saturday and asked would this take any incentive out of the play for his squadmen, Dietzel answered philosophically. "A champion doesn't just lie on the mat after he's been slapped down. We weren't our sharpest tonight but we certainly came back."

He added, "All is not lost, ever, as far as I'm concerned, I think something will happen and we'll get the No. 1 spot back."

He concluded with a smile, "I'm a dreamer."

RACE SNARLED

Hogs Nip SMU, Clinch Loop Tie

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas gained no worse than a title tie in the Southwest Conference and perhaps a Cotton Bowl berth Saturday with a 17-14 victory over Southern Methodist on sophomore Lance Alworth's 13-yard touchdown run and clinching two-point conversion.

It was Arkansas's last conference game and pushed the Razorbacks into first place with a 5-1 record. Texas Christian upset previously unbeaten Texas 14-9, leaving the Longhorns with a 4-1 mark and TCU at 3-1.

Texas can clinch the host berth in the Cotton Bowl by beating Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day, although Arkansas and TCU could tie the Longhorns for the title. The Longhorns get the bowl spot against Syracuse, which accepted Saturday, over Arkansas because they defeated the Razorbacks and over TCU because the Frogs have been in the New Year's Day classic since Texas' last trip.

An Arkansas-TCU tie would give it to the Porkers, who beat the Frogs.

Arkansas made it against Southern Methodist on the running of Alworth, who scored the first TD, and Joe Paul Alberty after trailing 14-7 at the half. Alworth and Alberty, who counted the second touchdown, combined for 200 yards rushing between them.

After Don Meredith had passed SMU into the seven-point lead, Arkansas' ground game got rolling in the third period, moving 59 yards for the TD that broke the Mustangs.

Alworth then led another drive that reached the SMU 2 before being stopped with only 16 seconds left.

And even that paid off for Arkansas. Meredith completed a screen pass to Jim Welch, who fumbled when hit and the ball rolled outside the end zone for a safety.

A crowd of 31,000 watched the game played in 34-degree temperature and sw Meredith better the all-time NCAA record for passing accuracy. Meredith threw his 352nd pass in a 3-year career and completed four for 217. It was a percentage of 61.9 and bettered record set by Paul Larson of California in 1952-53-54 of 57.1 for 350 passes or more.

'Pokes Stop SLC, 20-8

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Fullback Harold Thomas scored all three touchdowns as McNeese whipped Southeastern Louisiana 20-8 Saturday night in a Gulf States Conference game before 1,500 Homecoming fans.

Thomas tallied in the first quarter on a one yard run, in the second on an 11-yard run and in the third on a four-yard run. Lenny Kahn booted conversions after the first two touchdowns.

SLC scored in the third period on an eight yard run by fullback Jim Hanley. Elbert Harris ran the two-point conversion.

Rebs Borrow Tiger Chant, 'We're No. 1'

MEMPHIS (AP) — Mississippi's young giants, as big as horses but nimble as ponies, frolocked happily through their showers Saturday with "We're No. 1" on every tongue.

Coach John Vaught, his blunt features cracked in a rare smile, had praise for every Rebel, but especially quarterback Jack Gibbs, fullback Charlie Flowers and the center of the Ole Miss line.

"Center Ken Kirk and guard Marvin Terrell played their best game ever," he said. "So did our end, Larry Grantham. But they were all good. The finest bunch of boys we've ever had."

A former Mississippi great, one-time fullback John (Kayo) Dottley moved through the dressing room, slapping backs.

"Absolutely No. 1," he said. "And if that Flowers isn't all-America, nobody is."

It was quiet in the Tennessee dressing room. The glum Vols, beaten 37-7, packed quickly for the trip back to Knoxville.

"We had a flat day against a great football team," said coach Bowden Wyatt. "We were afraid They flew on us and whipped us down to the final minute."

The weary Vols sagged noticeably after a first half in which they fought the powerful Rebels on nearly even terms. Ole Miss had a halftime lead of 10-7 by virtue of a 43-yard field goal by Bob Khayat.

"We had hoped to reach the half with a 10-7 lead ourselves but

Alert Oklahoma Subdues Cadets

NORMAN, OKLA. (AP) — An alert Oklahoma football team converted three fumbles into touchdowns and survived a devastating passing game for a 28-20 triumph over Army Saturday.

A crowd of 59,000 sat through 28-degree weather and saw Oklahoma's strong running game overcome the passing magic of Army quarterback Joe Caldwell.

The loose-jointed Cadet completed 21 of 42 passes for 279 yards, but that wasn't enough to offset numerous Army miscues. Caldwell's performance set an all-time Army passing record for completions and yardage in one game.

Army flashed for a quick opening touchdown on a 37-yard pass play, Caldwell zipped the ball to George Kirschenbauver and the speedy halfback went about 30 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown.

Oklahoma utilized the power thrust of fullback Prentice Gautt in a 70-yard drive to get the tying touchdown late in the first period. Gautt made 31 yards in the march and Mike McCelllan got the touchdown, scoring on a pitchout from Bobby Boyd from the 1.

Center Jim Davis then kicked the first of his four extra points, giving the Sooners the lead. They never trailed again.

Oklahoma, scoring in every period, got an easy TD midway in the second period. End Paul Benien recovered a fumble in the end zone after Kirschenbauver was hit hard at the 5.

The Sooners counted again in the third quarter, picking up a fumble by fullback Al Rushazt on the 9. Boyd cruised across on the first play for a touchdown.

Oklahoma's final touchdown came at the start of the final period after recovering another fumble on the Army 20. Four plays later Boyd plunged over from the 1.

Army got its second touchdown on Caldwell's fourth-down 11-yard pass to end Don Usry.

Army kept in the fight after Oklahoma's final touchdown, again depending on Caldwell for key yardage. Caldwell completed four in a row after taking over on the Army 30. Rushazt got the TD on a one-yard plunge.

Missouri Rolls

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Mel West's breakaway thrusts sent Missouri rolling to a 26-0 Big Eight football victory over Kansas State Saturday.

The triumph before a chilled crowd of about 15,000 kept alive the Tigers' hopes for an Orange Bowl berth.

Mississippi turned the tables on us," Wyatt said, referring to an attempted field goal by Gene Etter that hit a headwind and fell off to the right.

Wyatt said the Rebels "hurt us real bad with their flat passes. And they mauled us down the middle. That Flowers looked real good, a great ball player."

Flowers picked up 168 yards in his 26 carries—more than Tennessee's entire total offense. The Vols made 143.

SECOND-HALF COMEBACK

Spartans Crush Wildcats' Hopes With 15-10 Victory

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State's 15-10 victory over Northwestern on a second half two-touchdown surge in a day of Big Ten upsets made the Spartans a surprise longshot contender in the conference title race Saturday.

Never before this confusing season has a two-time loser taken the title and the accompanying trip to the Rose Bowl.

With the Illinois 9-6 dumping of favored Wisconsin, Michigan State, Wisconsin and Northwestern all had 4-2 records in a three-way tie for first.

But Michigan State only plays six conference games and will have to wait and see what happens to Northwestern and Wisconsin each of which play seven league games. It will be Northwestern's turn to try Illinois next week and Wisconsin will meet last-place Minnesota.

Both would have to lose or tie to give the Spartans their third trip to the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Northwestern, ranked sixth in the AP poll this week, was beaten last Saturday 24-19 by Wisconsin.

It was the second week that Michigan State, now with a 4-2 conference record, had played spoiler. Last week the Spartans blasted Purdue, 15-0.

Northwestern showed great power and poise early in the game. The Wildcats surged 61 yards in 15 plays to score the first time they had the ball.

Ron Burton's power running was alternated with the crisp, short passes of Bob Eickhoff, who made three completions during the march—the last carrying from the 10-yard line to the one. Eickhoff went over on a sneak and Mike Stock kicked the point.

Michigan State picked up three points with 16 seconds to go in the first half on a 25-yard field goal by Art Brandstatter. Northwestern countered with a 35-yard field goal by Stock in the third period.

Michigan State got back in the game on a 28-yard scoring pass from Dean Look to Herb Adderley.

The recovery of a Burton fumble on the Wildcat 36 set up the second Spartan touchdown. Park Baker, lightest man on the squad at 12 pounds, made a key 11-yard gain and Look went over on a quarterback sneak from a foot out on the second play of the final quarter.

MSU tried to pass for two points after both touchdowns, but both tries failed.

It was the final Big Ten and home game for the unpredictable Spartans who finish out the season next Friday night against Miami. Michigan State is 5-3 over-all and 4-2 in the Big Ten.

Look, praised by Coach Duffy Daugherty as the best quarterback he has ever coached, retained his record of hitting a scoring pass in every game he has played this season.

Look turned down a $50,000 pro baseball contract for a final collegiate football fling as a senior. His decision very likely cost Northwestern $50,000 — the Rose Bowl payoff to the contending Big Ten team.

Look passed perfectly, 7-for-7 for 87 yards. It was a Big Ten team single-game record for perfect passing. The old mark was 5-for-5 by Wisconsin in 1941.

Northwestern passers hit 13 of 22 for 151 yards, but Michigan State outrushed the Wildcats 143 yards to 108.

Northwestern blew two good scoring opportunities.

John Talley was hitting his receivers in a Wildcat second-period drive from the Northwestern 37 to the Michigan State 14. But Talley was dumped in his backfield trying to pass and Stock was wide on a 42-yard field goal attempt.

Northwestern moved from its 25 to the Michigan State 17 midway in the fourth period, but the Spartan line held. Late in the game Northwestern penetrated as far as the MSU 30 before a fumble killed the last Wildcat hope.

Vandy, Greenies In 6-6 Deadlock

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Connie Andrews charged through Vanderbilt defenses for a fourth quarter touchdown that gave Tulane a 6-6 tie in Saturday's Southeastern Conference game.

Andrews, a 195-pound senior fullback, took charge of the Tulane attack after a personal foul had given the Greenies a first down on the Vandy 23. He carried four straight times, finally driving over from the 3. Howard Kisner's kick failed.

The next 10 minutes and 52 seconds were filled with more excitement for the 18,000 fans than the other three quarters.

Vanderbilt took the kickoff and drove all the way to the Tulane 13 before stalling. A field goal try by Wes Morris from the 18 on fourth down missed.

Vanderbilt's touchdown came just before the half on an 80-yard march, helped by a 15-yard penalty. Thom Garden, a sophomore halfback, went the last three yards for the score. Morris' conversion try failed.

Tulane kept a close watch on Valderbilt's touted halfback, Tom Moore. His best efforts were a 45-yard kickoff return and an 11-yard run near the Tulane goal on the Vanderbilt touchdown drive.

Two minutes and 32 seconds remained in the first half when Garden crashed over for the first touchdown. The drive took 12 plays. Actually, Tulane had stopped the march at the Vanderbilt 45, but the penalty for roughing the kicker on fourth down kept it going.

A 17-yard run by Morris after he couldn't find a receiver and Moore's 11-yard end sweep were the big gainers.

A 46-yard punt by Bob Carnett that rolled dead on the Vanderbilt two led to the play that set up the Tulane touchdown.

Vanderbilt punted back after two running plays and Terre Terrebonne caught the ball on the Vanderbilt 39. He slipped to his knees, and a Vanderbilt player fell on him. An official called it a personal foul and moved the ball to the Vandy 23.

Andrews then smashed for eight yards. On the next play he took a pass from Cornett for eight yards and a first down on the Vandy seven. Two plays later, he roared into the end zone standing up.

Twice in the first half Tulane seemed to be headed for touchdowns. A fumble by Vandy fullback Bobby Nay gave Tulane the ball on the Vanderbilt 16.

The Greenies moved to the Vanderbilt three before the Commodores pushed them back to the eight and took the ball away.

The other Tulane drive carried 36 yards to the Vandy 32.

Tulane had an edge in first downs 11-8. In net yardage, Tulane had 73 on the ground and 91 passing. Vanderbilt gained 93 rushing and 75 passing.

Andrews was the top runner, carrying the ball 14 times for 55 yards. Garden led Vanderbilt with 34 yards on nine carries. Moore gained 30 on 13 carries.

The tie gave Tulane an overall 3-5-1 record. The Greenies have lost four times without winning in the conference. Vanderbilt has an overall 3-3-2 record. In the conference, Vandy is 2-2-2.

Navy Pushed To Take 16-8 Win Over GW

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A bronco busting run of 20 yards for a touchdown by halfback Joe Bellino in the third quarter Saturday sprung Navy loose for a face saving last half rally and a 16-8 football victory over tenacious George Washington.

Up until Bellino's takeoff, in which he rolled over four tacklers after a pass from quarterback Joe Tranchini, the Middies had their hands full with a team that had won only once in eight games.

An 18 yard sprint by Bellino started the Middies on their way to another third quarter touchdown which was scored on a 3-yard plunge by fullback Joe Matalavage.

Mayo Engineers Falcon Victory

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The Air Force zoomed 61 on three plays for a third quarter touchdown Saturday and spent the fading moments fighting off Arizona for a 22-15 football victory.

The game, played in biting cold before 8,500, wasn't decided until the Falcons stopped Arizona fullback Joe Carroll on a fourth down try at the 1 with 3 seconds left.

Syracuse Crushes Colgate, Accepts Cotton Bowl Bid

By ANDY PURCELL

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 college football team, humiliated hapless Colgate 71-0 Saturday and then announced that it had accepted a bid to play in the Cotton Bowl on New Years's Day.

The undefeated Orangemen took advantage of numerous mistakes by their upstate neighbors and scored on well - executed long plays as Colgate went down to its worst defeat in 69 years of football.

Eight Syracuse players chipped in with touchdowns in the romp. Ger Schwedes, German-born halfback from Whitehouse, N. J., accounted for two scores on a 30-yard pass play and a three-yard run. Tom Gilburg, a junior end, caught scoring passes of 24 and 11 yards.

But no individual could claim the major share of credit for the drubbing Syracuse handed Colgate in its 60th meeting although sophomore quarterback Dave Sarette threw three touchdown passes.

The Orange scored 30 points in the first quarter, a record in their series, and 15 more in the second. The high - scoring clip eased in the second half, which was played under lights when rain - caused darkness took a toll on the Orange scoring machinery and the 31,000 fans in Archbold Stadium.

Two of the scoring plays demonstrated the deadly effectiveness of the devastating Syracuse attack.

Sophomore halfback Ernie Davis accounted for the longest touch down run of the day when he scooted 56 yards.

Davis took the ball in his own territory, went to the right, reversed his field at the 50 and literally outran the entire Colgate defense.

Another long scoring play came when second-string quarterback Dick Easterly pitched a 50-yard pass to Pete Brokaw, a sophomore halfback.

Brokaw, who until this week was a third - string quarterback, made an impressive debut as a halfback.

Prior to Saturday's loss, the worst blot on the Colgate record was a 68-6 loss to army last season.

The Syracuse scoring total was considerably shy of the all-time Orange record of 144-0 against Manhattan College in 1904.

Southerners Edge 'Nooga By 14-6 Score

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi Southern scored twice in the first half and held off Chattanooga until the closing seconds to register a 14-6 victory before 7,000 chilled fans Saturday night.

Southern fullback Buddy Supple opened the scoring when he punched across from the one in the first period. End Hugh McInnis set up the score when he blocked a punt and Southern recovered on the Chattanooga 16.

Southern stretched its lead to 14-0 in the second quarter when quarterback Don Fuell capped an 81-yard drive by tossing a four-yard pass to end Leon Akins. Fuell connected with Akins again for a two-point conversion.

With 33 seconds left in the game, Chattanooga tallied on quarterback Dan Washburn's five-yard pass to halfback George Hogan. The play ended a 41-yard march.

Earlier in the fourth quarter, Chattanooga picked up a fumble and drove to the Southern one where they lost the ball on downs.

Fuell and Akins were instrumental in setting up the Southerners second touchdown. They clicked on passes of 12 and 18 yards to highlight the march down field.

Chattanooga's Carey Henley was the game's leading ground gainer. He carried 14 times for 53 yards.

The victory was the sixth for the Mississippians against two defeats. Chattanooga is now 3-6.

FOUR-STROKE MARGIN

Casper Widens Lafayette Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — National open champion Billy Casper increased his lead a stroke in cold windy weather Saturday as he posted a par 71 in the $15,000 Lafayette Open golf tournament's third round.

The roly-poly Apple Valley, Calif., pro, showing a nine-under-par 204, had a three birdie card. He highlighted it with a 40-foot chip shot for a birdie two on the 198-yard ninth and a 40-foot putt for a birdie three on 18.

Deadlocked in second place with 208's were stocky Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who also had 71, and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla., who shot 72. Ferree cadded an eagle 3 on the near 500-yard number 7 when he belted a 2-iron six-feet from the cup.

A 30 degree temperature dip to the low 40s made playing conditions difficult over the 6,700-yard Oakburne Country Club course and played havoc with scores. Only two golfers—rockie Monte Bradley of Hillsboro, Tex., and veteran Doug Ford of Crystal River, Fla.—busted par. Each had 70.

Big George Bayer, Gleneagles, Ill., with a 72, and Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah, with a 71, tied for fourth spot with 290. Alone in sixth position was recent bridegroom Gay Brewer, Crystal River, Fla., who fired a 73 for a 211.

The weatherman promised more of the same nippy weather Sunday. The forecast called for temperatures falling beteen 30 and 36 Saturday night, and cloudy and cold weather in the daytime.

If Casper protects his lead, it will give him his third victory in his last four tournament starts. He has not finished worse than seventh in his last six tourneys.

The 28-year-old putting whiz copped the Portland, Ore., open and the Brazil Open last month. His other victory this year was the National Open at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N. Y.

In 25 tourneys, Casper has won more than $31,000.

IN FINAL TWO MINUTES

Tech Tops Memphis, 10-8, On Alexander's Field Goal

RUSTON (Special) — A 21-yard field goal in the final two minutes of play gave Louisiana Tech a 10 to 8 upset win over Memphis State University here Saturday afternoon.

Bulldog end Norris Alexander of Ruston, who had missed two earlier field goal attempts, pulled the Tech homecoming game out of the fire by putting the pigskin through the goal on an angled boot from the Memphis 21 with only two minutes, 15 seconds remaining in the fourth period.

The non-conference contest was played on a soggy field before 55,000 Tech homecoming fans. Rain which had fallen since Friday night fell during the early part of the game.

The win was Tech's seventh of the season against one loss. It was also Tech's first win over Memphis State since 1952 and was sweet revenge for the Bulldogs whose last setback on the home field was a 17-7 loss to these same Tigers in Tech's 1957 homecoming bout.

The Techsters now have a home field winning streak of eight games that reaches back to the 1957 season.

The Canines scored a TD in the first quarter on a one-yard run by halfback J. W. Slack. Slack also kicked a PAT and the Bulldogs held a 7-0 lead until midway the second period when quarterback Mickey Buoni, Memphis State, swept in for nine yards. A two-point conversion on a pass from Buoni to Jerry Reese put the visitors ahead 8-7.

That 8-7 score held up until the closing moment when tackle Bobby Hudson of Tech fell on a Memphis fumble on the Tiger 51. The Techmen lost back to the State 30, but then Johnny Hudson threw a third-down pass to end Tom Causey, who went to the Memphis 16.

With fourth down, and only 2:15 left in the game, Alexander came in to make good on a field goal. That put Tech ahead 10-8. The Tigers took the kickoff following the field goal and quickly drove to the Tech 25. The scoreboard clock said three minutes were left in the contest when a Memphis field goal attempt by Jack Carter fell short on the last play of the game.

A Memphis punt partially blocked by Bulldog end Charlie Garris set up Tech's first period TD. Tech took the short punt on the Memphis 19. Slack ran to the 10, halfback Paul Hines got a first at the three and two plays later Slack hit paydirt.

Memphis State's second-quarter score capped a 63-yard drive. A 36-yard gallop by halfbck Gifford Wimpee put them the Tech 38. Carter added 15 more for a first at the Canine 23 after the Tigers got still another first at the Bulldog 11, Buoni found running room to his left and went wide for the score.

In the second and third periods, Tech drove deep into Memphis state territory. In the second period the Bulldogs were stopped at the Memphis 18 on a fumble. However about a minute until halftime, Wimpee, back to punt, had a bad snap from center, and Tech took over on the State 8.

The Techsters got only to the Tigers four on three plays. Alexander then attempted a field goal with 15 seconds left for halftime. However, it was blocked.

With nine minutes remaining in the final period, Bulldog tackle Bobby Hudson blocked a Tiger punt which gave Tech the pigskin at the Memphis 42. Tech drove to the Memphis 6. On fourth down, Alexander's second field goal attempt was low.

Tech outgained the Tigers on the ground 177-108. Memphis got 59 yards through their, Tech 38. Tech got 12 first downs to nine for Memphis. Leading the Tech rushing was Slack with 84 yards, in 23 carries. Hines carried 14 times for 60 yards. Fullback Lenny Kaplan led Memphis in ball carrying with 43 yards in 12 carries.

Sington Boot Boosts Tide Over Ga. Tech

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A gambling Alabama Crimson Tide edged favored Georgia Tech 9-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

Fred Sington kicked a 43-yard field goal, his fourth of the season, and gave Alabama the margin of victory in the second quarter.

Tech moved into the lead with a touchdown the first time it got the ball. Alabama's Gary O'Steen bobbled the game-opening kickoff and Tech's Taz Anderson recovered on the Alabama 27. From there Tech moved to the goal in six plays with Marvin Tibbetts going the last two yards. Tommy Wells kicked the point.

Alabama bounced right back, also with the help of an enemy miscue. Stalled after its first series, Alabama kicked and Tech's Wells fumbled. Alabama's Billy Richardson recovered on the Alabama 49. Then the Tide marched 51 yards to the goal in eight plays, gambling on a fourth and two situation once. Little Marlin Dyess zipped the last 10 yards for the touchdown.

Alabama gambled and tried for a two-point conversion but Tech stopped O'Steen's run.

Trailing 7-6, Alabama backed up Tech with a punt exchange that put the Engineers on their own 10. A short punt gave Alabama the ball on the 27, setting up Sington's game-winning kick.

The victory before 43,000 cold, rain-spattered fans gave Alabama a 5-1-2 record and left Tech with a 6-3 mark.

Badgers Stunned By Illinois, 9-6

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — Pile-driving fullback Bill Brown banged into the end zone as the final gun sounded Saturday to provide Illinois a 9-6 upset victory over Wisconsin and deal the Badgers' Rose Bowl hopes a damaging blow.

The 211-pound Brown, a standout in an 81-yard drive as the second ticked away, cracked one foot behind Illinois guard Bill Burrell to send Wisconsin down to its second defeat in six Big Ten football starts.

The touchdown ended a game of frustration for Illinois which outplayed the Badgers only to be stymied repeatedly near paydirt.

Wisconsin spotted the Illini a safety after stopping an advance one inch from the goal early in the first period, but then went ahead when end Hank Derleth recovered a fumble by teammate Dale Hackbart in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Badgers clung stubbornly to that 6-2 margin, stopping two Illinois advances deep into Wisconsin territory on a fumble recovery and a pass interception.

But Illinois, twice beaten and tied once in five previous conference games, was not to be denied and finally connected on Brown's bull-like crash. The extra point was added by Gerry Wood after official time had run out.

The loss left Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan State in a three-way tie for the Big 10 lead with 4-2 records. Michigan State has completed its big 10 schedule while Wisconsin and Northwestern each have one conference game left. Both Wisconsin and Northwestern would have to lose or tie for Michigan State to get the Rose Bowl assignment.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pennsylvania ran up an early lead and held off a last half spurt by Columbia Saturday for a 24-6 victory that tightened its hold on the Ivy League lead.

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

Towels Not Needed

An intercepted pass and a lost fumble — mistakes of their own making — did as much or more to beat LSU in the Tennessee game a week ago as any other factor, and we're glad to get the word from Coach Paul Dietzel that his Tigers are champions enough to be champions in defeat and not try to fault-find game officials for their misfortune.

True, there were some early week reports attributed to Dietzel such as a television talk in which he has been quoted as saying "a couple of real booboos were called by the officials" and there's also the quoted remark at a Quarterback Club meeting of "We're not complaining, but I think it's a shame to lose one like that . . . I've already mentioned it to the man in charge of the officials."

Coach Dietzel, in his own story written for United Press International in Friday editions, declared he was "shocked" to read the quotes attributed to him.

"While it is true that officials are human and subject to error, the games we have lost since I have been at LSU, we have lost ourselves," declared Dietzel in refuting reports that he blamed officials.

In fact those early week reports brought us this telephone message from a reader one morning.

"Who's taking up the money down there for Dietzel?" says the voice.

"What money?" we ask.

"Why for Dietzel's towel fund, the crying-towel fund!" we were told.

The conversation rocked on a little more and we get the drift that this reader is an Ole Miss fan when he comes up with the challenge: "Why don't you get on the ball and give Ole Miss the recognition it is due?"

Personally, we think Ole Miss is earning its recognition and none needs to be "given." We also feel that since LSU had to lose, the statistics and game performances indicate that Ole Miss gave LSU a harder fight than Tennessee and if one really deserved to win, it should have been Ole Miss. But you know how the ball bounces! In fact, for a while we thought the LSU-Tennessee game statistics had been mixed up with some other game. Certainly those statistics didn't seem to go with a Tennessee victory.

But LSU lost the game and accepts all the blame.

Says Dietzel: "Personally, I detest a cry-baby. By a cry-baby, I mean the fella who tries to make excuses for why he lost."

That sounds like a towel fund is wasted money. Find a better cause.

Debates With Touchdowns

Some Football officials are asking changes in the rules that will permit them to go on the field to argue decisions with game officials. It a coach goes on the field now he draws a penalty for his team. But some of the tutors think they should have the rights of baseball managers to argue with umpires.

Lou Little, the retired Columbia U. coach, wisely foresees games tied up in long debates and bickering in seeking to temper the move. Fans go to football games to see action as intended by the game, not to watch games that go long into the night when constant arguments crop up and right now you can see coaches boiling onto the field from both sides every time a red flag hits the sod.

Football movies are also causing a lot of fuss, as the coaches are using them to replay the games and show "how we wuz robbed." But no movie has ever changed the score. These movies are chiefly made now days for scouting purposes. Maybe they should stick to using them for scouting only.

Ready To Open Season

Manager Fuzzy Huff's Farmerville City Drug basketball team opens its season among the independents at Bogalusa next Saturday against a Bogalusa team composed mainly of ex-Southeastern Louisiana College players.

Huff says his Druggists have also billed a five-game exhibition series with the House of David in games to be played in Winnsboro, Farmerville, Eros, Winnfield, and Dodson.

Southern Cal Edges Baylor In 17-8 Scrap

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unbeaten Southern California, bent on improving its national ranking, ran into tough Baylor Saturday but managed to come out with a 17-8 victory.

The thrice-beaten Bears from Texas presented the Trojans with a field goal in the first quarter and fought them to a standstill before surrendering two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, both of them the result of lucky breaks.

Baylor put on a spirited 72-yard march for a touchdown and scored on a run for the two-point conversion in the final minutes.

The battling Bears time and again frustrated the heavily favored Trojans.

A fumble on a punt by Baylor's Tommys Minter gave USC the ball on the Bear 27. Baylor held against a touchdown threat but kicking specialist Don Zachik put the Trojans on the scoreboard with a 28-yard field goal.

What proved to be the winning touchdown came when fullback Clark Holden bulled his way nine yards for the score in the early minutes of the final quarter. It was set up when Baylor quarterback Ronnie Stanley fumbled away a pitchout to his star halfback, Ron Bull, and the Trojans recovered on the Baylor 16.

Vandy, Greenies In 6-6 Deadlock

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Connie Andrews charged through Vanderbilt defenses for a fourth quarter touchdown that gave Tulane a 6-6 tie in Saturday's Southeastern Conference game.

Andrews, a 195-pound senior fullback, took charge of the Tulane attack after a personal foul had given the Greenies a first down on the Vandy 23. He carried four straight times, finally driving over from the 3. Howard Kisner's kick failed.

The next 10 minutes and 52 seconds were filled with more excitement for the 18,000 fans than the other three quarters.

Vanderbilt took the kickoff and drove all the way to the Tulane 13 before stalling. A field goal try by Wes Morris from the 18 on fourth down missed.

Vanderbilt's touchdown came just before the half on an 80-yard march, helped by a 15-yard penalty. Thom Garden, a sophomore halfback, went the last three yards for the score. Morris' conversion try failed.

Tulane kept a close watch on Valderbilt's touted halfback, Tom Moore. His best efforts were a 45-yard kickoff return and an 11-yard run near the Tulane goal on the Vanderbilt touchdown drive.

Two minutes and 32 seconds remained in the first half when Garden crashed over for the first touchdown. The drive took 12 plays. Actually, Tulane had stopped the march at the Vanderbilt 45, but the penalty for roughing the kicker on fourth down kept it going.

A 17-yard run by Morris after he couldn't find a receiver and Moore's 11-yard end sweep were the big gainers.

A 46-yard punt by Bob Carnett that rolled dead on the Vanderbilt two led to the play that set up the Tulane touchdown.

Vanderbilt punted back after two running plays and Terre Terrebonne caught the ball on the Vanderbilt 39. He slipped to his knees, and a Vanderbilt player fell on him. An official called it a personal foul and moved the ball to the Vandy 23.

Andrews then smashed for eight yards. On the next play he took a pass from Cornett for eight yards and a first down on the Vandy seven. Two plays later, he roared into the end zone standing up.

Twice in the first half Tulane seemed to be headed for touchdowns. A fumble by Vandy fullback Bobby Nay gave Tulane the ball on the Vanderbilt 16.

The Greenies moved to the Vanderbilt three before the Commodores pushed them back to the eight and took the ball away.

The other Tulane drive carried 36 yards to the Vandy 32.

Tulane had an edge in first downs 11-8. In net yardage, Tulane had 73 on the ground and 91 passing. Vanderbilt gained 93 rushing and 75 passing.

Andrews was the top runner, carrying the ball 14 times for 55 yards. Garden led Vanderbilt with 34 yards on nine carries. Moore gained 30 on 13 carries.

The tie gave Tulane an overall 3-5-1 record. The Greenies have lost four times without winning in the conference. Vanderbilt has an overall 3-3-2 record. In the conference, Vandy is 2-2-2.

Navy Pushed To Take 16-8 Win Over GW

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A bronco busting run of 20 yards for a touchdown by halfback Joe Bellino in the third quarter Saturday sprung Navy loose for a face saving last half rally and a 16-8 football victory over tenacious George Washington.

Up until Bellino's takeoff, in which he rolled over four tacklers after a pass from quarterback Joe Tranchini, the Middies had their hands full with a team that had won only once in eight games.

An 18 yard sprint by Bellino started the Middies on their way to another third quarter touchdown which was scored on a 3-yard plunge by fullback Joe Matalavage.

Syracuse Crushes Colgate, Accepts Cotton Bowl Bid

By ANDY PURCELL

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 college football team, humiliated hapless Colgate 71-0 Saturday and then announced that it had accepted a bid to play in the Cotton Bowl on New Years's Day.

The undefeated Orangemen took advantage of numerous mistakes by their upstate neighbors and scored on well - executed long plays as Colgate went down to its worst defeat in 69 years of football.

Eight Syracuse players chipped in with touchdowns in the romp. Ger Schwedes, German-born halfback from Whitehouse, N. J., accounted for two scores on a 30-yard pass play and a three-yard run. Tom Gilburg, a junior end, caught scoring passes of 24 and 11 yards.

But no individual could claim the major share of credit for the drubbing Syracuse handed Colgate in its 60th meeting although sophomore quarterback Dave Sarette threw three touchdown passes.

The Orange scored 30 points in the first quarter, a record in their series, and 15 more in the second. The high - scoring clip eased in the second half, which was played under lights when rain - caused darkness took a toll on the Orange scoring machinery and the 31,000 fans in Archbold Stadium.

Two of the scoring plays demonstrated the deadly effectiveness of the devastating Syracuse attack.

Sophomore halfback Ernie Davis accounted for the longest touch down run of the day when he scooted 56 yards.

Davis took the ball in his own territory, went to the right, reversed his field at the 50 and literally outran the entire Colgate defense.

Another long scoring play came when second-string quarterback Dick Easterly pitched a 50-yard pass to Pete Brokaw, a sophomore halfback.

Brokaw, who until this week was a third - string quarterback, made an impressive debut as a halfback.

Prior to Saturday's loss, the worst blot on the Colgate record was a 68-6 loss to army last season.

The Syracuse scoring total was considerably shy of the all-time Orange record of 144-0 against Manhattan College in 1904.

Southerners Edge 'Nooga By 14-6 Score

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi Southern scored twice in the first half and held off Chattanooga until the closing seconds to register a 14-6 victory before 7,000 chilled fans Saturday night.

Southern fullback Buddy Supple opened the scoring when he punched across from the one in the first period. End Hugh McInnis set up the score when he blocked a punt and Southern recovered on the Chattanooga 16.

Southern stretched its lead to 14-0 in the second quarter when quarterback Don Fuell capped an 81-yard drive by tossing a four-yard pass to end Leon Akins. Fuell connected with Akins again for a two-point conversion.

With 33 seconds left in the game, Chattanooga tallied on quarterback Dan Washburn's five-yard pass to halfback George Hogan. The play ended a 41-yard march.

Earlier in the fourth quarter, Chattanooga picked up a fumble and drove to the Southern one where they lost the ball on downs.

Fuell and Akins were instrumental in setting up the Southerners second touchdown. They clicked on passes of 12 and 18 yards to highlight the march down field.

Chattanooga's Carey Henley was the game's leading ground gainer. He carried 14 times for 53 yards.

The victory was the sixth for the Mississippians against two defeats. Chattanooga is now 3-6.

Tech Tops Memphis, 10-8, On Alexander's Field Goal

RUSTON (Special) — A 21-yard field goal in the final two minutes of play gave Louisiana Tech a 10 to 8 upset win over Memphis State University here Saturday afternoon.

Bulldog end Norris Alexander of Ruston, who had missed two earlier field goal attempts, pulled the Tech homecoming game out of the fire by putting the pigskin through the goal on an angled boot from the Memphis 21 with only two minutes, 15 seconds remaining in the fourth peroid.

The non-conference contest was played on a soggy field before 55,000 Tech homecoming fans. Rain which had fallen since Friday night fell during the early part of the game.

The win was Tech's seventh of the season against one loss. It was also Tech's first win over Memphis State since 1952 and was sweet revenge for the Bulldogs whose last setback on the home field was a 17-7 loss to these same Tigers in Tech's 1957 homecoming bout.

The Techsters now have a home field winning streak of eight games that reaches back to the 1957 season.

The Canines scored a TD in the first quarter on a one-yard run by halfback J. W. Slack. Slack also kicked a PAT and the Bulldogs held a 7-0 lead until midway the second period when quarterback Mickey Buoni, Memphis State, swept in for nine yards. A two-point conversion on a pass from Buoni to Jerry Reese put the visitors ahead 8-7.

That 8-7 score held up until the closing moment when tackle Bobby Hudson of Tech fell on a Memphis fumble on the Tiger 51. The Techmen lost back to the State 30, but then Johnny Hudson threw a third-down pass to end Tom Causey, who went to the Memphis 16.

With fourth down, and only 2:15 left in the game, Alexander came in to make good on a field goal. That put Tech ahead 10-8. The Tigers took the kickoff following the field goal and quickly drove to the Tech 25. The scoreboard clock said three minutes were left in the contest when a Memphis field goal attempt by Jack Carter fell short on the last play of the game.

A Memphis punt partially blocked by Bulldog end Charlie Garris set up Tech's first period TD. Tech took the short punt on the Memphis 19. Slack ran to the 10, halfback Paul Hines got a first at the three and two plays later Slack hit paydirt.

Memphis State's second-quarter score capped a 63-yard drive. A 36-yard gallop by halfbck Gifford Wimpee put them the Tech 38. Carter added 15 more for a first at the Canine 23 after the Tigers got still another first at the Bulldog 11, Buoni found running room to his left and went wide for the score.

FOUR-STROKE MARGIN

Casper Widens Lafayette Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — National open champion Billy Casper increased his lead a stroke in cold windy weather Saturday as he posted a par 71 in the $15,000 Lafayette Open golf tournament's third round.

The roly-poly Apple Valley, Calif., pro, showing a nine-under-par 204, had a three birdie card. He highlighted it with a 40-foot chip shot for a birdie two on the 198-yard ninth and a 40-foot putt for a birdie three on 18.

Deadlocked in second place with 208's were stocky Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who also had 71, and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla., who shot 72. Ferree cadded an eagle 3 on the near 500-yard number 7 when he belted a 2-iron six-feet from the cup.

A 30 degree temperature dip to the low 40s made playing conditions difficult over the 6,700-yard Oakburne Country Club course and played havoc with scores. Only two golfers—rockie Monte Bradley of Hillsboro, Tex., and veteran Doug Ford of Crystal River, Fla.—busted par. Each had 70.

Big George Bayer, Gleneagles, Ill., with a 72, and Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah, with a 71, tied for fourth spot with 290. Alone in sixth position was recent bridegroom Gay Brewer, Crystal River, Fla., who fired a 73 for a 211.

The weatherman promised more of the same nippy weather Sunday. The forecast called for temperatures falling beteen 30 and 36 Saturday night, and cloudy and cold weather in the daytime.

If Casper protects his lead, it will give him his third victory in his last four tournament starts. He has not finished worse than seventh in his last six tourneys.

The 28-year-old putting whiz copped the Portland, Ore., open and the Brazil Open last month. His other victory this year was the National Open at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N. Y.

In 25 tourneys, Casper has won more than $31,000.

Sington Boot Boosts Tide Over Ga. Tech

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A gambling Alabama Crimson Tide edged favored Georgia Tech 9-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

Fred Sington kicked a 43-yard field goal, his fourth of the season, and gave Alabama the margin of victory in the second quarter.

Tech moved into the lead with a touchdown the first time it got the ball. Alabama's Gary O'Steen bobbled the game-opening kickoff and Tech's Taz Anderson recovered on the Alabama 27. From there Tech moved to the goal in six plays with Marvin Tibbetts going the last two yards. Tommy Wells kicked the point.

Alabama bounced right back, also with the help of an enemy miscue. Stalled after its first series, Alabama kicked and Tech's Wells fumbled. Alabama's Billy Richardson recovered on the Alabama 49. Then the Tide marched 51 yards to the goal in eight plays, gambling on a fourth and two situation once. Little Marlin Dyess zipped the last 10 yards for the touchdown.

Alabama gambled and tried for a two-point conversion but Tech stopped O'Steen's run.

Trailing 7-6, Alabama backed up Tech with a punt exchange that put the Engineers on their own 10. A short punt gave Alabama the ball on the 27, setting up Sington's game-winning kick.

The victory before 43,000 cold, rain-spattered fans gave Alabama a 5-1-2 record and left Tech with a 6-3 mark.

PENN ROMPS

NEW YORK (AP) — Pennsylvania ran up an early lead and held off a last half spurt by Columbia Saturday for a 24-6 victory that tightened its hold on the Ivy League lead.

Southern Cal Edges Baylor In 17-8 Scrap

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unbeaten Southern California, bent on improving its national ranking, ran into tough Baylor Saturday but managed to come out with a 17-8 victory.

The thrice-beaten Bears from Texas presented the Trojans with a field goal in the first quarter and fought them to a standstill before surrendering two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, both of them the result of lucky breaks.

Baylor put on a spirited 72-yard march for a touchdown and scored on a run for the two-point conversion in the final minutes.

The battling Bears time and again frustrated the heavily favored Trojans.

A fumble on a punt by Baylor's Tommys Minter gave USC the ball on the Bear 27. Baylor held against a touchdown threat but kicking specialist Don Zachik put the Trojans on the scoreboard with a 28-yard field goal.

What proved to be the winning touchdown came when fullback Clark Holden bulled his way nine yards for the score in the early minutes of the final quarter. It was set up when Baylor quarterback Ronnie Stanley fumbled away a pitchout to his star halfback, Ron Bull, and the Trojans recovered on the Baylor 16.

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

Towels Not Needed

An intercepted pass and a lost fumble — mistakes of their own making — did as much or more to beat LSU in the Tennessee game a week ago as any other factor, and we're glad to get the word from Coach Paul Dietzel that his Tigers are champions enough to be champions in defeat and not try to fault-find game officials for their misfortune.

True, there were some early week reports attributed to Dietzel such as a television talk in which he has been quoted as saying "a couple of real booboos were called by the officials" and there's also the quoted remark at a Quarterback Club meeting of "We're not complaining, but I think it's a shame to lose one like that . . . I've already mentioned it to the man in charge of the officials."

Coach Dietzel, in his own story written for United Press International in Friday editions, declared he was "shocked" to read the quotes attributed to him.

"While it is true that officials are human and subject to error, the games we have lost since I have been at LSU, we have lost ourselves," declared Dietzel in refuting reports that he blamed officials.

In fact those early week reports brought us this telephone message from a reader one morning.

"Who's taking up the money down there for Dietzel?" says the voice.

"What money?" we ask.

"Why for Dietzel's towel fund, the crying-towel fund!" we were told.

The conversation rocked on a little more and we get the drift that this reader is an Ole Miss fan when he comes up with the challenge: "Why don't you get on the ball and give Ole Miss the recognition it is due?"

Personally, we think Ole Miss is earning its recognition and none needs to be "given." We also feel that since LSU had to lose, the statistics and game performances indicate that Ole Miss gave LSU a harder fight than Tennessee and if one really deserved to win, it should have been Ole Miss. But you know how the ball bounces! In fact, for a while we thought the LSU-Tennessee game statistics had been mixed up with some other game. Certainly those statistics didn't seem to go with a Tennessee victory.

But LSU lost the game and accepts all the blame.

Says Dietzel: "Personally, I detest a cry-baby. By a cry-baby, I mean the fella who tries to make excuses for why he lost."

That sounds like a towel fund is wasted money. Find a better cause.

Debates With Touchdowns

Some Football officials are asking changes in the rules that will permit them to go on the field to argue decisions with game officials. It a coach goes on the field now he draws a penalty for his team. But some of the tutors think they should have the rights of baseball managers to argue with umpires.

Lou Little, the retired Columbia U. coach, wisely foresees games tied up in long debates and bickering in seeking to temper the move. Fans go to football games to see action as intended by the game, not to watch games that go long into the night when constant arguments crop up and right now you can see coaches boiling onto the field from both sides every time a red flag hits the sod.

Football movies are also causing a lot of fuss, as the coaches are using them to replay the games and show "how we wuz robbed." But no movie has ever changed the score. These movies are chiefly made now days for scouting purposes. Maybe they should stick to using them for scouting only.

49ers Need Victory Today To Grab Favorites Role

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, surprise team of the National Football League season, will become favorites to win the Western Division title if they whip the Bears at Chicago in Sunday's top game.

San Francisco (6-1) leads the second - place Baltimore Colts (4-3) by two games. The Forty-Niners, who began a tough, four-game road jaunt last Sunday by defeating the Los Angeles Rams, will assure themselves of returning home with at least a share of first place if they defeat the Bears.

After the Bears, the Forty-Niners, two-point underdogs for the game at Wrigley Field, tackle the Colts at Baltimore and the Browns at Cleveland before ending their regular season at home against the Colts and Green Bay Packers.

In Sunday's other key games, the Colts are 9½ point choices to down the Packers (3-4) at Milwaukee, the New York Giants (6-1) are favored over the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers (2-4-1) by 7½ and the Browns (5-2) are favored over the Redskins (3-4) by nine at Washington.

The Colts, defending league and Western Division champions, will try to snap a two-game losing streak when they meet the Packers. New York, with quarterbacks Charley Conerly and George Shaw nursing injuries, leads Cleveland by a game in the Eastern race.

Los Angeles (2-5) is favored over the Lions (1-5-1) by two points at Detroit and the Eagles (4-3) are four-point choices to defeat the Chicago Cardinals (2-5) at Philadelphia in the other games.

Each of Sunday's six games matches teams that have met already this season. This puts heavy pressure on the winners of those previous meetings because NFL clubs find it hard to sweep their annual home-and-home series with division rivals.

The Forty-Niners, for example, edged the Bears at San Francisco, 20-17. San Francisco won when Y. A. Tittle completed a 46-yard pass to R. C. Owens in the final seconds.

Coach George Halas expects his Bears to be stronger Sunday because two of his offensive stars, halfback Willie Galimore and end Harlon Hill, are in better physical condition than they were in recent weeks. San Francisco has a well-balanced squad that leads the league in scoring while allowing only 88 points.

The Colts thumped the Packers in their first meeting this year, 38-21. That contest in Baltimore was close until third-period interceptions, coupled with the passing of John Unitas, helped the Colts break the game open.

New York plays host to a club it worked hard to edge last month at Pittsburgh, 21-16. The Steelers failed to make a first down by about six inches in the final minutes of that game. If Conerly and Shaw are unable to play Sunday, Don Heinrich will do the quarterbacking for the Giants.

Cleveland downed Washington, 34-7, last month but the Redskins were badly crippled in that game. Jim Brown, Cleveland's fullback, leads the league in rushing with 862 yards and in scoring with 60 points. Cleveland has allowed only 86 points while Washington has given up the most, 195.

New York, San Francisco and Cleveland also have winning streaks to pit against the law of averages. New York has won five in a row while San Francisco and Cleveland boast four - game streaks.

Detroit is an underdog at home against a Los Angeles team it upset in California, 17 - 7. The Eagles entertain the Cardinal team they defeated last month at Milwaukee, 28-24, erasing a 24-0 deficit to win.

Frogs Tag Steers With First Loss

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian whipped previously unbeaten Texas 14-9 Saturday on a 56-yard scoring dash by Harry Moreland, and the loss by the No. 2 ranked Longhorns snarled the host half of the Cotton Bowl picture.

Undefeated Syracuse accepted a Cotton Bowl bid a short time earlier after overwhelming Colgate 71-0.

Arkansas—a 13-12 loser to Texas this season—bounced into the lead with a 5-1 record in the Southwest Conference, which sends its champion to the Jan. 1 game in Dallas, by tripping Southern Methodist 17-14.

But Texas still can got to the Cotton Bowl by beating Texas A&M in the season final Thanksgiving Day, even if the Longhorns wind up in a three-way tie for the league crown. That's because both Arkansas and TCU have played in the New Year's game since Texas' last visit.

The upset victory by the power-laden Horned Frogs broke Texas' nine-game victory string and kept alive Texas Christian's hopes for a Southwest Conference championship and a Cotton Bowl berth against Syracuse on New Year's Day.

Texas Christian overcame a 9-0 halftime lead built up by Texas and registered two second half touchdowns in freezing weather before 45,000 fans in Memorial Stadium.

It was all Texas in the first half as the Longhorns tallied a safety and drove 45 yards in eight plays to score on a two-yard plunge by fullback Mike Dowdle.

But the crushing ground offensive of coach Abe Martin's Horned Frogs, which rolled up 233 yards rushing, took its toll in the last half, and TCU's rock-ribbed defense allowed Texas only one first down in the last two periods.

TCU marched 48 yards, mainly on the bruising runs of Jack Spikes and the jump passing of quarterback Larry Dawson, to score late in the third period. Halfback Marvin Lasater ran wide around right end for the last five yards and the score.

But the big one was Moreland's tricky run that broke Texas and gave TCU the hard-fought victory.

Score by Periods

Texas	2	7	0	0	—9
Texas Christian	0	0	7	7	—14

Scoring summary:

Texas—Safety, Kristynik blocked Terrell punt; Dowdle 2 run Lackey kick).

Texas Christian—Lasater 5 run (R. E. Dodson kick); Moreland 56 run (Dodson kick).

L. Providence, Mangham In 2-B Playoff

MANGHAM, La. (Special) — Holly Ridge principal Edgar Upton, chairman of district 2-B football, announced yesterday that a playoff game between Mangham and Lake Providence would be held after regular season play to determine the conference winners.

Both teams have finished district play with identical records of three wins and one loss. Lake Providence defeated Mangham earlier in the year.

Mangham winds up the regular campaign against Rayville Thursday night at 7:30. The game was originally slated for Friday but was switched at the request of the officials' association.

Betty Passes For 3 Tallies In Terp Win

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Maryland quarterback Dale Betty passed for three touchdowns in a 28-25 upset of defending Atlantic Coast Conference champion Clemson Saturday.

The lanky Betty, from Butler, Pa., took charge from the outset, guiding Maryland's high-powered multiple offense to its third victory of the season against five losses.

He climaxed a 95-yard drive by flipping 17 yards to end Gary Collins for the winning touchdown with about three minutes left.

Clemson, behind nearly all the way, had just gone ahead 25-21 on a 74-yard march, fullback Doug Daignault scoring from the 2.

Clemson twice gambled for two-point converions that could have won the game had they been successful. Both times passes failed.

West Monroe Sets Basketball Meet Wednesday

The West Monroe Recreation Department will begin organization of basketball leagues in a 5:30 meeting Wednesday evening at City Hall.

Two leagues are planned for the winter, a boys league and an adult loop, according to league president Harold Hill.

Hill said the meeting would be limited to team captains and urged captains to call Coach Wilson at the West Monroe gym or K. D. Norris at Norris Style Shop for further details.

Boys 18 before September 1 are eligible for the boys league, all older will play in the adult circuit.

Huskies Near Roses With 20-0 Decision

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Washington's Huskies powered a giant step closer to the Rose Bowl Saturday as hard running backs Ray Jackson and George Fleming paced a 20-0 victory over California.

Jackson, a last minute starting fullback choice, spearheaded a drive of 70 yards in the second quarter and scored from the 1. Fleming's 42-yard punt return return early in the fourth led to the second touchdown and he cut loose with a 41-yard run in the final scoring drive.

A crowd of 38,800 saw California complete its home schedule in Memorial Stadium without a victory. It was the first season since 1897 that a California team hasn't won in Berkeley.

The Huskies' rugged defense throttled the Bear attack and brought Washington its first shutout over a California team in 22 years. It was California's eighth straight defeat, tying its all-time losing streak.

Winning its eighth game against one setback, Washington now needs only a triumph over Washington State at Seattle to clinch the Rose Bowl assignment against the Big Ten champion.

Trio Sparks Pitt Triumph Over Irish

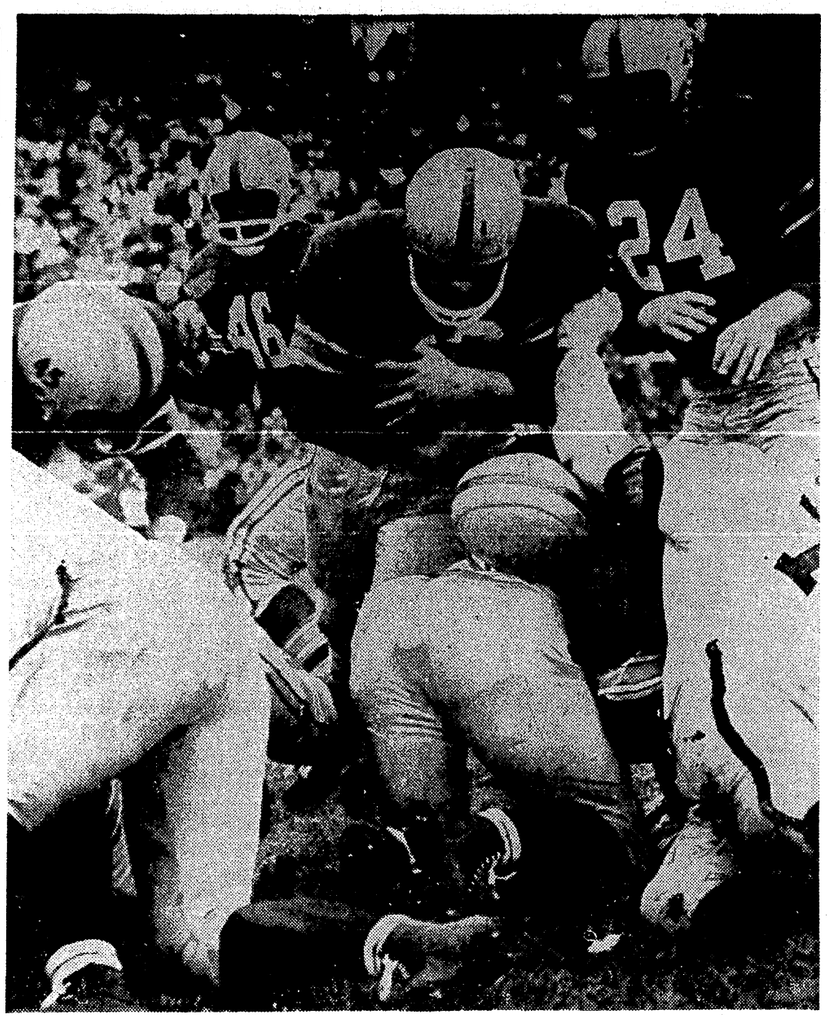
PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Sophomore halfbacks Bob Clemens and Fred Cox, with a big assist from junior fullback Jim Cunningham, brought Pitt a 28-13 triumph over Notre Dame Saturday in an intersectional football battle at Pitt Stadium.

The hard-running trio scored all of Pitt's touchdowns. Clemens raced 64 yards on a punt return in the first quarter, Cox scooted 44 yards in the second period and Cunningham tallied twice in the final stanza.

Bob Scarpitto, junior halfback from Rahway, N.J., snared two touchdown passes for Notre Dame. Don White hit him with a 50-yard toss in the third quarter and George Izo found him with an eight-yard heave in the final period.

A rain-drenched crowd of 52,337 and many more on regional television watched Pitt jump off to a 14-0 lead in the first half and add insult to injury with two more touchdowns in the concluding quarter.

Cunningham, who picked up 101 yards in 22 carries, got his first touchdown on a five-yard end run following a pitchout. He added the second on a three-yard plunge.



OHIO STATE SCORES — Roger Detrick (32), Ohio State fullback, holds the ball to his chest as he plunges over the goal line from the one-yard line in the first quarter against Iowa. Getting a head squeeze is Ohio State's Dick Anders (53). Others are Bob Ferguson (46) and Jerry Fields (24) of Ohio State and John Sawin (78) of Iowa. (AP Wirephoto)

Iowa Rally Turns Back Bucks, 16-7

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Iowa recovered from a case of first half fumbling jitters for a fourth period field goal and touchdown to defeat Ohio State 16-7 Saturday in a Western Conference game before 82,126 fans.

The favored Hawkeyes spotted the Bucks a first period touchdown after Jim Tyrer had recovered Olen Treadway's fumble on the 31, the Bucks requiring eight plays to get the score. Substitute fullback Roger Detrick went over from the 1-foot line.

The Hawks came right back with a 64-yard, seven-play drive by their second unit, with quarterback Wiblurn Hollis passing 13 yards to end Bill Whisler. A run for he extra points failed, and Ohio held its 7-6 lead until well into the fourth quarter. Then Iowa struck twice on long drives.

Halfback Ray Jauch, who fumbled the ball away twice in the first half returned a punt 42 yards to Ohio's 45, and seven plays later Tom Moore booted Iowa into a 9-7 lead with a 26-yard field goal.

Then Ohio started one of its famous drives, and carried to Iowa's 33. There quarterback Jerry Fields fumbled and Curt Merz recovered. With second-string halfback Jerry Mauren eating up 49 yards in two runs, Iowa went the 67 yards in six plays with Mauren scooting over from the 4 for the touchdown which wrapped it up.

The loss marked the first time in Coach Woody Hayes' nine-year regime that the Bucks have lost four games in a season.

Tulsa Dumps North Texas By 17-6 Count

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa smashed North Texas State's vaunted running game with a great defensive play Saturday for a rousing 17-6 upset that knocked the Eagles from the unbeaten ranks and denied them the Missouri Valley Conference's undisputed championship.

Fullback David White and quarterback Jerry Keeling scored Tulsa touchdowns after long drives, and halfback Jack Kreider kicked a 45-yard field goal, longest ever booted by a Hurricane player.

North Texas, the nation's No. 1 rushing team at game time, counted its only points on one quick 65-yard pass play, quarterback Bob Duty to swift Abner Haynes.

Only 6,872 cold-numbed fans saw Tulsa turn in its sharpest performance of the year to retain a chance for a one-third share in the conference title. A Hurricane victory over Wichita Thanksgiving Day would deadlock North Texas, Houston and Tulsa with 3-1 league records.

North Texas' loss ended its winning streak at 10 games, 8 of the victories this year.

Tulsa halted the Eagles' cold at the outset and went 77 yards for a touchdown by White from 1 yard out with only six seconds left in the first quarter.

Kreider's long placement, his first collegiate kick, followed early in the next period. It beat by 4 yards the school's previous record boot by Clyde LeForce against Baylor in 1941.

Guides Stanford To 39-22 Verdict

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Stanford found Oregon State defenders sluggish on end sweeps and sent fullback Spik Face on a 27-point spree that brought Stanford a 39-22 football victory Saturday.

Repeatedly, Stanford quarterback Dick Norman would fake a cutback at end, then pitch out to Face, who romped behind halfback Mac Wylie's blocking for sizeable gains.

'UNABASHED OPTIMISM'

Greenies Expect Good Cage Team

NEW ORLEANS, La. (Special) — When fall shadows deepen into winter, a young man's fancy is apt to turn to basketball. This is true at Tulane and countless other schools and universities across the land.

At Tulane, there is a strong tide of unabashed optimism as venerable Green Wave Coach Cliff Wells charts the course for his 15th campaign here. Experience, height, depth, cleverness, youthful exuberance - all these abound at Tulane.

To the Wave fold return six lettermen, including four forwards, a center, and a guard. This is the core around which Wells plans to fashion a contender.

Leading the returnees is senior center Vic Klinker, 6'5, Lafayette Ind., All Southeastern Conference last season. Vic has scored 656 points in two years of varsity play.

Another key man in Wells' plans is senior guard Dick O'Brien, East St. Louis, Ill. Dick probably will be called upon to engineer the Wave offense.

Nowhere is depth more apparent than forward where junior starter Gus Wenzel, 6'5, New Orleans, Al O'Brien, Chicago, Louie Anderson, 6'4, South Bend, Ind., and Ron Mitchell, 6'3 return.

But if the Greenies are to shoot into contention the principal propulsion must come from the upcoming crop of sophomores.

In pivotman Jack Ardon, 6'9, Tulane has one of the most sought after prep players in the country. An All-American at Lakewood, N. J. High, Jack led last year's bumper freshman team with a 20.8 production average. The frosh swept impressively to 13 wins in 15 outings, both losses coming by one point.

Other promising sophomores are forwards Dale Cloak, 6'4, Ford City, Pa. and Larry Getts, 6'4, Garrett, Ind., and guards Norm Delph, Anderson, Ind., Bob March, Star City, Ind., and Rex Krider Middlebury, Ind.

The Greenies open their 1959-60 season here December 1 against Alabama State.

Title Match Heads Local Mat Program

Championship wrestling returns to B&B Arena Monday night when newly - crowned state champ Mickey Sharp risks his belt against ex- titleholder Firpo Zybysko in the main event of a three - bout card.

Ken Cooper faces The Bat in a "grudge" match which takes semi-final billing. In a 15-minute, one-fall opener, Harvey Cole and Duke Scarbo tangle.

The main event will have an hour time limit and the semi-final a 45- minute limit. Both are scheduled for two out of three falls.

Sharp won the state championship two weeks ago in an elimination bout in New Orleans. The previous titleholder, Chris Belkas, left the state, and gave up the belt.

Zybysko lost the title to Belkas in a New Orleans bout some time ago and has been clamoring for another try ever since.

Claiming he got a raw deal last week, Cooper requested a rematch with The Bat, a masked Monroyan, and promoter August Baumgartner got it.

Cooper says he had the Bat beaten with a crab hold when his opponent's partner, Scarbo, jumped into the ring and shoved him. him.

Ken wants a shot at the masked man with nobody to bother him.

"Without Scarbo to help him, I'll tear The Bat up," says Ken.

Texas Tech Tops Houston

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Reserve quarterback Glen Amerson passed for two touchdowns and ran for two Saturday as Texas Tech slammed Houston 27-0 in a Homecoming game.

Amerson received terrific help from junior end Don Waygood, who caught a 1-yard touchdown pass, recovered a fumbled Houston punt and another fumble that led to touchdowns.

Amerson got his big chance when starting quarterback Ken Talkington injured his knee in the first period.

WESTERN NFL

49ers Need Victory Today To Grab Favorites Role

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, surprise team of the National Football League season, will become favorites to win the Western Division title if they whip the Bears at Chicago in Sunday's top game.

San Francisco (6-1) leads the second - place Baltimore Colts (4-3) by two games. The Forty-Niners, who began a tough, four-game road jaunt last Sunday by defeating the Los Angeles Rams, will assure themselves of returning home with at least a share of first place if they defeat the Bears.

After the Bears, the Forty-Niners, two-point underdogs for the game at Wrigley Field, tackle the Colts at Baltimore and the Browns at Cleveland before ending their regular season at home against the Colts and Green Bay Packers.

In Sunday's other key games, the Colts are 9½ point choices to down the Packers (3-4) at Milwaukee, the New York Giants (6-1) are favored over the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers (2-4-1) by 7½ and the Browns (5-2) are favored over the Redskins (3-4) by nine at Washington.

The Colts, defending league and Western Division champions, will try to snap a two-game losing streak when they meet the Packers. New York, with quarterbacks Charley Conerly and George Shaw nursing injuries, leads Cleveland by a game in the Eastern race.

Los Angeles (2-5) is favored over the Lions (1-5-1) by two points at Detroit and the Eagles (4-3) are four-point choices to defeat the Chicago Cardinals (2-5) at Philadelphia in the other games.

Each of Sunday's six games matches teams that have met already this season. This puts heavy pressure on the winners of those previous meetings because NFL clubs find it hard to sweep their annual home-and-home series with division rivals.

The Forty-Niners, for example, edged the Bears at San Francisco, 20-17. San Francisco won when Y. A. Tittle completed a 46-yard pass to R. C. Owens in the final seconds.

Coach George Halas expects his Bears to be stronger Sunday because two of his offensive stars, halfback Willie Galimore and end Harlon Hill, are in better physical condition than they were in recent weeks. San Francisco has a well-balanced squad that leads the league in scoring while allowing only 88 points.

The Colts thumped the Packers in their first meeting this year, 38-21. That contest in Baltimore was close until third-period interceptions, coupled with the passing of John Unitas, helped the Colts break the game open.

New York plays host to a club it worked hard to edge last month at Pittsburgh, 21-16. The Steelers failed to make a first down by about six inches in the final minutes of that game. If Conerly and Shaw are unable to play Sunday, Don Heinrich will do the quarterbacking for the Giants.

Cleveland downed Washington, 34-7, last month but the Redskins were badly crippled in that game. Jim Brown, Cleveland's fullback, leads the league in rushing with 862 yards and in scoring with 60 points. Cleveland has allowed only 86 points while Washington has given up the most, 195.

New York, San Francisco and Cleveland also have winning streaks to pit against the law of averages. New York has won five in a row while San Francisco and Cleveland boast four - game streaks.

Detroit is an underdog at home against a Los Angeles team it upset in California, 17 - 7. The Eagles entertain the Cardinal team they defeated last month at Milwaukee, 28-24, erasing a 24-0 deficit to win.

Frogs Tag Steers With First Loss

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian whipped previously unbeaten Texas 14-9 Saturday on a 56-yard scoring dash by Harry Moreland, and the loss by the No. 2 ranked Longhorns snarled the host half of the Cotton Bowl picture.

Undefeated Syracuse accepted a Cotton Bowl bid a short time earlier after overwhelming Colgate 71-0.

Arkansas—a 13-12 loser to Texas this season—bounced into the lead with a 5-1 record in the Southwest Conference, which sends its champion to the Jan. 1 game in Dallas, by tripping Southern Methodist 17-14.

But Texas still can got to the Cotton Bowl by beating Texas A&M in the season final Thanksgiving Day, even if the Longhorns wind up in a three-way tie for the league crown. That's because both Arkansas and TCU have played in the New Year's game since Texas' last visit.

The upset victory by the power-laden Horned Frogs broke Texas' nine-game victory string and kept alive Texas Christian's hopes for a Southwest Conference championship and a Cotton Bowl berth against Syracuse on New Year's Day.

Texas Christian overcame a 9-0 halftime lead built up by Texas and registered two second half touchdowns in freezing weather before 45,000 fans in Memorial Stadium.

It was all Texas in the first half as the Longhorns tallied a safety and drove 45 yards in eight plays to score on a two-yard plunge by fullback Mike Dowdle.

But the crushing ground offensive of coach Abe Martin's Horned Frogs, which rolled up 233 yards rushing, took its toll in the last half, and TCU's rock-ribbed defense allowed Texas only one first down in the last two periods.

TCU marched 48 yards, mainly on the bruising runs of Jack Spikes and the jump passing of quarterback Larry Dawson, to score late in the third period. Halfback Marvin Lasater ran wide around right end for the last five yards and the score.

But the big one was Moreland's tricky run that broke Texas and gave TCU the hard-fought victory.

Score by Periods

Texas	2	7	0	0	—9
Texas Christian	0	0	7	7	—14

Scoring summary:

Texas—Safety, Kristynik blocked Terrell punt; Dowdle 2 run Lackey kick).

Texas Christian—Lasater 5 run (R. E. Dodson kick); Moreland 56 run (Dodson kick).

L. Providence, Mangham In 2-B Playoff

MANGHAM, La. (Special) — Holly Ridge principal Edgar Upton, chairman of district 2-B football, announced yesterday that a playoff game between Mangham and Lake Providence would be held after regular season play to determine the conference winners.

Both teams have finished district play with identical records of three wins and one loss. Lake Providence defeated Mangham earlier in the year.

Mangham winds up the regular campaign against Rayville Thursday night at 7:30. The game was originally slated for Friday but was switched at the request of the officials' association.

Betty Passes For 3 Tallies In Terp Win

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Maryland quarterback Dale Betty passed for three touchdowns in a 28-25 upset of defending Atlantic Coast Conference champion Clemson Saturday.

The lanky Betty, from Butler, Pa., took charge from the outset, guiding Maryland's high-powered multiple offense to its third victory of the season against five losses.

He climaxed a 95-yard drive by flipping 17 yards to end Gary Collins for the winning touchdown with about three minutes left.

Clemson, behind nearly all the way, had just gone ahead 25-21 on a 74-yard march, fullback Doug Daignault scoring from the 2.

Clemson twice gambled for two-point converions that could have won the game had they been successful. Both times passes failed.

Huskies Near Roses With 20-0 Decision

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Washington's Huskies powered a giant step closer to the Rose Bowl Saturday as hard running backs Ray Jackson and George Fleming paced a 20-0 victory over California.

Jackson, a last minute starting fullback choice, spearheaded a drive of 70 yards in the second quarter and scored from the 1. Fleming's 42-yard punt return return early in the fourth led to the second touchdown and he cut loose with a 41-yard run in the final scoring drive.

A crowd of 38,800 saw California complete its home schedule in Memorial Stadium without a victory. It was the first season since 1897 that a California team hasn't won in Berkeley.

The Huskies' rugged defense throttled the Bear attack and brought Washington its first shutout over a California team in 22 years. It was California's eighth straight defeat, tying its all-time losing streak.

Winning its eighth game against one setback, Washington now needs only a triumph over Washington State at Seattle to clinch the Rose Bowl assignment against the Big Ten champion.

West Monroe Sets Basketball Meet Wednesday

The West Monroe Recreation Department will begin organization of basketball leagues in a 5:30 meeting Wednesday evening at City Hall.

Two leagues are planned for the winter, a boys league and an adult loop, according to league president Harold Hill.

Hill said the meeting would be limited to team captains and urged captains to call Coach Wilson at the West Monroe gym or K. D. Norris at Norris Style Shop for further details.

Boys 18 before September 1 are eligible for the boys league, all older will play in the adult circuit.

Trio Sparks Pitt Triumph Over Irish

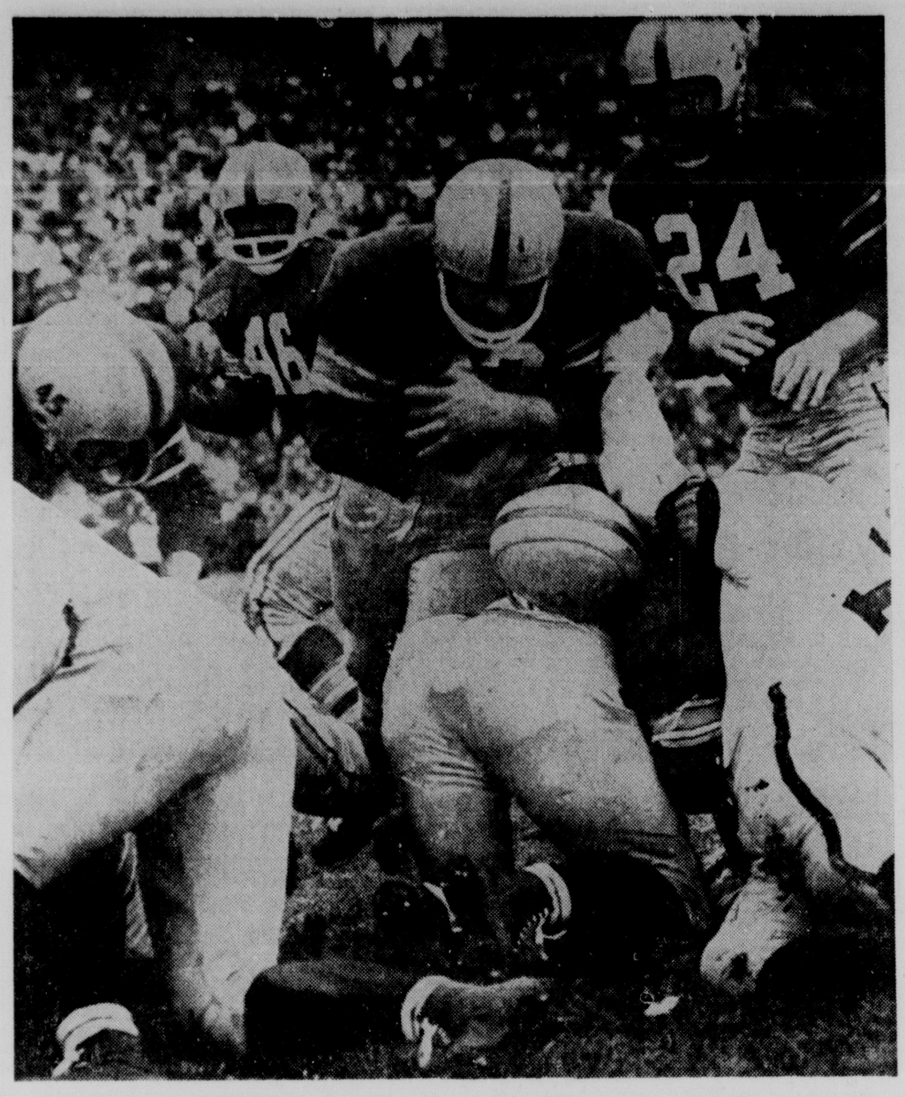
PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Sophomore halfbacks Bob Clemens and Fred Cox, with a big assist from junior fullback Jim Cunningham, brought Pitt a 28-13 triumph over Notre Dame Saturday in an intersectional football battle at Pitt Stadium.

The hard-running trio scored all of Pitt's touchdowns. Clemens raced 64 yards on a punt return in the first quarter, Cox scooted 44 yards in the second period and Cunningham tallied twice in the final stanza.

Bob Scarpitto, junior halfback from Rahway, N.J., snared two touchdown passes for Notre Dame. Don White hit him with a 50-yard toss in the third quarter and George Izo found him with an eight-yard heave in the final period.

A rain-drenched crowd of 52,337 and many more on regional television watched Pitt jump off to a 14-0 lead in the first half and add insult to injury with two more touchdowns in the concluding quarter.

Cunningham, who picked up 101 yards in 22 carries, got his first touchdown on a five-yard end run following a pitchout. He added the second on a three-yard plunge.



OHIO STATE SCORES — Roger Detrick (32), Ohio State fullback, holds the ball to his chest as he plunges over the goal line from the one-yard line in the first quarter against Iowa. Getting a head squeeze is Ohio State's Dick Anders (53). Others are Bob Ferguson (46) and Jerry Fields (24) of Ohio State and John Sawin (78) of Iowa. (AP Wirephoto)

Iowa Rally Turns Back Bucks, 16-7

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Iowa recovered from a case of first half fumbling jitters for a fourth period field goal and touchdown to defeat Ohio State 16-7 Saturday in a Western Conference game before 82,126 fans.

The favored Hawkeyes spotted the Bucks a first period touchdown after Jim Tyrer had recovered Olen Treadway's fumble on the 31, the Bucks requiring eight plays to get the score. Substitute fullback Roger Detrick went over from the 1-foot line.

The Hawks came right back with a 64-yard, seven-play drive by their second unit, with quarterback Wiblurn Hollis passing 13 yards to end Bill Whisler. A run for he extra points failed, and Ohio held its 7-6 lead until well into the fourth quarter. Then Iowa struck twice on long drives.

Halfback Ray Jauch, who fumbled the ball away twice in the first half, returned a punt 42 yards to Ohio's 45, and seven plays later Tom Moore booted Iowa into a 9-7 lead with a 26-yard field goal.

Then Ohio started one of its famous drives, and carried to Iowa's 33. There quarterback Jerry Fields fumbled and Curt Merz recovered. With second-string halfback Jerry Mauren eating up 49 yards in two runs, Iowa went the 67 yards in six plays with Mauren scooting over from the 4 for the touchdown which wrapped it up.

The loss marked the first time in Coach Woody Hayes' nine-year regime that the Bucks have lost four games in a season.

Tulsa Dumps North Texas By 17-6 Count

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa smashed North Texas State's vaunted running game with a great defensive play Saturday for a rousing 17-6 upset that knocked the Eagles from the unbeaten ranks and denied them the Missouri Valley Conference's undisputed championship.

Fullback David White and quarterback Jerry Keeling scored Tulsa touchdowns after long drives, and halfback Jack Kreider kicked a 45-yard field goal, longest ever booted by a Hurricane player.

North Texas, the nation's No. 1 rushing team at game time, counted its only points on one quick 65-yard pass play, quarterback Bob Duty to swift Abner Haynes.

Only 6,872 cold-numbed fans saw Tulsa turn in its sharpest performance of the year to retain a chance for a one-third share in the conference title. A Hurricane victory over Wichita Thanksgiving Day would deadlock North Texas, Houston and Tulsa with 3-1 league records.

North Texas' loss ended its winning streak at 10 games, 8 of the victories this year.

Tulsa halted the Eagles' cold at the outset and went 77 yards for a touchdown by White from 1 yard out with only six seconds left in the first quarter.

Kreider's long placement, his first collegiate kick, followed early in the next period. It beat by 4 yards the school's previous record boot by Clyde LeForce against Baylor in 1941.

Guides Stanford To 39-22 Verdict

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Stanford found Oregon State defenders sluggish on end sweeps and sent fullback Spik Face on a 27-point spree that brought Stanford a 39-22 football victory Saturday.

Repeatedly, Stanford quarterback Dick Norman would fake a cutback at end, then pitch out to Face, who romped behind halfback Mac Wylie's blocking for sizeable gains.

'UNABASHED OPTIMISM'

Greenies Expect Good Cage Team

NEW ORLEANS, La. (Special) — When fall shadows deepen into winter, a young man's fancy is apt to turn to basketball. This is true at Tulane and countless other schools and universities across the land.

At Tulane, there is a strong tide of unabashed optimism as venerable Green Wave Coach Cliff Wells charts the course for his 15th campaign here. Experience, height, depth, cleverness, youthful exuberance - all these abound at Tulane.

To the Wave fold return six lettermen, including four forwards, a center, and a guard. This is the core around which Wells plans to fashion a contender.

Leading the returnees is senior center Vic Klinker, 6'5, Lafayette Ind., All Southeastern Conference last season. Vic has scored 656 points in two years of varsity play.

Another key man in Wells' plans is senior guard Dick O'Brien, East St. Louis, Ill. Dick probably will be called upon to engineer the Wave offense.

Nowhere is depth more apparent than forward where junior starter Gus Wenzel, 6'5, New Orleans, Al O'Brien, Chicago, Louie Anderson, 6'4, South Bend, Ind., and Ron Mitchell, 6'3 return.

But if the Greenies are to shoot into contention the principal propulsion must come from the upcoming crop of sophomores.

In pivotman Jack Ardon, 6'9, Tulane has one of the most sought after prep players in the country. An All-American at Lakewood, N. J. High, Jack led last year's bumper freshman team with a 20.8 production average. The frosh swept impressively to 13 wins in 15 outings, both losses coming by one point.

Other promising sophomores are forwards Dale Cloak, 6'4, Ford City, Pa. and Larry Getts, 6'4, Garrett, Ind., and guards Norm Delph, Anderson, Ind., Bob March, Star City, Ind., and Rex Krider Middlebury, Ind.

The Greenies open their 1959-60 season here December 1 against Alabama State.

Title Match Heads Local Mat Program

Championship wrestling returns to B&B Arena Monday night when newly - crowned state champ Mickey Sharp risks his belt against ex- titleholder Firpo Zybysko in the main event of a three - bout card.

Ken Cooper faces The Bat in a "grudge" match which takes semi-final billing. In a 15-minute, one-fall opener, Harvey Cole and Duke Scarbo tangle.

The main event will have an hour time limit and the semi-final a 45- minute limit. Both are scheduled for two out of three falls.

Sharp won the state championship two weeks ago in an elimination bout in New Orleans. The previous titleholder, Chris Belkas, left the state, and gave up the belt.

Zybysko lost the title to Belkas in a New Orleans bout some time ago and has been clamoring for another try ever since.

Claiming he got a raw deal last week, Cooper requested a rematch with The Bat, a masked Monroyan, and promoter August Baumgartner got it.

Cooper says he had the Bat beaten with a crab hold when his opponent's partner, Scarbo, jumped into the ring and shoved him. him.

Ken wants a shot at the masked man with nobody to bother him.

"Without Scarbo to help him, I'll tear The Bat up," says Ken.

Texas Tech Tops Houston

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Reserve quarterback Glen Amerson passed for two touchdowns and ran for two Saturday as Texas Tech slammed Houston 27-0 in a Homecoming game.

Amerson received terrific help from junior end Don Waygood, who caught a 1-yard touchdown pass, recovered a fumbled Houston punt and another fumble that led to touchdowns.

Amerson got his big chance when starting quarterback Ken Talkington injured his knee in the first period.

BIRD LEADS ROUT

Kentucky Mauls Xavier, 41 To 0

By JOHN G. DIETRICH

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Calvin Bird, who leads the nation in kickoff returns, ran one back 89 yards for a touchdown Saturday to highlight Kentucky's easily won 41-0 victory over Xavier.

Bird's sprint down the right sidelines with the second half kickoff, and his subsequent conversion kick, gave Kentucky a 21-0 lead that spelled the end of any hopes Xavier had to upset the Wildcats.

Quarterback Lowell Hughes had given Kentucky a 14-0 halftime lead with a well-sharpened passing attack that netted him seven completions in nine attempts for 119 yards, accounting for one touchdown and setting up another in the first two periods.

End Ronnie Can personally accounted for Kentucky's fourth touchdown when he broke through to pick off an attempted screen pass by Xavier quarterback Ron Costello, and run right past the startled passer for 48 yards midway in the third period.

Kentucky's final scores came in the fourth period on passes by Jevry Eisaman, one for 46 yards to end Charlie Vaughn and the other for 14 yards to fullback Gary Cochran.

Kentucky went 67 yards for its first touchdown on 12 plays, a pass from Hughes to end Tom Rodgers covered half the distance, and another Hughes toss to end Dick Mueller carried to the one, from where fullback Glenn Shaw rammed over and Bird converted.

Xavier pushed to the Kentucky 25 late in the first period but Kentucky's secondary broke up three straight Costello passes and took over on downs.

From there the Wildcats drove to a second touchdown, with Hughes connecting on five passes en route, three of them to Bird. The score came on a 10-yard pitch over the middle to halfback Charlie Sturgeon.

Score by Periods

Kentucky	7	7	14	13	—41

Scoring Summary

Kentucky — Shaw one plunge (bird kick); Sturgeon 10 pass from Hughes (bird kick); Bird 89 run (bird kick); Cain 48 interception return (Butler kick); Vaughn 46 pass from Eisaman (kick failed); Cochran 14 pass from Eisaman (Johns kick).

Kansas Cops 28-14 Verdict Over Cowboys

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas scored the first two times it got the ball, threw up an effective defense against the highly regarded Oklahoma State passing attack and coasted to a 28-14 victory over the Cowboys Saturday.

The non-conference victory gave Kansas a 5-4 record and left only next week's Missouri game for the Orange Bowl bid on the Jayhawker slate.

Quarterback Dick Soergel, Oklahoma State's passing ace, was injured in the first half and saw no service in the second.

Kansas marched 58 yards to score after taking the opening kickoff. Halfback John Hadl went the final 32 yards.

The second Jayhawk drive covered 49 yards with halfback Curtis McClinton and quarterback Bill Crank collaborating on the 41-yard scoring play. Crank ran for about three yards, then lateraled to McClinton, who raced the other 38 untouched.

KU's clinching third touchdown resulted when end John Peppercorn blocked a Larry Bahner punt an guard Dick Rohlf grabbed it out of the air on the Cowboy's 2. then took two steps into the end zone.

Orioles Slate 59 Arc Games Next Season

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles announced Saturday their 1960 American League schedule will include a record 59 night games. The club also said box and lower deck reserved seats will cost more.

General Manager Lee MacPhail said the club will open the season at home for only the second time since its return to the majors seven years ago, playing the Washington Senators on April 19.

The 59 night games are six more than the previous league high of 53, scheduled by Kansas City last season. The previous Oriole high was 48 in 1958.

MacPhail announced tickets for box seats next season will cost $3 and those for lower deck reserved seats $2.25, each up 25 cents. He said higher operating necessitated the increase but Oriole prices will still be lower than those of some clubs and no higher than those of most major league teams.

Tars Hand Virginia 17th Straight Loss

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Carolina broke two Atlantic Coast Conference records Saturday in defeating Virginia, 41-0.

The outclassed Cavaliers were unable to muster a serious threat as they went down to their 17th straight defeat over the past two seasons. North Carolina boosted its mark to four victories in nine games.

Senior Wade Smith, playing his last Kenan Stadium game, drew most of the cheers from the crowd of 21,000.

North Carolina's 32 first downs and 583 yards gained, in the air and on the ground, set two conference records. The previous first down high, 30, was set by both Duke and Clemson in 1957. The old yardage mark was held by Clemson, which gained 531 in 1954 against The Citadel. The previous North Carolina yardage total was 519, set in 1947 against Virginia.

Smith, a stocky halfback, scored two touchdowns and sparked a Tar Heel first team which tallied four of the six touchdowns.

Quarterback Jack Cummins, another senior, toss a 50-yard scoring pass to Milan Wall in the final quarter for the most spectacular thrust of the afternoon.

Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey used his reserves freely.

Owls Erase Safety For 7-2 Victory

HOUSTON, (E(— Gordon Speer, a speedy 196-pound halfback, returned a punt 60 yards on the last play of the third quarter Saturday to enable the Rice Owls to erase a freak safety and come from behind to defeat Texas A&M, 7-2 and shove the Aggies deeper into the Southwest Conference cellar.

A crowd of 35,000 had seen the Aggies turn a first quarter windswept blocked punt into a 2-0 lead that looked large enoughfor a victory until Speer broke loose on his long run.

A strong north wind with gusts of 25 miles an hour contributed to the safety after Raph Smith, the Aggie left end, crushed through to partially block Speer's punt from the Rice 1.

The punt travelled only to the 10-yard line, where the wind stopped it momentarily and then pushed the ball back into the end zone. Billy Bucek, the Ricequarterback, covered the ball.

Bowl-Bound Mississippi Stuns Vols With 37-7 Win

By ESCAR THOMPSON

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mississippi's bowl - bound juggernaut crushed Tennessee 37-7 Saturday on the running of fullback Charlie Flowers and the passing of quarterback Jake Gibbs.

An overflow crowd of 32,512 saw the fifth-ranked Rebels tore loose an awesome display of power that had the outclassed Vols reeling at the end.

The victory was Mississippi's eighth against one loss—a 7-3 decision to Louisiana State, 1958 national champions. Tennessee upset LSU 14-13 last week.

Bowl scouts obviously saw enough to prompt them to hustle to the Rebels' doorstep with postseason invitations.

Flowers, Ole Miss' All-America candidate, was unstoppable on power plays and off-tackle slants. He piled up 168 yards on 26 carries through the Tennessee line, with his longest run covering 34 yards.

Gibbs riddled Tennessee's secondary with bullet - like passes which produced two touchdowns and set up another.

Mississippi scored in every period and in the final quarter turned what had been a fairly even contest into a rout. The Rebels blasted across for three touchdowns in the fourth.

Mississippi marched 70 yards for a TD the second time it got the ball with Flowers plunging from the 1 to cap the drive. Bob Khayat kicked thefirs t of four extra points from placement.

Tennessee bounced back and tied the score at 7-7 in the second stanza after tackle Lebron Shields blocked Flowers' quick kick and end Mike LaSorsa recovered on the Rebels' 7. Tailback Glenn Glass smashed seven yards off tackle for the touchdown. Cotton Letner converted.

With only 22 seconds left before the halftime intermission, Gibbs passed 32 yards to halfback Jimmie Howell on Tennessee's 25. Khayat then kicked a 43-yard field goal to put Ole Miss ahead 10-7 at the rest period.

The Rebels marched 38 yards in six plays for their second sixpointer, Gibbs tossing seven yards to halfback Dewey Partridge in the end zone.

Gibbs got into the scoring column early in the first quarter, racing 14 yards on a rollout play to climax a 76-yard march.

Jimmie Anderson, subbing for Flowers, plunged over from the 2 for the Rebe's' fourth TD.

A poor kick by Glass set up Ole Miss' fifth touchdown. The wobbly boot was caught by Cowboy Woodruff, who ran it back 36 yards to the Tennessee 4. After a penalty set Mississippi back, Gibbs passed seven yard to Daniels for the score.

Ole Miss rolled up 283 yards on the ground and added 153 more on passes to amass a total of 436. Tennessee picked up 86 rushing and 57 on passes.

The setback left Tennessee with a 5-2-1 record.

Penn State Romps Past Holy Cross

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., (AP) —Richie Lucas set a Penn State all-time individual offense record Saturday in leading the once beaten Nittany Lions to a 46-0 romp over an outclassed Holy Cross team.

The Glassport, Pa., senior quarterback, passed and ran for 216 yards against the Crusaders in a handsome comeback for the 10th ranking team in the nation. He scored one touchdown and passed for another.

Coach Rip Engle's gridders, obviously courting a bowl bid, ran upnthe score almost at will behind Lucas' quarterbacking. Penn State's only loss was last week's thriller to top ranking Syracuse. Until Saturday, Syracuse was also the only team to beat Holy Cross.

Lucas' was at his best in the second quarter when a beautifully thrown pass to end John Bocizk gained 70 yards to set up State's third touchdown.

It sent Lucas' offensive yardage for the year to 1,121—best in the 72-year-football history at State. By the final gun his yardage amounted to 1,184. The previous record was 1,032 in 1954, by Lennie Moore, star halfback of the Baltimore Colts.

Lucas also threw a 69-yard pass to Bob Mitinger, a 12-yard scoring pass in the third quarter to Mitinger and ran three yards once himself for a TD.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Roger Cirone, a slim 165-pound halfback, scored two touchdowns and led Brown to a surprising 16-6 upset of heavily favored Harvard in an Ivy League game Saturay. It was Brown's first league victory of the year.

Northwestern (La) State College takes on Hardin-Simmons while host Centenary meets George Washington University of Washington, D.C., in two lower bracket first rounders.

The tourney consists of six sessions—two games each afternoon and two each evening. The championship game is scheduled the evening of Dec. 30, following the third-place contest.

JOE TIPTON

Ex-Major League Catcher Banished From Baseball

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Tipton, an American League catcher for eight years, has been banished for life from employment by any minor league club.

The action was announced today by George Trautman, head of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Tipton's banishment came after a hearing last August when he said he received two payments for hitting foul balls in a game at Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. in 1957. Tipton then was with Birmingham.

Trautman's report quoted Tipton as saying he was paid $50 in Chattanooga by Jesse Levan, a Chattanooga player who has since been banned from minor league play for his gambling activities. Tipton said he received the second payment of $75 in the mail after he had returned to Birmingham.

Both payments, the veteran of 18 years of pro ball said, resulted from his acquiesence in a proposal made him by Levan that he would be paid if he deliberately hit a foul ball when at bat.

Trautman said his office had been told that Tipton had acted as a liaison for a gambler. The former catcher admitted that he was approached with such a deal but said he refused the offer.

Tipton's baseball career began in 1941 and he retired in 1958.

He played in the American League from 1948 to 1954 with Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago and Washington.

In other results of hearings held last summer in connection with Southern Assn. gambling, Trautman said four players with the Dallas and Houston clubs, whose names were not disclosed, were questioned, but all but one said they knew nothing of any bribes or offers.

The one exception said in 1953 he was approached on a street corner by a man who offered him $700 to hit three foul balls in a game. The player said he laughed it off and said nothing of it because "at the time I thought he (the man making the offer) was joking."

Trautman said no action was taken against this player because he apparently at the time did not know of the importance.

The minor league boss also said he has rejected an attempt by Levan for reinstatement.

Trautman said that in a hearing on Aug. 13, Levan told of a meeting he had with a gambler early in the 1959 season at which time he and other unnamed players allegedly discussed a proposition under which both games of a Chattanooga-Mobile doubleheader would be lost intentionally. The former Chattanooga shortstop said he and the other players involved decided to ignore the offer.

The other players questioned, however, refused to confirm Levan's story, Trautman said.

Bulldogs Upset Plainsmen In Final 30 Seconds, 14-13

By MERCER BAILEY

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Francis Tarkenton's 13-yard pass carried Georgia to a touchdown in the final 30 seconds Saturday and the fabulous Bulldogs upset mighty Auburn 14-13. The victory clinched the Southeastern Conference championship for Georgia and virtually assured a bowl trip.

Durward Pennington, a placement specialist, kicked one of the most pressure-packed conversions he'll ever kick and the overflow crowd of an estimated 54,000 went absolutely wild.

Tarkenton's pinpoint passing to fullback Don Soderdash and end Bill Herron snatched victory from defeat. On fourth down—and no hope for the future if this play didn't work—Tarkenton dropped back, Georgia receivers flashed out and Tarkenton spotted Herron wide open in the left-hand corner of the end zone.

This was one of the most exciting game ever played on Sanford Field, home of this miraculous crew of Bulldogs who were picked no better than ninth in the league before the season started.

Guard Pat Dye, a line hero this warm cloudy day, recovered a fumble by Bobby Hunt at the Auburn 35 to set up Georgia's last gasp surge goalward. And the Bulldogs simply wouldn't be stopped.

Auburn turned two Georgia mistakes into long field goals by fullback Ed Dyas in the first half and Georgia edged out front 7-6 late in the third period on Charlie Britt's 39-yard touchdown sprint with a punt.

Then came the play which could have broken Georgia's back—but didn't. Britt backed up and blocked a punt by his teammate Bobby Walden and Auburn recovered at the 1.

Bryant Harvard scored on the first play and gave Auburn a 13-7 lead with only 7½ minutes left.

Auburn, ranked No. 8 in the Associated Press poll, entered the game a three-point favorite over the Bulldogs, rated No. 12.

No matter what happens in Georgia's final game against Georgia Tech Nov. 28, the Bulldogs have the SEC title locked up. They are now 6-0 in the league and 8-1 over-all. Auburn is 4-2 in the SEC and 7-2 over-all.

This is Georgia's first conference title since 1948 and-discounting a trip to the ill-fated Presidential Cup game in 1950—the bowl trip that's sure to follow will be the first since that championship year.

Tarkenton, Britt, Herron, and Pennington put the points on the scoreboard. But an out-weighed Georgia line that fought like Wildcats deserves credit by the carload. Dye and his guard buddy, Billy Roland, tackle Larry Lancaster, end Jimmy Vickers and Gorden Kelley, centers Dude Thompson and Phil Ashe were among the most best.

Tackle Billy Wilson, guard Heywood Warrick, end Joe Lleichtnam and end Dave Edards were stickouts for the losing Plainsmen.

YALE WINS

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Yale caught fire after a two-man, 97-yard kickoff return and scored 23 points in the second quarter to beat Princeton 38-20 in their 82nd football meeting Saturday. Lou Muller and Nick Kangas collaborated on the kickoff reverse play that broke open the game.

Tech Cagers Prepping For ETS Opener

RUSTON (Special) — With the basketball season only about two weeks away, Louisiana Tech's cagers are getting set for their season opener with East Texas State. The two teams will clash at Ruston on Dec. 1.

Bulldog cage fans are urged to purchase as soon as possible season tickets for the 12 games to be played at Ruston. Tickets are now on sale at Tech's Memorial Gymnasium.

Persons who held reserved sets last season will be able to claim the game seat if they purchase their tickets sometime during the coming week.

Defending champions of the Gulf States Conference, the Techsters will play a 23-game schedule this winter that puts them up against cage quintets from eight states. Last season the Bulldogs captured the GSC title with a 9-1 won-loss record and they racked up a 21-4 season mark.

Purdue Outlasts Minnesota, 29-23

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue clustered three touchdowns in the second quarter Saturday—and needed all of them to outlast Minnesota 29-23.

Purdue quarterback Ross Fichtner twice intercepted Minnesota passes at crucial moments, running one 66 yards for a touchdown and breaking up a promising Gopher drive in the last two minutes of the game.

Two Minnesota mistakes in the last 81 seconds of the second quarter let Purdue pick up 15 quick points to break a 7-7 tie and have a working margin in the bruising second half.

Purdue guard John Ciccone grabbed fullback Tom Robbins' fumble on the Minnesota 29 and set up Clyde Washington's 10-yard scoring run three plays later. Then Minnesota quarterback Larry Johnson threw into Fichtner's hands.

BIRD LEADS ROUT

Kentucky Mauls Xavier, 41 To 0

By JOHN G. DIETRICH

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Calvin Bird, who leads the nation in kickoff returns, ran one back 89 yards for a touchdown Saturday to highlight Kentucky's easily won 41-0 victory over Xavier.

Bird's sprint down the right sidelines with the second half kickoff, and his subsequent conversion kick, gave Kentucky a 21-0 lead that spelled the end of any hopes Xavier had to upset the Wildcats.

Quarterback Lowell Hughes had given Kentucky a 14-0 halftime lead with a well-sharpened passing attack that netted him seven completions in nine attempts for 119 yards, accounting for one touchdown and setting up another in the first two periods.

End Ronnie Can personally accounted for Kentucky's fourth touchdown when he broke through to pick off an attempted screen pass by Xavier quarterback Ron Costello, and run right past the startled passer for 48 yards midway in the third period.

Kentucky's final scores came in the fourth period on passes by Jevry Eisaman, one for 46 yards to end Charlie Vaughn and the other for 14 yards to fullback Gary Cochran.

Kentucky went 67 yards for its first touchdown on 12 plays, a pass from Hughes to end Tom Rodgers covered half the distance, and another Hughes toss to end Dick Mueller carried to the one, from where fullback Glenn Shaw rammed over and Bird converted.

Xavier pushed to the Kentucky 25 late in the first period but Kentucky's secondary broke up three straight Costello passes and took over on downs.

From there the Wildcats drove to a second touchdown, with Hughes connecting on five passes en route, three of them to Bird. The score came on a 10-yard pitch over the middle to halfback Charlie Sturgeon.

Score by Periods

Kentucky	7	7	14	13	—41

Scoring Summary

Kentucky — Shaw one plunge (bird kick); Sturgeon 10 pass from Hughes (bird kick); Bird 89 run (bird kick); Cain 48 interception return (Butler kick); Vaughn 46 pass from Eisaman (kick failed); Cochran 14 pass from Eisaman (Johns kick).

Tars Hand Virginia 17th Straight Loss

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Carolina broke two Atlantic Coast Conference records Saturday in defeating Virginia, 41-0.

The outclassed Cavaliers were unable to muster a serious threat as they went down to their 17th straight defeat over the past two seasons. North Carolina boosted its mark to four victories in nine games.

Senior Wade Smith, playing his last Kenan Stadium game, drew most of the cheers from the crowd of 21,000.

North Carolina's 32 first downs and 583 yards gained, in the air and on the ground, set two conference records. The previous first down high, 30, was set by both Duke and Clemson in 1957. The old yardage mark was held by Clemson, which gained 531 in 1954 against The Citadel. The previous North Carolina yardage total was 519, set in 1947 against Virginia.

Smith, a stocky halfback, scored two touchdowns and sparked a Tar Heel first team which tallied four of the six touchdowns.

Quarterback Jack Cummins, another senior, toss a 50-yard scoring pass to Milan Wall in the final quarter for the most spectacular thrust of the afternoon.

Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey used his reserves freely.

Kansas Cops 28-14 Verdict Over Cowboys

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas scored the first two times it got the ball, threw up an effective defense against the highly regarded Oklahoma State passing attack and coasted to a 28-14 victory over the Cowboys Saturday.

The non-conference victory gave Kansas a 5-4 record and left only next week's Missouri game for the Orange Bowl bid on the Jayhawker slate.

Quarterback Dick Soergel, Oklahoma State's passing ace, was injured in the first half and saw no service in the second.

Kansas marched 58 yards to score after taking the opening kickoff. Halfback John Hadl went the final 32 yards.

The second Jayhawk drive covered 49 yards with halfback Curtis McClinton and quarterback Bill Crank collaborating on the 41-yard scoring play. Crank ran for about three yards, then lateraled to McClinton, who raced the other 38 untouched.

KU's clinching third touchdown resulted when end John Peppercorn blocked a Larry Bahner punt an guard Dick Rohlf grabbed it out of the air on the Cowboy's 2, then took two steps into the end zone.

Owls Erase Safety For 7-2 Victory

HOUSTON, (E(— Gordon Speer, a speedy 196-pound halfback, returned a punt 60 yards on the last play of the third quarter Saturday to enable the Rice Owls to erase a freak safety and come from behind to defeat Texas A&M, 7-2 and shove the Aggies deeper into the Southwest Conference cellar.

A crowd of 35,000 had seen the Aggies turn a first quarter wind-swept blocked punt into a 2-0 lead that looked large enoughfor a victory until Speer broke loose on his long run.

A strong north wind with gusts of 25 miles an hour contributed to the safety after Raph Smith, the Aggie left end, crushed through to partially block Speer's punt from the Rice 1.

The punt travelled only to the 10-yard line, where the wind stopped it momentarily and then pushed the ball back into the end zone. Billy Bucek, the Ricequarterback, covered the ball.

Gibbs got into the scoring column early in the first quarter, racing 14 yards on a rollout play to climax a 76-yard march.

Jimmie Anderson, subbing for Flowers, plunged over from the 2 for the Rebe's' fourth TD.

A poor kick by Glass set up Ole Miss' fifth touchdown. The wobbly boot was caught by Cowboy Woodruff, who ran it back 36 yards to the Tennessee 4. After a penalty set Mississippi back, Gibbs passed seven yard to Daniels for the score.

Ole Miss rolled up 283 yards on the ground and added 153 more on passes to amass a total of 436. Tennessee picked up 86 rushing and 57 on passes.

The setback left Tennessee with a 5-2-1 record.

Durward Pennington, a placement specialist, kicked one of the most pressure-packed conversions he'll ever kick and the overflow crowd of an estimated 54,000 went absolutely wild.

Tarkenton's pinpoint passing to fullback Don Soderdash and end Bill Herron snatched victory from defeat. On fourth down—and no hope for the future if this play didn't work—Tarkenton dropped back, Georgia receivers flashed out and Tarkenton spotted Herron wide open in the left-hand corner of the end zone.

This was one of the most exciting game ever played on Sanford Field, home of this miraculous crew of Bulldogs who were picked no better than ninth in the league before the season started.

Guard Pat Dye, a line hero this warm cloudy day, recovered a fumble by Bobby Hunt at the Auburn 35 to set up Georgia's last gasp surge goalward. And the Bulldogs simply wouldn't be stopped.

Auburn turned two Georgia mistakes into long field goals by fullback Ed Dyas in the first half and Georgia edged out front 7-6 late in the third period on Charlie Britt's 39-yard touchdown sprint with a punt.

Then came the play which could have broken Georgia's back—but didn't. Britt backed up and blocked a punt by his teammate Bobby Walden and Auburn recovered at the 1.

Bryant Harvard scored on the first play and gave Auburn a 13-7 lead with only 7½ minutes left.

Auburn, ranked No. 8 in the Associated Press poll, entered the game a three-point favorite over the Bulldogs, rated No. 12.

No matter what happens in Georgia's final game against Georgia Tech Nov. 28, the Bulldogs have the SEC title locked up. They are now 6-0 in the league and 8-1 over-all. Auburn is 4-2 in the SEC and 7-2 over-all.

This is Georgia's first conference title since 1948 and-discounting a trip to the ill-fated Presidential Cup game in 1950—the bowl trip that's sure to follow will be the first since that championship year.

Tarkenton, Britt, Herron, and Pennington put the points on the scoreboard. But an out-weighed Georgia line that fought like Wildcats deserves credit by the carload. Dye and his guard buddy, Billy Roland, tackle Larry Lancaster, end Jimmy Vickers and Gorden Kelley, centers Dude Thompson and Phil Ashe were among the most best.

Tackle Billy Wilson, guard Heywood Warrick, end Joe Lleichtnam and end Dave Edards were stickouts for the losing Plainsmen.

Tech Cagers Prepping For ETS Opener

RUSTON (Special) — With the basketball season only about two weeks away, Louisiana Tech's cagers are getting set for their season opener with East Texas State. The two teams will clash at Ruston on Dec. 1.

Bulldog cage fans are urged to purchase as soon as possible season tickets for the 12 games to be played at Ruston. Tickets are now on sale at Tech's Memorial Gymnasium.

Persons who held reserved sets last season will be able to claim the game seat if they purchase their tickets sometime during the coming week.

Defending champions of the Gulf States Conference, the Techsters will play a 23-game schedule this winter that puts them up against cage quintets from eight states. Last season the Bulldogs captured the GSC title with a 9-1 won-loss record and they racked up a 21-4 season mark.

Purdue Outlasts Minnesota, 29-23

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue clustered three touchdowns in the second quarter Saturday—and needed all of them to outlast Minnesota 29-23.

Purdue quarterback Ross Fichtner twice intercepted Minnesota passes at crucial moments, running one 66 yards for a touchdown and breaking up a promising Gopher drive in the last two minutes of the game.

Two Minnesota mistakes in the last 81 seconds of the second quarter let Purdue pick up 15 quick points to break a 7-7 tie and have a working margin in the bruising second half.

Purdue guard John Ciccone grabbed fullback Tom Robbins' fumble on the Minnesota 29 and set up Clyde Washington's 10-yard scoring run three plays later. Then Minnesota quarterback Larry Johnson threw into Fichtner's hands.

YALE WINS

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Yale caught fire after a two-man, 97-yard kickoff return and scored 23 points in the second quarter to beat Princeton 38-20 in their 82nd football meeting Saturday. Lou Muller and Nick Kangas collaborated on the kickoff reverse play that broke open the game.

Solon Says America Not Facing Up

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) contended Saturday night that Americans are not facing up to the nation's problems.

The Minnesota senator, in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Democratic party, urged the delegates to act "boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us."

Humphrey, considered a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president next year although he has not announced he will run, followed Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) by 24 hours at the convention. Kennedy, who also is keeping up the traditional fiction that he has not made up his mind about running, gave the keynote speech to the delegates Friday. Kennedy stressed what he said were advantages the Soviet Union has gained over the United States in the past seven years.

Both men have indicated they would enter the Wisconsin presidential primary next April if they decided to run and have made frequent trips to this state recently. The Wisconsin primary is one of the earliest in the nation and therefore is considered a good testing ground.

Humphrey said that America had "fallen for a kind of 'pitch' in our national life that substitues nonsense for reality, public relations for public service, and showmanship for leadership."

"This has happened to us," he said, "not only in the world of TV entertainment but in politics and government as well. We have been lured away from the good old American values of truth and reality and of not trying to be anybody but ourselves.

"Let's get back to reality. Let's forget the make-up men and go ahead and let the blemishes show. Let's grapple with the questions that nobody has supplied advance answers to."

Humphrey said he had no intention of "going around this country uttering sweet nothings in order to avoid getting people mad at me."

"I urge upon my party that it act likewise," he added. "If we fail to act boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us we will not win next year and will not deserve to win.

"I propose that the 'D' in Democrat come to mean debate and dissent and finally, decision. These are the three 'D's' that have served us well in the past."

CAMERA NEWS

By IRVING DESFOR

If you've ever wondered what to do with your pictures after their first showing, puzzle no more. Three men who have pondered this problem — along with thousands of other camera fans —have come up with an answer. Actually, a hundred answers. They're in a book called "100 Camera Projects for Fun and Profit," published by Zitf-Davis, New York.

The authors are John Durniak and Andrew Wahlberg, features and art editors, respectively, of Popular Photography, and Harvey Shaman, free lance writer-photographer. The trio planned, worked out and photographed each of the projects in the book, then tested the finished results on critical friends. They claim that any project that couldn't be done at home with simple equipment was eliminated.

One of the sections, for instance, is called "Decorate with Pictures," and here is where your drawer - full of favorite pictures could come in handy. Household objects like lamp shades, lamp bases, an old coffee table, a wastepaper basket or a jewel box can be made into conversation pieces by decoratively adding your personal pictures.

Selection of suitable subjects is important so that the theme will harmonize with the object and the room in which it will be placed. Thus a lamp for a child's room might have circus pictures or shots of the family pet while sport pictures would be appropriate for a teen - ager's room.

Some pictures should be printed on special Resisto or Resisto Rapid (a faster emulsion) paper because it has excellent stain-resistant and heat - resistant qualities. This would be applied to picture coasters, a picture hotplate, waste paper baskets and lamp shades.

In most cases, paper patterns should be cut first to assure proper fit and placement. You will need also a frisket knife or razor blades, scissors, rubber cement, dry mount tissue, black masking tape or colored adhesive tape.

Another section deals with "The World of Fun and Parties." Here are instructons for making a wall zoo and a picture theatre for children, picture place markers, party invitations and party masks, movable cut-outs of pets and hand puppets with portrait heads.

One of the authors' favorite projects was a picture mobile with eight pictures strung up on wire clothes hangers. These photos had to be printed twice, once straight and then in reverse by turning the negative over. The duplicate prints were then mounted back - to - back so that after they were strung up, the picture would show no matter how the mobile turned.

Some projects were of a practical nature. You can photograph your valuable possessions as a visual insurance record. In case of loss or robbery, the pictures are better than a written description in filing a claim and as an aid in recovery.

Hard - to - replace documents can also be preserved by photography as a safeguard against loss. They should be copied with micro - film or extreme contrast film for legibility. They should be filed or stored in a safe place of their own, not with the original documents.

With Christmas coming soon, there are some timely suggestions for making your own holiday greeting cards, picture ornaments to hang on the tree and a method of displaying your Yuletide pictures by mounting them on long strips of red and green paper hung on a wall.

If the do-it-yourself urge still persists among the nation's camera fans, this book should be a success and there should be no quetion of what to do come these long winter evenings.

Ex-Call Girl Recovers From Sleeping Pills

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Former $500-a-night call girl Pat Ward was recovering in a private hospital here Saturday from an overdose of sleeping pills.

The 25-year-old mother was admitted here early Friday.

The hospital refused to give out any more details of her case. She refused to see a reporter who called at the hospital.

She told a nurse to tell the reporter "I am suffering from malnutrition."

Miss Ward, now Mrs. Julian Savarese, made national headlines in 1953 as the 19-year-old queen of a high society call girl ring run by wealthy heir Mickey Jelke. She informed on Jelke when he jilted her.

She attempted suicide with sleeping pills in 1953 after a broken romance with singer Alan Dale She was found in commedienne Martha Raye's New York apartment.

She married New York attorney Delavan Smith, divorced him, and married Miami osteopath Dr. Julian Charles Savarese in Mexico, Nov. 11, 1957.

Their marriage has been stormy and she several times started divorce action against him only to effect a reconciliation each time. At one court hearing in Miami, she testified that Savarese beat her with a bullwhip and with an ashtray wrapped in a towel.

She was pregnant at that time and bore the child two months ago.

More Cases Of Paralysis Hit Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Seventy-seven more cases of paralysis have been reported, bringing to 9,544 the number of known victims of a cooking oil adulterated by merchants with used motor oil obtained from U. S. Air Force surplus.

The mixture, which was used by housewives to prepare food, causes paralysis by destroying nerves. Doctors here say the only hope for the victims is prolonged physiotherapy. A government official commented that the qualified physiotherapists in Morocco can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The motor oil, some of which had already been used in slushing vats to clean airplane engine parts, was sold as surplus by the Air Force at the Nourasseur base near Casablanca. U. S. officials said it was clearly marked motor oil.

In response to an appeal for food for families of victims, the base at Nourasseur today delivered 50,000 cans of food and other supplies and medicine to Moroccan authorities as a gift.

Water Pollution Faces State Fishermen

BURAS, La. (UPI) — The grim spector of water pollution today faced shell-fishermen who depend for their livelihood on the 12 miles of bayous and bays between Buras and the Gulf of Mexico.

During the past five days shrimpers have been hauling in nets full of dead shrimp, and there was fear that oyster beds might also suffer damage. State Wildlife and Fisheries agents have been called in to investigate.

According to the shrimpers, lifeless catches were first noticed on Tuesday. State marine biologists were running tests on dead specimans.

The affected areas appear to include Scofield Bayou, Cyprien Bay, English Bay, Bay Jacques and Bay Pomme D'Or. Long time shell fishermen said they had never seen anything like it.

"I thought someone had broken his net and the dead ones were what he left," said Rene Cognevich, a lifelong shrimper, after pulling in his first net full of a dead catch.

"Then I got back and heard all the others had gotten them too. The whole area must be affected," he said.

Water Pollution Faces State Fishermen

BURAS, La. (UPI) — The grim spector of water pollution today faced shell-fishermen who depend for their livelihood on the 12 miles of bayous and bays between Buras and the Gulf of Mexico.

During the past five days shrimpers have been hauling in nets full of dead shrimp, and there was fear that oyster beds might also suffer damage. State Wildlife and Fisheries agents have been called in to investigate.

According to the shrimpers, lifeless catches were first noticed on Tuesday. State marine biologists were running tests on dead specimans.

The affected areas appear to include Scofield Bayou, Cyprien Bay, English Bay, Bay Jacques and Bay Pomme D'Or. Long time shell fishermen said they had never seen anything like it.

"I thought someone had broken his net and the dead ones were what he left," said Rene Cognevich, a lifelong shrimper, after pulling in his first net full of a dead catch.

"Then I got back and heard all the others had gotten them too. The whole area must be affected," he said.

BEER DRAMA

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert J. Shaw, a playwright from Milwaukee, has found a Broadway producer for his first work — a drama about a Milwaukee beer-making family.

"The Amber View" is to be done by H. Clay Blaney and Ramsey Burch. The latter, former managing director of the Margo Jones Theatre in Dallas, will handle the staging.

CAMERA NEWS

If you've ever wondered what to do with your pictures after their first showing, puzzle no more. Three men who have pondered this problem — along with thousands of other camera fans —have come up with an answer. Actually, a hundred answers. They're in a book called "100 Camera Projects for Fun and Profit," published by Ziff-Davis, New York.

The authors are John Durniak and Andrew Wahlberg, features and art editors, respectively, of Popular Photography, and Harvey Shaman, free lance writer-photographer. The trio planned, worked out and photographed each of the projects in the book, then tested the finished results on critical friends. They claim that any project that couldn't be done at home with simple equipment was eliminated.

One of the sections, for instance, is called "Decorate with Pictures," and here is where your drawer - full of favorite pictures could come in handy. Household objects like lamp shades, lamp bases, an old coffee table, a wastepaper basket or a jewel box can be made into conversation pieces by decoratively adding your personal pictures.

Selection of suitable subjects is important so that the theme will harmonize with the object and the room in which it will be placed. Thus a lamp for a child's room might have circus pictures or shots of the family pet while sport pictures would be appropriate for a teen - ager's room.

Some pictures should be printed on special Resisto or Resisto Rapid (a faster emulsion) paper because it has excellent stain-resistant and heat - resistant qualities. This would be applied to picture coasters, a picture hot-plate, waste paper baskets and lamp shades.

In most cases, paper patterns should be cut first to assure proper fit and placement. You will need also a frisket knife or razor blades, scissors, rubber cement, dry mount tissue, black masking tape or colored adhesive tape.

Another section deals with "The World of Fun and Parties." Here are instructons for making a wall zoo and a picture theatre for children, picture place markers, party invitations and party masks, movable cut-outs of pets and hand puppets with portrait heads.

One of the authors' favorite projects was a picture mobile with eight pictures strung up on wire clothes hangers. These photos had to be printed twice, once straight and then in reverse by turning the negative over. The duplicate prints were then mounted back - to - back so that after they were strung up, the picture would show no matter how the mobile turned.

Some projects were of a practical nature. You can photograph your valuable possessions as a visual insurance record. In case of loss or robbery, the pictures are better than a written description in filing a claim and as an aid in recovery.

Hard - to - replace documents can also be preserved by photography as a safeguard against loss. They should be copied with micro - film or extreme contrast film for legibility. They should be filed or stored in a safe place of their own, not with the original documents.

With Christmas coming soon, there are some timely suggestions for making your own holiday greeting cards, picture ornaments to hang on the tree and a method of displaying your Yuletide pictures by mounting them on long strips of red and green paper hung on a wall.

If the do-it-yourself urge still persists among the nation's camera fans, this book should be a success and there should be no quetion of what to do come these long winter evenings.

Ex-Call Girl Recovers From Sleeping Pills

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Former $500-a-night call girl Pat Ward was recovering in a private hospital here Saturday from an overdose of sleeping pills.

The 25-year-old mother was admitted here early Friday.

The hospital refused to give out any more details of her case. She refused to see a reporter who called at the hospital.

She told a nurse to tell the reporter "I am suffering from malnutrition."

Miss Ward, now Mrs. Julian Savarese, made national headlines in 1953 as the 19-year-old queen of a high society call girl ring run by wealthy heir Mickey Jelke. She informed on Jelke when he jilted her.

She attempted suicide with sleeping pills in 1953 after a broken romance with singer Alan Dale. She was found in commedienne Martha Raye's New York apartment.

She married New York attorney Delavan Smith, divorced him, and married Miami osteopath Dr. Julian Charles Savarese in Mexico, Nov. 11, 1957.

Their marriage has been stormy and she several times started divorce action against him only to effect a reconciliation each time. At one court hearing in Miami, she testified that Savarese beat her with a bullwhip and with an ashtray wrapped in a towel.

She was pregnant at that time and bore the child two months ago.

More Cases Of Paralysis Hit Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Seventy-seven more cases of paralysis have been reported, bringing to 9,544 the number of known victims of a cooking oil adulterated by merchants with used motor oil obtained from U. S. Air Force surplus.

The mixture, which was used by housewives to prepare food, causes paralysis by destroying nerves. Doctors here say the only hope for the victims is prolonged physiotherapy. A government official commented that the qualified physiotherapists in Morocco can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The motor oil, some of which had already been used in slushing vats to clean airplane engine parts, was sold as surplus by the Air Force at the Nourasseur base near Casablanca. U. S. officials said it was clearly marked motor oil.

In response to an appeal for food for families of victims, the base at Nourasseur today delivered 50,000 cans of food and other supplies and medicine to Moroccan authorities as a gift.

Solon Says America Not Facing Up

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) contended Saturday night that Americans are not facing up to the nation's problems.

The Minnesota senator, in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Democratic party, urged the delegates to act "boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us."

Humphrey, considered a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president next year although he has not announced he will run, followed Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) by 24 hours at the convention. Kennedy, who also is keeping up the traditional fiction that he has not made up his mind about running, gave the keynote speech to the delegates Friday. Kennedy stressed what he said were advantages the Soviet Union has gained over the United States in the past seven years.

Both men have indicated they would enter the Wisconsin presidential primary next April if they decided to run and have made frequent trips to this state recently. The Wisconsin primary is one of the earliest in the nation and therefore is considered a good testing ground.

Humphrey said that America had "fallen for a kind of 'pitch' in our national life that substitues nonsense for reality, public relations for public service, and showmanship for leadership."

"This has happened to us," he said, "not only in the world of TV entertainment but in politics and government as well. We have been lured away from the good old American values of truth and reality and of not trying to be anybody but ourselves.

"Let's get back to reality. Let's forget the make-up men and go ahead and let the blemishes show. Let's grapple with the questions that nobody has supplied advance answers to."

Humphrey said he had no intention of "going around this country uttering sweet nothings in order to avoid getting people mad at me."

"I urge upon my party that it act likewise," he added. "If we fail to act boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us we will not win next year and will not deserve to win.

"I propose that the 'D' in Democrat come to mean debate and dissent and finally, decision. These are the three 'D's' that have served us well in the past."

Wedding Vows Pledged By Miss Bennett, D. McIntosh

The Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Oak Grove was the setting Sunday, Nov. 1 at 5 o'clock for the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Carolyn Marie Bennett and Douglas D. McIntosh. Father Jean M. Germain officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wayne Bennett and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Douglas M. McIntosh and the late Mr. McIntosh.

The ceremony was performed in a setting of floor vases of white carnations combined with stephanotis and baskets of palms with branched candelabra holding tapers. Lighting the candles were Michael and Tom Pollard.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was wearing a white chantilly lace dress over taffeta. The fitted bodice had tiny self-covered buttons down the back. The full skirt was waltz length. Her fingertip veil was caught in a coronet of pearls. She carried a bouquet of a large white orchid surrounded by carnations.

The maid of honor was Miss Patsy Rush and the bridesmaids were Miss Maxine Robertson, and Miss Jo Ella McCleary of Monroe. They were wearing ballerina length dresses with boat neck and cap sleeves, each a different shade of blue. Their headpieces were matching as were their shoes. They carried bouquets of pink rosebuds and white carnations. Serving as the bridegroom's best man was Charles Pollard of Columbia. Ushers were Jimmy Posey, Jerry Harper and Robert Schrock.

Nuptial music was played on the organ by Mrs. J. R. Davenport, who also accompanied Mrs. Charles Pollard when she sang, "Because."

For her wedding trip the bride chose a lime green suit and white velvet hat. She wore the orchid from her bouquet.

RECEPTION

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the American Legion Hut.

The bride's table overlaid with a lace cloth over pink held the tiered wedding cake. This was served by Miss Martha McCabe and Miss Gail Weems presided over the punch bowl. Miss Sandra Bennett was in charge of the bride's book.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Sam McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown McIntosh, John Robert, Tom and Phillip of Darnell; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mrs. A.S. Oliver Honoree At Afternoon Coffee

Mrs. A. S. Oliver, who with Mr. Oliver, recently moved here from St. Louis, Missouri, was honored Friday afternoon in the Herschel Ace Gentry home on Country Club Road. Mrs. Gentry brought a group of congenials together in an informal conversational hour.

Mrs. Oliver was becomingly dressed in a blue wool dress with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage, a gift from her hostess.

Mrs. Jack Peat, daughter of Mrs. Oliver, greeted the guests with the hostess and the honoree. Mrs. Peat's dress was a grey wool ensemble. Mrs. Gentry was dressed in a lilac jersey with velvet trim.

The dining table was overlaid with an imported satin tea cloth of pale pink. An off-center arrangement of muted shades of pink chrysanthemums, flanked by silver candelabra that held tall, pink tapers was the focal point. Silver trays and bon bon dishes held confections.

Mrs. Kent Anderson presided over the silver coffee service and was assisted by Mrs. Fred Huenefeld Jr., Mrs. David I. Garrett and Mrs. Jack Davis. Guests included Mrs. Oliver, honoree, Mrs. Peat, Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Mrs. Ben Downing, Mrs. Robert Downing, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Ben Marshall, Mrs. Calvin B. Mrs. A.S. Oliver Honoree At Afternoon Coffee

Mrs. A. S. Oliver, who with Mr. Oliver, recently moved here from St. Louis, Missouri, was honored Friday afternoon in the Herschel Ace Gentry home on Country Club Road. Mrs. Gentry brought a group of congenials together in an informal conversational hour.

Mrs. Oliver was becomingly dressed in a blue wool dress with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage, a gift from her hostess.

Mrs. Jack Peat, daughter of Mrs. Oliver, greeted the guests with the hostess and the honoree. Mrs. Peat's dress was a grey wool ensemble. Mrs. Gentry was dressed in a lilac jersey with velvet trim.

The dining table was overlaid with an imported satin tea cloth ot pale pink. An off-center arrangement of muted shades of pink chrysanthemums, flanked by silver candelabra that held tall, pink tapers was the focal point. Silver trays and bon bon dishes held confections.

Mrs. Kent Anderson presided over the silver coffee service and was assisted by Mrs. Fred Huenefeld Jr., Mrs. David I. Garrett and Mrs. Jack Davis. Guests included Mrs. Oliver, honoree, Mrs. Peat, Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Mrs. Ben Downing, Mrs. Robert Downing, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Ben Marshall, Mrs. Calvin B. Girl Scout News

Troop camping, reports show, is the most popular activity that Intermediate Scouts enjoy, and lucky are the troops whose leaders make it possible. Each weekend sees a troop at Pine Wood for the fun of sleeping on the porch on Friday night, cooking breakfast outdoors, usually breadtwists over coals, perhaps going on a hike, again cooking at lunch time, probably a one-pot meal, the cleaning up the building, making bedrolls again before leaving for home early Saturday afternoon.

Girl Scout standards for troop camping call for a good night's rest, division of jobs according to a kaper chart, and observance of safety rules. Fun comes in working together, in songs and games around a blazing fire in the big fireplace. Adventure comes in following trails to the river, exploring new paths, going over a stile instead of through a gate, cutting the right kind of stick and cooking a breadtwist to a golden brown on it, making a fire even when the wood is damp.

Rain or shine, a troop carries out its plans for the overnight, since we are lucky enough to have a building with all facilities. Troop 26 had a rainy Friday night for their first overnight, but, according to their leader, Mrs. A. B. Gregory, nothing could dampen the enthusiasm of these first-year intermediates. One of the most interesting experiences the group had was watching a caterpillar weave a cocoon around itself.

Girls who participated in this troop camp were Janet Brueck, Peggy Dawson, Kyle Gregory, Joan Harris, Kathy Heckathorn, Pamela Hudson, Judy Jacobs, Wendy King, Joan Nowell, Kay Otnott, Martha Peters, Sarah Zeagler, under the leadership of Mrs. Gregory and daughter Sue.

Remember the Friday night it turned so cold. That was the night ten girls of Troop 2 spent the night. Upon reaching camp all the girls set out to find enough wood to burn all evening in the fireplace. By the time it was dark, beds had been made on the porch, and girls were cozy inside. They enjoyed nosebag suppers brought from home and afterwards a campfire of singing and games planned by the girls. Someone brought an old-fashioned popcorn popper, which the girls took turns in using. Warm from an evening around the fire, the girls snuggled cozily into their beds, to sleep soundly until the alarm went off at 7:00.

Mrs. W. T. King and Mrs. Thomas Keller were in charge of the group, which consisted of Susan Cochran, Nancy Edelman, Mary Tom Keller, Donna King, Paula Meek, Cheryl Montgomery, Janna Rorex, Delane Ruddick, Sandra Seale, Gale Summerfield.

Some good craft instruction is in store for troops, judging by the interest that leaders have shown in pottery, textile painting, and sugar molding demonstrations that have been given. Neighborhood meetings this week are Northside at St. Paul's, Wednesday at 9:30, College at Memorial Methodist Wednesday at 1:00, and Southside Thursday at 1:00 at Plum St. School. The first training session for leaders recruited in Bastrop will be held Friday afternoon at 1:00 at Westside School.

Area Dietetic Association Holds Meeting

The Northeast Area Dietetic Association met at St. Francis Hospital, Tuesday night, November 10, 1959. Members were welcomed by Sister Martha de Bethanie, who is in charge of the dietary department at St. Francis. Mrs. Alton A. Braddock, president, conducted the business meeting. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Marlene Bond, the program chairman. Miss Bond gave a report on the Annual Convention of The American Dietetic Association, which she attended last August in Los Angeles, California. She distributed materials brought back, to members present. Mrs. Charles Denham gave a talk on the Annual Convention of the Louisiana Dietetic Association held in October, in New Orleans. She reported that the La. Dietetic Association's Executive Board had approxed the newly organized Northeast Area Dietetic Association as the sixth local group affiliating with the state group. The executive board also appointed Miss Marlene Bond to fill the position of secretary of the Louisiana Dietetic Association.

Refreshments were served to the members present, Mrs. James Ballard, Mrs. Lettie Aswell, Mrs. Bond, Sister Martha de Bethanie Charles Denham, Miss Marlene and Mrs. Alton A. Braddock.

Miss Fleming C. L. Harville Are Wed

Miss Dorothy Elaine Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fleming of Crossett, became the bride of Charles Lindsey Harville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Harville of Hamburg, November 6th, in the Beech Street Baptist Church in Crossett.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. David Rice before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and ivy. The wedding music was played by Mrs. David Rice.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a light blue waltz length dress over blue taffeta, with white veil and accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations.

Mrs. Charlotte Montgomery, matron of honor, wore blue with white accessories. Julian Estelle served the groom as best man.

The couple are at home in Hamburg, following a short wedding trip.

Mrs. McPhink Is Nov. Garden Club Hostess

The Bud and Blossom Garden Club of West Monroe held its regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Clyde McPhink on Tulane Drive.

Mrs. J. R. Spurlock, vice president, presided and introduced a guest, Mrs. Charles Rugg.

The Christmas party was discussed.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Harry Maxey on Mallard Dr. in West Monroe at 7 o'clock.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Dixie Williams, Mrs. Spurlock, Mrs. McPhink, Mrs. John Boyles, Mrs. Mary Sheppard, Mrs. Davis Welch, Mrs. Charles Rugg and Mrs. Joe S. Carter Jr.

Two Hostesses Entertain For Areme Club

The Areme Club met in the home of Mrs. E. P. Morgan with Mrs. B. L. Mulhern as co-hostess.

New Officers were elected and they will take office on Jan. 1st. They are president, Mrs. Bonnie Hale; vice president, Mrs. Charlene Poulan; secretary, Miss Fay Wilson and treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Standard. Plans were made for the Christmas banquet which will be held on Dec. 11 at the Saddle and Spur at 7:30 p.m.

Christmas wrappings were displayed and explained how they were made.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Dave Chapman, Mrs. George Morgan, Mrs. Iris Gwin, Mrs. Bonnie Hale, Mrs. Gladys Miller, Mrs. Marie Roe, Mrs. Pattie Spencer, Mrs. Bessie Skinner, Mrs. Florence Turner, Mrs. Arrah Culver, Mrs. Mary Kelly, Mrs. Katherine Higgins, Mrs. Zola Williams, Mrs. Eloise Baugh, Mrs. Montie Collier, Mrs. Mae Flannagan, Mrs. Virginia Morgan, Mrs. Dorothy Standard and one guest, Mrs. Couch.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Pennington of Crossett announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ramona, to Raymond Westbrook, of Bastrop. The wedding will be an event of November 26th, at the Mount Olive Baptist Church.

On Dit'

by Denise

Well, at last the weather got cool enough for the ladies to come out in the new fall clothes. At the Golden Harvest Ball given by the Revelers' dance club on the Frances roof last Saturday night, we saw a number of lovely winter dancing frocks, foreshadowing the gay holiday season ahead.

CODY ROSAMUND's dress featured a black sequin bodice above a white chiffon skirt. Medallions of the sequins were embroidered across the skirt, which was short in front and dipped to her ankles in the back . . . KATHERINE HOLLIS, wearing black peau de soie warp printed with red roses, was sporting a new hair-do . . . Also in a new hair style was CINDY WAKEFIELD, in a beige lace dress. With Cindy and Benton were his sister and brother-in-law, the CHARLES CARMICHAELS of Jackson, Mississippi.

Other out-of-towners at the dance included the CHARLES NUNNALLYS of Alexandria (Louise looked lovely in true blue satin) . . . the DUKE SHACKLEFORDS of Jones (Sue wore red velvet, with a red bow on the back of her head) . . . and the BILL GIFFENS of Clarksdale, Mississippi. (Annelle chose a sea-foam blue chiffon with a panel of the material floating from her left shoulder to the hem on the right side.)

Red was a most popular shade. We spied MARY ALICE HUSTED in a slipper satin, and BETTY B. JACKSON and TOMMY SUE SARTOR in peau de soie, all with matching red shoes . . . WAVA FRAZER wore turquoise satin and lace . . . JEAN HAMILTON's green printed silk chiffon ended in a cuff around the knees . . . Electric blue satin was most becoming to DORIS FRAZIER . . . With a royal blue dress, LOUISE M'CARTER wore a full - length blue and green brocade coat . . . VIRGINIA HARGROVE's Irish green satin featured a matching separate stole . . . In black lace and organza was JUNE HOLMES.

Several intimate parties were given before or after the dance. Ten couples were invited to stop by the BOB CLAYS en route to the hotel. Pyracantha was used to decorate the den, where dips and snacks were offered with drinks.

The CLAY WILSONS entertained six couples at an informal buffet preceding the ball. French mulberry and coleus centered the dining table. Fried oysters served with a chili dip, ham, and sesame niblets were featured on the menu.

The D. V. LOFLINS invited a group for breakfast after the dance. Mary Alice was wearing moss green satin made with short, full organza sleeves of the exact shade . . . The buffet was covered with a gold colored cloth and centered with a pyramid of fruit. Guests helped themselves to sausage, grits, bacon and eggs; biscuits and sweet rolls; and coffee, of course. Individual green - covered tables were centered with a single candle wreathed with grapes and ivy leaves.

The TOMMY FORTENBERRYS were hosts at a seasonal - type meal Saturday night: squirrel mulligan. A fall arrangement of pyracantha and greenery was used on the buffet. With the game, Gail served a salad, rolls, and apple pie. Eight attended.

Another seasonal menu: roast duck with wild rice dressing. The JOHN CLAYS invited ten friends for this treat on Sunday night. An arrangement of white and mauve chrysanthemums centered the dining table. With the duck, Peggy served sweet potatoes and oranges; bacon - wrapped beans, vinaigrette; cranberry sherbert, and Chianti. Dessert was a nut date torte, with coffee.

□ □ □

Visitors in town always are the occasion for a round of parties. Guests this week of the G. M. SUDDUTHS in their home on Frances Place were Eleanor's parents, MR. and MRS. EDWIN D. WEMYSS of Stockton, California. They arrived last Friday, and that night enjoyed a family dinner with their children and grandchildren, KIP and SALLY. George's mother, MRS. LUCILLE W. SUDDUTH, drove over from Vicksburg to complete the party.

ELAINE and JOHN CRUMP invited a group of friends to meet the visitors at their home on Saturday night. Fall flowers were used in an arrangement on the coffee table. Hot hors-d'oeuvres were served with drinks to twelve guests.

Eleanor honored her mother with a luncheon at the Paragon Club on Monday. The gold-covered table was centered with yellow chrysanthemums arranged with stalks of wheat. Fourteen attended . . . On Tuesday, ELIZABETH ATKINSON was hostess at luncheon for eight at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club . . . Fifteen ladies were invited for mid - afternoon cake and coffee at PAT MADDEN's Tuesday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Wemyss left on Wednesday to return to California.

Former Monroyan MRS. JOHN PRACHER (Sadie) arrived Friday for a visit of about two weeks. She is now living in Lake Charles with her children, the JAMES PECKS She will divide her time between the A. L. PETERS and LEONORA KELLER . . . Leonora's sister, AGNES GUNTER, who had been here with her for a week, left on Tuedsay for her home in New Orleans.

□ □ □

A congenial group from this vicinity went to Knoxville for the LSU-Tennessee game last week end and, aside from the disrespectful treatment accorded the football team, were very hospitably welcomed. In the party were CAROLYN and BENNY GWIN and JANE and JOHN SHERROUSE, JR., from Monroe; KATHERINE and BILLY BOLES of Rayville; and ANN and LLOYD LOVE of Ferriday . . . On Friday, CARTER and HERBERT SLATTERY were hosts at a cocktail party for the Louisiana visitors preceeding the dinner dance at the Cherokee Country Club . . . The club was also the scene of the breakfast hosted by DOT and JIMMY ROBERTS on Saturday before the game. (Dot Roberts is Ann Love's sister.) . . . As our group was en route home, their plane caught fire, necessitating a delay of several hours while another plane was brought all the way from Fort Worth. Altogether, a very full week end.

EMY LOU BIEDENHARN left Friday for a two weeks visit in New York. She will be the guest of MARION GORDON - FRASER in her recently completed home at Amagansette, Long Island. Emy Lou will be home around the first of December.

When the ROY LEDBETTERS entertained at dinner on Thursday night, Helen used a most effective table arrangement of gray - green mats on a bare table. The mats picked up the colors of the Italian porcelain vegetables used in the centerpiece. On the menu were barbecued ham, cheese souffle, peas with mushrooms, and almond-jellied peaces. For dessert, citrus chiffon pie and coffee. There were eight guests.

JAMES MOORE celebrated his eleventh birthday with a skating party Thursday. The group played stop-the-music, with DOTTIE KIPER and RUSTY ROUTT winning the prizes. Doughtnuts and soft drinks were served to about fifty children who attended.

Newcomer LETA OLIVER was named guest of honor when JEAN GENTRY invited a group of friends for afternoon coffee on Friday at her home. Leta was wearing a brown crepe dress embroidered with copper beading and a corsage of white carnations. Among the guests we noted MILDRED JACKSON, lovely in an outfit of shades of lavender ond purple; and VERNE TERZIA, verv stylish in a black suit with black fox collar and all black accessories . . . An old-fashioned nosegay flanked by a ceramic figurine of a hoop-skirted lady was placed at one end of the dining table. YVONNE ANDERSON presided at the coffee service at the other end. Cranberry cake, kisses, and other confections were served to about thirty ladies who called.

Jean was hostess at another party on Friday, this one honoring her granddaughter, BECKY HUENEFELD. Ten little girls in the second grade were invited to have supper and watch television. Hot dogs were the main course served with chicken salad sandwiches, salad, and individual iced cakes.

And speaking of clothes, we noted several new fall hats at the Junior Charity League luncheon meeting at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Saturday. Setting the seasonal mood was the centerpiece: a turkey made of pine cones and flowers, flanking an arrangement of dried material, yellow chrysanthemums and marigolds. BESS COURTMAN wore a deep cloche of raspberry felt . . . and EVELYN COLE, burnt orange felt with a slouch brim a la Garbo . . . The derbies had it, with CAROL M'DONALD wearing a steel gray brushed felt, MILDRED VANDERPOOL a brown felt with brown and orange band, and CLARA MONTGOMERY choosing high blue to compliment her all - blue outfit . . . MARNE MOUK's hat was a head - hugging band of red feathers.

BYRON GOYNE's tenth birthday was the occasion for a skating party on Tuesday. Stop - the - music winners were CYNTHIA TERZIA, BONNIE BANCROFT, ROBERT M'CUE, and MARY ANN SALISBURY, who were awarded silver dollars. Soft drinks and assorted doughnuts were served to about forty children who attended.

For our poem today, here's some advice for men by Georgie Galbraith:

Don't coddle me, my Lord, my love!
Take off that doggone velvet glove
And call me names you learned from Chaucer!
Kick my shin or sock my jaw, sir!
Please offend me, darling, for
I've simply got to go to war!
The world and I are at such odds
So many ways that, by the gods,
If I don't get to blow my top,
I'm going out and sass a cop
Or smash a window Dearest, think,
Than springing me from out the clink,
How easier to just provide
The fight I'm spoiling for. Beside,
Plus easing off my inner foments,
I love your more Cro-Magnon moments!

Mrs. Dawson Urges Daily Use Of Meat

Mrs. J. E. Murphy was hostess to the November meeting of the Woodlawn Home Demonstration Club with Mrs. Erby Tisdale serving as co-hostess. Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Ouachita Home Demonstration agent, presented a demonstration concerning the proper selection of meat for the family consumption, and revealed the proper method of identifying the different cuts of beef. The agent insisted that meat be used in the daily diet due to the great amount of protein provided, and stated the three factors to remember in meat preparation is to use dry heat, a low heat, and avoid overcooking.

Reports were heard from Mrs. G. E. Rutledge, food preparation leader, and safety leader, Mrs. John Bush. Mrs. John Bush has been elected as president-elect and Mrs. Leon Sims as vice-president. The president, Mrs. Truman Wright, led the business session, and plans were made for the December meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. Doyle Raborn.

Group recreation was led by Mrs. Tisdale and refreshments were served to the guests, Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. R. C. Murphy, and to members, Mesdames: G. E. Rutledge, Albert Kilpatrick, J. E. Rutledge, Donald Bonnette, Harvie Eady, John Bush, H. M. Wallace, Doyle Raborn, O. E. Smith, A. C. Hollingsworth, Maxine Brown, Gerald Morehead, Truman Wright, Ruby Morehead and Keith Cobb.

Garden Club Theme Is Yule Decorations

The November meeting of the Bayou Vista Garden Club was held Tuesday, November 3rd at the Holiday Inn with Mrs. Jack Harrington and Mrs. Evans Larkin as co-hostesses.

After a brief business session Mr. John P. Lewis discussed "Dominance" in flower arranging. The members present made various flower arrangements under the supervision of Mrs. Lewis.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames Malvin Brantley, Stanley Brister, Frank Francis, Frank Marchefski, R. W. Gregory, William Lynn, C. A. McKenzie, William Roche, W. H. Stapp, C. T. Thomas, Wilford Smith, J. E. Tripp, Jr., Roy Scalia, Max Waite, Ben Winegeart, and Cecil Johnson, with Mrs. C. T. McIntosh winning the door prize.

The next meeting will be December 1, 1959.

Well, at last the weather got cool enough for the ladies to come out in the new fall clothes. At the Golden Harvest Ball given by the Revelers' dance club on the Frances roof last Saturday night, we saw a number of lovely winter dancing frocks, foreshadowing the gay holiday season ahead.

CODY ROSAMUND's dress featured a black sequin bodice above a white chiffon skirt. Medallions of the seqins were embroidered across the skirt, which was short in front and dipped to her ankles in the back . . . KATHERINE HOLLIS, wearing black peau de soie warp printed with red roses, was sporting a new hair-do . . . Also in a new hair style was CINDY WAKEFIELD, in a beige lace dress. With Cindy and Benton were his sister and brother-in-law, the CHARLES CARMICHAELS of Jackson, Mississippi.

Other out-of-towners at the dance included the CHARLES NUNNALLYS of Alexandria (Louise looked lovely in true blue satin) . . . the DUKE SHACKLEFORDS of Jones (Sue wore red velvet, with a red bow on the back of her head) . . . and the BILL GIFFENS of Clarksdale, Mississippi. (Annelle chose a seafoam blue chiffon with a panel of the material floating from her left shoulder to the hem on the right side.)

Red was a most popular shade. We spied MARY ALICE HUSTED in a slipper satin, and BETTY B. JACKSON and TOMMY SUE SARTOR in peau de soie, all with matching red shoes . . . WAVA FRAZER wore turquoise satin and lace . . . JEAN HAMILTON's green printed silk chiffon ended in a cuff around the knees . . . Electric blue satin was most becoming to DORIS FRAZIER . . . With a royal blue dress, LOUISE M'CARTER wore a full - length blue and green brocade coat . . . VIRGINIA HARGROVE's Irish green satin featured a matching separate stole . . . In black lace and organza was JUNE HOLMES.

Several intimate parties were given before or after the dance. Ten couples were invited to stop by the BOB CLAYS en route to the hotel. Pyracantha was used to decorate the den, where dips and snacks were offered with drinks.

The CLAY WILSONS entertained six couples at an informal buffet preceding the ball. French mulberry and coleus centered the dining table. Fried oysters served with a chili dip, ham, and sesame niblets were featured on the menu.

The D. V. LOFLINS invited a group for breakfast after the dance. Mary Alice was wearing moss green satin made with short, full organza sleeves of the exact shade . . . The buffet was covered with a gold colored cloth and centered with a pyramid of fruit. Guests helped themselves to sausage, grits, bacon and eggs; biscuits and sweet rolls; and coffee, of course. Individual green - covered tables were centered with a single candle wreathed with grapes and ivy leaves.

The TOMMY FORTENBERRYS were hosts at a seasonal - type meal Saturday night: squirrel mulligan. A fall arrangement of pyracantha and greenery was used on the buffet. With the game, Gail served a salad, rolls, and apple pie. Eight attended.

Another seasonal menu: roast duck with wild rice dressing. The JOHN CLAYS invited ten friends for this treat on Sunday night. An arrangement of white and mauve chrysanthemums centered the dining table. With the duck, Peggy served sweet potatoes and oranges; bacon - wrapped beans, vinaigrette; cranberry sherbert, and Chianti. Dessert was a nut date torte, with coffee.

□ □ □

Visitors in town always are the occasion for a round of parties. Guests this week of the G. M. SUDDUTHS in their home on Frances Place were Eleanor's parents, MR. and MRS. EDWIN D. WEMYSS of Stockton, California. They arrived last Friday, and that night enjoyed a family dinner with their children and grandchildren, KIP and SALLY. George's mother, MRS. LUCILLE W. SUDDUTH, drove over from Vicksburg to complete the party.

ELAINE and JOHN CRUMP invited a group of friends to meet the visitors at their home on Saturday night. Fall flowers were used in an arrangement on the coffee table. Hot hors-d'oeuvres were served with drinks to twelve guests.

Eleanor honored her mother with a luncion at the Paragon Club on Monday. The gold-covered table was centered with yellow chrysanthemums arranged with stalks of wheat. Fourteen attended . . . On Tuesday, ELIZABETH ATKINSON was hostess at luncheon for eight at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club . . . Fifteen ladies were invited for mid - afternoon cake and coffee at PAT MADDEN's Tuesday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Wemyss left on Wednesday to return to California.

Former Monroyan MRS. JOHN PRACHER (Sadie) arrived Friday for a visit of about two weeks. She is now living in Lake Charles with her children, the JAMES PECKS She will divide her time between the A. L. PETERS and LEONORA KELLER . . . Leonora's sister, AGNES GUNTER, who had been here with her for a week, left on Tuesday for her home in New Orleans.

□ □ □

A congenial group from this vicinity went to Knoxville for the LSU-Tennessee game last week end and, aside from the disrespectful treatment accorded the football team, were very hospitably welcomed. In the party were CAROLYN and BENNY GWIN and JANE and JOHN SHERROUSE, JR., from Monroe; KATHERINE and BILLY BOLES of Rayville; and ANN and LLOYD LOVE of Ferriday . . . On Friday, CARTER and HERBERT SLATTERY were hosts at a cocktail party for the Louisiana visitors preceeding the dinner dance at the Cherokee Country Club . . . The club was also the scene of the breakfast hosted by DOT and JIMMY ROBERTS on Saturday before the game. (Dot Roberts is Ann Love's sister.) . . . As our group was en route home, their plane caught fire, necessitating a delay of several hours while another plane was brought all the way from Fort Worth. Altogether, a very full week end.

EMY LOU BIEDENHARN left Friday for a two weeks visit in New York. She will be the guest of MARION GORDON - FRASER in her recently completed home at Amagansette, Long Island. Emy Lou will be home around the first of December.

When the ROY LEDBETTERS entertained at dinner on Thursday night, Helen used a most effective table arrangement of gray - green mats on a bare table. The mats picked up the colors of the Italian porcelain vegetables used in the centerpiece. On the menu were barbecued ham, cheese souffle, peas with mushrooms, and almond-jellied peaces. For dessert, citrus chiffon pie and coffee. There were eight guests.

JAMES MOORE celebrated his eleventh birthday with a skating party Thursday. The group played stop-the-music, with DOTTIE KIPER and RUSTY ROUTT winning the prizes. Doughtnuts and soft drinks were served to about fifty children who attended.

Newcomer LETA OLIVER was named guest of honor when JEAN GENTRY invited a group of friends for afternoon coffee on Friday at her home. Leta was wearing a brown crepe dress embroidered with copper beading and a corsage of white carnations. Among the guests we noted MILDRED JACKSON, lovely in an outfit of shades of lavender ond purple; and VERNE TERZIA, very stylish in a black suit with black fox collar and all black accessories . . . An old-fashioned nosegay flanked by a ceramic figurine of a hoop-skirted lady was placed at one end of the dining table. YVONNE ANDERSON presided at the coffee service at the other end. Cranberry cake, kisses, and other confections were served to about thirty ladies who called.

Jean was hostess at another party on Friday, this one honoring her granddaughter, BECKY HUENEFELD. Ten little girls in the second grade were invited to have supper and watch television. Hot dogs were the main course served with chicken salad sandwiches, salad, and individual iced cakes.

And speaking of clothes, we noted several new fall hats at the Junior Charity League luncheon meeting at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Saturday. Setting the seasonal mood was the centerpiece: a turkey made of pine cones and flowers, flanking an arrangement of dried material, yellow chrysanthemums and marigolds. BESS COURTMAN wore a deep cloche of raspberry felt . . . and EVELYN COLE, burnt orange felt with a slouch brim a la Garbo . . . The derbies had it, with CAROL M'DONALD wearing a steel gray brushed felt, MILDRED VANDERPOOL a brown felt with brown and orange band, and CLARA MONTGOMERY choosing high blue to compliment her all - blue outfit . . . MARNE MOUK's hat was a head - hugging band of red feathers.

BYRON GOYNE's tenth birthday was the occasion for a skating party on Tuesday. Stop - the - music winners were CYNTHIA TERZIA, BONNIE BANCROFT, ROBERT M'CUE, and MARY ANN SALISBURY, who were awarded silver dollars. Soft drinks and assorted doughnuts were served to about forty children who attended.

For our poem today, here's some advice for men by Georgie Galbraith:

Don't coddle me, my Lord, my love!
Take off that doggone velvet glove
And call me names you learned from Chaucer!
Kick my shin or sock my jaw, sir!
Please offend me, darling, for
I've simply got to go to war!
The world and I are at such odds
So many ways that, by the gods,
If I don't get to blow my top,
I'm going out and sass a cop
Or smash a window Dearest, think,
Than springing me from out the clink,
How easier to just provide
The fight I'm spoiling for. Beside,
Plus easing off my inner foments,
I love your more Cro-Magnon moments!

Miss Catmur R. F. McDowell Pledge Troth

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Susan Owen Catmur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Alan Catmur of Cedar Hall Farm, Ellendale, Tennessee, to Robert Frederick McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cecil McDowell of this city.

The bride, a debutante of the 1958-59 season, is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller Owen of Montgomery, Ala., and of Mrs. Harold William Catmur of Rustington, Sussex, England, and the late Mr. Catmur.

Mr. McDowell is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McDowell of Banbridge, County Down, Ireland, and of Mr. Frederick Charles Cobon of Oshawa, Canada, and the late Mrs. Cobon.

The bride attended St. Catherine's School in Richmond, Va., from which she graduated in June 1958. Mr. McDowell attended Webb school at Bellbuckle, Tenn., three years and was graduated in June 1958. He will continue his studies at the University of Houston.

The bride, a popular member of Memphis social circles, made her formal bow at a presentation ball at Memphis Hunt and Polo Club in December of last year. She was chosen Lady-in-Waiting of Girls Cotillion Club in the Cotton Carnival Court last May.

The wedding of the young couple was solemnized in Tunica, Miss. They will be at home in Houston, Texas.

Miss Catmur R. F. McDowell Pledge Troth

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Susan Owen Catmur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Alan Catmur of Cedar Hall Farm, Ellendale, Tennessee, to Robert Frederick McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cecil McDowell of this city.

The bride, a debutante of the 1958-59 season, is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller Owen of Montgomery, Ala., and of Mrs. Harold William Catmur of Rustington, Sussex, England, and the late Mr. Catmur.

Mr. McDowell is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McDowell of Banbridge, County Down, Ireland, and of Mr. Frederick Charles Cobon of Oshawa, Canada, and the late Mrs. Cobon.

The bride attended St. Catherine's School in Richmond, Va., from which she graduated in June 1958. Mr. McDowell attended Webb school at Bellbuckle, Tenn., three years and was graduated in June 1958. He will continue his studies at the University of Houston.

The bride, a popular member of Memphis social circles, made her formal bow at a presentation ball at Memphis Hunt and Polo Club in December of last year. She was chosen Lady-in-Waiting of Girls Cotillion Club in the Cotton Carnival Court last May.

The wedding of the young couple was solemnized in Tunica, Miss. They will be at home in Houston, Texas.

Junior Charity League Holds Club Luncheon

Highlight of the Junior Charity League luncheon held at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club was an explanation of the United Givers Fund and how it works.

President of the league, Mrs. Milas H. Sager, Jr., introduced James Moore who is this year's fund raising chairman for United Givers. Mr. Moore discussed how funds are raised and distributed through his organization. It was brought out that United Givers have 13 member civic and charity groups of our area and that by the united way 13 separate drives are eliminated.

Director of the United Givers fund, Don Kurtz, spoke for a few minutes following Mr. Moore. Mr. Kurtz announced that an effort is being made to form a Social Service Exchange which would determine the needs of the community and inform various groups what each is doing in this area.

The talks by Mr. Moore and Mr. Kurtz were the first of the league's new program of education for its membership under the direction of Mrs. Branton Kellogg.

Mrs. Harry Bell was thanked for a fall arrangement which adorned the speaker's table. On a bed of fall leaves, Mrs. Bell had placed a turkey made of pine cones and flowers. Beside the turkey on the leaves was an arrangement of dried materials in shades of brown used with varieties of yellow chrysanthemums.

It was announced by Mrs. William Dent that the plans for the league ball to be held December 5 at the Paragon Ballroom are made.

Mrs. Bill Giffen of Clarksdale, Miss., guest of Mrs. Don Giffen and Mrs. Charles Carmichael of Jackson, Miss., guest of Mrs. Benton Wakefield, were welcomed by Mrs. Sager to the luncheon. Mrs. Sager also announced that Mrs. L .J. Madden, Jr. will be the new assistant to the Thift Shop chairman.

Many Courtesies Extended Indiana Guest Last Week

Mrs. W. E. Gregory of Culver, Indiana, a recent guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Seymour on Park Avenue has been entertained extensively by her many friends made here on previous visits.

"Bernbet" was the setting on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Biedenharn honored Mrs. Gregory with a dinner party.

Arrangements of fresh pine boughs were used at vantage points in the party area. A large roaring log fire was set in the living room where the guests were served cocktails before dinner.

The table in the dining room was in all white. The arrangement centering the table was of French hand made beaded white flowers in a white French pottery bowl. This was flanked by five branched white matching pottery candle holders holding burning white tapers.

Dinner was served to the following guests: Mrs. Gregory, the honoree, Dick Nugent of Little Rock, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. King Stubbs, Mrs. Veggie H. Rivers, Mrs. Haydn H. Cutler, Mrs. W. J. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Woods, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil P. Jarrell and Mr. and Mrs. Biedenharn.

Today's Women

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

If you measure success by the amount of comfort, happiness and general good a person spreads around in a lifetime, then the nurses on the maternity floor of any hospital must be among the world's most successful people. Especially the night nurses.

For some reason unknown except to the powers above, most babies seem to start getting ready for birth in the middle of the night. And it is in the long hours between midnight and dawn that hospital waiting rooms become most populated with chain-smoking young fathers and anxious grandparents, waiting out the hours until a new baby makes his earthly debut.

At such times about-to-be grandparents sit on the sidelines, and have time to observe. It's a strange and wonderful experience to await the birth of a first grandchild and remember, perhaps, the birth of his mother, seemingly such a few short years ago. It's hard to realize that the baby you once saw for the first time in another hospital and another time now is big enough to have a baby of her own.

You get a call at your office one evening and your daughter says, "Mom, I guess you know more about these things than I do, but I think little Christopher-and-or-Anne is about ready to start. Maybe you'd better come over — it would be nice."

You arrive at your daughter's apartment and confirm her report. You help her pack a bag and say yes, you'll see that Charley gets some dinner. With daughter, son-in-law and bag you taxi to the hospital, see her to her room, meet her doctor and obey the nurse's request:

Back in the room, there's final discussion about the baby's name, ended abruptly when the young parents remember that they still don't know whether it's a son or a daughter.

Then there's the uncertain moment when your daughter, looking very young and scared, is wheeled off for her big adventure.

The night finally ends. The announcement finally comes. A bleary-eyed young father wrings the hand of a tired but smiling doctor and shouts: "Wonderful! Wonderful! Wonderful! A boy! Wonderful! Thank you, doctor! Wonderful!"

Grandpa and grandma can't get in on this act. But they can look through the nursery window at a small pink-and-white bundle, miraculously perfect down to the last tiny fingernail, and they can solemnly agree:

"He's the most beautiful baby I ever saw!"

FALL '59 TRAVEL SUIT ECHOES ANOTHER ERA — Reminiscent of the Greta Garbo glamor of the early 30's, this fall's smartest suits reflect a softened tailored look. It molds brown chiffon wool flannel into a double-breasted "mannish" suit that travels handsomely around the country — or to business. The featherweight wool flannel keeps its sleek, look — around the clock — across the country.

Don't Be Slave To Your Baby's Daily Airing

AP Newsfeatures

It's nice to be outdoors on beautiful days and if you can find the time, take your baby for a walk. But don't feel that the world will collapse or your child will suffer terrible harm if you don't get him out. You can be just as good a mother indoors as out.

There is a common feeling that babies become pale when they stay indoors too long. This is only a superstition. The healthy rosy color we like to see comes from good general health and good nourishing food. Of course, brisk cold weather brings color to the cheeks but cold weather doesn't make the red blood.

DON'T PANIC

There is also a feeling that fresh air increases the appetite. Perhaps, it does a little. If anyone, baby or grownup, is out in the cold he needs a bit more food to make the extra heat needed to keep his body at an even temperature. But this does not mean he is any healthier because he has eaten and used up a few more calories of food.

In very cold weather little children are so bundled up to go outdoors they cannot move around as vigorously as they can indoors with less clothes on. This is an argument for plenty of indoor playtime during the winter months.

Sunshine is another reason for getting outdoors. Surely it's nice and it's pleasant to get out into the warm sun, but it isn't so important that you must break your neck to get outdoors. Time was when sunshine was more important for babies than it is today. In years gone by babies who never received sunshine developed rickets and their bones did not grow strong and straight. However, these days we know that sunshine — that is, the ultra-violet rays of the sun — change a substance normally present in the skin into vitamin D which then circulates around the baby's body and keeps his bones in good condition. Nowadays we know how to give vitamin D to babies by mouth so it is no longer necessary for them to get this vitamin only from sunshine. There is not a great deal of ultra-violet light in wintertime sunshine anyway.

USE COMMON SENSE

Going outdoors is pleasant and fun. Think of it this way. Do it just as often as you can manage because you will enjoy it. But when the weather is bad, whether it's too hot or too cold or too windy or just not very good, don't feel guilty if you stay at home.

Sometimes a young mother has so much to do inside her house that she cannot seem to squeeze in the time to take her baby outdoors. Once in a while maybe it's a good idea to let some of the housework go and relax in the sunshine. However, if an hour or two outdoors means mother is up until midnight getting her ironing done, there is not much relaxation to that!

If you give your baby plenty of good food, adequate vitamins and a safe airy place for wiggling, he'll do all right in the house. Enjoy your outings whenever you can manage them but don't feel guilty when you skip them.

Amer. Education Week Observed By Lakeshore

Lakeshore Elementary School faculty has planned to observe American Education Week, which opened Saturday with TV and radio programs, throughout the coming week. A visitation program has been planned with invitations extended to all parents and others interested in the welfare of the schools.

The eighteen teachers sent invitations to the parents of their children asking them to visit their rooms at a specified time. Many have been invited to have lunch in the cafeteria, others will observe regular class work and still others have been invited to watch the TV music program with a follow - up of visual education (films) used in social studies classes.

The teachers feel that this program for the week will bring many to the classrooms that have not taken the time to see how little Johnny is taught the three R's plus.

The theme this year for American Education Week is: "Praise and Appraise Your Schools." This A. E. W. is really an annual roundup of efforts to renew and revive every American citizens' concern about their public schools.

Demonstration Given Drew HDC By Mrs. Dawson

"Meats in the Simple Meal," was the demonstration given by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, when the Drew Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. W. M. Roberts for their regular monthly meeting.

President, Mrs. W. M. Roberts, presided.

Plans were made for the regular Christmas party which will be held December 14th in the home of Mrs. P. M. Donald. Each member is to bring a gift to exchange, a covered dish, and something for their Bluebird Sister.

Mrs. Roberts reported that a Blue Ribbon was won on the Fair Booth. Refreshments were served to three visitors, Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Mrs. Alice Frankland, Mrs. Evelyn Hollinsworth, and members Mrs. Donald, Mrs. G. A. Strozier, Mrs. V. C. Brister, Mrs. Clara Gilliland, Mrs. W. O. Northcutt, Mrs. J. R. Agin and hostess, Mrs. Roberts.

She Lives And Loves Her Job

Every morning Jessica McLachlin congratulates herself on having found the perfect job.

Then she arranges the grapes on the breakfast table, adjusts the grape print draperies, makes sure that the grape-leaf ash trays are clean and departs for her office, to oversee the creation of new wine recipes in the test kitchens.

As home advisory service director for the Wine Institute, Jessica keys her home, her entertaining, her menus and even her clothes to the greater glorification of the grape. Says she:

"For a North Dakota girl who never even tasted wine until she was through college, I think I've come a long way."

Jessica lives in San Francisco, where she is noted for her smart dinner parties. She is married to Dr. Milton Greengard, an orthopedic surgeon, who fortunately also likes gourmet food, fine wines and lots of guests. Sometimes he does the cooking on the outdoor grill, sometimes Jessica does it on the kitchen range, but one thing is sure — somewhere in the meal will be a wine flavor.

"I have been working at this job almost ever since I was graduated from North Dakota State College," says Jessica. "I studied home economics and journalism there, and though the course did not include a study of wine, it gave me the basic knowledge o how to use it, appreciate it and write about it."

Jessica's passion for grapes extends to her clothes, hats and jewelry. She usually wears grape colors, from palest green, through the pinky muscat shades to deepest purple. She has a collection of grape - trimmed hats for all occasions. Sometimes she wears a small brown velvet hat trimmed with green velvet grapes —this with a suit or street dress. At a cocktail party she may wear a little hat made of black grapes and leaves. For an afternoon luncheon she may choose a hat of white grapes and delicate green leaves. Her favorite is a hat that was a present from her husband, who had it designed and made for her, in vintage colors.

Even Jessica's jewelry has a grape or grape - leaf motif. Says she:

"It's simply amazing how many things can be adapted to the grape design. The other day I even saw some shoes with bunches of grapes on each toe. Naturally I bought them in all colors."

MAKING A STRONG COME-BACK . . . in new homes all over the country, the dining room is enjoying extra attention from furniture manufacturers as well. Here, in this group is the widest possible choice of units to fit any dining area — different sizes and arrangements of buffets and china decks; round and rectangular tables in various sizes, with legs or center pedestal; and, in the junior sizes, a further choice of wood or plastic tops. The entire group is high in style, moderate in price, and available in natural-finished walnut or limed oak.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Diet In Pregnancy Is Most Important

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The term diet often antagonizes readers. It isn't fascinating — as are recipes for food — but sounds exceedingly dull. But during the nine months when a mother is carrying her baby and for the months when she may be nursing it, there is nothing so important as the way she feeds herself. It is at its best the cause of her good health and her baby's, and at its worst the possible cause of disaster.

She should know that if she starves herself to keep the baby smaller (good pediatricians no longer advocate this) the baby will be deprived of essential nutrients. If there is an abundance of food, both baby and mother will profit; if there is less than is needed, the mother robs the baby. (Samuel M. Wishik, M.D., Professor of Maternal and Child Health).

Even if the baby is larger at birth, the birth process will be easier. When a woman is overweight when pregnant, it is considered advisable to avoid dieting until after the baby is born.

Animal experimentation, which has to be used since it would be unthinkable to starve a human being to determine the effects, has proven that deprivations of essential nutrients during the pregnant period lead to malformations in the animal when born. We can translate this to mean that this can happen to the infant.

Below are some of the essentials of a good pre-natal diet taken from "The Family Book of Child Care," by Niles Newton, Ph. D.

Should Have

have four cups of milk, either homogenized, buttermilk, skim milk, non-fat milk or a milk substitute.

Two medium or one large helping of meat, fish or poultry; two eggs, three slices of whole grain bread or cereal; two oranges or other citrus fruits; four stewed dry apricots; three figs or one-half cup of raisins; one-half cup of leafy salad; one-half cup of leavy green or yellow vegetables; one tablespoon of butter; two tablespoons of salad dressing; one potato or other vegetable or fruit.

In addition vitamins A and D pills and 1 teasponful of nutritional yeast powder. Liver, kidney, ground beef heart can be substituted for meats or poultry. Use iodized salt.

These essential foods can be eaten in the amounts that are pleasing to the eater and other foods she enjoys may be added to them. Nothing very hard about this, but the results are inestimable.

What To Do When Johnny Has A Cold

By D. V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Colds are everybody's problem. The person who seldom has a cold is a rare and lucky person and I doubt if anyone exists (except perhaps a young baby) who has never had a cold.

Medical science so far has been unable to find either a quick way of recovering from a cold or a sure way of preventing colds. However in spite of not knowing the answers to these most important questions we do know a good deal about this troublesome pest, the common cold. There is a tremendous amount of research going on both in this country and abroad right now. The U. S. Army and the Public Health Service have extensive programs under way and in addition a Common Cold Foundation has been organized to further and coordinate all the research. But until some one comes up with the important answers we are going to have to muddle along as we have been doing for years.

We do know some things.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

Children have more colds than grown-ups. On the average grown-ups have between two and three colds a year. A pre-school child may have as many as seven or eight, a primary school child probably will not have more than four or five, and an adolescent usually has no more than three or four. Babies, especially first babies, have fewer colds than run-around children, but a baby living in a household with several older children has more colds than a baby who lives the isolated and sheltered life of the only child.

The prevalence of colds in children is just something we have to take at the present state of medical know'edge. We seem to build up a resistance to colds by just living — probably by being exposed over and over again during our young hears.

Another thing we know about colds is that they occur more frequently in winter than in summer. This has more to do with the fact that people crowd together more in cold weather. We stay indoors more, keep windows closed and breathe each other's germs.

A rash of colds is pretty certain to break out when a group comes together and remains in close quarters. Soon after the beginning of school in the fall you can expect a lot of colds. It is often true, too, that right after the Christmas holidays there will be another sweep of colds through the classrooms.

Colds are caused by a germ, one of those tiny germs called a virus. You get a cold because you get a germ from someone else. As you get older you are better able to fight off the germs because slowly over the years you build up some immunity to the germ.

There are a thousand ways to treat a cold. Many, many people swear by some pat remedy. Mighty few of them do any good at all and some do positive harm.

ANTI-HISTAMINES

The anti-histamine drugs had a great vogue a few years back but they have now fallen into disrepute. True, these drugs will dry up the annoying discharge from the nose, but they don't kill off the virus that causes the cold. The truth is if you have a cold you are better off with a runny nose — its nature's way of getting rid of the infection. If you just dry up the nose, the germ is apt to find a pleasanter place to live and migrate down into the lungs and produce a more serious disease than just a cold.

When your child has a cold, put him to bed for a few days, let him breathe some steamy air — its very soothing. Let him eat and drink as he wants and keep him happy and don't dose him with a lot of useless medicine just because you think you sould be doing something.

If your child runs a fever call your doctor. There is probably something more wrong than a cold. There is little or no fever with a common cold.

Someday we hope we will have this problem licked, but in the meantime you and your children, I and my children will have to live with the common cold.

Four Flower Arrangements Are Discussed

The La Petite Maison Garden Club was held Friday morning in the home of Mrs. Bill McCain on Glenmar with Mrs. A. H. Jelks as co-hostess.

Four members brought flower arrangements for Mrs. John Lewis to comment on and discuss.

It was decided to have a Christmas workshop at the December meeting.

Following the program, refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames High, Amos Smelser, Sylvester Breard, E. T. Heard Jr., Renaud Breard, Doyle Hamilton, H. L. Breard, Malcolm Smith, Robert Easterling, Robert Smith, John Stoddard, Carey Thompson, Charles Wilds, Walter Ernst, Jack Murphy, V. O. Smith, Lewis Breard, Ben Johnston, Samuel Savaso, and Curtis Cook.

Club Hostess Is Mrs. Evans

Mrs. W. B. Evans was hostess for the monthly meeting of Home Gardener Club. Acting as co-hostesses were Mrs. Aline Banister, Mrs. J. W. Webster and Mrs. E. F. Kenny.

Arrangements of fall roses were placed at vantage points throughout the house. Flower arrangements in the Christmas theme were brought by Mrs. G. C. Williams and Mrs. M. W. Montgomery. Red and white colors were used.

Mrs. M. W. Montgomery presided.

Mrs. Mosley introduced Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent of Ouachita parish, who gave a demonstration on making Christmas decorations. An outstanding object was the red net Christmas tree.

After the meeting Thanksgiving refreshments were served in the dining room to the following members and guest: Mrs. C. R. Clay, Mrs. M. M. DeWees, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. J. A. Funston, Mrs. L. R. NEW YORK (UPI) — The American public is well-heeled. We buy 19 pairs of shoes every second. This adds up to about 3½ pairs of shoes a year for every adult and child in the country.

One pair, worn steadily for 3½ months, takes a total pounding weight of 73,500 tons — more than the weight of the largest aircraft carrier afloat.

Ashley Leads Ark. Totals In Deer Kills

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Game Warden Erby Byrd of Hamburg has reported that Ashley County apparently continues to lead the State in number of deer killed for the first half of Arkansas' split hunting season that ended yesterday.

As of Wednesday night, when the last tabulation was made, 200 bucks had been killed in the County, somewhat better than last year's record at the same time.

Byrd guessed that as many as 350 deer may have been killed this year, compared to last year's record kill of 300.

For a number of years, Ashley County has led the rest of the State in number of deer killed. The reason for this is that the county has 400,000 acres of forest, with 27,000 acres of game preserve providing a constant supply of game of all sorts.

The Hammond Smith camp on Highway 8 North of Hamburg led the kill for the week with 18 buck deer. The Water Holland camp South of the game preserve was in second place with 16 bucks killed.

There were no hunting accidents in the county. According to warden Byrd, this accidentless record has stood for a number of years.

A West Monroe man, the Rev. A. T. Langston, observed his 30th year to attend the Barnes Camp near Mist, Ark., East of Hamburg. He and another man, Ernest Franklin, are the only two honorary members of the camp, with due-free hunting priviliges.

There were over 100 camps set up in the woods, most of them with permits granted by the Crossett Company for hunting in the Crossett Forest. The Company grants permits only to residents of Ashley County, Arkansas. However, holder of the permits may invite guests from other Counties and states to hunt on the land.

The second period of Arknsas' split deer season will open Monday, December 14.

Pinata Theme Is Ideal For Xmas Parties

Here's a wonderfully exciting idea to be used as the theme for a children's Christmas party . . . or as a part of the traditional party.

The idea—admittedly, is an old one, and not only that, it is borrowed from our Latin neighbors—it's the pinata party.

At Christmas time in Latin American countries, a brightly painted earthenware jar, called an olla, is bought in the market place and taken home to be decorated. It is filled with sweets and hung in a doorway. It was then called a pinata.

Children were blindfolded and given a stick. While the older folks watched, each child was given a chance to try to break open the pinata.

Prisoner Gives Birth To Boy

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A prisoner whose pregnancy led to the firing of three sheriff's deputies gave birth to a boy Saturday.

Lela Fay Fleck, 22, bore a 6-pound, 13½-ounce boy at City Hospital. She and the child were both doing well, the hospital said.

The baby is expected to be placed with adopted parents while its mother goes back to prison to complete a one- to five-year term for robbery.

The three deputies were fired earlier this week after they were accused of being intimate with two women prisoners in the county jail. The investigation of the alleged intimacies began with the disclosure of Mrs. Fleck's pregnancy.

Sheriff M. A. Hinds said Mrs. Fleck who became pregnant while an inmate of the jail last February, was not directly involved in the discharge of the deputies. He said a separate investigation of the Fleck case was still under way and that more deputies may get the ax.

T. A. Brulte Sr., O.D.

Has returned from the Advanced instruction classes in contact lens fittings. He will be in his office as usual.

Roadblocks Set Up For Suspect, 21

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) —Tord Ove Zeppen-Field fled to Yuma, Ariz., by bus after the slaying of a Hollywood divorcee and was believed hiding Friday on a ranch or farm near the Arizona city, detectives disclosed.

The Arizona highway patrol has established roadblocks in the Yuma area and has joined with the FBI and local authorities in attempts to find the 21-year-old Swedish-born, would-be cowboy. The discovery that Zeppen-Field bought a bus ticket to Yuma early Monday morning came after police reported finding blood stains on the car belonging to Zeppen-Field's mother.

Yuma is located near the Arizona-California state line, about 170 miles east of here. Edgar Hughes, a Greyhound bus ticket salesman, said he recognized a picture of Zeppen-Field in the Palm Springs Desert Sun as that of a young man who bought a ticket about 2 a.m. Monday—almost 24 hours after the body of Lillian Lenorak was discovered here.

Officers were believed also working on the possibility Zeppen-Field might try to cross the border into Mexico from Yuma, although they discounted it for the time being.

The search otherwise had been fruitless.

One tip lead to a dead end. Friends of Zeppen-Field, who always has desired to be a cowboy, suggested he might have gone to Chino Canyon on the northern limits of Palm Springs near Mt. San Jacinto. He often went there in the past to hunt for wild horses.

But a jeep posse found no trace of Zeppen-Field, who was wearing cowboy boots and levi trousers and a jacket when last seen at Indio, Calif., late Sunday.

More evidence linking Zeppen-Field to the death of Mrs. Lillian Lanorak, a Hollywood divorcee, was revealed Friday by police. A car belonging to the young man's mother, Mrs. Vega Zeppen-Field, an attractive former olympic swimming champion, was examined and found to have blood stains both on the exterior and interior.

County laboratory technician Ed Miller said a fingernail missing from the dead woman's hand was discovered in the car. Blood stains were found on the fenders and door and the upholstery at the bottom of the back seat.

Thursday, Brown reported discovery of an 18-inch sawed-off shot gun believed used to bludgeon Mrs. Lanorak. The "death weapon" was found between the mattress and frame of the bed in Zeppen-Field's room.

The body of Mrs. Lenorak, 42, was found on the outskirts of Palm Springs early Sunday morning. Six hours before, Dr. Frank A. Back, president of Zoomar Inc., of Hollywood, let her out of his car two blocks from the Zeppen-Field home after an argument.

The body of the woman was not identified until Tuesday, after Back read about the case in the papers. Her face had been struck four times with a blunt instrument, an autopsy report said.

New Attack Planned On Delinquency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The capital's chief juvenile inspector is pressing for a "school for the parents of delinquent children" to help in getting young criminals back on the right path.

This family plan of dealing with juvenile delinquency is the first step toward adoption of a much disputed "parental responsibility law," which would hold parents directly responsible for the criminal actions of their children.

Inspector John E. Winters, a veteran of 28 years on the capital police force and chief of its juvenile division for five years, has put the plan before the district commission, which governs Washington, D. C.

"It's about time we dealt with the root of the problem," Winters said in an interview."

"In most juvenile cases, there is something wrong with the 'togetherness' of the family" he said. "The school would be used to cope with cases where the delinquency of minors is a result of parental neglect."

Winters said the problem stemmed from parents "letting children do as they please instead of giving them guidance, old fashioned discipline and love."

He blamed modern theories of "not suppressing children," and "lack of communication in the family because of television," as causes for breakdowns in family togetherness.

Winters said the proposed parents school would be modeled after the traffic schools held by the many police departments for traffic violators. Parents of delinquents "whose neglect is obviously the cause of the kids going bad" would instructed by juvenile courts to attend the school.

"We would try to show them how to cope with problem children, and what their responsibilities are as parents," Winters said. "But we need a big stick to hold over parents' heads. The parental responsibility law is the answer."

This law has been called unfair because parents would be sent to jail for crimes committed by their children, he said. But if parents knew jail was facing them "they'd soon start keeping their children under closer supervision."

"After giving parents the opportunity of attending the school," he said, "if their children continued to violate the law because of neglect, then we'd take punitive action and send the parents to jail.

"It's about time we did something about youngsters, some just 10 and 11-years-old, roaming the streets getting into trouble."

ON DIVIDENDS, INTEREST

IRS To Enforce Tax Collection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is launching a campaign to get people to pay taxes on income from dividends and interest. Tougher enforcement is part of it.

Treasury figures indicate that the government loses roughly a billion dollars a year — and possibly more — because millions of Americans fail to report interest and dividends on their tax returns.

The Internal Revenue Service is launching a big educational drive to get them to pay up.

As a starter, corporations, banks, savings associations and other firms paying dividends or interest have been invited to help by sending shareholder and depositors individual year-end statements of earnings.

The revenue service calls the drive "educational." But a spokesman said tax agents would back up the campaign by scrutinizing returns more carefully for unreported interest or dividend income.

The agency is not sending any "crackdown" directive to its 64 district offices. But agents are sensitive to Washington shifts in emphasis, and veteran tax officials believe that one of their best "educational" devices is public word that the tax men are cracking down.

Officials said one reason many reason many people don't report dividends and interest is that they do not know they should. To help spread the word, the revenue service is preparing television and radio announcements. They will be broadcast starting Jan. 1.

TV cartoon film strips and radio plugs cost IRS about $5,000 to make. Some 60 big TV stations and many smaller outlets throughout the country have agreed to broadcast them without charge.

The tax collector also will bring dividend and interest income to taxpayers' attention by changes in the wording on the standard tax return forms and by including more elaborate instructions in the 60,815,000 tax forms that go out in January.

In another move, many corporations are expected to tuck a printed reminder of the recipient's tax liability in with fourth-quarter or year-end dividend checks.

But few corporations are likely to heed a Treasury appeal that they send out statements at the end of the year totaling up how much each stockholder received.

The Treasury made the appeal to influential industry groups, including the New York and American Stock Exchanges' lawyers, accountants and associations of corporate comptrollers and secretaries. Most were communicated with in the past few weeks.

Because of this relatively late start, officials doubt that many firms will be able to send out the annual statements this year. But they hope the campaign will continue to build up steam through 1960 and reap a much richer harvest in 1961.

Treasury Undersecretary Fred C. Scribner Jr., has outlined the list of revenue in recent speeches. He estimated that in 1956 more than three billion dollars of interest income and $1,400,000,000 of dividends went unreported.

Considerable dividend income is not taxable because the first $50 of dividends is tax free. Nevertheless, allowing for income rises since 1956, reliable unofficial estimates are that the lost taxes total about one billion dollars a year.

The Treasury hopes that corporations will help push the voluntary reporting of dividends and interest to stave off compulsory withholding. The latter would mean a great deal of extra work and expense for firms, especially for small savings institutions with many depositors.

Highway Work Set In Catahoula

JONESVILLE, (Special) — Proposals for the bituminous hot mix surfacing of two state highways in Catahoula parish will be received by the State Department of highways on November 18 according to Rep. W. S. Peck Jr.

The proposals call for the bituminous hot mix overlay of 12.6 miles of the Jonesville-Archie Highway No. 84 and the hot mix overlay for 6.87 miles on the Harrisonburg-Sicily Island Highway No. 8. The contract would call for overlaying the present roadbed with the bitumnous hot mix.

As a starter, corporations, banks, savings associations and other firms paying dividends or interest have been invited to help by sending shareholder and depositors individual year-end statements of earnings.

The revenue service calls the drive "educational." But a spokesman said tax agents would back up the campaign by scrutinizing returns more carefully for unreported interest or dividend income.

The agency is not sending any "crackdown" directive to its 64 district offices. But agents are sensitive to Washington shifts in emphasis, and veteran tax officials believe that one of their best "educational" devices is public word that the tax men are cracking down.

Officials said one reason many people don't report dividends and interest is that they do not know they should. To help spread the word, the revenue service is preparing television and radio announcements. They will be broadcast starting Jan. 1.

TV cartoon film strips and radio plugs cost IRS about $5,000 to make. Some 60 big TV stations and many smaller outlets throughout the country have agreed to broadcast them without charge.

The tax collector also will bring dividend and interest income to taxpayers' attention by changes in the wording on the standard tax return forms and by including more elaborate instructions in the 60,815,000 tax forms that go out in January.

In another move, many corporations are expected to tuck a printed reminder of the recipient's tax liability in with fourth-quarter or year-end dividend checks.

But few corporations are likely to heed a Treasury appeal that they send out statements at the end of the year totaling up how much each stockholder received.

The Treasury made the appeal to influential industry groups, including the New York and American Stock Exchanges' lawyers, accountants and associations of corporate comptrollers and secretaries. Most were communicated with in the past few weeks.

Because of this relatively late start, officials doubt that many firms will be able to send out the annual statements this year. But they hope the campaign will continue to build up steam through 1960 and reap a much richer harvest in 1961.

Treasury Undersecretary Fred C. Scribner Jr., has outlined the list of revenue in recent speeches. He estimated that in 1956 more than three billion dollars of interest income and $1,400,000,000 of dividends went unreported.

Considerable dividend income is not taxable because the first $50 of dividends is tax free. Nevertheless, allowing for income rises since 1956, reliable unofficial setimates are that the lost taxes total about one billion dollars a year.

The Treasury hopes that corporations will help push the voluntary reporting of dividends and interest to stave off compulsory withholding. The latter would mean a great deal of extra work and expense for firms, especially for small savings institutions with many depositors.

Highway Work Set In Catahoula

JONESVILLE, (Special) — Proposals for the bituminous hot mix surfacing of two state highways in Catahoula parish will be received by the State Department of highways on November 18 according to Rep. W. S. Peck Jr.

The proposals call for the bituminous hot mix overlay of 12.6 miles of the Jonesville-Archie Highway No. 84 and the hot mix overlay for 6.87 miles on the Harrisonburg-Sicily Island Highway No. 8. The contract would call for overlaying the present roadbed with the bitumnous hot mix.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Garden Club Show Is Tops

By MARY JARDINE

By CARRIE McKENZIE
Guest Writer

The Green Thumb Garden Club of Ruston exhibited lovely fall arrangements. Each arrangement rated a blue ribbon.

The materials these talented ladies used were those easily available to all of us. It was the skill with which they used the material which gave distinction to their designs. This is one of the joys of flower arranging to create beauty from the things around us.

GREEN BOWL

Mrs. John L. Mathew placed first with a clever and original design in which she used commonplace materials, cane, daylily, foliage, small mums and grapes. A green bowl, contemporary in feeling was used on a handmade mat of native green cane. The vertical background placements were cane and curled daylily leaves. The secondary placements were small yellow mums accented by large ones. Placed low and over lip of the bowl were green grapes. Mrs. Mathew used magnolia leaves to give weight and depth to her arrangements.

Mrs. Mary Bains and Mrs. Earl Puddy tied for second place.

Mrs. Puddy made clever use of Turk's head squash as a container for an arrangement which reflected the beauty of fall. The vertical line was created with sanseveria. Yellow mums which graduated to large ones gave rhythm of design to the secondary placements. Yellow and orange pyracantha berries were used as a focal point to relate the design to the container.

Mrs. Bain's arrangement of bright yellow and orange mums in a grey - green footed vase would make a lovely fall arrangement for a church. The design was a modified Hogarth curve. The first placement was canna leaves. To create the curve, small yellow and orange ones were used. Large grey - green ivy leaves added weight and depth which completed the curve.

In horticulture, Mrs. Puddy exhibited a beautiful varigated Daikagura camellia. Mrs. Johnnie Gay exhibited a feather - type celosia of unusual rose-red coloring.

Thanksgiving Suggestions: If you are having a large group for dinner and need a long tablecloth — seventy - two inch dark green Indianhead or burlap makes an effective cloth and can be used at Christmas.

Pods and cones gathered now can be used for Thanksgiving and sprayed for Christmas.

Our woods and roadsides offer many nature - dried materials now — grasses, vines, seeds, flower heads, berries and all size pine cones.

Fall Cleanup Suggested For Tool Sheds

By NORMA GAUHN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

For a pleasant glow about a job well done, make this clean up the garden shed week.

It's a dirty but rewarding task. For there's no greater incentive for an early springtime start on gardening than a line of cleaned, oiled tools and neatly stacked equipment.

First, make sure you've finished outside work such as winterizing roses, evergreens and other perennials. That means pruning dead growth or long canes; adequate watering before the ground hardens and a protective mulch afterwards.

When hilling up soil around your roses, better do it with dirt from other parts of the garden. Othewise you may be pulling soil from the root area where it's needed for winter cover.

If you plan to force spring bulbs, put them in pots and bury them in soil where they can be dug up and brought inside around New Year's. Dig up dahlia tubers, begonias and other summer bulbs for a week's drying before storing.

And now for the garden shed. If you didn't clean the power mower after the final autumn grass mowing, get busy and drain the fuel; scrape off hardened cuttings; tighten up loose parts; put on a dust cover.

Your hand tools — trowels, spade, pitchfork, cultivators — should be cleaned of mud and rust. Then apply a light protective coat of oil, using old mower oil or light machine oil.

Throw away leftover seeds — they should be fresh in the springtime to insure germination. Scrub and sort flower ports and seed flats; organize your fertilizer, insecticides, dusting powders so you can see at a glance what needs ordering at planting time.

Then comes the pleasant part — assembling potting material for indoor winter gardening. You'll need top soil, humus, charcoat, lime, bone meal and containers.

If you haven't yet succumbed to the lure of bringing the outdoors indoors, a visit to a plant store should convince you that now is the time to try.

There are literally hundreds of rewarding plants for indoor growing; the chief problem is to pick out the best one for your decorative purposes depending on available light and heat.

Philodendrons are the most widely sold house plants, coming in both vine and potted types. They need a warm, humid atmosphere with north or west light.

If you have a sunny, warm room try a schefflera, rubber plant or cactus; for a cool room with an east exposure, try fatsia or ivy.

Hybrid gloxinias are an effective flowering plant and do well in heated homes, provided humidity is high enough. They also need several hours of strong daylight.

For proper humidity, place plants in large shallow metal trays spread evenly with vermiculite, sphagnum moss or pebbles. Keep this material damp—not soggy — and moisture will evaporate into the air around plants.

THE HOME SHIFT

Sassafras For Color Splash

By MILDRED SWIFT

There are so many gardeners worrying about saving seed from the imperial candle tree. The seed just do not mature in this climate. Our summer is not long enough. Even if you saved the seed, they'd need to be planted in the hot house in February so they'd get a good growth by the time you'd put them out in the yard in April, or May. This is strictly a hot weather plant. Just be satisfied to buy you several plants each year. They're not expensive and give so much pleasure the two months they bloom.

SASSAFRAS TREE

I'm indebted to a very nice person for the information on the sassafras tree. She did not give her name or address. So let me say here, "Thank you." I'm quoting the following from the clipping she sent; "If neighbors say its difficult to inject fall color into your landscape, you can exclaim, Oh, sassafras!".

This is a tree considered a weed by many, which needn't hide its light — in an assortment of vivid hues — on the waste lands, where it usually grows.

M. J. Hooper, field representative of a tree expert firm says the sassafras is a technicolor delight and a useful decoration on the home grounds. While it is sometimes difficult to transplant, once established it will thrive in the poorest of soils. It is well worth the effort to try one or more.

The sassafras offers variety not only in it spectacular fall coloring — ranging from greens through shades of yellow and orange liberally splashed with red and scarlet — but in the shapes of its leaves. Foliage may be elliptical or mitten shaped. Three or four distinct kinds of leaves may be found on a single tree.

American pioneers not only drank in its chromatic beauty, but sipped sassafras tea concocted from its aromatic roots as well. If any of you have a sassafras tree in your yard, call and give us your address. And — let's have some sassafras tea. I love it!

REMINDERS

Some have already planted tulips. It's rather warm for these bulbs to be in the ground. Buy them, yes, but put them on the bottom shelf of your refrigerator until December. Tulips need a much colder climate than we have here, so by keeping them chilled for a while, we acclimate them to our area. Don't depend on tulips coming up again next year. Nor — can you save the bulbs if you dig them. They're worth the money for one year's bloom.

Put out your pansy and calendula plants. Both will stand lots of cold weather.

I see a few violets in bloom. The flower arrangers say before tying these in bunches for your arrangements or corsages, submerge them in water, over night, with the blossom in the water. These will stay fresh much longer.

Clean off your garden tools and shellac these before putting them up for the winter.

The ginkgo tree should be out in all its golden glory today, in the Layton garden, 1133 South Grand St.

The dogwoods are turning a lovely fall color, too. I even think the yellow of the red bud foliage adds to the fall picture. Of course the sweet gums and maples are beautiful, too, at this time.

New gardeners — be careful about studying catalogues from northern areas. Their weather conditions are different from ours so their recommendations can mislead you. Get your information and your plants at home.

When using peat moss as the humus in the soil, remember it has been dehydrated. It will absorb many times its weight in water. Be sure that this peat is thoroughly wet down, or it will rob the plant of needed moisture which could be fatal.

Woody plans are going into dormancy which means you can transplant these. Try to make your plant happy by giving it the same conditions it enjoyed before moving. Some plants like sunshine, some like shade. They all want good drainage which means going deep to break up the "hard pan." We'll talk more about transplanting later next month.

HINTS

When winter clothes and heavy blankets come out of the moth balls,, you'll find little girls skirt hems need to come down. Instead of vainly trying to press out the old hemline, which is nearly impossible to do, why not cover it up with several rows of bias tape or ric rac? This can be repeated on the sleeves and collar.

Here's something for the boys. Sew those buttons on with dental floss and they'll never come off! Or — if you prefer, use elasticized thread.

Certain hair - dos will help you overcome flaws in your appearance, according to the hair stylists. If your neck is too long, wear your hair long and slightly fluffy. If your neck is short, it's better to wear the hair short.

The little fingers of your children will be able to zip galoshes and boots more easily if a small notebook ring is attached in each zipper pull.

A nylon hair net is a good thing to slip over a feather hat when you're storing it. It keeps the feathers from getting ruffled.

Put a large cork on the tip of each knitting needle when you stop for the day — it will keep the work from unraveling.

Use your brain and save on brawn when washing the broiler pan of your gas range. Sprinkle a layer of detergent over the hot pan and cover with wet paper towels or old newspapers. Let it stand while you eat. When you're ready to wash dishes, the grease will wash off easily.

New skillets and griddles will perform more efficiently if properly seasoned before using. Scour the utensils first with soap and steel wool. Wash thoroughly in hot suds, rinse and dry well. Brush the surface with unsalted fat or salad oil and heat slowly until very hot. Renew the oil coating after 10 minutes and continue to heat again. Turn out the flame and let the utensil cool. Wash in sudsy water, rinse and dry thoroughly.

BEAUTY HINT

A famous make - up expert says use honey for a facial. Pat it around your eyes, massage it into the skin. Press your fingers on your face and pull them away briskly from the stickiness. Work it for about 10 or 15 minutes. When the honey is taut and looks stiff, remove it. Wipe your face with a towel which has been dipped in ice water.

If you think hair dying is more or less new, let me remind you that historians say that Egyptian women as far back as 3,200 B.C. were old hands at the art. Recently remains of mummies were discovered in tombs in Cairo with hair dyed golden yellow and fiery red!

The new look in men's suits this fall stems from an Italian style concept. The jacket is more shaped and fitted at the waist and somewhat shorter; there's a cutaway front, two button closing and trousers that are tapered and cuffless. That's the new look in men's clothes for winter.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday a specialist from LSU extension will show us "Trees in the Landscape Picture" Tuesday, Mrs. Ethel Fuller will landscape the west side of the garden; Wednesday, Mrs. Jardine and flower arrangements; Thursday, home economists from a milk company will bring you some of her fine recipes; Friday, marketing with Mildred.

See you next Sunday.

STAMPS

To commemorate the South African National Antarctic Expedition which leaves Cape Town on Nov. 28, the South African Postal Department will issue a specially designed 3-pence stamp on Nov. 16.

The main design features a globe tilted at such an angle as to show South Africa in outline and the South Polar region. A dotted line stretching from Cape Town to the area concerned indicates the approximate route to the base. The letters "SANAE" in the lower portion are the initials of South African National Antarctic Expedition. The wording on each stamp is in English and Afrikaans.

The Israel Philatelic Agency in America reports that a new currency ordinance will prove a boon to collectors of Israeli stamps. The Israeli pound will consist of 100 agorots rather than 1,000 prutots. All future values on Israeli stamps will be printed in agorots rather than prutots.

In recent years the value of Israeli stamps has been declining to such an extent that collectors were selling their stamps well below face value.

Now, with the new currency in effect, collectors who have a surplus of Israeli stamps will be able to exchange their excess stock for new issues at face value and not lose any money.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that the 4-cent Ephraim McDowell "Fomous American" postage stamp will be placed on first day sale at Danville, Ky., on Dec. 3, 1960, to coincide with the McDowell centennial celebration being planned locally. The stamp had originally been announced for issuance on Dec. 30, 1960.

The United Nations Postal Administration announced the procedure for obtaining first day covers for the World Refugee Year stamps scheduled for Dec. 10 of this year. The 4 center is red and olive gold. The 8 center is blue and olive gold. The 1959 issue replaces the Human Rights Day stamps which have been issued annually since 1952.

Collectors should send their envelopes to the UN Postal Administration, United Nations, N. Y., together with remittance.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

'Ideal Soil' Ratios Given

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The soil in your flower beds and in the beds where you grow seedlings ought to be as near the "ideal soil" as you can make it. Otherwise, planting, transplanting and seed sowing never will be a pleasure.

When soil has the right proportions of humus, clay and coarse sand, you can dig into it at any time, wet or dry. Perennials, annuals and bulbs that arrive from the nursery or from a friend can be set out immediately, and transplanting can be done whenever you choose.

RATIOS

There has always been an "ideal soil" in gardeners' minds. It is composed, roughly, of one third each of clay, sand and humus. Most of us do not have such dirt to work in, but we can change what we already have into something near this traditional formula. Heavy clay needs coarse sand. Soil that is almost pure sand needs clay, and decayed vegetable matter or humus has to be continually worked into any kind of soil.

Sand is necessary in good topsoil to let the air pass through. Every time it rains, the water passes down through the soil and then sucks in air behind it. If your soil is all clay, the water runs off, and no air can penetrate the fine texture of the dirt. When coarse sand is thoroughly mixed with clay, it holds the fine particles apart and prevents them from ever becoming a sticky mess again.

Dead vegetable matter or humus is the home of untold numbers of bacteria and other microorganisms. They feed on it and break it down into plant food. At the same time, each tiny particle of humus acts as a water reservoir. When it rains, after a drought, the humus swells up with water and holds on to it. The roots of plants then suck it up as they need it, and along with water, they also get their plant food in the form they can use.

We still do not know very much about the relationship of plants to the many micro - organisms in soil. We do know that plants in the heath family depend upon lower organisms that grow in slightly acid humus for part of the food. Azaleas, rhododendrons, heathers and many other plants in this group do not get their food like corn and beans. They must have their helpers in the humus or they will not survive. Some of our other ornamental plants are hard to transplant unless some of the soil and humus they are growing in is taken along to the new location. Perhaps their helpers have to go along with them if they are to survive. Especially in transplanting wild flowers from the woods, you should always bring in to the garden some of the soil in which the plants were found growing.

Top Economists To Meet In Jackson, Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Twenty of the nation's top economists will be in Jackson Dec. 8-9 to discuss expansion of the Mississippi Economy.

Dr. W. Paul Brann, director of the Mississippi research center, said this economic conference is aimed at raising questions at which state leaders should be looking.

"Underdevelopment results in overpopulation in agriculture and we need guidelines to trigger economic growth in Mississippi," Dr. Brann said.

Specific areas to be covered are income, barriers to growth, role of state government in economic development, foreign trade through Mississippi ports, national economy and how it affects Mississippi agriculture, manufacturing and market.

Conference speakers will include Dr. Alfred C. Neal; president of the Committee for Economic Development, New York; Joseph Fisher, president of resources for the Future, Washington; Robert C. Turner, professor of business economics at Indiana University; and Robert French, director of the port of New Orleans.

Garden Tools Deserve Care

By AUDREY DAWSON

Our garden equipment proves to be an expensive item around homes today and really deserve more care than some of us give them. This equipment should have some special care before storing for winter. For instance, sprayers should be washed carefully to remove spray residue and the tank and other metal parts should be coated with a thin covering of oil and placed in a dry place — better still is to hang it. Dusters should be brushed clean with a stiff brush, being careful not to get any moisture inside. After garden tools are used for the last time be sure to clean off dirt and rust — sharpen blades and coat the metal parts with oil and the wooden parts with linseed oil. You will be surprised how quickly and easily you can get to those spring gardening jobs next year if your equipment is ready.

Don't forget those leftover chemicals. Label each one carefully and store out of reach of children and pets.

To get a sharp cut through meringue pie, butter the knife you use.

When changing screen windows rub paste wax on the edges and they won't stick.

To keep narrow hair ribbons handy, cover towel bar with velvet and hang near dressing table. Velvet will not let them slip off rod.

To mail coin in envelope slit a matchbook cover.

Last year 10 million people in the U. S. wasted money on dietary fads. If you want to lose weight, see your doctor — save both your health and your money.

JEANS

The most popular item of clothing for boys and girls today is probably blue jeans. Although jeans are considered a standardized garment, they still offer enough difference in style, construction, price and other qualities for mothers to have a choice in buying.

Jeans on the market of either standard or western levi cut, the fabrics vary from light weight to heavy denim. They come in several colors besides the deep tone blue and faded blue. Style, fit, comfort and durability are considered in buying blue jeans. Shrinking and fading or bleeding of color in washing are the two most common problems in caring for jeans.

GIVE THANKS

The world is not perfect but here are some reasons that we here in America should be especially thankful, not only at this season of the year but through all the year. We should be thankful that 174,546,321 Americans are not Communists, that 38,435,329 couples will stay happily married this year; that 27,564,497 teen agers are not delinquents; 64,437,621 persons are getting regular pay checks and that 34,542,676 school children are learning to read, write and spell.

WEIGHT WATCHERS

It is good sense to cut down on calories by eating more low calorie fruits and vegetables and less fat and sweets. It is also sensible to increase your activity in order to keep your weight down. Dr. Ancel Keys of the University of Minnesota says, "Careful studies of the habitual diets of fat people show that in most cases the food intake is not really very large. The trouble is often mainly on the energy expenditure side, too little physical activity to burn up a normal diet." You will feel better, emotionally and physically if you get some exercise than if you try to do the whole reducing job by diet alone. "Exercise" says a committee of the American Medical Association is one of the important factors contributing to total fitness.

COUNCIL MEETING

All Home Demonstration Council members remember the date of your meeting has been changed to November 20. Invite the members from your club to come with you. One of the 24 clubs will be recognized for the best work performed during the past year and will receive a silver coffee service as an award. Mrs. A. T. Stout, one of our past presidents will install the new council officers.

A THOUGHT — No nation, no people have ever had so much to be thankful for as we in America.

Court Ruling

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Indiana Appellate Court Friday ruled against the city of Angola and for the happiness of Hoosier dogdom.

Angola officials had sought an injunction against Charles and Esther Hulbert on grounds that a post supporting a sign at the Hulbert's service station was less than 10 feet from the curb.

But the circuit court ruled againt the city and the case was taken to the appellate court.

The high court said the city had insufficient evidence to justify a reversal of the lower court ruling.

"Thinking of the far - reaching effect and general havoc that a ruling by this court might have upon the welfare and happiness of the canine population of our state, because of their natural inclinations when turned outdoors," the court said, "we have arranged this case with due and careful consideration."

"We cannot be swayed in our opinion by the particular desires of man's best friend," the unanimous opinion said, "but must determine this matter on the brutal and unfeeling basis of a legal interpretation."

MUSIC WORLD

By DELOS SMITH
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Probably there will never be consistent realism on the American opratic stage. American operatic audiences don't get it. When an operatic lady gets kicked in the pants most properly, they're not pleased. But when an operatic lady brushes her hair out of her face most inappropriately, they don't notice.

These incidents highlight the discouraging drawbacks on Manager Rudolf Bing's unremitting efforts to give the operas at the Metropolitan Opera at least as much theatrical reality as you'll find in the average movie. Opera is drama floated on music, remember; at least that is the theory. Bing has improved the dramatic acting standards at the Met enormously.

This season he offers a brilliant new production of one of the finest and most credible of operas, Mozart's "The Marriage of Gigaro." Therin occurs the pants-kicking. Lovely little Mildred Miller is playing the part of an adolescent male with a high nuisance value to older males.

DISLIKE PANTS-KICKING

Actresses in male clothing incur male hazards, and such was Miss Miller's lot in an opera which was acted out to the hilt. But the incident of the pants-kicking is likely to be dropped as the season advances. There was a definite audience disapproval. "Vulgar" was the mildest of the critical characterizations.

The hair-brushing was that of Giuletta Simionato who is new at the Met and who has a contralto voice of such richness it penetrates to the marrow.

She was playing one of the principal characters in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" which the Met this season has restored to its full power by producing it as a musical drama in which the actors really act.

BRUSH BREAKS SPELL

As the Gypsy Azucena she is dragged out onto the stage by a bunch of rough-neck soldiers who intend burning her at the stake as a witch. Understandably, the soldiers have bound her arms behind her back. Miss Simionato is commenting songfully on the situation in the most gorgeous tones when she takes one hand from behind her and brushes hair from her face. The illusion is broken.

She is not a gypsy en route to the stake at all, but an eminent prima donna respectfully and kindly treated by other opera singers.

Another case on this point, is the character of that well-known opera character, Carmen. The composer himself, Georges Bizet, said she was a vicious (although fascinating) creature who richly deserved her terminal fate of being stabbed by one of the men she ruined.

Rise Stevens has played Carmen that way season after season, but this season's first Carmen was played by Jean Madeira who made her a poor misunderstood little golden-heart, more sinned against than sinning. Thus one of the most realistic operas is converted into one of the more fantastic.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Garden Club Show Is Tops

By MARY JARDINE

By CARRIE McKENZIE
Guest Writer

The Green Thumb Garden Club of Ruston exhibited lovely fall arrangements. Each arrangement rated a blue ribbon.

The materials these talented ladies used were those easily available to all of us. It was the skill with which they used the material which gave distinction to their designs. This is one of the joys of flower arranging to create beauty from the things around us.

GREEN BOWL

Mrs. John L. Mathew placed first with a clever and original design in which she used commonplace materials, cane, daylily, foliage, small mums and grapes. A green bowl, contemporary in feeling was used on a handmade mat of native green cane. The vertical background placements were cane and curled daylily leaves. The secondary placements were small yellow mums accented by large ones. Placed low and over lip of the bowl were green grapes. Mrs. Mathew used magnolia leaves to give weight and depth to her arrangements.

Mrs. Mary Bains and Mrs. Earl Puddy tied for second place.

Mrs. Puddy made clever use of Turk's head squash as a container for an arrangement which reflected the beauty of fall. The vertical line was created with sanseveria. Yellow mums which graduated to large ones gave rhythm of design to the secondary placements. Yellow and orange pyracantha berries were used as a focal point to relate the design to the container.

Mrs. Bain's arrangement of bright yellow and orange mums in a grey - green footed vase would make a lovely fall arrangement for a church. The design was a modified Hogarth curve. The first placement was canna leaves. To create the curve, small yellow and orange ones were used. Large grey - green ivy leaves added weight and depth which completed the curve.

In horticulture, Mrs. Puddy exhibited a beautiful varigated Daikagura camellia. Mrs. Johnnie Gay exhibited a feather - type celosia of unusual rose-red coloring.

Thanksgiving Suggestions: If you are having a large group for dinner and need a long tablecloth — seventy - two inch dark green Indianhead or burlap makes an effective cloth and can be used at Christmas.

Pods and cones gathered now can be used for Thanksgiving and sprayed for Christmas.

Our woods and roadsides offer many nature - dried materials now — grasses, vines, seeds, flower heads, berries and all size pine cones.

Fall Cleanup Suggested For Tool Sheds

By NORMA GAUHN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

For a pleasant glow about a job well done, make this clean up the garden shed week.

It's a dirty but rewarding task. For there's no greater incentive for an early springtime start on gardening than a line of cleaned, oiled tools and neatly stacked equipment.

First, make sure you've finished outside work such as winterizing roses, evergreens and other perennials. That means pruning dead growth or long canes; adequate watering before the ground hardens and a protective mulch afterwards.

When hilling up soil around your roses, better do it with dirt from other parts of the garden. Othewise you may be pu'ling soil from the root area where it's needed for winter cover.

If you plan to force spring bulbs, put them in pots and bury them in soil where they can be dug up and brought inside around New Year's. Dig up dahlia tubers, begonias and other summer bulbs for a week's drying before storing.

And now for the garden shed. If you didn't clean the power mower after the final autumn grass mowing, get busy and drain the fuel; scrape off hardened cuttings; tighten up loose parts; put on a dust cover.

Your hand tools — trowels, spade, pitchfork, cultivators — should be cleaned of mud and rust. Then apply a light protective coat of oil, using old mower oil or light machine oil.

Throw away leftover seeds — they should be fresh in the springtime to insure germination. Scrub and sort flower ports and seed flats; organize your fertilizer, insecticides, dusting powders so you can see at a glance what needs ordering at planting time.

Then comes the pleasant part — assembling potting material for indoor winter gardening. You'll need top soil, humus, charcoat, lime, bone meal and containers.

If you haven't yet succumbed to the lure of bringing the outdoors indoors, a visit to a plant store should convince you that now is the time to try.

There are literally hundreds of rewarding plants for indoor growing; the chief problem is to pick out the best one for your decorative purposes depending on available light and heat.

Philodendrons are the most widely sold house plants, coming in both vine and potted types. They need a warm, humid atmosphere with north or west light.

If you have a sunny, warm room try a schefflera, rubber plant or cactus; for a cool room with an east exposure, try fatsia or ivy.

Hybrid gloxinias are an effective flowering plant and do well in heated homes, provided humidity is high enough. They also need several hours of strong daylight.

For proper humidity, place plants in large shallow metal trays spread evenly with vermiculite, sphagnum moss or pebbles. Keep this material damp—not soggy — and moisture will evaporate into the air around plants.

THE HOME SHIFT

Sassafras For Color Splash

By MILDRED SWIFT

There are so many gardeners worrying about saving seed from the imperial candle tree. The seed just do not mature in this climate. Our summer is not long enough. Even if you saved the seed, they'd need to be planted in the hot house in February so they'd get a good growth by the time you'd put them out in the yard in April, or May. This is strictly a hot weather plant. Just be satisfied to buy you several plants each year. They're not expensive and give so much pleasure the two months they bloom.

SASSAFRAS TREE

I'm indebted to a very nice person for the information on the sassafras tree. She did not give her name or address. So let me say here, "Thank you." I'm quoting the following from the clipping she sent; "If neighbors say its difficult to inject fall color into your landscape, you can exclaim, Oh, sassafras!".

This is a tree considered a weed by many, which needn't hide its light — in an assortment of vivid hues — on the waste lands, where it usually grows.

M. J. Hooper, field representative of a tree expert firm says the sassafras is a technicolor delight and a useful decoration on the home grounds. While it is sometimes difficult to transplant, once established it will thrive in the poorest of soils. It is well worth the effort to try one or more.

The sassafras offers variety not only in it spectacular fall coloring — ranging from greens through shades of yellow and orange liberally splashed with red and scarlet — but in the shapes of its leaves. Foliage may be elliptical or mitten shaped. Three or four distinct kinds of leaves may be found on a single tree.

American pioneers not only drank in its chromatic beauty, but sipped sassafras tea concocted from its aromatic roots as well. If any of you have a sassafras tree in your yard, call and give us your address. And — let's have some sassafras tea. I love it!

REMINDERS

Some have already planted tulips. It's rather warm for these bulbs to be in the ground. Buy them, yes, but put them on the bottom shelf of your refrigerator until December. Tulips need a much colder climate than we have here, so by keeping them chilled for a while, we acclimate them to our area. Don't depend on tulips coming up again next year. Nor — can you save the bulbs if you dig them. They're worth the money for one year's bloom.

Put out your pansy and calendula plants. Both will stand lots of cold weather.

I see a few violets in bloom. The flower arrangers say before tying these in bunches for your arrangements or corsages, submerge them in water, over night, with the blossom in the water. These will stay fresh much longer.

Clean off your garden tools and shellac these before putting them up for the winter.

The ginkgo tree should be out in all its golden glory today, in the Layton garden, 1133 South Grand St.

The dogwoods are turning a lovely fall color, too. I even think the yellow of the red bud foliage adds to the fall picture. Of course the sweet gums and maples are beautiful, too, at this time.

New gardeners — be careful about studying catalogues from northern areas. Their weather conditions are different from ours so their recommendations can mislead you. Get your information and your plants at home.

When using peat moss as the humus in the soil, remember it has been dehydrated. It will absorb many times its weight in water. Be sure that this peat is thoroughly wet down, or it will rob the plant of needed moisture which could be fatal.

Woody plans are going into dormancy which means you can transplant these. Try to make your plant happy by giving it the same conditions it enjoyed before moving. Some plants like sunshine, some like shade. They all want good drainage which means going deep to break up the "hard pan." We'll talk more about transplanting later next month.

HINTS

When winter clothes and heavy blankets come out of the moth balls,, you'll find little girls skirt hems need to come down. Instead of vainly trying to press out the old hemline, which is nearly impossible to do, why not cover it up with several rows of bias tape or ric rac? This can be repeated on the sleeves and collar.

Here's something for the boys. Sew those buttons on with dental floss and they'll never come off! Or — if you prefer, use elasticized thread.

Certain hair - dos will help you overcome flaws in your appearance, according to the hair stylists. If your neck is too long, wear your hair long and slightly fluffy. If your neck is short, it's better to wear the hair short.

The little fingers of your children will be able to zip galoshes and boots more easily if a small notebook ring is attached in each zipper pull.

A nylon hair net is a good thing to slip over a feather hat when you're storing it. It keeps the feathers from getting ruffled.

Put a large cork on the tip of each knitting needle when you stop for the day — it will keep the work from unraveling.

Use your brain and save on brawn when washing the broiler pan of your gas range. Sprinkle a layer of detergent over the hot pan and cover with wet paper towels or old newspapers. Let it stand while you eat. When you're ready to wash dishes, the grease will wash off easily.

New skillets and griddles will perform more efficiently if properly seasoned before using. Scour the utensils first with soap and steel wool. Wash thoroughly in hot suds, rinse and dry well. Brush the surface with unsalted fat or salad oil and heat slowly until very hot. Renew the oil coating after 10 minutes and continue to heat again. Turn out the flame ond let the utensil cool. Wash in sudsy water, rinse and dry thoroughly.

BEAUTY HINT

A famous make - up expert says use honey for a facial. Pat it around your eyes, massage it into the skin. Press your fingers on your face and pull them away briskly from the stickiness. Work it for about 10 or 15 minutes. When the honey is taut and looks stiff, remove it. Wipe your face with a towel which has been dipped in ice water.

If you think hair dying is more or less new, let me remind you that historians say that Egyptian women as far back as 3,200 B.C. were old hands at the art. Recently remains of mummies were discovered in tombs in Cairo with hair dyed golden yellow and fiery red!

The new look in men's suits this fall stems from an Italian style concept. The jacket is more shaped and fitted at the waist and somewhat shorter; there's a cutaway front, two button closing and trousers that are tapered and cuffless. That's the new look in men's clothes for winter.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday a specialist from LSU extension will show us "Trees in the Landscape Picture" Tuesday, Mrs. Ethel Fuller will landscape the west side of the garden; Wednesday, Mrs. Jardine and flower arrangements; Thursday, home economists from a milk company will bring you some of her fine recipes; Friday, marketing with Mildred.

See you next Sunday.

STAMPS

To commemorate the South African National Antarctic Expedition which leaves Cape Town on Nov. 28, the South African Postal Department will issue a specially designed 3-pence stamp on Nov. 16.

The main design features a globe tilted at such an angle as to show South Africa in outline and the South Polar region. A dotted line stretching from Cape Town to the area concerned indicates the approximate route to the base. The letters "SANAE" in the lower portion are the initials of South African National Antarctic Expedition. The wording on each stamp is in English and Afrikaans.

The Israel Philatelic Agency in America reports that a new currency ordinance will prove a boon to collectors of Israeli stamps. The Israeli pound will consist of 100 agorots rather than 1,000 prutots. All future values on Israeli stamps will be printed in agorots rather than prutots.

In recent years the value of Israeli stamps has been declining to such an extent that collectors were selling their stamps well below face value.

Now, with the new currency in effect, collectors who have a surplus of Israeli stamps will be able to exchange their excess stock for new issues at face value and not lose any money.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that the 4-cent Ephraim McDowell "Fomous American" postage stamp will be placed on first day sale at Danville, Ky., on Dec. 3, 1960, to coincide with the McDowell centennial celebration being planned locally. The stamp had originally been announced for issuance on Dec. 30, 1960.

The United Nations Postal Administration announced the procedure for obtaining first day covers for the World Refugee Year stamps scheduled for Dec. 10 of this year. The 4 center is red and olive gold. The 8 center is blue and olive gold. The 1959 issue replaces the Human Rights Day stamps which have been issued annually since 1952.

Collectors should send their envelopes to the UN Postal Administration, United Nations, N. Y., together with remittance.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

'Ideal Soil' Ratios Given

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The soil in your flower beds and in the beds where you grow seedlings ought to be as near the "ideal soil" as you can make it. Otherwise, planting, transplanting and seed sowing never will be a pleasure.

When soil has the right proportions of humus, clay and coarse sand, you can dig into it at any time, wet or dry. Perennials, annuals and bulbs that arrive from the nursery or from a friend can be set out immediately, and transplanting can be done whenever you choose.

RATIOS

There has always been an "ideal soil" in gardeners' minds. It is composed, roughly, of one third each of clay, sand and humus. Most of us do not have such dirt to work in, but we can change what we already have into something near this traditional formula. Heavy clay needs coarse sand. Soil that is almost pure sand needs clay, and decayed vegetable matter or humus has to be continually worked into any kind of soil.

Sand is necessary in good topsoil to let the air pass through. Every time it rains, the water passes down through the soil and then sucks in air behind it. If your soil is all clay, the water runs off, and no air can penetrate the fine texture of the dirt. When coarse sand is thoroughly mixed with clay, it holds the fine particles apart and prevents them from ever becoming a sticky mess again.

Dead vegetable matter or humus is the home of untold numbers of bacteria and other microorganisms. They feed on it and break it down into plant food. At the same time, each tiny particle of humus acts as a water reservoir. When it rains, after a drought, the humus swells up with water and holds on to it. The roots of plants then suck it up as they need it, and along with water, they also get their plant food in the form they can use.

We still do not know very much about the relationship of plants to the many micro - organisms in soil. We do know that plants in the heath family depend upon lower organisms that grow in slightly acid humus for part of the food. Azaleas, rhododendrons, heathers and many other plants in this group do not get their food like corn and beans. They must have their helpers in the humus or they will not survive. Some of our other ornamental plants are hard to transplant unless some of the soil and humus they are growing in is taken along to the new location. Perhaps their helpers have to go along with them if they are to survive. Especially in transplanting wild flowers from the woods, you should always bring in to the garden some of the soil in which the plants were found growing.

Top Economists To Meet In Jackson, Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Twenty of the nation's top economists will be in Jackson Dec. 8-9 to discuss expansion of the Mississippi Economy.

Dr. W. Paul Brann, director of the Mississippi research center, said this economic conference is aimed at raising questions at which state leaders should be looking.

"Underdevelopment results in overpopulation in agriculture and we need guidelines to trigger economic growth in Mississippi," Dr. Brann said.

Specific areas to be covered are income, barriers to growth, role of state government in economic development, foreign trade through Mississippi ports, national economy and how it affects Mississippi agriculture, manufacturing and market.

Conference speakers will include Dr. Alfred C. Neal; president of the Committee for Economic Development, New York; Joseph Fisher, president of resources for the Future, Washington; Robert C. Turner, professor of business economics at Indiana University; and Robert French, director of the port of New Orleans.

EXTENSION NEWS AND VIEWS

Garden Tools Deserve Care

By AUDREY DAWSON

Our garden equipment proves to be an expensive item around homes today and really deserve more care than some of us give them. This equipment should have some special care before storing for winter. For instance, sprayers should be washed carefully to remove spray residue and the tank and other metal parts should be coated with a thin covering of oil and placed in a dry place — better still is to hang it. Dusters should be brushed clean with a stiff brush, being careful not to get any moisture inside. After garden tools are used for the last time be sure to clean off dirt and rust — sharpen blades and coat the metal parts with oil and the wooden parts with linseed oil. You will be surprised how quickly and easily you can get to those spring gardening jobs next year if your equipment is ready.

Don't forget those leftover chemicals. Label each one carefully and store out of reach of children and pets.

To get a sharp cut through meringue pie, butter the knife you use.

When changing screen windows rub paste wax on the edges and they won't stick.

To keep narrow hair ribbons handy, cover towel bar with velvet and hang near dressing table. Velvet will not let them slip off rod.

To mail coin in envelope slit a matchbook cover.

Last year 10 million people in the U. S. wasted money on dietary fads. If you want to lose weight, see your doctor — save both your health and your money.

JEANS

The most popular item of clothing for boys and girls today is probably blue jeans. Although jeans are considered a standardized garment, they still offer enough difference in style, construction, price and other qualities for mothers to have a choice in buying.

Jeans on the market of either standard or western levi cut, the fabrics vary from light weight to heavy denim. They come in several colors besides the deep tone blue and faded blue. Style, fit, comfort and durability are considered in buying blue jeans. Shrinking and fading or bleeding of color in washing are the two most common problems in caring for jeans.

GIVE THANKS

The world is not perfect but here are some reasons that we here in America should be especially thankful, not only at this season of the year but through all the year. We should be thankful that 174,546,321 Americans are not Communists, that 38,435,329 couples will stay happily married this year; that 27,564,497 teen agers are not delinquents; 64,437,621 persons are getting regular pay checks and that 34,542,876 school children are learning to read, write and spell.

WEIGHT WATCHERS

It is good sense to cut down on calories by eating more low calorie fruits and vegetables and less fat and sweets. It is also sensible to increase your activity in order to keep your weight down. Dr. Ancel Keys of the University of Minnesota says, "Careful studies of the habitual diets of fat people show that in most cases the food intake is not really very large. The trouble is often mainly on the energy expenditure side, too little physical activity to burn up a normal diet." You will feel better, emotionally and physically if you get some exercise than if you try to do the whole reducing job by diet alone. "Exercise" says a committee of the American Medical Association is one of the important factors contributing to total fitness.

COUNCIL MEETING

All Home Demonstration Council members remember the date of your meeting has been changed to November 20. Invite the members from your club to come with you. One of the 24 clubs will be recognized for the best work performed during the past year and will receive a silver coffee service as an award. Mrs. A. T. Stout, one of our past presidents will install the new council officers.

A THOUGHT — No nation, no people have ever had so much to be thankful for as we in America.

Court Ruling

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Indiana Appellate Court Friday ruled against the city of Angola and for the happiness of Hoosier dogdom.

Angola officials had sought an injunction against Charles and Esther Hulbert on grounds that a post supporting a sign at the Hulbert's service station was less than 10 feet from the curb.

But the circuit court ruled againt the city and the case was taken to the appellate court.

The high court said the city had insufficient evidence to justify a reversal of the lower court ruling.

"Thinking of the far - reaching effect and general havoc that a ruling by this court might have upon the welfare and happiness of the canine population of our state, because of their natural inclinations when turned outdoors," the court said, "we have arranged this case with due and careful consideration."

"We cannot be swayed in our opinion by the particular desires of man's best friend," the unanimous opinion said, "but must determine this matter on the brutal and unfeeling basis of a legal interpretation."

MUSIC WORLD

By DELOS SMITH
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Probably there will never be consistent realism on the American opratic stage. American operatic audiences don't get it. When an operatic lady gets kicked in the pants most properly, they're not pleased. But when an operatic lady brushes her hair out of her face most inappropriately, they don't notice.

These incidents highlight the discouraging drawbacks on Manager Rudolf Bing's unremitting efforts to give the operas at the Metropolitan Opera at least as much theatrical reality as you'll find in the average movie. Opera is drama floated on music, remember; at least that is the theory. Bing has improved the dramatic acting standards at the Met enormously.

This season he offers a brilliant new production of one of the finest and most credible of operas, Mozart's "The Marriage of Gigaro." Therin occurs the pants-kicking. Lovely little Mildred Miller is playing the part of an adolescent male with a high nuisance value to older males.

DISLIKE PANTS-KICKING

Actresses in male clothing incur male hazards, and such was Miss Miller's lot in an opera which was acted out to the hilt. But the incident of the pants-kicking is likely to be dropped as the season advances. There was a definite audience disapproval. "Vulgar" was the mildest of the critical characterizations.

The hair-brushing was that of Giuletta Simionato who is new at the Met and who has a contralto voice of such richness it penetrates to the marrow.

She was playing one of the principal characters in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" which the Met this season has restored to its full power by producing it as a musical drama in which the actors really act.

BRUSH BREAKS SPELL

As the Gypsy Azucena she is dragged out onto the stage by a bunch of rough-neck soldiers who intend burning her at the stake as a witch. Understandably, the soldiers have bound her arms behind her back. Miss Simionato is commenting songfully on the situation in the most gorgeous tones when she takes one hand from behind her and brushes hair from her face. The illusion is broken.

She is not a gypsy en route to the stake at all, but an eminent prima donna respectfully and kindly treated by other opera singers.

Another case on this point, is the character of that well-known opera character, Carmen. The composer himself, Georges Bizet, said she was a vicious (although fascinating) creature who richly deserved her terminal fate of being stabbed by one of the men she ruined.

Rise Stevens has played Carmen that way season after season, but this season's first Carmen was played by Jean Madeira who made her a poor misunderstood little golden-heart, more sinned against than sinning. Thus one of the most realistic operas is converted into one of the more fantastic.

EWELL WILL STAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Ewell has signed to appear in a Broadway drama derived from the works of James Thurber.

Entitled "Thurber Country," the production is to include readings from and dramatizations of the author's droll narratives and fables. Burgess Meredith is to direct the venture for producers Michael Davis, Helen Bonfils and Haila Stoddard.

STAR — Pat Owens, cast as one of the nurses turned soldier, is in the exciting film "Five Gates to Hell", now showing at the Paramount Theatre.

NEWSPAPER STORY — Jack Webb stars as a night managing editor of a newspaper in the motion picture, "-30-" which costars David Nelson and William Conrad coming Thursday to the Paramount.

Science And You

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. atomic project has given away enough once closely-guarded secrets to enable any country or corporation with the necessary resources to embark on power and other peacetime nuclear projects.

But, says Charles L. Marshall, "I would hope that we have not declassified enough information for others to make weapons with what they learned from us."

Marshall is director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Division of Classification. He and his associates are constantly going over data still classified secret to see what further information can be made available to industry and to the Atoms - For-Peace program without jeopardizing U. S. security.

There was a time less than a decade and a half ago when it would have been a criminal offense for any person in the atomic project even to reveal its existence.

The world Atoms-For - Peace program and the growth of industrial participation in nuclear power development have changed all that.

Marshall estimates that well over half of all the informaton amassed by the atomic project is now available to anyone who takes the trouble to look it up.

Information still secret includes data on manufacture of weapons, atomic power plants for warships, aircraft, rockets, and ramjets; production of atomic fuels and explosives and explosive devices to be used in otherwise non-secret peacetime projects for digging harbors and performing other work with nuclear blasts.

Even in these categories, however, some information has been released. Two basic approaches to weapon-making, the so - called gun barrel and implosion bomb types, have been described in some detail.

An, of course, many military secrets are being shared with America's allies, notably Great Britain. But they remain secrets in the sense that they are being withheld from the world generally.

Information obtained in development of submarine engines has to a large extent been freed for use in civilian power development. Similarly, data acquired in the design and operation of reactors for production of plutonium have contributed to private power development.

Meanwhile, everything this country knows and is doing in the field of thermonuclear fusion research to harness H-bomb reactions for power has been thrown open to the world.

In the field of atomic fisson reactors, everything has been released for civilian power development except details bearing on plutonium production and military propulsion.

All the AEC knows about the distribution and health aspects of bomb fallout is being made public.

Still "very closely-held," however, is information on the gaseous diffusion process for separating fissionable uranium-235 from uranium-238. The giant gaseous diffusion plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Portsmouth, Ohio, and Paducah, Ky., like the plutonium plants at Hanford, Wash., and Savannah River, S.C., are still out of bounds to kibitzers.

In view of Russia's possession of nuclear weapons, why not declassify U.S. information on the military atom? There are two main reasons, according to Marshall.

In the first place, "We have better weapons than the Russians,'" and this country does not want nuclear weaponeering to spread any further than it has among the nations of the world.

LITTLE THEATRE

Rehearsals of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" are progressing splendidly with the final casting of the play. Paul Goldman has been chosen to play the part of Lt. Greenwald and Claude Fuller will play the part of Lt. Challee. These parts are very arduous and Ivan has done well to cast them so expertly. Other members of the cast are: Rufus Bruce (last seen in Pajama Game) who plays the part of Commander Queg; Val Ringo, who plays Captain Blakely; Frank Wilder takes the part of Lt. Steve Maryk; Bill Cody plays the part of Lt. Willie Keith, while V. P. Dalrymple plays the part of Dr. Bird. Craig Campbell is cast for the part of Dr. Lundren and Ed Anders as Captain Southard. Lamar Mullican has the role of Lt Keefer and the two Judge Advocates are played by Mr. Kenny and Joe Coster. Ivan needs five more men for non - speaking parts and he still needs Navy uniforms. Please help him.

The opera "Rigoletti" shown in Ruston last Monday night attracted a large crowd from Monroe. Some members of Little Theatre seen in the audience were Sophie Laudenheimer, Mrs. Myrtle Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cretney, John Henry Vaughan and Henry Haas Jr., Robert Rue and Marguerite Gignac gave a colorful performance and everyone was loud in praise of the presentation.

Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn is spending a month in New York, visiting friends and attending performances at the Metropolitan.

News comes from L. S. U. that Joan Magruder has been chosen to play the lead in "Cricible." This is indeed an honor and Little Theater is proud of her. Several members of Little Theatre have been ill and we hope that they have a speedy recovery.

Everyone is looking forward to seeing "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." When it opened on Broadway, the critics were loud with praise. The New York Times hailed it's craftsmanship as more artful than the book. Also generous with praise were critics from the New York Herald Tribune, World Telegram and Sun and the Mirror. This play reveals the court martial proceedings against a young, upright lieutenant who relieved his captain of command in the midst of a harrowing typhoon on the grounds that the captain was psychopathic and in this crisis was leading the ship and it's crew to destruction. Naval tradition is against the lieutenant, but as the trial progresses, the weakness in the character of the captain is slowly revealed in a devastating picture of disintegration. This is "the modern stage at its best" and the Little Theatre is to be congratulated for bringing it to Monroe audiences.

NEW YORK — Eddie Fisher looked so cheerful having dinner with Liz Taylor that somebody said, "What's he so happy about? He's not on TV any more." A shrewdie said, "That's why!".... The Jack Webbs and Joan Crawford saw "The Miracle-Worker," then they got little Patty Duke's autograph. "For our kids," they explained.

The payola-probers in Washington and New York will ruin about six Tin Pan Alley reputations. Kid singers'll learn they got famous not for their gittars or great voices but through payoffs, or "prices" of the their contracts and their hearts will be broken.

Jackie Gleason was pouring at a party at his Peekskill Round House (for Milton Berle, Buddy Hackett, and others) and didn't get to watch himself and Brendan Behan on "Small Wonder" when the Irish playwright appeared to be stinko. Gleason taped it a month ago. He assured me this crack "He's coming through fine here — 100 proof" was said as a joke: "I couldn't hear him very well and didn't know it if he was loaded," J. G. insisted. Gleason wants to do Behan's life story on B'way. "I want to do something dramatic and his life's certainly been dramatic," Gleason said.

One of the Wash'n. quiz witnesses — who paid celebrities to attend his parties in another city — offered Steve Allen $3,000 to come to his New Year's soiree. Steve refused. But other stars were paid $1,000 to $2,000 to be party guests — and were "booked" as such through a famous talent agency...Lynn Dalton, a Taffy Tuttle-type who used to be hostess on "The $64,000 Challenge," saw a gal on 5th Av. in the new French look and said, "She looks like she's got on shorts with a plunging neckline."

A feller named Feller — John Feller, of Forest Hills — told his son the other day: "Johnnie, you've got an exam coming up and I want you to study for it real hard — after all, this is no TV quiz!"

World-traveler Toots Shor phoned from Florence, Italy, and talked about $36 worth. "Europe isn't no different than America," he said, "except that in my store we drank booze and in the stores here they drink wine." Toots, Mrs. Shor, and Virginia Warren, dtr. of the Chief Justice, visited the Vatican twice, once to attend a special audience given by Pope John.

MISSISSIPPI OIL

New Discovery Told In Pike

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Another new oil discovery is reported from Pike County.

The Ballew et al No. 1 Holmes tested at 212 barrels of oil on a seven-hour gauge and flowed at 1,480 pounds pressure.

The wildcat is located in section 4, 3 north, 7 east, between the McComb and Summit Oil fields. It is two miles north of McComb and three south of the Summit field.

The wildcat flowed from perforations at 10,978-11,000 feet.

Southwest of the new discovery, Ballew, Elam et al are rigging up at their wildcat, the Cook-Sells Petroleum No. 1, in sec. 8-3n-7e, an 11,000-foot test.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. has abandoned its Pike County wildcat, the Lane No. 1, sec. 21-2n-7e, located seven miles south of McComb. Operators perforated and tested several zones, recovering salt water in all. The total depth was 11,482 feet.

Larco Drilling Co. is below 8,900 feet in its Yazoo County wildcat, the Gooch Lumber Co. No. 1, sec. 31-10n-4w, located near Satartia. The wildcat logged about 5 feet of oil sand at 8,783-92 feet. The venture is to go to 10,500 feet.

In Hancock County, Marshall R. Young is reported to be running electrical log in his wildcat, the Jordanacres No. 1, sec. 35-7s-15w, with reports that slight shows were noted below 10,000 feet. The hole is northwest of Bay St. Louis.

In Amite County, Larco Drilling Co. is below 10,000 feet in its important wildcat test, the Central Lumber Co. No. 1, sec. 10-4n-6e, located about 7 miles northwest of the Summit field. The venture is to go to 11,300 feet.

In the Gitano area of Jones County, Nelson Bigson is below 6,800 feet in his wildcat, the Raspberry No. 1, sec. 15-9n-13w, a scheduled 13,500 feet test. The venture is located near the Hargrave Oil Co. No. 1 Coats, sec. 9-9n-13w, which is being completed as a producer.

Lone Star Producing Co. is below 11,500 feet in its Copiah County Wildcat, the Southern Package Corp. No. 1, sec. 1, 10n-7e, northwest of Hazlehurst. Contract depth is 12,500 feet.

In Wayne County, Central Oil Co. is below 7,250 feet in its wildcat, the Hobdy-Green No. 1, sec. 13-8n-9w. The venture has logged slight shows of heavy oil at 7,384 feet, with contract depth 12,500 feet.

Field drilling during the past week saw one oiler and two gas condensate wells completed.

At Little Creek on the Pike County side, Elam et al finaled the Busby No. 2, sec. 14-4n-8e, flowing 299 barrels of oil per day from 10,754-80 feet.

In the Dexter field of Walthall County, Union Producing Co. completed its Lee No. 1, sec. 6-1n-13e, flowing 1,711,000 cubic feet of gas and 9 barrels of condensate per day. Completion was at 9,578-83 feet.

Humble Oil completed its Sandy Hook gas unit No. 1-2, sec. 13-1n-18w, in the Sany Hook field of Marion County. The well flowed 4,897,000 cubic feet of gas and 58 barrels of oil daily from 11,769-779 feet.

Abandonments:

Adams County — W. W. Heard and Petroleum Inc., Junkin No. 3, sec. 35-8n-1w (Forrest Home field) dry at 4,242 feet.

Franklin-Serio-Punches Oil Co., Cobb No. 1-2, sec. 30-5n-1e (Flat Rock field) dry at 6,605 feet.

AFTER STEEL STRIKE

Business Finds Tough Sledding

NEW YORK (AP) — Business started pulling itself out of the morass of the steel strike this week but found the going tough.

The steel industry fired up long-cold furnaces and got up to an estimated 45.9 per cent of capacity. It will be a long haul before near capacity is approached.

The automobile industry actually slipped deeper into the quagmire created by steel shortage.

Retailers in strike - affected areas didn't look for much of a Christmas shopping harvest from paychecks of workers back on the job.

Virtually all of the half million striking steelworkers were expected to be back in the plants this weekend.

The biggest steelmaker, U.S. Steel Corp., said it hopes to boost production to 70 per cent of capacity next week. Industry sources predict it will be four to six weeks before mills can produce at the normal rate of about 90 per cent.

Railroads and coal mines started calling their idle men back to work at a slower pace but iron ore-carrying vessels were quick to get into service on the Great Lakes.

Automobile production remained at the depressed pace of last week—a little over 60,000 units, down nearly 50 per cent from the same week a year ago.

General Motors shut down its last assembly line, increasing its idle workers to 220,000. GM said it will be four or five weeks before there is enough steel on hand to start assembling again. But there was a bright spot in announcement that 10,000 will be called to the Ternstedt body hardware plant by Nov. 23.

Chrysler closed its first assembly line. It said its other assembly plants are scheduled to operate next week for three or four days.

Pennsylvania Railroad halted its big freight car-building program in Altoona, Pa., because steel was exhausted. This put 3,500 men out of work. Carrier Corp. will furlough 3,100 workers this month in Syracuse, N.Y.

Strike area merchants weren't optimistic about the immediate outlook. They were expecting minimum purchases from workers who have accumulated bills during the long layoff and who hope to put some money aside in case the strike resumes after the court-ordered 80-day cooling off period.

For the country as a whole, retail trade climbed two to six per cent this week over the same week a year ago.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 16,195,437 shares and was not comparable with the previous week's total because of the election day holiday when the exchange was closed. Average daily turnover, however, was 3,239,087 shares compared with 3,470,992 the prior week.

Corporate bond trading amounted to $34,326,000 par value compared with $26.153,000 the previous week and $39,806,000 a year ago.

Retail inustry leaders predicted sales in 1959 will exceed 200 billion dollars, the highest in history. They looked, too, for the biggest Christmas business ever.

Soybeans Lose Glitter After Running High

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures lost some of their glitter this week on the Board of Trade after running up to new high prices for the season. At those levels, many dealers decided the time had come to cash in. They did and prices steadily retreated.

For the week, they declined as much as three cents a bushel while the grains were mostly steady to strong.

Both wheat and oats also hit new season peaks during the week and still were near the tops at the close. Corn, carrying good gains from last week, also encountered profit taking from time to time and ended in a narrowly mixed range along with rye.

The selling of soybeans appeared to have been touched off by the government's November crop report which estimated the 1959 yield at about 528½ million bushels, down only 1 ½ million from the October figure which many brokers expected to be cut fairly sharply.

Wheat and oats derived their support principally from the prospect for an expanded report business. Wheat sales by producers into commercial channels continued at little more than a dribble most of the time and there were reports that stocks of the red variety at eastern points were dwindling.

A good flour mill demand which popped open suddenly Friday accounted for a good part of the wheat advances.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1-2¾ cents a bushel higher, December $2.02¾-½; corn ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, December $1.12¾-⅞; oats ⅜-2⅜ higher, December 78¾; rye ● higher to ⅞ lower, December !1.34⅛-¼; soybeans 1¾-3 cents lower, November $2.21⅜-¼.

Rites Scheduled For Miss Downs

Funeral services will be held Monday for Miss Nora Downs, 75, of Monroe, who dies in a St. Louis hospital Saturday after a brief illness. The services will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at the Hixon Brothers Funeral Chapel in Monroe, with the Rev. George W. Pomeroy of the Monroe First Methodist Church officiating. Interment will follow in the Riverview Cemetery.

Miss Downs had been a resident of Monroe for 52 years. She was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Eastern Star. Before her retirement she was an employee of a local law firm.

She is survived by five cousins.

Pallbearers will be G. R. Downs, Sr., Lassley J. Downs, Dallas Thomasaon, Carroll Royce, Henry Bernstein Jr., George Snellings and Milling Bernstein.

Honorary pallbearers will be friends of the family.

Stock Mart Trading And Prices Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market got the news everybody said it was waiting for this week—return of the striking steelworkers to their jobs — but prices and trading both ran behind the previous week.

The market staged a short-lived rally on Monday following the Supreme Court's steel injunction. Nearly all categories shot upward in heavy trading during the first hour, but prices worked lower the rest of the season and finished about unchanged.

One market expert said the listed failed to follow through on the initial rise because there was nothing surprisingly good in the court's action. Others believe the 80-day injunction period merely takes the pressure off both sides in the negotiations, and possibly could make bargaining that much tougher.

The rails, although chief beneficiaries of the end of the steel strike, moved lower ofter a firm start and finished at new lows for the year.

The Dow - Jones railroad average finished the week at 149.45 off 4.65; industrials at 641.71 off 9.21; utilities 86.67 off 0.39, and 65 stocks 210.10 off 3.36. It was the first general decline in prices in three weeks.

Trading again averaged over three million shares per day but was under the previous week.

The glamor issues — electronics, aircrafts and rocket fuel makers—shot upward to counter the lower trend in the blue - chips. Space stocks were helped by the Air Force announcement of Dyna-Soar contracts.

Motors were mixed despite a sharp curtailment in production and employment.

American Motors again was the most active issue with sales of 493,200 shares. It closed at 91⅛ up 2⅞ in the week. Electric & Musical Industries was runner-up on volume of 406,900 shares and finished at 11¼ up 1¾. Studebaker - Packard with 280,900 shares Hiokol, 251,600 shares, and International Telephone & Telegraph 206,500 shares, rounded out the top five.

The auto section showed America Motors up 2⅞ and Chrysler a point, while Ford fell 3⅛ on word of Ford Foundation was going to sell another two million shares of the company's stock. General Motors dropped 2¼.

Tech ROTC Awards Day Is Thursday

Several persons from the Monroe area are scheduled to attend. Raymond Matson of Omaha, Nebraska, president of the National Restaurant Association.

Other speakers will be Fred Schmid of Los Angeles; W. H. Price of Austin, Texas; Roger Larson of Tulsa, Okla.; and Albert Moulin, Charles Mills, Albert Lyles, Jason Berry, Samuel Lang, W. Dudley Waite, and Martha Kelly, all of New Orleans.

Several social functions are scheduled during the three-day affair, including a breakfast for the ladies and the annual banquet.

Irish Head Says Money To Be Paid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Irish official forecast Saturday that some indemnity would be paid the family of a Negro maid killed this week by a car driven by the son of the Irish ambassador. He also thought it likely the youth would be sent home.

At the same time, an attorney representing the woman's relatives said the ambassador, John J. Hearne, had informed him that he an his son, David, planned to attend funeral services for the victim Sunday.

Young Hearne's car struck and killed Mrs. Jossie Hamlin, 54-year-old widow earlier this week. But all charges were dropped when he invoked diplomatic immunity.

The Hamlins' attorney, William S. Thompson, said Hearne contacted him and asked if the family would object if he and David attended the funeral. Thompson said he was sure the ambassador would be treated "with all the courtesies and dignity that go along with his office."

The lawyer said Hearne made no mention of any payment during their conversation.

"He (Hearne) was rather friendly and expressed sympathy," Thompson said. "But that doesn't help bury her or support other members of the family who depended on her.

The attorney indicated there would be a conference with the Hearnes when they attend the services, to be held at 1 p.m. Sunday at Cortland, Va., near the woman's hometown of Emporia. Mrs. Hamlin's survivors include two brothers, seven nephews and three nieces.

In New York, a member of the Irish diplomatic corp said:

"I am sure an indemnity will be paid, and I think it very unlikely the boy (young Hearne) will stay here much longer." The spokesman asked that his name not be used.

The 21-year-old Hearne has had repeated brushes with the law in Washington. In every case, including the traffic death, he has been protected from any criminal or civil action by diplomatic immunity.

Business Briefs

The Board of Directors of Arkansas Fuel Oil Corporation Friday declared a quarterly dividend of twenty - five cents per share on its common stock, payable Dec. 21, to shareholders of record Dec. 4.

The 1959 mid-year convention of Louisiana will be held Friday and Saturday at the Capitol House in Baton Rouge. About 100 members are expected to participate.

The Butane - Propane group is an organization of dealers and suppliers of liquefied petroleum gas, appliances and domestic and industrial gas equipment. Louis Freeman, "Oklahoma's Rural Philospher," will be guest speaker.

NEW YORK (Special) — Edward Malcolm Taylor, 41, has been named Corporation Counsel of Commercial Solvents Corp. The announcement was made by Maynard C. Wheeler, president.

A native of Hoboken, N. J., Taylor was admitted to the bar of that state in 1940. He is a World War II and Korean veteran and served as an Army civilian attorney and as a legal officer with the Judge Advocate General's office. His headquarters will be in New York.

Cotton Futures Prices Rally In Brisk Surge

NEW YORK (AP) —Cotton futures prices rallied briskly late this week to chalk up net gains of 5 cents to $1.55 a bale on the week.

Distant months sagged early in the week on southern and local selling. Later, though, the distant months more than recovered their losses on fairly active mill and trade price fixing, short covering and a relative lack of hedge selling.

The nearer months, meanwhile, edged steadily higher. Demand for the nearby December delivery was attributed in part to the smallness of the certificated stock.

The official forecast of the crop released by the Agriculture Department on Monday showed an increase of 109,000 bales above its report of a month earlier.

Before the official report was released, most trade experts had expected production to show a slight decline because of heavy October rains in parts of the eastern and western belts.

The Census Bureau reported, meanwhile, that 9,718,000 bales had been ginned through Oct. 31. Of the total, a record 2,722 had been ginned during the second half of October.

Ginnings through Oct. 31 represented 66 per cent of the prospective total crop, an about average figure.

According to reports received by the New York Cotton Exchange service bureau, cotton exports during the week ended last Tuesday amounted to only 55,000 bales against 47,000 a week earlier and 64,000 a year earlier.

For the current season through Nov. 10, exports had reached an estimated level of only 576,000 bales against 685,000 a year ago.

COMMERCIAL BUILDINGS
SHOPPING CENTERS

Modern architectural treatments developed the need for a Metallic-type building with a low pitch roof, such as the building above. The Metallic Lo-Pitch building combines all the economy and adaptability of standard Metallic buildings plus the Lo-Pitch roof that blends into the architectural pattern of modern shopping centers. Unobstructed, clear span interiors provide maximum usable space. These buildings are easily insulated and air conditioned and can be furnished with any type walls desired. Roofing and siding is available in six eye-appealing colors. Exclusive Stran-Satin color sheets have a two-layer protective coating of vinyl-aluminum that is vastly superior to paint — assures minimum maintenance.

These buildings can be financed through Metallic's own time purchase plan.

MISSISSIPPI OIL

New Discovery Told In Pike

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Another new oil discovery is reported from Pike County.

The Ballew et al No. 1 Holmes tested at 212 barrels of oil on a seven-hour gauge and flowed at 1,480 pounds pressure.

The wildcat is located in section 4, 3 north, 7 east, between the McComb and Summit Oil fields. It is two miles north of McComb and three south of the Summit field.

The wildcat flowed from perforations at 10,978-11,000 feet.

Southwest of the new discovery, Ballew, Elam et al are rigging up at their wildcat, the Cook-Sells Petroleum No. 1, in sec. 8-3n-7e, an 11,000-foot test.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. has abandoned its Pike County wildcat, the Lane No. 1, sec. 21-2n-7e, located seven miles south of McComb. Operators perforated and tested several zones, recovering salt water in all. The total depth was 11,482 feet.

Larco Drilling Co. is below 8,900 feet in its Yazoo County wildcat, the Gooch Lumber Co. No. 1, sec. 31-10n-4w, located near Satartia. The wildcat logged about 5 feet of oil sand at 8,783-92 feet. The venture is to go to 10,500 feet.

In Hancock County, Marshall R. Young is reported to be running electrical log in his wildcat, the Jordanacres No. 1, sec. 35-7s-15w, with reports that slight shows were noted below 10,000 feet. The hole is northwest of Bay St. Louis.

In Amite County, Larco Drilling Co. is below 10,000 feet in its important wildcat test, the Central Lumber Co. No. 1, sec. 10-4n-6e, located about 7 miles northwest of the Summit field. The venture is to go to 11,300 feet.

In the Gitano area of Jones County, Nelson Bigson is below 6,800 feet in his wildcat, the Raspberry No. 1, sec. 15-9n-13w, a scheduled 13,500 feet test. The venture is located near the Hargrave Oil Co. No. 1 Coats, sec. 9-9n-13w, which is being completed as a producer.

Lone Star Producing Co. is below 11,500 feet in its Copiah County Wildcat, the Southern Package Corp. No. 1, sec. 1, 10n-7e, northwest of Hazlehurst. Contract depth is 12,500 feet.

In Wayne County, Central Oil Co. is below 7,250 feet in its wildcat, the Hobdy-Green No. 1, sec. 13-8n-9w. The venture has logged slight shows of heavy oil at 7,384 feet, with contract depth 12,500 feet.

Field drilling during the past week saw one oiler and two gas condensate wells completed.

At Little Creek on the Pike County side, Elam et al finaled the Busby No. 2, sec. 14-4n-8e, flowing 299 barrels of oil per day from 10,754-80 feet.

In the Dexter field of Walthall County, Union Producing Co. completed its Lee No. 1, sec. 6-1n-13e, flowing 1,711,000 cubic feet of gas and 9 barrels of condensate per day. Completion was at 9,578-83 feet.

Humble Oil completed its Sandy Hook gas unit No. 1-2, sec. 13-1n-18w, in the Sany Hook field of Marion County. The well flowed 4,897,000 cubic feet of gas and 58 barrels of oil daily from 11,769-779 feet.

Abandonments:

Adams County — W. W. Heard and Petroleum Inc., Junkin No. 3, sec. 35-8n-1w (Forrest Home field) dry at 4,242 feet.

AFTER STEEL STRIKE

Business Finds Tough Sledding

NEW YORK (AP) — Business started pulling itself out of the morass of the steel strike this week but found the going tough.

The steel industry fired up long-cold furnaces and got up to an estimated 45.9 per cent of capacity. It will be a long haul before near capacity is approached.

The automobile industry actually slipped deeper into the quagmire created by steel shortage.

Retailers in strike - affected areas didn't look for much of a Christmas shopping harvest from paychecks of workers back on the job.

Virtually all of the half million striking steelworkers were expected to be back in the plants this weekend.

The biggest steelmaker, U.S. Steel Corp., said it hopes to boost production to 70 per cent of capacity next week. Industry sources predict it will be four to six weeks before mills can produce at the normal rate of about 90 per cent.

Railroads and coal mines started calling their idle men back to work at a slower pace but iron ore-carrying vessels were quick to get into service on the Great Lakes.

Automobile production remained at the depressed pace of last week—a little over 60,000 units, down nearly 50 per cent from the same week a year ago.

General Motors shut down its last assembly line, increasing its idle workers to 220,000. GM said it will be four or five weeks before there is enough steel on hand to start assembling again. But there was a bright spot in announcement that 10,000 will be called to the Ternstedt body hardware plant by Nov. 23.

Chrysler closed its first assembly line. It said its other assembly plants are scheduled to operate next week for three or four days.

Pennsylvania Railroad halted its big freight car-building program in Altoona, Pa., because steel was exhausted. This put 3,500 men out of work. Carrier Corp. will furlough 3,100 workers this month in Syracuse, N.Y.

Strike area merchants weren't optimistic about the immediate outlook. They were expecting minimum purchases from workers who have accumulated bills during the long layoff and who hope to put some money aside in case the strike resumes after the court-ordered 80-day cooling off period.

For the country as a whole, retail trade climbed two to six per cent this week over the same week a year ago.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 16,195,437 shares and was not comparable with the previous week's total because of the election day holiday when the exchange was closed. Average daily turnover, however, was 3,239,087 shares compared with 3,470,992 the prior week.

Corporate bond trading amounted to $34,326,000 par value compared with $26,153,000 the previous week and $39,806,000 a year ago.

Retail inustry leaders predicted sales in 1959 will exceed 200 billion dollars, the highest in history. They looked, too, for the biggest Christmas business ever.

Soybeans Lose Glitter After Running High

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures lost some of their glitter this week on the Board of Trade after running up to new high prices for the season. At those levels, many dealers decided the time had come to cash in. They did and prices steadily retreated.

For the week, they declined as much as three cents a bushel while the grains were mostly steady to strong.

Both wheat and oats also hit new season peaks during the week and still were near the tops at the close. Corn, carrying good gains from last week, also encountered profit taking from time to time and ended in a narrowly mixed range along with rye.

The selling of soybeans appeared to have been touched off by the government's November crop report which estimated the 1959 yield at about 528½ million bushels, down only 1 ½ million from the October figure which many brokers expected to be cut fairly sharply.

Wheat and oats derived their support principally from the prospect for an expanded report business. Wheat sales by producers into commercial channels continued at little more than a dribble most of the time and there were reports that stocks of the red variety at eastern points were dwindling.

A good flour mill demand which popped open suddenly Friday accounted for a good part of the wheat advances.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1-2¾ cents a bushel higher, December $2.02¾-½; corn ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, December $1.12¾-⅞; oats ⅜-2⅜ higher, December 78¾; rye ● higher to ⅞ lower, December !1.34⅛-¼; soybeans 1¾-3 cents lower, November $2.21⅜-¼.

Rites Scheduled For Miss Downs

Funeral services will be held Monday for Miss Nora Downs, 75, of Monroe, who dies in a St. Louis hospital Saturday after a brief illness. The services will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at the Hixon Brothers Funeral Chapel in Monroe, with the Rev. George W. Pomeroy of the Monroe First Methodist Church officiating. Interment will follow in the Riverview Cemetery.

Miss Downs had been a resident of Monroe for 52 years. She was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Eastern Star. Before her retirement she was an employee of a local law firm.

She is survived by five cousins.

Pallbearers will be G. R. Downs, Sr., Lassley J. Downs, Dallas Thomasaon, Carroll Royce, Henry Bernstein Jr., George Snellings and Milling Bernstein.

Honorary pallbearers will be friends of the family.

Stock Mart Trading And Prices Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market got the news everybody said it was waiting for this week—return of the striking steelworkers to their jobs — but prices and trading both ran behind the previous week.

The market staged a short-lived rally on Monday following the Supreme Court's steel injunction. Nearly all categories shot upward in heavy trading during the first hour, but prices worked lower the rest of the season and finished about unchanged.

One market expert said the listed failed to follow through on the initial rise because there was nothing surprisingly good in the court's action. Others believe the 80-day injunction period merely takes the pressure off both sides in the negotiations, and possibly could make bargaining that much tougher.

The rails, although chief beneficiaries of the end of the steel strike, moved lower ofter a firm start and finished at new lows for the year.

The Dow - Jones railroad average finished the week at 149.45 off 4.65; industrials at 641.71 off 9.21; utilities 86.67 off 0.39, and 65 stocks 210.10 off 3.36. It was the first general decline in prices in three weeks.

Trading again averaged over three million shares per day but was under the previous week.

The glamor issues — electronics, aircrafts and rocket fuel makers—shot upward to counter the lower trend in the blue - chips. Space stocks were helped by the Air Force announcement of Dyna-Soar contracts.

Motors were mixed despite a sharp curtailment in production and employment.

American Motors again was the most active issue with sales of 493,200 shares. It closed at 91⅛ up 2⅞ in the week. Electric & Musical Industries was runner-up on volume of 406,900 shares and finished at 11¼ up 1¾. Studebaker - Packard with 280,900 shares Hiokol, 251,600 shares, and International Telephone & Telegraph 206,500 shares, rounded out the top five.

The auto section showed America Motors up 2⅞ and Chrysler a point, while Ford fell 3⅛ on word of Ford Foundation was going to sell another two million shares of the company's stock. General Motors dropped 2¼.

Tech ROTC Awards Day Is Thursday

RUSTON (Special) — Air Force ROTC awards day for the fall semester is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 19, in the Louisiana Tech Stadium. The awards ceremony will begin at noon and will be followed by a review of the Cadet Wing. Lt. Col. H. E. Patty has announced.

Awards will be presented for outstanding scholastic achievement and leadership abilities. The president's ribbon will be presented by President R. L. Ropp to the outstanding second year basic cadet.

PRESENTED

The Professor of Air Science ribbon will be presented by Colonel Patty to cadets who obtained the highest air science grades in their respective years. Distinguished AF ROTC students badges will be presented to advanced cadets who have shown high scholastic ability and have distinguished themselves by demonstrating leadership at ROTC Summer Camp and at Tech.

Awards will also be presented for good conduct, athletic participation and for membership in Drill Team, AF ROTC Band, and Rifle Team.

HOWARD DOUGHTERY

Restaurant Group Meet Is Scheduled

New Orleans will be the site of this year's annual Louisiana Restaurant Association convention November 17 through 19. President of the organization, Howard Daugherty of Lake Charles, will preside.

Several persons from the Monroe area are scheduled to attend. Raymond Matson of Omaha, Nebraska, president of the National Restaurant Association.

Other speakers will be Fred Schmid of Los Angeles; W. H. Price of Austin, Texas; Roger Larson of Tulsa, Okla.; and Albert Moulin, Charles Mills, Albert Lyles, Jason Berry, Samuel Lang, W. Dudley Waite, and Martha Kelly, all of New Orleans.

Several social functions are scheduled during the three-day affair, including a breakfast for the ladies and the annual banquet.

Irish Head Says Money To Be Paid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Irish official forecast Saturday that some indemnity would be paid the family of a Negro maid killed this week by a car driven by the son of the Irish ambassador. He also thought it likely the youth would be sent home.

At the same time, an attorney representing the woman's relatives said the ambassador, John J. Hearne, had informed him that he an his son, David, planned to attend funeral services for the victim Sunday.

Young Hearne's car struck and killed Mrs. Jossie Hamlin, 54-year-old widow earlier this week. But all charges were dropped when he invoked diplomatic immunity.

The Hamlins' attorney, William S. Thompson, said Hearne contacted him and asked if the family would object if he and David attended the funeral. Thompson said he was sure the ambassador would be treated "with all the courtesies and dignity that go along with his office."

The lawyer said Hearne made no mention of any payment during their conversation.

"He (Hearne) was rather friendly and expressed sympathy," Thompson said. "But that doesn't help bury her or support other members of the family who depended on her.

The attorney indicated there would be a conference with the Hearnes when they attend the services, to be held at 1 p.m. Sunday at Cortland, Va., near the woman's hometown of Emporia. Mrs. Hamlin's survivors include two brothers, seven nephews and three nieces.

In New York, a member of the Irish diplomatic corp said:

"I am sure an indemnity will be paid, and I think it very unlikely the boy (young Hearne) will stay here much longer." The spokesman asked that his name not be used.

The 21-year-old Hearne has had repeated brushes with the law in Washington. In every case, including the traffic death, he has been protected from any criminal or civil action by diplomatic immunity.

Business Briefs

The Board of Directors of Arkansas Fuel Oil Corporation Friday declared a quarterly dividend of twenty - five cents per share on its common stock, payable Dec. 21, to shareholders of record Dec. 4.

The 1959 mid-year convention of Louisiana will be held Friday and Saturday at the Capitol House in Baton Rouge. About 100 members are expected to participate.

The Butane - Propane group is an organization of dealers and suppliers of liquefied petroleum gas, appliances and domestic and industrial gas equipment. Louis Freeman, "Oklahoma's Rural Philospher," will be guest speaker.

NEW YORK (Special) — Edward Malcolm Taylor, 41, has been named Corporation Counsel of Commercial Solvents Corp. The announcement was made by Maynard C. Wheeler, president.

A native of Hoboken, N. J., Taylor was admitted to the bar of that state in 1940. He is a World War II and Korean veteran and served as an Army civilian attorney and as a legal officer with the Judge Advocate General's office. His headquarters will be in New York.

Cotton Futures Prices Rally In Brisk Surge

NEW YORK (AP) —Cotton futures prices rallied briskly late this week to chalk up net gains of 5 cents to $1.55 a bale on the week.

Distant months sagged early in the week on southern and local selling. Later, though, the distant months more than recovered their losses on fairly active mill and trade price fixing, short covering and a relative lack of hedge selling.

The nearer months, meanwhile, edged steadily higher. Demand for the nearby December delivery was attributed in part to the smallness of the certificated stock.

The official forecast of the crop released by the Agriculture Department on Monday showed an increase of 109,000 bales above its report of a month earlier.

Before the official report was released, most trade experts had expected production to show a slight decline because of heavy October rains in parts of the eastern and western belts.

The Census Bureau reported, meanwhile, that 9,718,000 bales had been ginned through Oct. 31. Of the total, a record 2,722 had been ginned during the second half of October.

Ginnings through Oct. 31 represented 66 per cent of the prospective total crop, an about average figure.

According to reports received by the New York Cotton Exchange service bureau, cotton exports during the week ended last Tuesday amounted to only 55,000 bales against 47,000 a week earlier and 64,000 a year earlier.

For the current season through Nov. 10, exports had reached an estimated level of only 576,000 bales against 685,000 a year ago.

LaSalle Vote Registration Near 6, 800

OLLA (Special) — Fred F. Allen, registrar of voters in LaSalle Parish, reported that the parish has about the same number of voters as in the last primary election, 6,800, that will be qualified to cast their votes in the primary election, December 5.

Allen said there are twenty - six precincts in the seven wards of LaSalle Parish.

The number of voters in each of the wards is approximately Ward one, 170; Ward two, 184; Ward three, 1088; Ward four 2,777; Ward five, 524; Ward six, 127; Ward seven, 207.

METALLIC'S NEW LO-PITCH BUILDINGS

Modern architectural treatments developed the need for a Metallic-type building with a low pitch roof, such as the building above. The Metallic Lo-Pitch building combines all the economy and adaptability of standard Metallic buildings plus the Lo-Pitch roof that blends into the architectural pattern of modern shopping centers. Unobstructed, clear span interiors provide maximum usable space. These buildings are easily insulated and air conditioned and can be furnished with any type walls desired. Roofing and siding is available in six eye-appealing colors. Exclusive Stran-Satin color sheets have a two-layer protective coating of vinyl-aluminum that is vastly superior to paint — assures minimum maintenance.

These buildings can be financed through Metallic's own time purchase plan.

Schizophrenic Mystery May Near Solving

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A German psychiatrist said Saturday new drugs may unlock the mystery of why schizophrenics get that way.

Schizophrenics are called split personalities. They often are extremely violent.

Dr. F. G. Stockhausen, staff physician at a mental hospital in Bonn, told 300 psychiatrists at the University of Texas that tetrabenazine tests on 70 patients with schizophrenia had brought marked improvement in 12 hours to three days.

He said a follow-through on the drug may permit psychiatrists to understand the ailment and why it affects some persons and not others.

"If this could be done, it would be a milestone in research," he said.

Dr. Norman Lende of Saribault State School and Hospital in Minnesota said tetrabenazine is the most effective drug yet used on mental patients.

Dr. Arthur L. Scherbel of the Cleveland, Ohio, Clinic called another drug, Marplan, a paradox.

"In one instance it masks the pain but does not heal," he said. "In another it masks the pain as well as heals."

He said the drug eases pain of connected-tissue diseases such as rheumatoid arthritis and chronic colitis while at times actng as a healer. The drug also shows favorable results, he said, on central nervous system disorders.

Special Week Observance Set

GRAMBLING (Special) — Rev. A. Edward Davis, pastor of the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church in Chicago will be the featured speaker at the special Grambling College Vesper Service today at 6:00 p.m., being held in commemoration of National Achievement Week an annual observance under the auspices of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

"The Achievement of Excellence: Today's Challenge, Tomorrow's Necessity" is the theme of the observance, now in its 34th year as a national observance of the organization. The purpose of National Achievement Week is to focus attention on worthwhile achievements and to stimulate youth and others to greater attainments.

Set Cooking Instruction At Grambling

GRAMBLING (Special) — A meat cooking demonstration under the auspices of the Grambling College Home Economics Department will be presented at the school Tuesday, November 24, to accquaint homemakers with the latest developments in this important food field, it was announced by Mrs. Fidelia O. Johnson, head of the department.

The demonstrations, the department chairman said, will be conducted by Mrs. Hattie H. McSwain, field home economist with the National Livestock and Meat Board. She will give special demonstrations explaining every move in preparing meat dishes which will appeal to every member of the family.

FOOD

"Meat is an accomodating food," Mrs. McSwain has said, "and it offers a wide range of selection for the homemaker to keep her family well fed."

Several of the presentations will be special recipes developed and tested in the kitchens of the National Livestock and Meat Board, a national authority on the selection, care, cooking and serving of meat.

Mrs. Johnson said thatpersons who attend the demonstrations will also be given an attractive and practical meat recipe book.

Schizophrenic Mystery May Near Solving

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A German psychiatrist said Saturday new drugs may unlock the mystery of why schizophrenics get that way.

Schizophrenics are called split personalities. They often are extremely violent.

Dr. F. G. Stockhausen, staff physician at a mental hospital in Bonn, told 300 psychiatrists at the University of Texas that tetrabenazine tests on 70 patients with schizophrenia had brought marked improvement in 12 hours to three days.

He said a follow-through on the drug may permit psychiatrists to understand the ailment and why it affects some persons and not others.

"If this could be done, it would be a milestone in research," he said.

Dr. Norman Lende of Saribault State School and Hospital in Minnesota said tetrabenazine is the most effective drug yet used on mental patients.

Dr. Arthur L. Scherbel of the Cleveland, Ohio, Clinic called another drug, Marplan, a paradox.

"In one instance it masks the pain but does not heal," he said. "In another it masks the pain as well as heals."

He said the drug eases pain of connected-tissue diseases such as rheumatoid arthritis and chronic colitis while at times actng as a healer. The drug also shows favorable results, he said, on central nervous system disorders.

Special Week Observance Set

GRAMBLING (Special) — Rev. A. Edward Davis, pastor of the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church in Chicago will be the featured speaker at the special Grambling College Vesper Service today at 6:00 p.m., being held in commemoration of National Achievement Week an annual observance under the auspices of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

"The Achievement of Excellence: Today's Challenge, Tomorrow's Necessity" is the theme of the observance, now in its 34th year as a national observance of the organization. The purpose of National Achievement Week is to focus attention on worthwhile achievements and to stimulate youth and others to greater attainments.

Set Cooking Instruction At Grambling

GRAMBLING (Special) — A meat cooking demonstration under the auspices of the Grambling College Home Economics Department will be presented at the school Tuesday, November 24, to accquaint homemakers with the latest developments in this important food field, it was announced by Mrs. Fidelia O. Johnson, head of the department.

The demonstrations, the department chairman said, will be conducted by Mrs. Hattie H. McSwain, field home economist with the National Livestock and Meat Board. She will give special demonstrations explaining every move in preparing meat dishes which will appeal to every member of the family.

FOOD

"Meat is an accomodating food," Mrs. McSwain has said, "and it offers a wide range of selection for the homemaker to keep her family well fed."

Several of the presentations will be special recipes developed and tested in the kitchens of the National Livestock and Meat Board, a national authority on the selection, care, cooking and serving of meat.

Mrs. Johnson said thatpersons who attend the demonstrations will also be given an attractive and practical meat recipe book.

BARGAIN HOME

Homes below $7,000 are few and far between, but we have a six room home just outside West Monroe city limits. It's supplied with natural gas, water, and septic tank. There's enough room with the 210x420 lot (OFF HY. 80, W. M.) to divide it into 2 to 4 lots. Sure, it needs some work, but look at the price! It's truly maximum value in the low priced field.

STERLINGTON
ASSUME 4½% LOAN

This neat 3 bedroom home is just a few minutes drive from the business district of Sterlington. The tastefully carpeted and draped living room radiates gracious living. All 3 bedrooms are extra large. Two cheery baths eliminate "traffic problems." This lovely home is situated on a hillcrest site for beauty and privacy. There's no big price tag on this feature rich home, as it's priced below $13,500.

CAREFREE LIVING

Is yours in this 3 bedroom brick home in KIROLI WOODS, WEST MONROE. Wall heaters maintain even heating throughout this compact home. There are 1½ baths with shower over tub. The children will have a play park of their own as there's cyclone fencing. Your ticket to carefree living in this home is just $500 plus closing costs.

TRIUMPH IN BEAUTY

You're sure to agree when you see this well constructed new home. It's on the NORTHSIDE, just ONE BLOCK FROM LEE JUNIOR HIGH. The 1½ tile baths add to the convenience of this modern as the minute home. Mom's kitchen is beautiful with its built-in Tappan oven and range and Nutone hood. The 1500 sq. feet of this lovely home is adequately cooled by central air conditioning. Dad's heart will be made glad at the sight of the roomy double carport. Quality usually cannot be bought for this price (less than $20,000).

Convenient Sterlington
Location

Is one of the features of this most livable home that has been recently redecorated. Family "togetherness" will be felt in the spacious living room. Oak floors will mean less work for Mom. Floor furnaces will cut the number of "sniffles" in your family this winter. The yard is lovely and completely fenced. Just $250 and closing will put you on the road to becoming a satisfied home owner.

LOSE NO TIME

In seeing this cute and cozy 2 bedroom home which will make your friends praise your choice. It's well located (OFF SPENCER BLVD.) and is convenient to churches, Lexington School, and shopping centers. The living room and hall have luxurious carpeting. There's also clean, central heating and a window air conditioner. You'll have no traffic hazard with your children in the fenced back yard. All of this and more is yours for less than $12,000.

3 BEDROOMS AND DEN

This attractive home is JUST ACROSS FROM LEXINGTON SCHOOL. The house is exceptionally well planned so there's not an inch of wasted space. The den is ideally located for use as a guest room, study, or office. The large lot has many trees which shade the barbecue pit in the back. You'll agree not even the low price on this home could be improved, less than $15.000.

TIRED OF LIVING? . . .

In a rented home . . . do something about it. In this 2 bedroom home just 5 blocks from PLUM STREET SCHOOL, there's good value. The spacious living room will be a great asset when company or family drop in for a visit. The kitchen provides work space enough to suit any homemaker. Oak floors add beauty to this feature-packed home. Your children will have a safe playground in the fenced back yard. This is an unusually good house and exceptionally low priced, below $8,500.

GOOD-BYE
MR. LANDLORD

Is what you'll say when you see this home which can be yours for only $250 down plus closing costs. This 2 bedroom home is located just OFF NORTH SEVENTH STREET, WEST MONROE. There's a quite spacious living room. The kitchen has very good cabinet space and a vent-a-hood. Home ownership is sweet in this home that's priced less than $8,000.

TRULY MAGNIFICENT

In its SELECT NORTHSIDE LOCATION is this home with 2,000 sq. feet The kitchen ha severy feature imaginbeautiful with wall-to-wall carpet. The kitchen has every feature imginable—lovely Mahogany cabinets, built-in oven and range, dishwasher, and disposal. The Mahogany paneled family room with its quarry tile floors will be everyone's favorite spot for family fun and informal entertaining. Next summer will be anxiously awaited by all the family as there is central air conditioning inside and a private swimming pool for refreshing relaxation outside. This is truly a gracious home in a gracious setting.

ACCENT ON BEAUTY

Just TWO BLOCKS FROM HIGHLAND SCHOOL, WEST MONROE, is this neat home. The spacious and attractive pine paneled den will be the center of family living. The living room itself will accommodate more than a dozen guests easily. The lovely lawn is fenced in the back for the safety of the smaller children. Living will be worth while in this beautiful home, for a price less than $10,500.

3 BEDROOMS
2 BATHS

Seldom does one find this combination for the price, less than $10,000. The living room will accommodate your most massive furniture. The master bedroom has a walk-in closet. The children will adore the play house in the back yard. You could never invest so little ($300 and closing costs) and receive so much from a home.

RENTAL SLIPS
SHOWING?

Then this modestly priced 2 bedroom home (below $8500) is your dream come true. It's NEAR PLUM STREET SHOPPING CENTER and is on the bus line. There's a separate dining room that Mom will appreciate for holidays and special guests. This compact home is adequately heated by floor furnaces. For just $300 and closing costs, you can throw away your rent receipts forever.

FRIENDLY
LITTLE HOUSE

In a quiet, older neighborhood OFF SOUTH GRAND is this 2 bedroom beauty. There'll be no dodging furniture in the spacious bedrooms. Many enjoyable days are ahead with the cozy wood burning fireplace in the living room. Mom will have her choice of dining room or breakfast room on special occasions. The unusually large walk-in hall closet will bring many sighs from the family. Spring will "burst out all over" in the breath taking yard filled with many shrubs, trees, and flowers. There's much value in this home, but a small price of just $400 and closing costs will make it yours.

LOW ASSUMPTION
$59 MONTH

This home of masonry construction is located in one of WEST MONROE'S fastest growing subdivisions. The living room is quite spacious. Wall heaters provide ample heat against the winter winds. Why hesitate when home ownership is so inexpensive (the total price of this neat home is less than $9,000.)

HESITATE AND MISS

The opportunity to own a 3 bedroom home just OFF SOUTH GRAND. All bedrooms are unusually roomy. The living room is also quite spacious. BARGAIN HOME

Homes below $7,000 are few and far between, but we have a six room home just outside West Monroe city limits. It's supplied with natural gas, water, and septic tank. There's enough room with the 210x420 lot (OFF HY. 80, W. M.) to divide it into 2 to 4 lots. Sure, it needs some work, but look at the price! It's truly maximum value in the low priced field.

STERLINGTON
ASSUME 4½% LOAN

This neat 3 bedroom home is just a few minutes drive from the business district of Sterlington. The tastefully carpeted and draped living room radiates gracious living. All 3 bedrooms are extra large. Two cheery baths eliminate "traffic problems." This lovely home is situated on a hillcrest site for beauty and privacy. There's no big price tag on this feature rich home, as it's priced below $13,500.

CAREFREE LIVING

Is yours in this 3 bedroom brick home in KIROLI WOODS, WEST MONROE. Wall heaters maintain even heating throughout this compact home. There are 1½ baths with shower over tub. The children will have a play park of their own as there's cyclone fencing. Your ticket to carefree living in this home is just $500 plus closing costs.

TRIUMPH IN BEAUTY

You're sure to agree when you see this well constructed new home. It's on the NORTHSIDE, just ONE BLOCK FROM LEE JUNIOR HIGH. The 1½ tile baths add to the convenience of this modern as the minute home. Mom's kitchen is beautiful with its built-in Tappan oven and range and Nutone hood. The 1500 sq. feet of this lovely home is adequately cooled by central air conditioning. Dad's heart will be made glad at the sight of the roomy double carport. Quality usually cannot be bought for this price (less than $20,000).

Convenient Sterlington Location

Is one of the features of this most livable home that has been recently redecorated. Family "togetherness" will be felt in the spacious living room. Oak floors will mean less work for Mom. Floor furnaces will cut the number of "sniffles" in your family this winter. The yard is lovely and completely fenced. Just $250 and closing will put you on the road to becoming a satisfied home owner.

LOSE NO TIME

In seeing this cute and cozy 2 bedroom home which will make your friends praise your choice. The children will adore the play house in the back yard. You could never invest so little ($300 and closing costs) and receive so much from a home.

RENTAL SLIPS
SHOWING?

Then this modestly priced 2 bedroom home (below $8500) is your dream come true. It's NEAR PLUM STREET SHOPPING CENTER and is on the bus line. There's a separate dining room that Mom will appreciate for holidays and special guests. This compact home is adequately heated by floor furnaces. For just $300 and closing costs, you can throw away your rent receipts forever.

FRIENDLY
LITTLE HOUSE

In a quiet, older neighborhood OFF SOUTH GRAND is this 2 bedroom beauty. There'll be no dodging furniture in the spacious bedrooms. Many enjoyable days are ahead with the cozy wood burning fireplace in the living room. Mom will have her choice of dining room or breakfast room on special occasions. The unusually large walk-in hall closet will bring many sighs from the family. Spring will "burst out all over" in the breath taking yard filled with many shrubs, trees, and flowers. There's much value in this home, but a small price of just $400 and closing costs will make it yours.

LOW ASSUMPTION
$59 MONTH

This home of masonry construction is located in one of WEST MONROE'S fastest growing subdivisions. The living room is quite spacious. Wall heaters provide ample heat against the winter winds. Why hesitate when home ownership is so inexpensive (the total price of this neat home is less than $9,000.)

HESITATE AND MISS

The opportunity to own a 3 bedroom home just OFF SOUTH GRAND. All bedrooms are unusually roomy. The living room is also quite spacious. Keeping your home free of drafts this winter will be no problem as there's central heating in this compact home. Next summer all of the 1288 sq. feet will be comfortably cool with 3 air conditioners. You'll give your budget a lift with this home so reasonably priced, below $12,000.

HAPPIER LIVING

Will be yours in this attractive 3 bedroom brick home in a very desirable WEST MONROE SUBDIVISION. The master bedroom is quite spacious. The kitchen has ample natural cabinets, double sink, vent, PLUS a large dining area. Central heating will prevent drafty, chilly rooms this winter. Who wouldn't be proud to own such a home as this for just $100 down and closing costs.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Two Mishaps In Texas Take Lives Of Twelve

Icy Montana Braces For New Blizzard

27 People Die In Cold Wave Across Nation

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Snow-swept, frozen Montana braced Saturday for a new blizzard and cold wave.

The storm warnings went up just as Montana was beginning to dig out of record snows and thaw out from record cold. A seven-mile ice gorge on the Missouri River threatened a rest home near Townsend, Mont., and stockmen raced to get feed to thousands of stranded cattle and sheep.

The same cold wave which pushed Montana's temperature to a low of 46 below Friday had spread from the Rockies to the Appalachian Mountains and claimed at least 27 lives across the nation.

DEAD

There were seven dead in Montana, eight in Illinois, six in Iowa, four in Indiana, and one each in Michigan and Kansas.

Temperatures went to an unofficial 30 below at Belle Fourche, S. D., 25 below at Phillip, S. D., and 19 below at Rapid City. Record lows were reached at Valentine, Neb., with 22 below and at Spencer, Iowa, with 13 below.

The new storm beating down on Montana was not expected to be as severe as the blizzard which buried Helena under a record 21.5 inches of snow Thursday. But forecasters said 30-mile-per- hour winds would sweep at least three inches of snow and sub-zero cold into the state, adding up to "a blizzard condition."

Just in case, officials marshalled a small army of 650 men and 300 pieces of snow removal equipment to battle the new storm.

Townsend, a community 32 miles southeast of Helena became the greatest danger center. The Missouri River was frozen solid for seven miles at Townsend and the flooding backwaters were within less than a mile of town.

The flood waters were already two feet deep in an area where a rest home and a butchering plant were located. Pumps were at work keeping the water out of the home and Sheriff Roger L. Foster said, "If the water rises another two or three feet we'll have to evacuate the 20 or so persons from the home."

Townsend itself was under no immediate flood danger, Foster said, but he added this was "a possibility we can't overlook."

About 150 head of cattle stranded on an island in the Missouri were already falling victims to the flood. Some had died and ice was frozen six inches deep on the legs of others.

United Givers Show Gain In Fund Operation

The grand total at the end of the sixth week of the United Givers fund effort reached $205,998.57, according to James W. Moore, chairman.

"This leaves approximately $20,000 to go in this single fund which supplies money for operating budgets of 13 charitable health and welfare organizations in the United Givers program," Moore said.

The newest addition to the list of 100 per cent supporters is Monroe Automobile and Supply Co. which brings the total number of firms whose employes have all contributed through the payroll deduction plan to 86.

Moore urged all workers who have cards out to secure the pledges and turn them in so the drive can be closed during the coming week.

TEXAS DEFEATED

Mythical Crown Dashed By Loss

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse rolled over Colgate 71-0 yesterday and promptly accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day. But with it all, the Orangemen might be in for a bitter disappointment. They decided to head for Dallas because they figured they'd play Texas for the mythical national championship.

Hardly an hour after Syracuse KO'd the Cotton Bowl, Texas went down to a 14-9 defeat at the hands of Texas Christian in the biggest of a long string of upsets.

DEFEAT

Texas defeat left only Syracuse (8-0) and Southern California (8-0) which defeated Bayloy 17-8, as the only major undefeated, untied teams in the country.

Texas still can make it, and probably will, by beating Texas A&M in the Longhorn's final game Thanksgiving Day. Another Texas loss would send Arkansas against Syracuse. The Razorbacks took first place in the Southwest Conference, which sends its champ to the Cotton Bowl, by whipping

'Winter'

While winter is not officially here until late in December, Monroe and a large part of the nation have had a foretaste of what to expect. After several days when the temperature here was up as high as 70 degrees, only a few hours later down came real mid-winter temperature.

We of North Louisiana can look with thanksgiving at places like Helena, Montana where Saturday morning was recorded as low as 35 degrees below zero.

Advances

The Northeast State college is moving on all the time. The past few days three new and badly needed new buildings have received approval at an estimated cost of over a million and half dollars.

We also note that the Kilpatrick residence at 905 Filhiol avenue, is to be purchased. Personally, we have long been of the belief that as the college grows that some places on Filhiol avenue may be required for expansion purposes.

Prisoner Free After Decade

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP) — Legally free after 10½ years in jail awaiting trial for murder, Robert Lee Johnson was still too bewildered Saturday to leave the strange security of life behind the bars.

"After being in jail as long as I have, it's hard to make up your mind what to do," said Johnson, 37, who went through four inconclusive murder trials. He was freed Thursday for want of evidence in a fifth trial.

String Of Birthdays Reaches 105 Marker

By OTIS HASSELL

WINNSBORO — James M. King can look back on more birthdays than most people, and today he'll observe another one, his 105th. Scene of the observance will be at his home near Fort Necessity on Winnsboro Route Two, where an informal family dinner will be held.

Last night members of his family reported that "Uncle Jim's excellent health will permit him to enjoy a birthday celebration and visits of friends and relatives to the fullest extent."

He has been in the hospital only once, and that was on his 99th birthday. Since then his only illness has been a slight cold.

The retired farmer and merchant's only handicap, relatives said, is impaired eyesight. He eats three meals a day, whatever type of food he wants, sleeps well, and particularly enjoys listening to the radio.

His favorite programs are ball games and news. "Uncle Jim" stays up throughout each day. He says that, "If I took a nap during the day I wouldn't sleep good at night," and he attributes his long active life to regular hours and hard work. He has never used tobacco in any form.

A native of Independence County, Ark., King was 11-years-old when the Civil War ended. He has lived in Franklin parish since 1870, and has been in the same house for the past 72 years. The cemetery where his father,

Wisconsin Berries Get Seize Order

First Batch In Area To Be Under Suspect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Welfare Department said Saturday night it is asking the Justice Department to seize in Chicago a shipment of tainted cranberries grown in Wisconsin.

Cranberries previously found to be contaminated with a weed killer had been produced in Oregon and Washington. This is the first suspect batch to have been produced outside the Pacific Northwest states.

The Wisconsin shipment is now in a Chicago warehouse. The Food and Drug Administration said its chemists had tested the berries and found them to contain residues of aminothiazole, a weed killer which the government has said causes cancer in rats.

652 DAYS

The cranberries involved in Saturday's action amount to 652 bags of 60 pounds each of whole frozen berries — a total of 39,120 pounds. The Welfare Department said the berries were shipped from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., on Oct. 8.

It was in Wisconsin Rapids only Thursday night that Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he had eaten four helpings of cranberries in disregard of the advise of Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming.

Flemming last Monday had advised people to shun cranberries until the present situation is cleared up.

Flemming said in announcing

Favrot Declines Comment About School Case

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Dist. Atty. J. St. Clair Favrot Saturday declined to comment on a charge that he failed to consult attorneys for the joint legislative committee on segregation before replying to a federal motion to integrate schools here.

William M. Shaw, general counsel for the segregation committee, told Favrot and school board president Pat Collier in a letter Wednesday that Favrot's choice of legal defense was not an appropriate one at this time.

Favrot filed five motions to the U.S. District Court suit, one asking that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People be included as an indispensible party.

LETTER

Shaw's letter also told Favrot "this fight is not a one-man operation and the wisest course is to use the best assistance available."

The school integration motion was filed for several Negro children by A. P. Tureaud, New Orleans, long-time counsel for the NAACP.

The motion asked that the federal court order East Baton Rouge and St. Helena Parishes to

Woman Loses 144 Pounds

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A woman volunteer in a University of Tennessee Medical School research program has peeled off 144 pounds of fat in 39 weeks.

Dr. I. Frank Tullis, chief of the school's division of medicine, said the woman — who weighed 473 pounds at the start—has existed on a milk shake-like formula plus black coffee, tea and water in prescribed amounts.

She is one of three "seriously overweight' volunteers taking part in the program delving into the cause of fatness and what happens when people lose weight.

The volunteers are fed the formula four times daily. It has a dried milk base with adequate protein, fat, carbohydrate, vitamin and mineral content.

Leaders May Be Unable To Resign

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—If a new federal investigation results in a federal court suit in Dallas county, election official may find themselves barred even from resigning to keep from registering Negro voters.

Justice Department officials, who ordered federal agents back into the west Alabama county to check again on complaints of discrimination, have refused to discuss the possibility of an injunction suit.

Complaints that Negroes were denied the right to vote because of their race brought a suit in Macon County nearly a year ago. Its purpose was to prevent registration officials from rejecting any prospective Negro voter who meets the qualifications fixed by law.

HEAD

The chairman of the Dallas County Board of Registrars, J. L. Tackett of nearby Marion Junction, says he wouldn't be surprised to see a companion suit filed in this country where Negroes outnumber white residents nearly 2-1.

Despite the preponderance of Negro population, only some 520 of them are registered to vote compared with an estimated 8,000 white voters.

Dallas was one of six Alabama counties where federal Civil Rights Commission agents looked into complaints from rejected Negroes last year. Grand juries impounded registration records in Dallas and four other counties to keep them out of the hands of the commission investigators.

2 Children Lose Lives In Flames

CLAYTON (Special) — Two Negro children were burned to death here about 3 p.m. yesterday when they were trapped in a housefire resulting from a faulty heater. Loretta Lee Pankey, age two and her eleven-month old brother, Willard Connel, were fatally burned when their mother, Ella Pankey, left the two near a wood heater in the frame home while she was busy washing in the back yard.

REPORTS

According to reports, the door was left ajar and the wind blew flames from the heater out of the faulty piping, catching the wallpaper on fire, which quickly spread throughout the house.

The mother did not notice the smoke until some time later, and intense heat made it impossible to get near the doorway and rescue the children inside. Neighbors were summoned, but all attempts at rescue were useless. A fire truck arrived to combat the blaze, but only half of the frame dwelling was saved by firemen.

Other houses nearby were endangered by the wind-whipped flames but firemen took precautionary measures to insure safety, and no other buildings were ignited.

Radio Contact Lost With Red Space Station

MOSCOW (AP)—Radio contact has been lost with Lunik III, the Soviet space station that took the first pictures of the hidden side of the moon, Tass reported Saturday. The moon-circling rocket was launched Oct. 4.

Prof. Leonid Sedov, prominent Soviet scientist who earlier this year was elected president of the International Astronautical Federation, made the disclosure in an article in the Communist party paper Pravda, Tass said.

He said radio contact might have been lost because of a collision with a meteorite. Sedov also said the Russians had hoped to obtain more details from their space vehicle on its later travels.

REPORTED

Sedov was reported Saturday en route to the United States to attend a conference of the U.S. Rocket Society in Washington, D.C.

In his article reporting the loss of radio contact, Sedov wrote: "This can be explained by vari-

LESS SHARP THAN SPOUSE

Survey Notes Dull Wives Are Happier

DETROIT (AP)—A wife who's duller than her husband is more likely to have a happy marriage than if she's smarter than he is.

That, at least, is the preliminary conclusion of extensive research of Duke University psychiatrists into the marital bliss of older couples ranging in age from 60 to 93. The study generally jibes with earlier findings about younger married couples.

The findings about aged couples were described by Duke doctors Ewald W. Busse and Carl Eisdorfer at the Gerontological Society which wound up its three-day annual meeting here Saturday. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

The doctors arrived at their conclusion by interviewing the aged couples about their marriage happiness and giving them intelligence and psychological tests under scientifically controlled conditions. Then, the results of the interviews and tests were compared.

In the comparisons, the research report showed, a much higher number of the less happy couples had a wife who was mentally superior to her husband than the happy couples.

In questioning the couples about their marriage, the researchers asked them to rate their attitude in five degrees ranging from very happy to very unhappy. When the partners gave different answers, the lowest rating was used.

"None of these couples were very unhappy," Busse and Eisdor-

Six Listed As Former Area People

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Six former Ruston, La., residents were among 12 people killed in Texas last night in separate mishaps involving passenger vehicles and trains.

The Doyle Patton family, including Patton, his wife and four children, all formerly of Ruston, and two nieces, were riding in a pickup truck which was involved in a collision with a passenger train at a grade crossing near here.

The other mishap occurred in Sudan, Tex., when four men met death as their car was crushed by a freight train.

County Medical Investigator Frank Murray said it was impossible to tell for certain how many bodies were in the Patton truck, but it was feared eight had died.

SEARCH

"We have used search lights and done everything we can, but I doubt if we have all the bodies. We'll have to go back in daylight and look some more," he said.

Police tentatively identifed the Houston dead as Patton, 31; his wife Jauanita, 29; their children, Don, 10; Janice, 12, Sandra, 6, and Randy, 5, and two nieces, Rena Bryant, 2, and Lynn Brant, 8 months.

The latter two were children of James Bryant, of Houston.

The accident happened in the north part of Harris County. The northbound train drug the smashed truck a half-mile down the track.

Patton was employed as a maintenance man for a heating and air conditioning firm. The Pattons had moved from Ruston about three months ago.

Newsmen on the scene said the crossing had no flashing signals.

Parts of the truck were scattered along the roadbed. The train appeared to be undamaged.

Aged Rebel Demands Food, People, Music

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams observed his 117th birthday by demanding coffee, scrambled eggs, and lots of people and music.

"When are all the people coming and where's the music?" the last surviving veteran of the Civil War asked Saturday when a daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, wished him a happy birthday at 5 a.m.

"Otherwise, he didn't have anything to say about his birthday," Mrs. Bowles said. "He promptly called for coffee. A half-hour later he got the scrambled eggs."

There was another cup of coffee at midmorning. By that time several congratulatory telegrams arrived.

WELL-WISHERS

Among the well-wishes was Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who also was celebrating a birthday.

Another telegram was from 4th Army Headquarters at Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio.

A postman delivered several bundles of letters and birthday cards.

Before serving the eye-opener cup of coffee, Mrs. Bowles turned fer reported, "hence, by most social criteria they are 'successful marriages.'"

The two doctors also said their research showed that a marriage is more likely to be happy if the husband is considerably older than his wife.

"The age difference in the happy group," they concluded, "is 5.9 years between the husband and wife; while in the less happy, the male is, at best, a month or so older than the wife."

They said they have not determined why this is so.

Of the couples studied, 41 per cent are sexully active, that is, they have sexual relations to some degree.

Sexual activity was not much different between the happy or less happy couples, the report said, but the happy oldsters did have sexual relations more often.

Twenty per cent of the males and 28 per cent of the females of the happy couples reported sexual relations at least once a week. Why the reported difference exists between husband and wives is not known.Presumably, one or the other partners has a poor memory.

on a radio full volume so her father could hear early morning hillbilly tunes.

She told him the "lots of people" he had asked for would arrive Sunday, when the old soldier's family is planning the biggest reunion ever.

Mrs. Bowles said practically all the 10 surviving children will attend but said she could not estimate the number of grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Bowles refused to make any changes in plans for the celebration despite a cold wave that moved in. It was raining and the Weather Bureau forecast a Sunday low of 27.

An American Legion band is scheduled to serenade Williams in the afternoon from the lawn of Mrs. Bowles' little frame home in northwest Houston.

The public has been invited.

"We probably won't have as many people and things will be a bit messy in the house if this rain keeps up," Mrs. Bowles said. "But we'll go right ahead with the plans. It won't bother Daddy."

A five-tier birthday cake topped by two Confederate flags and a picture of Williams in uniform was presented by Houston's KPRC-TV. The white icing has red, white and blue candles. Smaller Confederate flags flank this greeting: "Col. Williams, happy birthday, 117 years."

The original school intergration suit was filed in Baton Rouge about 2½ years ago, but remained dormant.

Shaw's letter told Favrot:

The letter added "The effect of your motion, as I see it, will be to jeopardize our present placement law, which was a second line of defense without gaining anything in the way of support in the present action."

Wisconsin Berries Get Seize Order

Saturday's action that the seizure was being initiated on the ground that the berries were shipped illegally in interstate commerce since no tolerance standards for aminothiazole in foods has been established.

This was the third seizure action instituted by the government since Flemming announced Monday that residues of the weed killer had been detected in some of the cranberries grown this year in the Pacific Northwest.

Information on the shipment of Wisconsin-grown berries was received here Saturday as plans were being pushed by Flemming to meet with representatives of the cranberry industry here next week.

Flemming said Saturday he has decided to convert the meeting into an open public conference in the auditorium of the Welfare Department building. The announcement Friday indicated it would be a closed session.

Flemming will preside at the conference to open on Wednesday morning, rather than Tuesday as originally planned.

Nixon was on what he termed a nonpolitical trip—although he saw a lot of politicians—when the cranberry question came up earlier this week.

Wisconsin Rapids is a cranberry center, and the vice president told reporters there, "I certinly expect to have cranberries for both Christmas and Thanksgiving." He said that at a banquet he ate four helpings.

Flemming said the tainted berries in the Chicago warehouse constitute the first lot grown outside the Pacific Northwest in which FDA scientists have detected residues of aminothiazole.

Tests are being conducted on an emergency basis throughout the country in an effort to separate cranberries and cranberry products containing traces of the weed killer from those not contaminated.

An Associated Press check of FDA regionl offices indicated that most of the tests were turning out negative—that is, safe.

California's state health director, Dr. Malcolm Merrill, said Saturday at Berkeley that traces of the weed killer had been found in 46 of 65 samples of cranberries tested by the California Department of Health.

But Merrill said he did not believe the amounts found were a hazard to health.

Flemming announced that of 104 lots of cranberries tested to date in the 17 district laboratories of the FDA 101 have been found to be safe.

A survey among United States executives revels that nearly 30 per cent of them would like to retire between the ages of 58 and 62. Only 2 per cent want to retire under 48, while nearly 6 per cent set the age at 73 or over.

'Uncle Jim' liked him so much that he named his son John Floyd, John, after his brother, and Floyd after the candidate for governor.

two weeks ago that agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were checking into Negro registration.

Only in Macon County did the Justice Department file an injunction suit in the wake of the inquiry last year. It was thrown out of court because one registrar had died and the other two had resigned, and consequently, there was no one left to take action against. The government, insisting among other things that the registrars had no right to resign, has appealed to the Supreme Court.

Alabama law says registrars, appointed for four - year terms, may hold office until their successors are appointed. The Justice Department argued that "may" in that instance means "must."

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., who heard the case in Montgomery, ruled that the registrars in Tuskegee had a legal right to quit. One had been elected to the Legislature, the other had been appointed to another office.

But Johnson added this significant note of warning: "nothing stated in this opinion should be construed to mean that this court sanctions or will sanction the proposition that registrars are free to resign at will, indiscriminately and in bad faith, and thereby cast off all of their responsibilities and obligations as such officers."

Texas, which ranked No. 2 behind Syracuse in the weekly Associated Press poll, now has an 8-1 record over-all. Harry Moreland was the big man in the Texas Christian triumph, running 56 yards for the deciding touchdown.

Syracuse took no chances with its understaffed New York state neighbor, rolling up the score in every period. But Southern Cal had its troubles. Until the final quarter Southern Cal, ineligible for a bowl bid, was leading by a mere 3-0.

The Big 10 was thrown into a tizzy when Michigan State upended Northwestern 15-10, and Illinois dumped Wisconsin 9-6. That left Michigan State, Northwestern and Wisconsin tied for the lead with 4-2 marks.

But Michigan State can crash through to the Rose Bowl only if Northwestern fails to beat Illinois and Wisconsin misses against Minnesota next week. Michigan State has completed its league schedule.

In the powerful Southeastern Conference, too, there was consternation among the bigwigs. Georgia, hardly conceded a chance before the season started, clinched the title with a 14-13 triumph over Auburn in the last 30 seconds.

Alabama upset Georgia Tech 9-7, and Mississippi put away a 7-7 crusher over Tennessee, the team that upset Louisiana State last week.

In another major reversal, Maryland prevented defending champion Clemson from clinching the Atlantic Coast Conference title, 28-25.

In the Big Eight, Missouri tied Kansas and Iowa State for second place and a chance for the Orange Bowl by whipping Kansas State 26-0. Kansas defeated Oklahoma State 28-14 and Iowa State walloped San Jose State 55-0 in non-conference play.

Big Eight leader Oklahoma barred from consecutive appearances in the Orange Bowl, defeated Army 28-20.

Washington defeated California 20-0 and can clinch the host berth in the Rose Bowl by beating Washington State.

In the East, Penn State crushed Holy Cross 46-0, and Penn retained its Ivy League lead with a 24-6 decision over Columbia.

Authorities Working On Okla. Slaying

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Police Friday still sought to untangle the mysterious slaying of a young Army wife.

A Negro suspect stoutly maintains he is innocent.

The possibility arose that Fern Romero, 25, was raped and her throat cut last Tuesday afternoon, not in the predawn hours of Tuesday as had been thought.

The white woman's body was found nude, lying in a pool of blood in her bedroom about noon Wednesday. Her two children, 27 months and 6 months, had been without food or care 36 hours until the slaying was discovered by neighbors.

Friday, police were told it had been determined the woman was slain approximately 36 hours before the autopsy. This would put the time at about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Romero's husband was attending an advanced artillery class at Ft. Bliss, Tex., at the time of the slaying. His permanent station is nearby Ft. Sill.

Still missing is a door facing containing a chain lock which officers feel is an important clue. Also missing is the woman's car keys and purse.

The children, in good condition, are being cared for by Ft. Sill authorities.

The Romeros were married in Baton Rouge, La., June 2, 1956. A Requiem Mass has been scheduled there Monday for Mrs. Romero, a native of Centreville, Miss.

A talk on the role of electronics in missile and space technology will highlight the Tuesday meeting of the Monroe subsection of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, it was announced yesterday. The meeting was set for 7 p.m. at the Hollywood.

Guest speaker for the program will be W. L. Shepherd, former Monroyan and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Shepherd of Monroe. He is presently serving as assignment chief of the Applications Engineering Section of Chance-Vought Electronics Division.

Shepherd graduated from Neville High School, Northeast at the time it was still a junior college and LSU. He served with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, with the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Laboratories in Redstone, Alabama, and on the Regulus I and Regulus II flight programs.

ASSEMBLY-LINE MILK

Automation Invades Dairy

ROSEMONT, N. J. (UPI) — Probably the latest thing in assembly-line dairy farming is going up on a farm formerly owned by bandleader Paul Whiteman.

It combined automation and separation in an effort to produce the ultimate in contented cows and uniformity in their milk.

The new concept in dairy farming is the brainchild of Prof. Mark Singley, an agricultural engineer is Lloyd B. Wescott, president of the board of control of the state Department of Institutions and Agencies. Wescott recently bought Whitman's Mulhocaway Farm in this rural Hunterdon County area after his own place had been taken over for use as a water reservoir.

Wescott is investing almost a quarter of a million dollars and his prize herd of 100 Guernseys in the project, according to Singley. Begun in August, the construction will be finished next spring.

It will mark a number of departures from dairy farming tradition, according to Singley.

For one thing, he said, the cows will not be put out to pasture the year around. And for another, they will be given complete freedom within the confines of their quarters, he said.

The campus is a quadrangle of one-story buildings, fences and alleyways designed to route the cows through an assembly line process of feeding, loafing and milking.

They also will be able to romp in a courtyard in the center of the quadrangle. But they will be broken into herds of 25 and there will be no socializing, according to Singley.

The segregation idea, he said, was Wescott's. It was designed to put milk cows of the same age and temperament into separate herds to avoid social "collisions." "Bossy" cows would be kept away from their milder counterparts, he said.

Also, said Singley, the cows will be fed on a specially-made feed instead of brush. Again, he said, the theory is designed to produce high standard milk through uniform, high - quality feeding. Productivity also will become uniform, he said.

It is contemplated that only two men will be needed to operate the dairy plant, he said. They will be aided by the latest in automation.

The whole concept is called "loose housing" by the dairy industry. It is opposed to the traditional "stanchion barn" method which uses pasture feeding and more restrictive measures in measures in dairy farming, he added.

Boy Discovered Huddled With Dead Relative

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A 3-year-old boy who had been staying with his grandmother since Tuesday because she was lonely, was found huddled next to her lifeless body in an unheated house Friday night.

Mary Chelig, 70, apparently died of a heart attack, the medical examiner's office said.

Her grandson, David Barber, was unable to say how long she had been dead. The boy was found by his father, Alphonsus Barber.

The father explained that Mrs. Chelig had been a widow for two years, and had been so lonely during the time that he and his wife, Rosemary, 34, often allowed one of their five children to stay with her.

AS LIKLIHOOD

See Donnybrook Rivers, Harbors

By B. N. TIMMONS
World Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —Attention in Washington is focusing on the liklihood of an all - out political Donnybrook next year over the Rivers and Harbors bill — with several Louisiana projects at stake.

The main speculation centers on whether President Eisenhower will again veto the oil, as he did in 1958, and whether Congressional opponents have mustered enough strength since then to override the veto.

The bill itself is now before the Senate Public Works Committee, having passed the House last session. At this stage, it is far from its final form.

Senator and representatives from both parties have the strongest possible incentive to add additional projects to the bill and thereby provide extra campaign fodder for the elections next November.

The Republicans, in particular, have a motive to make the bill generous — at least for states that are doubtful politically. Whoever they nominate for president, he will not have the enormous popularity and prestige that swept Mr. Eisenhower into office.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, will be firmly in the White House when the next Rivers, and Harbors bill is passed. This is the Chief Executive who vetoes the 1958 bill and made the veto stick. Congress trimmed a great many projects from measure before he would sign it.

He tried the veto again last summer on the Public Works Appropriations bill. It worked again. Congress passed a new bill, only slightly scaled down. It, too, was vetoed but for the first time since Mr. Eisenhower's inauguration, Congress mustered the two-thirds vote required to override. With the precedent broken once, many observers are wondering if it can be done again.

The bill as it stands now contains two projects for Louisiana. One is the Petit - Anse - Tigre Carlin project in North Vermillion Bay to provide a deeper channel and a mooring area for fishing vessels. Its estimated cost is $106,000 in Federal funds and $42,000 in local money.

The other project is much bigger. It would authorize construction of a channel 12 feet deep and 125 feet wide along Bayou Lafourche south of the Intracoastal Canal. The total cost would be $6,007,000, of which the Federal Government would pay $4,664,000.

Two other projects may be included if studies by the Corps of Engineers are completed in time. One is a navigation channel at Freshwater Bayou and a refuge harbor, which was delayed by local objections. A spokesman for the Engineers says the Corps hopes to complete its report on this project shortly.

Farther in the future are reports on studies of deepening the Ouachita River channel to nine feet as far north as Camden, Ark.; enlarging the Intracoastal Waterway to a minimum width of 300 feet and 16 foot depth from the Mississippi River to Brownsville, Texas; and a whole string of flood control projects upstream from Shreveport on the Red River.

Seaton Hopes Guam Can Get Representation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton hopes Congress will pass legislation at its next session to provide Guam with representation in Congress, the Interior Department said Friday.

In a statement summarizing the secretary's recent four - week inspection tour of U. S. possessions in the Pacific, the department said Seaton met with the legislature of Guam and heard requests for a resident commissioner in Congress.

A resident commissioner could serve on House committees and take part in House debate but would have no vote.

The department said Seaton "assured the legislators that their requests would be given his personal attention and that their desire for congressional representation is in keeping with the American system of government," the department said.

In addition to Guam, Seaton visited American Samoa and other islands in the trust territory of the Pacific.

Students Find Food In Cabin Survive Storm

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Cocoa and boiled beans they found in an abandoned cabin provided the only nourishment for two young college students trapped for more than two days in a Montana blizzard.

The storm swirled down on Rich Maxwell of Warm Springs, Mont., and Robert Amick of Billings, Mont., while they were hunting elk in the primitive mountain country of western Montana.

Maxwell finally hiked six miles through waist-deep snow to find help. Amick had a lame knee.

They had walked about six miles into the Blackfoot Valley when it started snowing hard, said Maxwell.

The youths came across the cabin which had a supply of wood, some cocoa and a jar of dry beans.

The boys tried to hike back to their car the next day, but turned back in waist-deep drifts when Amick's knee pained him. Snow continued to fall. The temperature was near zero.

They ate the beans and drank cocoa, taking turns eating from a spoon they found in the cabin.

Maxwell then set out for help.

Ireland Asks Powers To Keep Weapons Safe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Ireland asked the world's nuclear powers Friday to keep their atomic weapons "under their own lock and key" and guarantee not to transfer them to any other country.

External Affairs Minister Frank Aiken put a resolution before the General Assembly's Main Political Committee renewing Ireland's proposal to restrict membership in the world's "nuclear club" to the powers that now possess such weapons.

The freeze apparently would limit nuclear weapons to the United States, Britain an Russia, although Aiken left a loophole for the admission of France, which plans to hold an atomic test in the Sahara Desert.

The Netherlands and Ceylon expressed support for the Irish resolution in the first session of debate on it.

Aiken made it clear that the "nuclear club" freeze was a stopgap until possession and use of nuclear weapons is outlaws for all powers by international treaty.

The resolution, he said, asked the atomic powers to "assume the responsibility before their own people and before humanity for seeing that nuclear weapons are not spread throughout the world, until a cut-off of all production can be achieved and existing stocks devoted to peaceful uses."

Rockefeller Outlines His Labor Ideas

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Nelson Rockefeller told university students here Saturday to get into politics, but once again he disclaimed immediate plans of his own for a presidential venture.

Some 5,000 students and townspeople turned out on a crisp, sunny Saturday morning to hear New York's Republican governor speak in the University of Oregon basketball pavilion.

He got a good round of applause, took time to answer questions, and prepared to take in the Oregon State-Stanford football game at neighboring Corvallis and speak again at still another university.

There were no lapel buttons in sight to suggest a political campaign was under way and Rockefeller said he hadn't come to Oregon for that, anyway. In California, which he visited earlier, his possible contest with Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination prompted frequent speculation on the reason for his trip.

He told the student group that politics "is the business of human liberty" and Americans should be active in it.

He denied there and repeated the denial here that he had come west to feel the political pulse. It was just his interest in national and international affairs he said.

But Rockefeller told a news conference that Oregon's 37-year-old Gov. Mark Hatfield—who won office a year ago in the face of a Democratic tide — would be a "wonderful vice-presidential candidate."

He scheduled a late evening meeting with Hatfield and his advisors at the state capital, Salem, after a talk there at Willamette University. The two have conferred before and there have been occasional suggestions that Hatfield might be a running mate for him.

Although Rockefeller said he had made no decision on being a presidential candidate, Oregon's unusual primary election law could be important to him. He will be entered in the presidential primary here against Nixon—if both continue to be regarded as candidates—whether he wants a direct test of strength or not.

New Helicopter Announced By Texas Company

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A new helicopter that can operate with a load well above 17,000 feet and with an estimated ceiling of 30,000 feet was announced Saturday by Bell Helicopter Corp. after tests on Pike's Peak in Colorado.

The model thus overcomes some difficulties of earlir models which had flying difficulty in the thin air of high altitudes.

The new craft is called the 47G3 and is powered by a new Franklin turbo-supercharged engine made by Aircooled Motors, Inc., of Syracuse, N.Y.

A Bell spokesman said the craft provides "the pilot reserve power and safe rotor margins" for mountain work.

The model will be manufactured at the Hurst plant between Fort Worth and Dallas. First deliveries are expected March 1.

Flags Fly For Missing Cuban Major

HAVANA (AP) — Flags flew at half staff Saturday for Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, missing army commander given up for dead. But many Cubans were saying the mourning might apply equally to Cuba itself.

This island nation under Prime Minister Fidel Castro passed through another bad week. Castro lost by death two of the commanders who helped him overthrow Fulgencio Batista.

Besides Cienfuegos, Castro lost Maj. Cristino Naranjo and two corporals in a shooting spree at Cuban army headquarters here. While the slaying of Naranjo was blamed on a confusion of identities, it reflected the tension and temper building up in revolutionary Cuba.

And Castro had lost support of many other Cubans assailed as "rats fleeing a ship in danger." They are the Cuban disillusioned with the way the revolution is drifting.

Yet Castro, worried, weary and haggard, still is Cuba's most popular man. As those called rats dropped him, thousands of people for whom he promised a better life still cheered him.

Diplomats said Cuba's latest note to the United States did nothing to smooth badly ruffled relations between the two countries. The note rejected U.S. charges that the Castro regime is waging an anti-American campaign.

These sources said the note indicated Castro and his Cabinet have no intention of modifying policies Washington considers anti-American. For example, the Castro regime continued to expropriate rich U.S.-owned ranch and farm lands without waiting for formal legal action.

Reports from abroad that Castro's Cuban enemies are joining forces to try to overthrow him was another damaging development of the week. Although Castro's supporters publicly laugh at the prospects of his regime being overthrown, many are disturbed.

Still another blow fell on Cuba's ailing tourist trade, once a major prop to the nation's economy. An announcement in New York said various cruise ships that normally visit Havana with their thousands of free-spending Americans are omitting calls to Cuba this year.

Havana's tourist hotels already faced a bleak winter season of empty rooms because of tourist cancellations. Some of them feared the latest development was almost a death blow.

Rich Canine Dies At 15

ARNOLDS PARK, Iowa (AP)—Blondie, a golden cocker spaniel who had been beneficiary of her late owners' will, is dead.

The late Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hall bequeathed Blondie to neighbors, the Oliver Salzkorns, plus $200 monthly for giving the dog "loving care."

The Salzkorns moved into the couple's house rent free.

The Salzkorns were to get $5,000 if Blondie got a "suitable burial." The house is to be sold, under the will to provide the money.

Blondie was about 15 years old and her sight was failing.

The Halls—he was 74 and she 62—died three days apart last April. He died of a heart attack and she of apparent natural causes. Hall was a retired carpenter who had devoted much of his time to growing and selling vegetables in the community.

The court must find that the Salzkorns gave Blondie a decent burial before they get the $5,000, because the court is charged with seeing that the provisions of the will are carried out.

The Hall estate was estimated to be worth more than $20,000. Other beneficiaries of the estate are Hall's two nephews, Glenn Hall, who is to get $2,000, Jon Hall, who was bequeathed $1,000; and the Immanuel Lutheran church, which is to get $1,000.

Mill Strike Now In Third Year

EDITOR'S NOTE: A year ago this month, 1,200 textile workers walked quietly off their jobs at the Harriet - Henderson cotton mills. There followed a series of near - riots, shootings and dynamitings which finally prompted local officials to ask for help from the National Guard. Quiet has returned to Henderson this fall. But the effects of the long, unsettled strike are still being felt. A UPI reporter who covered much of the strike has revisited Henderson for an up-to-date report. His dispatch follows.

By KLINK COOK

HENDERSON, N.C. (UPI) — Businessmen in this small mill and tobacco town hardly realize there are some 600 unemployed members of the Textile Workers Union of America (AFL-CIO) engaged in a year-old strike at two cotton mills.

The Harriet - Henderson cotton mills, long considered the main stream in Henderson's economy, are producing at full capacity nine months after reopening with non-union help.

Along Main Street, businessmen say sales have increased by as much as 30 per cent above the same period last year.

The union walked out of the mills Nov. 10, 1958, in a dispute over arbitration privileges in a new contract. During the year that followed, dynamitings, shootings and other violence filled the strike scene.

NATIONAL GUARD CALLED

National Guard units were sent here to help quell recurring outbursts. Extra law officers and part-time deputies were hired in an effort to restore order to the town.

By early summer, the picket lines had quieted. Strikers assumed a passive resistance toward workers entering mill gates.

The mills reopened Feb. 16 with a handful of non-union help and, by May 30, operated at full capacity.

He said he expects his mills to be producing 27,000 pounds more per week by Dec. 1.

"Business has never been so good," said R. E. Satterwhite, owner of three large furniture stores. "I don't know where the customers are coming from. Very few sales have been made to people from out-of-town."

STRIKERS MAKE PAYMENTS

He said the unemployed strikers were "making their payments on time. I haven't had to repossess any furniture since the strike began."

School officials said this was the first year in their memory when book rentals for children of strikers "were all paid up." Spokesmen for public utilities said light, water and telephone bills "were paid when due if not before."

The union, camped outside the mill gates, suffered during the early months of the strike.

But, when it became evident the mills were resuming operations at full scale, the national union backed the strikers with food, clothing and money. A welfare system was set up to fill the basic needs of the strikers.

Twelve months after the strike began, union members cling to the belief they will win the apparently stalemated strike and get their jobs back. Some of the 1,200 who walked off the job a year ago have quit the struggle and gone back to work in the mills. But a majority is sticking with the union and refuses to reenter the mills without a contract.

Cooper, whose mills had operated for 14 years with a TWUA contract, said he would not negotiate again with the union. "I'm doing better now than I did last year. I don't want the union back."

Executive Withdraws Acceptance

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Aircraft executive Dr. Charles L. Critchfield Saturday withdrew acceptance of his appointment as director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency.

"Under present circumstances," he said, "I do not believe I could do justice to this important job."

Critchfield is director of scientific research for Convair, a division of General Dynamics Corp.

He said he has informed the Defense Department of his decision.

Critchfield said that general misunderstanding and public controversy had impaired his ability to serve.

The scientist was referring to statements by Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif and others who said there might be a conflict of interest in Critchfield's appointment to the Pentagon scientific agency because he still would retain his Convair job and pay, estimated at $40,000 annually.

A 1951 law permits the Pentagon to employ consultants but forbids them to participate in defense contract discussions involving their own firms.

"When I was asked by the Department of Defense to accept the post," Critchfield said, "I saw in the appointment an opportunity to serve the country in an area of critical importance where scientific confidence was essential."

He said he then was informed of the 1951 consultant law.

"I accepted the appointment, declining government pay," he said. "It is obvious now, however, that general misunderstanding and public controversy have most certainly impaired my ability to serve."

Under the appointment, Critchfield would have received no government pay. His predecessor, Roy W. Johnson, received a $19,000 a year salary.

In Washington, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said Critchfield had made his decision and "We, of course, accept it with regret."

McElroy also said in his statement it has been "most unfortunate that in this instance a situation of public controversy should have developed which will prevent the Defense Department from having the benefit of Dr. Critchfield's widely recognized scientific duties in this important post."

McElroy said Critchfield had been appointed under a provision of the 1951 law which he said "specifically authorized a procedure for obtaining a limited number of persons of outstanding experience and ability not otherwise available."

In the case of an appointment to one of these jobs without federal pay, McElroy said, every safeguard is erected to insure that the appointee will not be involved in any government business with a company in which he has a pecuniary interest.

"This had been done in the case of Dr. Crutchfield," McElroy added.

ARPA is responsible for the direction or performance of such advanced projects in the field of research and development as the secretary of defense designates, by individual project or by category.

Authority is provided for the agency to make contracts with private business and scientific help. With McElroy's approval the agency may acquire or build needed facilities.

Journalism Group Names New Leaders

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — V. M. (Red) Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Morning Tribune, was elected today as president of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity.

Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The Associated Press, was named honorary president.

Newton, who has led the fraternity's fight against secrecy in government, succeeds James A. Byron, news director of WBAP AM-TV, Fort Worth, Tex. Byron was elected chairman of the executive council to succeed Robert J. Cavagnaro, AP general executive in San Francisco.

Vice presidents elected at the closing business session of the four-day SDX convention were: E. W. Scripps II of Scripps - Howard Newspapers, Washington, for professional chapter affairs; Maynard Hicks, assistant journalism professor, Wahington State University, for undergraduate chapter affairs, and Buren McCormack, vice president and editorial director, Wall Street Journal, for expansion.

Edward Lindsay, editor of the Lindsay-Schaub Newspapers, Decatur, Ill., was named secretary, and Walter Burroughs, publisher, Costa Mesa (Calif.) Globe, treasurer.

Elected to the executive council were Robert M. White II, president, New York Herald Tribune; H. Eugene Goodwin, journalism director, Pennsylvania State University; Theodore F. Koop, Washington news director, Columbia Broadcasting System; Ralph Sewell, assistant managing editor, Daily Oklahoman and Times; Oklahoma City; Frank Angelo, managing editor, Detroit Free Press.

The fraternity will meet in New York in 1960, in Jackson, Miss., in 1961 and in Tulsa, Okla., in 1962.

Federal Agent Tells About Apalachin Meet

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal Treasury agent told Friday how Buffalo's 1956 "man of the year," John C. Montana, got caught on a barbed wire fence as he tried to flee a state police roundup at the Apalachin underworld convention two years ago.

The agent, Kenneth T. Brown, said the silver-haired, dapper former Buffalo councilman was muddy and had his trousers covered with burrs as he hung panting on the barbed wire fence when police closed in on the hilltop mansion of the late Joseph Barbara Sr., where the meeting took place.

Brown testified in federal court at the trial of 21 men charged with conspiring to obstruct justice in a grand jury investigation of the "congress of crime."

More of the more than 60 men rounded up on the estate insisted they merely had dropped in to see their friend, Barbara, who was ill. Montana said he happened to be there because the brakes on his car had failed and he was waiting to have them fixed.

Mrs. Marguerite Russell, a housekeeper in the Barbara home at the time, testified she had heard Montana apologize to Barbara for being late.

Brown, an agent in the Treasury Department's Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Revenue Division, said Montana was one of about 10 men he had seen duck into the woods when the state police moved in.

PLAY MATERIALIZES

NEW YORK (AP) — After a five year delay, Liam O'Brien suddenly found the inspiration to write a play in three months.

O'Brien, author of "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," was asked by producer Saint Subber in 1954 to dramatize a short story, "The Masculine Principle."

After wrestling with the project for a while, O'Brien gave up, but the plot notion lingered. Early this year he wired Subber he would like to tackle it anew and got an okay.

Subber accepted swift script, now has it on his Broadway production agenda.

GOOD PHILOSOPHY

NEW YORK (AP) — Wally Cox is one Broadway performer who doesn't mind talking about a flop appearance.

The television comedian recently appeared in "Moonbirds," a fantasy that survived for just five performances. Cox told about it all in a lecture at an arts club.

"You can't sleep very well," admits Cox. "You ask yourself are you really good any more, and so on . . . sometimes this leads to great success."

FREETHINKER?

Officials Debating Life Of Premier

PARIS (AP)—A cardinal and two members of the French Academy are debating whether Premier Edouard Herriot died as he had lived—a freethinker.

Shortly before he died in 1957, Herriot received the last scraments of the Roman Catholic Church. He was given a church burial despite a life as an agnostic, exciting lively discussion at the time.

The debate was reopened two days ago by biologist Jean Rostand, as he took the seat in the sedate French Academy left vacant by Herriot's death, and by novelist Jules Romains.

Eulogizing Herrior, Rostand said that despite rumors concerning his last moments, the former Premier "died with his secret.' This brought a statement from Piere Cardinal Gerlier, an old friend of Herriot with whom he had many religious discussions.

"I affirm before God—and qualified witnesses can support me—that at the time of the talk I had with him on religion, Premier Herriot was perfectly lucid, that he replied to my questions in a firm voice and that twice he expressed his desire for religious funeral services," the cardinal said.

In his inaugural address to the academy, Romains said: "Certain well-intentioned persons included, on the basis of a certain appearance, that the dying Herriot went back on the conception of things which he had had since his youth."

Noting that Herriot had received the visit "of an important ecclesiastical personality" shortly before he died, Romains added: "He—Herriot—was naturally too courteous, too tolerant, too sensitive to the expressions of human sympathy from wherever they came to have badly welcomed such a gesture and not to have been touched by it."

Romains produced a letter from Herriot's widow referring to "legends which were created after the death of the Premier" and saying Herriot died "perfectly calm, in full liberty of his thoughts, as he had arrived (on earth)."

Cardinal Gerlier replied that it was wrong to put in opposition the words "of the man when he was well and his dying murmurs.

Rostand issued a statement deploring the storm he had raised, saying: "All arguments are indecent and vain. I refuse to prolong the controversy."

Lion Leader Gives Report From Camp

MANGHAM (Special) — M. E. "Pat" Brown, of Minden and District Governor of Lions International, spoke to the Manghm Lion's Club at their luncheon meeting here recently.

In his informative and inspirational talk, Lion Governor Brown, described the Lion's Camp for Crippled Children which is located 5 miles south of Alexandria.

One of the projects of Louisisiana Lions, Brown told that the land has been purchased, the buildings are under construction and the first summer camp will be held in the coming summer of 1960.

Urging the Mangham group to continue contributing generously, he pointed out that all physically (not mentally) handicapped children between the ages of 8 and 14 will have an opportunity to attend.

RECREATION

In addition to handicraft and recreation, the camp also provides for therapy. Brown explained that it is a non-profit organization where all directors pay.

President Bob Chapman introduced the speaker and the group pledged additional financial support to the camp.

Attending were Lions C. W. Berry; Rev. Paul Brooks; Chapman; F. A. Childress; Stanley Douciere; Bill Frey; E. C. Harper; Ben Hixon; Bennie M. Hixon; Bennie N. Hixon; J. J. Hollis; S. L. Thames; Ira Bruce; and guests District Governor Brown and W. G. Dunn of Minden.

Moorehead, Price Want To Direct

Vincent Price and Agnes Moorehead, stars of C. J. Tevlin's Liberty Pictures production, "The Bat," would like to direct motion pictures. The film opens Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

Products of the Broadway theatre, both Price and Miss Moorehead are serious students of the drama. They probably know as much about the theatre, collectively, as any other pair in Hollywood.

Price, an art collector and connoisseur, believes that his artistic ground would prove a valuable supplement to his acting experience, in the direction of films. "The Bat," incidentally, is the seventieth film in which he has appeared. He has worked with many fine directors and has studied their methods and techniques.

Miss Moorehead, thrice nominated for Academy Awards, is a truly dedicated actress. She devotes much of her time between pictures traveling about the country lecturing on acting at schools and universities, and also conducts private classes in acting at her Beverly Hills home.

"I feel that I could give certain pictures that 'women's appeal' which producers say is so important," she said, between scenes of "The Bat," at Allied Artists' studio. "I would like to co-direct, with a man, first. I have, of course, directed a number of stage productions and also on radio. But I don't know whether I'll ever get a chance to direct pictures. It seems definitely to be a man's world. I know that in silent pictures there were several successful women directors, but with talking pictures they seem to have faded away."

In "The Bat," a streamlined version of the famous stage play by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, Price appears as a sinister doctor; Miss Moorehead, seldom seen on the screen as her charming self, plays the role of a successful novelist who becomes perilously involved in a series of spine-chilling incidents.

Gen. Doolittle Gets Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, famed World War II flyer, Saturday was named winner of the 1959 Silver Quill Award "for most distinguished service to business and industry."

The award is sponsored each year by National Business Publications, an international association of 200 publishers of technical, professional, industrial, scientific, merchandising and marketing magazines.

Past winners of the award include Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Herbert Hoover.

Doolittle, at different times during World War II, was commander of the 12th Air Force in North Africa, the Strategic Air Force and the 15th and 8th Air Forces.

E. Carroll Clerk Asks Re-Election

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Mrs. Edna Bishop Brock is a candidate for re-election as clerk of Court of East Carroll Parish.

Her statement follows:

"I am seeking re - election strictly on my qualifications, my experience and my record since I have been in office. I promised you I would make you a good clerk, that I would do my best to serve you honestly, fairly and efficiently, and that rich and poor would be treated alike. I believe that I succeeded in doing just that.

"I am proud of my record as clerk of court and ask the voters of East Carroll Parish to consider my candidacy for re-election as clerk on the basis of proven ability, efficiency, honesty and cooperation. I have and always will operate the office of Clerk of court in such a manner that those needing its facilities will be treated kindly, courteously and without favoritism."

PUBLIC RECORDS

The integrity and security of the public records of this Parish are highly important to each resident thereof; especially is it important and essential to the property owners that those records be faithfully and correctly prepared and maintained. This I have done throughout my entire tenure of office and if re-elected I promise that the office of Clerk of Court will be maintained in the same faithful tradition.

In my opinion we have a very efficient office and with the able assistance of Mrs. Inez Bell Gilfoil, my chief deputy, and Mrs. Elaine Noland Bell, my typist, we have been highly commended in many instances with regard to the accessability of the records of this office and the management as a whole. But I could not have attained these results by myself.

"I have and shall devote the entirety of my time to the duties and responsibilities of the office."

Dragon Staff At Mangham Is Elected

MANGHAM (Special) — In an election, Cynthia Kenton, Sandra Austin; Bebe Noble; Dianne Johnson; Donald Adams and Rhonnie Sharbono were named to the Dragon Staff from the junior class at Mangham High School.

Candidates to the staff of the school yearbook must have at least a "B" average in English, and are voted upon by Principal Bennie M. Hixon; Miss Virgie Evans and senior members of the annual staff.

Senior members include editor, Ann Williamson; photographer, Mary Bell Steinhelper; business manager, Rita Pilgreen, and Jerry Templeton, Bennie Bradshaw; Noble Ellington; Jerry Smith; Carolyn Thomason and Marilyn Lyles.

Two members were elected from the sophomore class to assist. They are Dianne Thomason and Barbara Eppinette.

Two Injured In Accidents Around Area

BASTROP (Special) — Two automobile accidents were reported in this area yesterday.

Jessie Washington, Negro, 70, toppled from the rear of a pickup truck and landed on the hood of a passing car. His injuries were not critical but local authorities said he was sent to a Monroe hospital.

According to Bastrop police, a truck, loaded with furniture driven by J. C. Manning, had made a turn off Roberts street onto McCright street when Washington toppled from the top.

As Arthur Wallace, age 17, was traveling west past the truck, the Negro fell onto the hood of his vehicle, doing $10 damage to the left front, officers said.

The second accident, about 7 o'clock last night, occurred about 17 miles from here on the Crossett highway. William B. Rogern, age 43, of Route 3, Bastrop, was pinned in his car when he apparently lost control and the vehicle rolled over.

State police helped to release him, and he was rushed to the local hospital by Blackwell-Golden ambulance.

State police said they did not know who reported the accident, how it happened, or the condition of the injured man. According to hospital authorities, the victim was still unconscious last night, and his condition was listed as possibly critical, since he was thought to be sufefring from skull fractures and internal injuries.

He was driving an out-of-state car, and it could not be determined if he lived in Bastrop or elsewhere.

Newspaper Says Firm Bought Plugs

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Newspaper said Saturday a safe-manufacturing company paid $30,000 over a two-year period for plugs on the quiz show "The $64,000 Question" and neither the network nor the show sponsors knew about it.

The newspaper quoted a Cleveland advertising man as saying he arranged the weekly plugs on the CBS quiz show—at $300 a week—with a representative of the show not connected with the network or sponsor.

Edson Penn, president of the Cleveland firm of Penn and Hamaker, was quoted by the newspaper as saying that the plug was his own idea and "If I could come up with another like it, darned if I wouldn't try it again."

Penn was quoted as saying that he paid $300 a week to arrange that when the "secret" questions for the following week's show we put into a safe before the television audience, the safe had a sign reading "Protected by Diebold, Inc." The safemaking firm of Diebold, Inc., was Penn's client.

The safe itself was phony, according to the newspaper. The newspaper quoted Penn as saying that he thought his idea of a plug for the safemakers would not only help his client but would "even lend the show a touch of basic honesty."

Testimony before a congressional committee has shown that many of the quiz show essions were rigged in favor of particular contestants.

The newspaper said Penn told of making the arrangement for the plug after "a lot of dickering," and being told that nothing must be put in writing.

Asked if he thought he was buying air time, Penn was quoted as saying "we were buying a squeeze play and we knew it," and that he never knew whether the sum he paid was credited to the sponsor of the quiz show.

A spokesman for Revlon, Inc., which bought the air time for "the $64,000 Question," said later that Revlon would not have given up "even a split second" of the time it purchased.

Home Baked Treats Always In Best Taste

Delicious goodies from your own kitchen are always wonderful gifts. But, what makes them even nicer is the way you dress them up.

Little individual cakes, for instance, are so gay when tied with ribbons.

Ornamental - shaped cookies are even more appreciated if you bake them with a hole at the top and then tie a ribbon through them for hanging the cookies on the tree.

Coffee cans, painted, trimmed and lined with doilies, are just-right containers for a gift of home-roasted nuts.

Festive little mincemeat or cranberry pies are even more giftable if set on a small paper plate and wrapped with cellophane, clear or colored, and tied with a sprig of holly.

TAX DECISION

Richland Sets Vote On Library

RAYVILLE (Special) — The fate of the Richlnd Parish Library is in the hands of the voters this Tuesday, November 17, when property owners of the parish will approve or disapprove the library maintenance tax.

The oldest parish library in the state, at the present, the Richland Parish Library is operating under one of the lowest maintenance supports of any parish in the state. By decision of the Richland Parish Library Board of Control, a group of citizens who serve without pay as the library's guiding board, an increase of one mill in the maintenance tax is being asked this year. Total millage, if approved, will give the library 2½ mills, an amount equal to, or less than, tax support for libraries in most parishes of similar size.

In explaining the requested increase, a spokesman for the Library Board stated that "The Richland Parish Library has been operating with a very narrow financial margin. Increased costs in recent years have necessitated the purchase of fewer books each year, and the passage of time has made it urgent to improve the appearance, equipment and services in the headquarters library and the branches. The most important need at the present is purchase of a new bookmobile, one of the most widely used of the library's services. After examination of budgetary demands, and of plans for the future, it was apparent that without an increase in millage support, not only only could there be no expansion of services, but some of those services currently offered would have to be curtailed. In other words, unless increased support is received, the library could not possibly advance, it could not even stand still, but would gradually go backwards.

DETAILS

In order that people of the parish may be well-informed on the issue, the Library Board gives budgetary details as follows: Maximum annual budget under the old maintenance support was $27,000, which sum was used to maintain the headquarters library, five library branches and the bookmobile, as well as for the purchase of new books and other equipment. With approval of the added one-mill increase, estimated net receipts for the library will be about $45,000. In addition to the purchase of a new bookmobile, the Library Board plans necessary renovations at the headquarters library and all the branches; plans to schedule additional hours of service at the various branches; intends to increase the number of new books purchased each year, and will bring the present 1955 level staff salaries up to the current level. Other expansions in service and improvements in facilities are also anticipated.

In reminding property owners of Richland Parish to vote on Tuesday, November 17, the spokesman from the Library Board states, "Unless a maintenance tax is revoted, the parish library cannot continue to function after its present means of support expires at the end of the 1959 tax receipts."

Mangham High Receives Annual Student Book

MANGHAM (Special) — The 1959 yearbook of Mangham High School, has been received here. It was dedicated to Mrs. R. L. Bell, Jr.

Mrs. Bell, librarian at Mangham High School, serves as yearbook Sponsor, Library Club Sponsor, and teaches in the High School department.

The former Miss Faye Brunson, she is a graduate of Mangham High School and Northeast State College holding a degree in both English and Library Science. She studied at Louisiana Tech as an Art major.

Mrs. Bell is a member of the O.E.S. the Mangham Methodist Church, where she has served as sponsor of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, the Mangham Literary Club, serving as sponsor of the Mangham Teen - Club, and many other civic activities which promote activities for young people.

TRIBUTE

The tribute which dedicated the Dragon to Mrs. Bell is as follows:

"With all due consideration and regard, the graduating class of 1959 respectfully dedicates the 1959 Dragon to Mrs. Faye Brunson Bell.

"Teacher, librarian, consistent optimist — Mrs. Bell's happiness lies in the happiness of those around her, particularly young people. She promotes the teaching of social skills, serves in an advisory capacity and listens to teenage problems and doubts with keen interest and understanding.

"Her interests are as wide as her smile and the word 'prejudice' isn't in her vocabulary.

"Her enthusiasm is contagious and one cannot be around Mrs. Bell long without feeling that life, its heartaches and disappointments, is truly worth living.

"All that seek self - confidence; all that hunger for understanding; all that need a life —stop by and visit our MHS librarian, Mrs. Faye Bell."

Small Outboard Motor Appeals

The smallest outboard motor in or near its power class is the new 7.5-horsepower Scott engine made by the Marine Products Division of McCulloch Corp. It is only 30 inches high and weighs just 34 pounds; is 27 pounds lighter than previous motors of this size.

Other features of this motor that will appeal to fishermen are a lower powerhead to keep it out of the way of fishing lines, and a new and different lower unit and propeller that enable it to push through grassy obstacles without becoming snarled.

Mitchell Names 'Watchdogs' To Police Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell Friday appointed two "watchdog" officials to police labor - management compliance with the new union reform law.

He named Daniel L. O'Connor, 45 a former FBI agent, to head the enforcement division of the newly created Bureau of Labor-Management Reports.

Mitchell also selected Morris Weisz, 45-year-old government career man, to take charge of the reports and analysis section of the bureau. Both will carry the title of assistant commissioner of labor reports.

O'Connor, an attorney in private practice before he was tapped for his present job, will supervise the work of an estimated 150 investigators when the bureau reaches full strength.

His division will check complaints of union members on possible violations of the provisions dealing with union elections, trusteeships and financial reports.

Weisz will handle the task of receiving, filing and making public the reports from unions, employers and labor-management consultants required by the law. Most of them are due Dec. 14.

Humane Society Complains At Frat Floats

MIAMI (UPI) — The Humane Society complained today that a University of Miami fraternity tied live chickens to a Homecoming float, then abandoned them, still trussed, in a wooden crate.

Two of the chickens were dead. Five others were bedraggled.

The chickens had been used to depict the University of South Carolina's mascot, the Gamecock. Two fraternities used live chickens on their floats in the Orange Bowl Friday night, but only one group trussed the fowl.

"It's just pure sadism," said Charles W. Pusey, director of the Miami Humane Society. "We'll go right to the limit with this."

Forsman Anderson, another society official, said he had received dozens of complaints from parade viewers.

"I called the university and they promised me that anti-cruelty lectures will be given in all classes because of this business," said Anderson. "But they wouldn't tell me what fraternities were involved."

Foreigners Find Shelter In Prison

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) —Four foreigners who were shoved across the Iron Curtain border 13 times inside four days finally found provisional shelter—in a West German jail.

The quartet, three Yugoslav refugees and an exiled Spaniard, seem quite happy about it, police said. The four were caught first by West German police at the border near here last Tuesday. They claimed they had been expelled by Communist East Germany.

West German authorities returned them to East Germany, advising them to get proper documents and come back again. Back they came, within a few hours, still without documents. Again they were sent East. The four spent the night in no man's land on the bridge linking East and West Germany.

An East German police officer finally placed them on the next west-bound interzonal train. Upon arrival, West German border police sent them back East again.

This went on until Friday the 13th. That afternoon, East German police made one more attempt to get rid of the four. This time they were successful. A West German police officer decided it was time to stop the strange game. He had the four booked on a charge of unauthorized border crossing because they still had no documents. They had defected to the East from a camp for homeless foreigners in Nuernberg last summer.

The investigation also produced a new headache for police: One of them, a Yugoslav, has a police record and a court order is out forbidding him to reside in West Germany.

Missing Door Clue In Death Of Army Wife

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Investigators of the mysterious slaying of a 25-year-old Army wife have turned up an important clue—a missing door.

Mrs. Fern Romero was raped and her throat cut in her home here.

A Negro under investigation has demanded a lie detector test to substantiate his claim of innocence in the killing. It was indicated he would be taken to Oklahoma City for the test.

Mrs. Romero was found lying in a pool of blood in her bedroom about noon Wednesday. Authorities said it has been determined she was slain approximately 36 hours before the autopsy which would put her death at about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

A door facing containing a chain lock is missing and officers felt it is an important clue. Also missing are the woman's car keys and purse.

Her two young sons, 27 months and 6 months old, were found in the home and are being cared for by Ft. Sill authorities.

Her husband, Capt. Louis Romero, was attending an artillery class at Ft. Bliss, Tex., at the time of the slaying. His permanent station is nearby Ft. Sill.

Mrs. Romero was a native of Centreville, Miss.

Funeral services will be held Monday at Baton Rouge, La., where she and Capt. Romeo were married. Burial will take place at Centreville.

Selwyn Lloyd Returns After Mending Rift

LONDON (UPI) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd returned home Friday from a two-day fencemending mission to Paris that sealed one rift in the Western aliance and pointed the way to settling others before an East-West summit conference.

The talks between Lloyd, French Premier Michael Debre and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were so friendly that British newspapers referred to them as "almost embarrassingly effusive."

The French cabinet meeting under President Charles de Gaulle in Paris said the meetings had been "infinitely useful."

What they did was end part of the Western quarrel over when to have a summit conference. De Gaulle won the issue by insisting on next spring—probably in May. The United States, Britain an Russia had been holding out for next month.

Britain now has swung behind De Gaulle's summit strategy. The United States is going along and summit preparations among the Western Allies have been eased. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has said only that he wants a meeting "the sooner the better."

Lloyd now must try to smooth over a strain in relations with West Germany. This will be attempted next week when Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flies to London from Bonn for talks.

Dalai Lama Repeats Claim Against China

MUSSOORIE, India (AP)—The Dalai Lama today repeated his charges that Red China has engaged in wholesale slaughter in Tibet. But he was unable to document his charges for a team of international jurists.

The self-exiled king of Tibet said 65,000 Tibetans had die fighting the Red Chinese.

"In an attempt to impose reforms, there has been wanton killing of individuals an on many occasions large numbers of veritable massacres with a view to terrorizing the people into submission," he said.

The legal inquiry committee on Tibet, set up by the International Commission of Jurists in Geneva, asked for documents to support these charges.

Federal Loans Made Techsters

RUSTON (Special) — Federal loans totalling $10,545 have been completed at Louisiana Tech for 22 students, averaging $479 each and being granted mostly to men students, W. H. McLaurin, business manager of the college here, announced this week.

Seventy-seven Tech students obtained application blanks for the loans and 41 applied. Several applications were not approved mainly because of a lack of the funds, which are made available under terms of the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

ADDITIONAL

A few additional applications will be considered in the second semester of this school year, McLaurin said. Blanks are available from the business manager, who has been designated as the institutional representative of the National Defense Student Loan Fund at Tech. The federal loans in the spring term may be requested by graduating high school pupils as well as Tech students.

The primary and most essential condition of an applicant's eligibility for one of these loans is that he is in need of the requested loan in order to complete his course of study.

More than one and a half billion wood-cased lead pencils are used each year in the United States. That's about nine for each man, woman and child in the country, according to the American Forest Products Industries, Inc.

'Proving Ground For Teachers'

Behind The Scenes

By TOMMY PARKS

Staff Writer

How are school teachers developed? Practically everyone at one time in his life has pondered this question, and the answer is very interesting.

Since colleges are considered veritable "proving grounds for teachers," let's go to the nearest college to see if we can come up with the answer.

At Northeast State College, we are told that the campus abounds with hundreds of prospective school teachers, from beginning freshmen to graduating seniors.

BASIC STUDY

A college student who plans to become a school teacher finds he —or she — must spend the first two years studying "practically everything." Only during the last two years does he begin studying professional courses that are specifically designed to train him as a teacher. During these advanced studies, the prospective teacher may find himself learning such things as psychology of the pupil, manuscript writing, principles of education, testing and measuring classwork, using audio - visual aids, guidance counseling, and latest methods or techniques in teaching school students.

All this studying is termed "basic or background" material, and the future teacher must keep in mind this background material and knowledge, for he will soon have the opportunity to apply what he knows — when he does student teaching during his senior year.

"Student teaching' may be regarded as the final step in the development of a school teacher. In this final step, the college student is taken from the campus and placed in a local public school, where he is required to teach his major subject for one semester (13 weeks).

TOTAL

At Northeast College this semester, there are 60 such student teachers who are now teaching school daily throughout the Twin Cities. Of this total, 34 are high school teachers and 26 are elementary teachers.

The future school teacher finds that his practice teaching session is one of the most outstanding periods of his career. During this time, he is observed by a supervising teacher — a member of the school faculty whose class he is teaching.

These classroom supervising teachers are specially trained to supervise, direct, and work with student teachers to pinpoint any deficiencies or weak points in the preparations, methods, techniques, and various other qualities he may show.

As an example of a typical supervising teacher, let's look into the background of L. M. Frey Jr., who supervises student teachers of English at Ouachita Parish High School.

UNDERSTANDING

He, as all others like him, once upon a time did student teach-

Charles Tillman

ing, too, and is in a position to understand the problems involved. Frey, a native of Monroe and former student at Ouachita High School, attended the New Mexico Military Institute, later the Southern Methodist University, the University of Mississippi (where he received his master of education degree), and is presently doing advanced study at the University of Arkansas between school sessions.

"It is very common to find a teacher — regardless of how high a degree he has — still taking university courses, because this matter of teaching school is always progressing and changing," he commented.

What does he think develops a school teacher? "Adequate training, along with actual classroom experience, plus a desire to serve youth."

Just as Frey supervises prospective teachers of English, there are countless other supervisors for student teachers in litrally every subject, including those who teach the elementary grades.

PROVISIONS

In some instances, special provisions have to be made. Future coaches, for example, do their practice teaching in their minor study field rather than in physical education classes. Many times, future teachers in coaching and in history work in the same classroom.

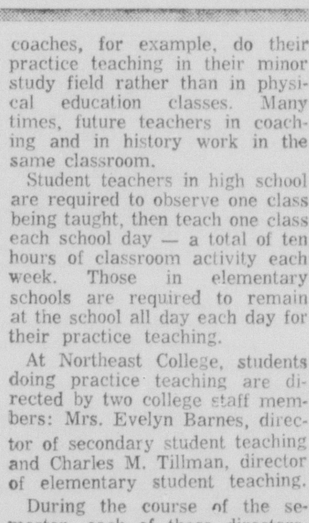
Student teachers in high school are required to observe one class being taught, then teach one class each school day — a total of ten hours of classroom activity each week. Those in elementary schools are required to remain at the school all day each day for their practice teaching.

At Northeast College, students doing practice teaching are directed by two college staff members: Mrs. Evelyn Barnes, director of secondary student teaching and Charles M. Tillman, director of elementary student teaching.

During the course of the semester, each of these directors, assistant professors of education, visits the classroom where every student teacher is holding class.

From these purposeful visits, Mrs. Barnes and Tillman observe the methods and ability of the student teacher and evaluate him accordingly.

Actually, these two directors



Mrs. Evelyn Barnes

may be called "teachers of teachers," for their students are really teachers, too.

WORTHWHILE

"Being a teacher of teachers does present some problems at times," Mrs. Barnes observed, "but we both agree that the end result is well worth the effort."

The "end result" Mrs. Barnes mentioned is the brand new school teacher, just graduated from college and prepared to take his or her place at the head of a classroom and undertake one of the most difficult, most rewarding jobs in the world — teaching school.

"Not everyone realizes what teaching school involves," Tillman explained, pointing to the various and ever - present extracurricula activities demanded of the teacher.

Rare indeed is the teacher, at any school or at any grade, who does not sponsor some group, club or organization. These school organizations call for regular meetings, a year's calendar of activities, and various programs throughout the school term.

PROGRAMS

In addition to sponsoring an organization, there is a continuous stream of assembly programs, stage productions, school plays, ball games, and other school functions that demand time and work from the classroom teacher.

Added to these duties are the everyday (and many times everynight) responsibilities of grading homework and test papers, preparing lesson plans for the coming classes, and attending to the countless little details that go along with regular classroom duties.

School teachers, however, seemingly thrive on such a strenuous schedule. Itis a rare one indeed who would consider changing places with anyone.

It is not unusual for a teacher to stand before his or her students all day, help build a parade float for some club as soon as classes dismiss, then arrive early at the same night's football game to set up sales for the ball programs, and spend what's left of the game cheering for his or her team. Then, to put a final touch on the day's schedule, the teacher might rush home and spend a few more hours preparing lessons or work for tomorrow's classes.

To suggest to a teacher that he or she might like some other kind of work better, however, would most likely invite a haughty stare and calm rebuttal. It seems these school teachers are a proud group — proud of the work they do, proud of the students they teach, and proud to be what they are.

That is how school teachers are developed.

Senecas Lose Another Fight Over Treaty

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

KINZUA, Pa. (AP)—When the Seneca Indians signed a treaty with the United States government in 1794 they expected the pact to hold "as long as the moon would rise, the grass be green, the river flow and the sun shine."

But now, 165 years and several court cases later, the government is ready to break the treaty and take back a portion of the land granted the Indians in western New York State.

The proposed 113-million-dollar flood control dam to be erected just below this little river valley community will create a huge reservoir that will take an estimates 9,000 acres of the Senecas' rich, bottom land along the upper Allegheny River.

The Senecas would be compensated for their property. That promise fails to gratify them.

"Maybe the government will give a lot of money for my farm," says Franklin John. "But where can I buy the equal of what I've built here? And where can I get other tax-free land?"

John, a mountain of man, is the "biggest dirt farmer" among the Indians in the southern portion of their 30,000-acre reservation bordering the Allegheny.

Many of John's fellow Indians believe the government would pay John enough for his land to make him "rich," in cash at least, according to Leo Cooper, a former president of Seneca Nation. "But he doesn't want the money."

And it's the same way with the others. They don't want the money, they just want to hold on to their ancestral lands.

Stretching 1,900 feet between two wooded mountain slopes, the Kinzua Dam will be the largest project of its kind in the northeastern United States.

Praise And Appraisal

"Praise and appraisal" — that was the theme of National Education Week, which has been observed throughout the United States in the week just ended.

Far from being resentful of the school reappraisal that has taken place since Russia's launching of Sputnik 1 caused a furor in this country, teachers and educators generally have welcomed demands for changes in and a general study of America's education system. If this country does not already have the best education system in the world, which many believe it does have, the teachers are fully as anxious as anyone to see that this goal is achieved.

"Don't stop criticizing us teachers." That was one of the requests voiced by a prominent educator, Earl H. Hanson, superintendent of schools in Rock Island, Ill., in answering the post-Sputnik attacks on our schools. "Teachers," he says, "should be less sensitive to the public's indignation." Personally, he hopes it will keep coming. Continuing, he said:

"Many teachers and school administrators, including me, were surprised and stung to bitter anger at the criticisms that exploded a year or so ago, and some still resent it. Most of them hotly defended themselves, and it is only natural that they should. Teachers, after all, are not in the business to get rich; they are in it because they love it. And the impulse to defend the thing you love — regardless of the merits of the case — is very human and very strong. Furthermore, teaching is a profession that demands strong personality; and the more dynamic and colorful a person is, the madder he gets when attacked.

"Nevertheless, I still believe that criticism of the schools is a fine thing. In the first place, criticism is a hair skirt. It makes us scratch, keeps us from relaxing too comfortably on our laurels. . ."

There is no profession which cannot be criticized and criticism is often of value but what critics say must not be accepted at face value, without competent and careful appraisal, or the changes will make conditions worse instead of better.

Futhermore, in appraising our system of education, we must take into consideration our objectives. If our education were intended only to make us better at war, we might say Russia's education system is better. If our hope is to increase our literacy, our culture, our progress, our happiness, our democracy and our faith in humanity and in God, we believe our system is superior to Russia's. Nevertheless, the price of all of these good things is eternal vigilance. That is why appraisal and reappraisal are so vital.

Some who are experts in one field asume they are experts in all fields. Scientists may attempt to tell educators what they should do but the scientist is basing his ideas almost wholly on what he believes will advance science. He has less knowledge than the educator of what it takes to make a balanced education or to provide a variety of educational advantages, so that some students may advance in one field and some in another.

An example of this was found when an educator had the courage to strike back at Vice-Admiral Hyman G. Rickover's criticism of the American school system.

Martin W. Essex, president of the American Association of School Administrators, said Admiral Rickover "misled the American people" in comparing Soviet and American schools.

The admiral, Mr. Essex continued, "is not competent in an area in which he is posing as an expert.'

Speaking to the Ohio School Boards Association, Mr. Essex who heads Akron, O., schools, declared:

"Admiral Rickover has been supporting his views with a Russian school examination which he said American students could not pass.

"Perhaps he is competent to report on the Soviet's atomic icebreaker but I must question his ability to ask pertinent questions about education and evaluate his answers.

"Soviet students are furnished test questions in advance, often are given a choice of which ones to answer and, in many cases, are given a chance to take the test again if they fail. As a result, failure in a Soviet school is a rarity."

Thus we see that the Russian students, who have been rated by some as more advanced than the American students, may be given even better chances for correct answers than were United States quiz contestants who are now under strong attack.

Much has been said and written in criticism of the schools and, for this reason and in connection with National Education Week, it seems appropriate to mention some of the goals and objectives of the teachers and educators. This can be done effectively by quoting "Ten golden rules our schools should live by," which follows:

"1. Classes small enough to permit individual attention for each child. (25 children per class at the elementary level is considered a good average).

"2. Provisions that permit each pupil to learn at his rate of speed, in different ways, and at different levels of achievement.

"3. A curriculum reviewed critically and often so that it remains current with the changing needs of children and society.

"4. A staff of enthusiastic, alert teachers, none with less than a bachelor's degree. Some teachers in the school will hold the master's degree or higher, or be working toward these.

"5. Teachers salaries that compare favorably with income of other persons in the community with similar education and years of experience. These salaries, of course, should be high enough so that teachers aren't forced into non-school employment, after hours to make ends meet.

"6. Teachers unburdened with an unreasonable number of non-teaching duties in their school assignments.

"7. High quality text books and other learning tools. A well-equipped library with a balanced supply of encyclopedias, dictionaries, current news magazines, scientific journals, and other reference materials of concern and interest to young people. Tools of learning, such as film-strips, foreign-language records, charts, globes, maps, pictures, tape-recorders.

"8. An enrollment large enough, particularly at the high school level, to justify a comprehensive program.

"9. A building (which serves as "home" for children many hours a day) which is clean, safe, comfortable, and uncrowded.

"10. Efficient and effective administrative leadership which seeks to stimulate quality teaching in every classroom. Such leadership also will exhibit capacity to manage efficiently the records, personnel and school plant."

School criticism should always start on the level of appraisals and attack should be resorted to only when it can be shown clearly that the practices objected to will be against the best interests of the school system, the students and the nation.

About 15 per cent of the wounded died during the Civil War, 8 per cent in World War I, 4 per cent in World War II and 2 per cent in the Korean war.

Castro's Impudence Bad

Petty Little Tyrant Stirs People To Wrath Against U.S. While Living Off American Business

The time has come for the United States to assert itself as a nation against a petty little tyrant who employs anti-Yanquism to keep himself in power. Fidel Castro needs a target to stir up his mob but can the United States tolerate his making us his target? Must we tolerate it?

Cuba's two principal sources of income derive from the United States. One is the tourist trade which, in the latter years of the Batista regime, became the leading source of income and the tourists were mostly Americans; the second source, of course, is sugar of which commodity Cuba has been the largest producer in the world.

* * *

The Uniter States permits Cuba to provide more than one-third of the sugar consumption of the United States, over 3,000,000 tons a year. The United States pays Cuba three cents a pound more than Cuba could get on the world market. In a word, the United States pays double the world price for sugar and Cuba gets an additional $160,000,000 a year thereby.

If Castro desecrates the American flag again, if he makes any more anti-American speeches, we ought to stop buying sugar in Cuba. The United States can purchase all the sugar it requires within the United States and in Mexico and the Philippines. Castro might attempt to sell his sugar to the Russians but it is doubtful whether they would pay the price the United States pays by law to maintain the economy of Cuba and it is more doubtful that they would want to disturb the economy of the Ukraine, a large beet sugar grower, by bringing in an enormous Cuban crop.

* * *

Fidel Castro, like many revolutionists, needs to keep himself in power either by genuine reforms or by developing a foreign target against which he hurls imprecations. It is unsound for the United States to tolerate Castro's impudence because it sets a bad example for other Latin-American countries. There needs to be dignity in such matters.

The United States recognized Castro too early and too rapidly. The State Department assumed that he was a reformer who would end the reign of a dictator.

It has never been explained why dictators are bad in some countries while acceptable in others. Stalin was an absolute dictator as Khrushchev declared him to be at the 20th Congress of the Russian Communist Party in his Cult of Personality speech. Nevertheless, Franklin D. Roosevelt sat and dined with Stalin and we entertained Khrushchev who is much like Stalin.

* * *

We objected to Batista because he was a dictator but took Castro to our hearts without much knowledge of the man and surely without foreknowledge that he would attempt to arouse all of Latin America against us and stimulate an attack on the Panama Canal. This we do not need to take from anybody. The soft policy toward Castro was probably inspired by those in the State Department who believe that when a man shouts, Democracy!, he must be accepted as an honest and decent person. Do they not know the allegory of "stop thief!"?

The United States remains the best market in the world for the sale of raw materials and manufactured goods. It is sound to use this advantageous market for political purposes. If Cuba seeks to disturb the Latin-American world to the disadvantage of the United States, this country need not assist Cuba economically so that it might be able to do us more harm. That is not only turning the other cheek but it is humiliating ourselves before a bewhiskered clown who seems so much like our own anarchical Beatniks.

* * *

Cuba is now a definite peril to the United States. It has interfered in the affairs of the Dominician Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Panama. It is too close to Florida to permit it to fall into the hands of Moscow-controlled Latin-American Communists. It stimulates rebellion in other countries and maintains an agitational atmosphere which imperils the peace of the Caribbean.

It is bad enough that Castro exists. He need not be subsidized by the United States. His government is being subsidized by the United States despite the fact that American property and life have been endangered and are constantly being threatened.

Our policy of weakness makes no sense at all—not in the world as we find it today.

Biggest Vote Seen

Hawaii And Alaska Certain To Make Number Of Ballots Largest

With Hawaii and Alaska casting their presidential votes for the first time, the U. S. is certain to poll the largest total ever for President in 1960, but the same old wheelhorses — New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan, to name a half dozen of the most important — will have the major role in determining the outcome.

* * *

At this stage, however, with speaking tours by major presidential contenders already under way from coast to coast, several important factors are evident. One is the tendency of aspirants to warm up to the big bloc votes, which are becoming more and more important in presidential elections.

The blocs, the political pros say, are more important than the issues, though the issues first create and then sway the blocs. Republicans have won two presidential elections in the past 30 years — the last two — with a big and nationally admired figure, Dwight D. Eisenhower. It is doubtful, in the light of developments, if they could have combined blocs and issues to win without him.

* * *

While the 1960 nominees will be important in the U. S. political world the winner may well be decided by the degree of unit of various blocs in their support of one nominee or the other. It has been estimated for example that in 1948, President Truman defeated the Republican nominee largely with the strong majority backing of the farm and big city Negro votes. What seems to have been consistently overlooked however, is the strength in that election of the old folks vote which also helped Truman in states like California, Illinois and Ohio all of which he carried although narrowly in each case.

This vote came from people who credited the previous Democratic administrations with the creation of social security. In the 1960 election social security will hardly be an issue, because its support is now bi-partisan. But estimates as high as 12 million of the 16 million eligibles over 65 are placed on the number who will vote, out of an estimated total vote of more than 64,000,000.

* * *

It is regarded here by political statisticians as questionable that the senior citizens will be anywhere nearly unified in their support, unless one candidate or the other singles them out with a program for better living conditions and that is not unlikely. Nevertheless they will be an increasing factor as a potential bloc from 1960 on, and any candidate who underestimates their importance must ignore the findings of senatorial subcommittee on their problems, which has already made another report and will have another upcoming about the time Congress reassembles in January.

The organized labor vote is slightly more important numerically than the old folks bloc and has more intensive direction than any other bloc. But the secret ballot checks the effort of leaders of labor's political organization to compel the rank and file of unions to vote as they direct and the enactment of the Landrum - Griffin labor reform bill tends to shake the previous overwhelmingly Democratic complexion of labor political support.

* * *

Polls seem to indicate that bloc support by labor, the aging and agriculture favors the Democrats. The last session of Congress however, virtually ignored the farm bloc, though passing some minor farm legislation, and the agricultural vote as a percentage of the whole vote has shrunk to a point where it could be controlling in only a few states. Those states still for the most part support Republicans for Congress. Those where agricultural districts supported Democrats for Senate and House in 1958, outside the South, have found that some of those they helped elect didn't vote as expected, and are reported as possibly swinging back to Republicans for Congress.

* * *

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is now regarded as the most likely Republican nominee. Nixon has increased in stature since his trips to South America and Russia, and there is recent evidence in polls that he tops the leading Democratic possibilities. He would have problems as Republican nominee in California, his own state, where the Democrats have demonstrated they have more labor and old age votes, in addition to a big edge in registered voters.

New York would be a close state, as would Illinois, though Nixon is represented as stronger in Ohio than any Democrat with the exception of Senator Frank Lausche, an unlikely Democratic nominee. Also, under some circumstances the northern Negro vote could give a majority to the Republicans. But the blocs will all cast their shadow on the 1960 political screen.

Views Of Our Readers

Dear Editor:

Let us analyze the political situation, and separate the blow-hards and the clowns from the men, or reasonable facsimiles, thereof.

You hear it continuously: "The Noe Team is the Go Team." It should be "The Noe Team is the Blow Team."

If Jimmy Noe had done all he's been crowing about, neither the Army or the State of Louisiana would ever have needed anyone else. He's taking credit for everything that has happened, practically since 1492.

Has no one given a thought to the "why" (or the motive) behind Noe's decision to try for the office of the Governor?

He has enough money to burn a wet dog, and is probably making several times the money paid the Governor, from his various holdings.

His motive is an ulterior one: I personally, have no doubt of his purpose in running: He is a walking proponent of integration.

Earl Long once said "Segregation is morally wrong." Suddenly, so many people jumped down his throat, he at once retracted, or at least, modified the statement. Now, he sneaks around under Noe's coattail so when Noe sells the people down the river to integration he can say "What could I do, I was only Lt. Governor?"

Are we going to let two of the sorriest Bush League politicians blind our eyes long enough to sell us integration wrapped in a package labeled "Bigger pensions to the aged?"

If we Louisianaians are that stupid we deserve what we'll get, and Brother, we'll get it! We'll have the rottenest administration ever to be in the Governor's Mansion.

Frankly, how are you going to like sitting shoulder to shoulder with "Gov." Noe's colored friends? You'll get the opportunity — just as sure as he's elected.

Has he ever committed himself, plainly and without reservations, on the integration question? No, he carries on his continuous and expensive publicity, throwing mud and dodging issues the people want to know.

Did you ever try to get a car title in a hurry? Or, anything else, from the do-nothing Long administration, in sort of a rush? You'll get that "go to hell, I'm a friend of Gov. Long's" attitude thrown at you.

Now, are we going to keep the windmills spinning in the Noe breeze? Remember, this farce is expensive. Its costing you, taxpayers!

So, let's analyze: Morrison is not acceptable, or qualified. And, so, right long the line. Davis is sincere, but very preoccupied and unconcerned. Usually, someone else does his "Governoring" for him. Rainach, seemingly qualified, has made several statements bordering on the anti-labor view. However, for his sincerity and on his promise to fight for segregation (so far, the one and the only one who has unreservedly pledged to do so) I say Rainach is the man. If he isn't, anyone else except Noe and Long will do. Even Morriosn. At least he has the good and common sense not to be a clown.

The world has laughed at Louisiana during the past four years.

"Let's say "So Long" to Long, and "No!" to Noe from now to Eternity!

We've had our show, and its no go! For Long & Noe - Adios, and So Long."

Yours truly,
Luther McCoy

RAPS SLUSH FUNDS

Monroe, La.

To The Editor:

I noticed in your editorial several days ago a statement that with the amount of money collected by the unions per month it would be hard to control their activities. I have been hoping our government would do something to curb that flow of millions.

When the Taft - Hartley act was in the senate (in the making) I wrote letters to the honorable Messrs. Taft, Hartley, Ball, Case and several others asking if they could pass a law curtailing that money situation, as I figured there is the trouble.

How does the gas case compare with the above case?

Japs Selling Soft

Businessmen Under Instructions Take It Easy In Huckstering

TOKYO, Japan — Mr. Moto is giving it the soft sell. Japanese businessmen are under firm instructions from their Government to take it easy in huckstering for customers. This is particularly true in the big marketing area of Southeast Asia where, a while back, the Japs went buying raw materials and selling manufactures with gunboat diplomacy under the flag of the Rising Sun.

* * *

But the Japs today have done what aerial navigators call a One Eighty — a full reversal of sales tactics. They are taking their trade back into the lands they once conquered — the Philippines, Burma, Thailand, Vietnam, Indonesia — but they are leaving the flag behind. In a carefully planned campaign to achieve the "co-prosperity sphere" which eluded them as warriors, the Japs feel that their first step is to rub out those wartime memories.

"If the Japs had a National Security Council," says a spokesman at the American Embassy in Tokyo, "its top objective would be to overcome the heritage of World War II."

* * *

This accounts for the soft sell approach. It also accounts (although the motives soon get mixed) for the $1.2 billion in reparation payments which the Japanese Government is sending to Southeast Asia over the next 20 years.

The Japs have a foreign aid policy of their own. They are investing millions through such agencies as the Colombo Plan, the World Bank and Development Fund, the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East, the International Cooperation Administration. On top of this are government - to-government loans, like the $70 million of credit to India, and various private investments.

* * *

Japan is no longer a toy-and-textile nation. It is a manufacturer of capital goods with the capability of lifting the whole economy of non-Communist Asia by industrialization. The need is for raw materials. So, Japan is part of a three - way deal to tap the high grade iron deposits in Orissa Province of India, four hundred miles from the sea. Japan is laying out $8 million for the railway and mining equipment, the U.S. is in for $20 million, India for local construction estimated at $39 million. The pattern holds for Japanese plans to take tin, bauxite and lumber from other Asian sources, and to return the minerals in manufactured articles.

Up to a point, this is the classical method of building an export market. The Japs are there with the first contacts. They have, or they soon will have, the best nearby products. They are trying to fill a vacuum which will be filled by Communist China if they fail. They are on a rising economy — 25 per cent above prewar standards — and are aiming to make their success succeed in a big way.

* * *

But one element is missing here. To this classic pattern belongs the time - tested economic law — the flag must follow the trade. Without a long-ranging Navy and Air Force to protect its persons, property and prestige, how can Japan do this far - off business? The friendship approach might be all right if the Chinese Communists would enter into a contest of smiles and bows. But the Reds are already pressing upon these same borders where the Japs are building up trade. What happens if the party gets rough?

It's a good question because it leads into an overlooked phase of Japanese recovery from World War II. This recovery or re-education has not been so smooth and complete as often supposed. It has been jerky, uneven, half-bake, much like the adolescence of a problem child.

Seven Navy - built American science bases in the Antarctic cover an area of four million square miles.

Many Irons In The Fire

Chinese Study

Editor's Note — Red China has more irons in the fire than backyard smelters. Where science is concerned, the People's Republic is working with singleminded enthusiasm. Will it overtake the United States and the Soviet Union? Here's an enterprising look at where Red China stands in science and technology, gathered from sources on both sides of the Bamboo Curtain.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Red China is brewing up some of the next surprises in science and technology.

For most of its 10 years, the Chinese People's Republic has stressed education and science as mainsprings of her highly advertised "great leap forward."

One goal was creating a new army of scientists and technologists.

"Now they are beginning to reap the fruits—and in five years or so we can expect some razzle-dazzle in science," says a prominent American physicist. He asked not to be identified, since he has continuing contacts with Russians and Chinese at international scientific meetings.

He recently observed some of the Chinese students studying in the Soviet Union.

"Even the Russians are flabbergasted about their energy and utter devotion," he reports. "The Chinese students will study until 2 a.m., then be up at 7 a.m., taking calisthenics before starting another long day.

"One Soviet scientist remarked: 'We understand you Americans, but we don't understand the Chinese.'

"Another Russian scientist first told me last summer the joke: 'If you are an optimist, study Russian, and if you are a pessimist, then study Chinese'."

U.S. scientists and newsmen are not permitted to visit Red China. But other nationals who have visited, and scientists with indirect contacts, agree that science and technology are being avidly pursued in the new China arising in this age of science.

Most think China wants to make her own A-bombs. A few think China may produce them within a few or five years, vastly changing the world's military and strategic position.

Red China's first problem was building schools, finding teachers to train thousands of scientists and technicians. From all signs, this is well under way.

Dr. J. Tuzo Wilson, professor of geophysics at the University of Toronto, visited China last year, including a new center of institutes and universities in Peiping.

As many as 100,000 scientists and students may be working there, he reports in a new book "One Chinese Moon," (Hill and Wang, New York). Dr. Wilson said he was told there now are 200 colleges and universities in China, with about 450,000 students.

A large percentage is studying science. Others are taking scientific training abroad, with up to 6,000 Chinese students said to be in the Soviet Union alone. Scientific equipment is reported being bought from the U.S.S.. and East European countries.

A Chinese-born physicist, now doing research at a large American university, told of meeting a Soviet expert in physics who was impressed with some Chinese accomplishments.

The Russian found the Chinese making better crystals of germanium—the hearts of transistors—than the Russians did. He also thought their photographic emulsions for tracing atomic particles better than any made in the United States.

These apparently were the product of Chinese scientists who had gone to school in the United States and elsewhere before the Chinese revolution 10 years ago.

Before the Sino-Japanese war and subsequent upheavals, China was credited with numerous good scientists, particularly in biology.

The work of young Chinese scientists in physics and mathematics is not regarded yet as generally top-rate by some qualified American observers. But a few Chinese theoretical physicists are credited with doing good work.

An American scientists who frequently visits Asian countries reports signs that Red China scientists are trying to lure home some Chinese researchers now based in Taiwan, or Formosa. One lure is that the scientists would have better support and greater opportunity to publish their work if they did return.

A majority of basic research journals published in Red China for foreign distribution are written in English rather than Russian, another scientist reports. He thinks this indicates the Chinese are anxious to win approval and standing in the eyes of American and British scientists.

Dr. Wilson, in his month of travel, was impressed among other things with the surge of national pride and patriotic fervor in Red China, especially among youths, and by the planning for the future.

"It is of vital importance that we assess what is happening as accurately and dispassionately as we can, because what happens in China is going to affect us—probably with a smash of tremendous impact — and that soon," he writes.

He notes that the Chinese are following the West—for Westerners are not starting to grow pigtails, or put on mandarin coats, or give up mass production methods in favor of handcrafts.

"The common pride and perversity of human nature prevents the Chinese from admitting this," Dr. Wilson says, "but it remains nonetheless true that they have abandoned many of the trappings of a civilization 3,000 years old to adopt many of the new ideas of the West, as the Russians did before them. We should recognize this and do our best to be worthy of the leadership thrust upon us."

Better Do A Study

Trouble Shooter

By BILL DEAN

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Gen. Thomas S. Power leaned toward his intercom. "Rod," he said, "I think you'd better do a study."

In his office downstairs in Strategic Air Command headquarters, Dr. Rodney H. Smith, a good-looking, 41-year-old scientist, cocked his head toward the squawk box as the SAC commander asked: "How much warning will I get of a surprise attack."

Smith, in turn, put the question to his experts in one of SAC's least known agencies: Operations Analaysis.

The civilian team—specialists in electronics, mathematics, statistics, geophysics and meteorology—fanned out across the country to huddle with intelligence officers, communications personnel and air defense people at Colorado Springs.

One Operations Analysis man headed for the Far East to gather data. Another was sent to Europe.

The team of scientists then weighed what they learned about worldwide radar, available communications systems and the various ways in which the enemy might strike. Finally, Dr. Smith briefed Gen. Power and his staff on what was learned.

Not long afterward, on Oct. 1, 1957, Gen. Power told the world that henceforth part of SAC's global jet bomber force would always be on 15 minutes alert—prepared to be airborne and combat ready in a quarter of an hour.

It was a dramatic break from tradition during one of the chillier phases of the cold war. As one SAC man explained: "It used to take 24 hours to go to war."

Power, like many military and businessmen today, had made his decision only after hearing what his scientists had to say.

The door to Operations Analysis is just a few steps inside the main entrance of SAC's headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha. Yet comparatively few of the 3,700 people who work in the building are aware of the agency.

The uncluttered, quiet, gray-walled sanctum of 25 scientists is divided into small cubicles, each with a large blackboard. Except for four or five airmen, the men are civilians.

Smith's own office is a large, carpeted room with a mahogany conference table, a big mahogany desk an a dozen leather-upholstered chairs.

As OA's chief, Smith is one of the military's "civilian generals," the equivalent of a brigadier. His rank among his civilian colleagues is evident, too: he has the biggest blackboard in the place.

"We're scientific advisers to Gen. Power an his staff," the earnest, personable Smith explains. "We are available on the spur of the moment. We're not assigned to any particular functions."

In general, the OA civilians apply scientific method and special training to the problems of military aircraft an missiles and air warfare.

Though still relatively few in number, Operations Analysts make up a fast-rising segment of both military and business worlds. Best known are those of the Rand Corp. in Santa Monica, Calif., fighting theoretical future wars with mathematical formulae and electronic calculators.

"They're a lot more ivory tower than we are," smiles Dr. Smith, who like the rest of his staff, works in shirtsleeves. "We live day in and day out with the military. Typically we're much closer to the problem and we try to get out our answers a whole lot quicker."

"The real difference between us and Rand is the use of the product. They explore a problem and put out a published report. Our product is injected into the work of the SAC headquarters staff."

Operations Analysis was born at the outset of World War II when the British called on civilian scientists who developed radar to help speed the new device into military operation.

When the first analysts went to work for the U.S. 8th Bomber Command, Brig. Gen. Ira Eaker asked them: "How can I put twice as many bombs on my targets?"

As the war progressed OA men found ways not only to double but triple the number of bombs on a target area.

Today's scientific surge is taxing the ability of the Operations Analysis scientists to keep pace.

"We spend half our time keeping abreast of developments — reading, attending meetings, visiting laboratories," says Paul A. Hower, 42, an electronics expert and deputy director of SAC's Operation Analysis.

"There are plenty of translations of Russian scientific literature and technical intelligence is pretty good," he reports.

"We know a lot about the Russians' electronics capability. It's very comparable to ours, though they do things differently."

A man doing scientific analysis surely needs time to just think. When does Hower find the time?

"I do most of my thinking while I'm mowing the lawn," he laughs.

Smith and Hower give you the impression the marriage between science and the military is a happy one.

SAC officers suggest this is partly because the operation has been completely successful and has paid its way. At the same time the scientists have spelled out to the generals the conditions necessary to get the job done and apparently have made them stick.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 13 productions brought to Broadway by David Merrick during the past five years have grossed $25,500,000, according to trade estimates.

Nine of the projects have already reaped dividends, two are on the way, and the remaining pair are classed as the only financial misses.

Merrick currently has five shows running, "Gypsy," "The World of Suzie Wong," "La Plume de Ma Tante," "Destry Rides Again" and "Take Me Along."

ON CATLIN

Double Feature

GEORGE CATLIN AND THE OLD FRONTIER. By Harold McCracken. Dial. $18.50. George Catlin: Episodes from "Life Among the Indians" and "Last Rambles." Edited by Marvin C. Ross. University of Oklahoma. $12.50.

Born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1796, died in Jersey City, N. J., in 1872, Catlin produced, says Ross, "the most remarkable portraiture record of North American Indians known to us." McCracken hails him in these words: "No other artist or writer in the field of the North American Indian and the Old West has had as long and broad an influence."

Catlin studied law, but in Philadelphia he met Sully, Willson, Peale and other painters, was elected to the Pennsylvania Academy, turned to portraiture, became a friend of a sitter, DeWitt Clinton, and then embarked definitely on his western travels and painting career, starting from St. Louis where the indorsement of the Clark of Lewis and Clark helped him on his way. That was in 1830. In five years he had scores of sketches and finished pictures of braves, squaws, villages and ceremonies. He exhibited them in eastern cities, then London and Paris. Kings and queens might see and approve, but the United States Congress would not vote to buy this essential unique record. In later years he went to the West Coast and the jungles of South America. He died, practically penniless, and only then did a sizable body of his work settle in the Smithsonian.

These are not art books so much as picture books; Catlin was too good a friend of the Indian to take esthetic liberties in line, pattern or color; he was a recorder, not a creator. McCracken, with 36 color reproductions and 13 black-and-whites, is the biographer, following his artist in more detail than anyone else on his wide wanderings. The more precise scholarship is in Ross' book, which concentrates on the three years in the 1850s when Catlin went to our west coast and South America; Ross' 152 black and white reproductions show the less familiar originals of that particular period, plus the artists's second versions, or copies, of his earlier works.

POPULAR

"HERE WE GO AGAIN." The Kingston Trio. Capital T1258, $3.98. This is the Trio that did not stay on the slow boat to fame; they caught the first rocket to the top. Dave Guard, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane are three good reasons why folk music is so popular with folks today. One quality of this group so often over looked is their performance of a song with the direct and personal warmth of an individual stylist. The Kingston Trio merely whetted the appetite of folk for more folk music with their recording of Tom Dooley. Selections include Molly Dee, Across The Wide Missouri, Goober Peas and A Worried Man.

"EXOTICA VOL III." The Exotic Sounds of Martin Denny. Liberty LST 7116, $4.98. First gaining fame in the Hawaiian Islands then in the United States for his unusual sounds. Martin Denny has often been copied, but he always remains original with his arrangements. The musical interest is very good and the stereo depth and directionality are excellent. Some of the selections are Hello Young Lovers, Harbor Lights, Limehouse Blues, and Caravan.

"WITH THESE HANDS." Roger Williams. Kapp KS3030, $4.98. Roger Williams' fame started after he recorded "Autumn Leaves" for Kapp Records. Since that time he has consistently appeared on all hit record charts and became well known to radio and television. "With These Hands" is music for your every mood. Tunes less familiar makes this an unrepeated album.

"TIME TO SWING." Dakota Station. Capital T1241, $3.98. Arrangements and orchestra conducted by Sid Feller. Born in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Dakota made her album debut in "The Late, Late Show." From there she leaped to the top of the list as one of the country's finest jazz singers of our day. A great stylist herself, with the backing of Sid Feller and his crew varrying their instrumental power to give just the right amount of support, Dakota has recorded another hit album.

CLASSICAL

BEETHOVEN: Symphony No. 4, in B flat, Op. 60-Overture "Coriolan" Op. 62. Ernest Ansermet conducting the L'orchestre De La Suisse Romande. London CS6070, $5.98. Stereo definition and separation on this disc are very good. Beethoven composed his Symphony No. 4 a high spirited youth-score in 1806, later he composed his ever popular and elegantly concise Symphony No. 5. Ernest Ansermet has retained the joyous score throughout. The Overture "Coriolan" was written for Heinrich Joseph von Collin's Coriolan play derived from Plutarch's "Lives."

"OPERATIC RECITAL." Guiseppe de Stefano. London OS-25081, $5.98. de Stefano is accompanied by the Orchestra of L'Accademia di Santa Cecilia, Rome on side one, on side two he is accompanied by the Zurich Tonhallen Orchestra. The stereo effect is superb. London's engineers have done a remarkable job of recording di Stefano's voice. Guiseppe is probably Italy's most favorite tenor today. He has opened the La Scala season in Italy for the past three successive years. Side one includes excerpts from Andrea Chenier, Tosca, and Turandot. Side two Werther, Manon, Carmen, Faust, and Les Pecheurs De Perles.

"MA VLAST" — complete recording. Bedrich Smetana. Rafael Kubelik conducting the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. London CSA2202, $11.96, two records. Smetana composed Ma Vlast ("My Country") under a great affliction, deafness. Suffering from disordered hearing he began work on the cycle in 1874. Later he became stone deaf. He did not let this stop him by 1879 the cycle was complete. To appreciate My Vlast it is necessary to hear all six poems in one concert. Rafael Kubelik has captured and held the fervour that Smetana must have had for his country, Czechoslovakia. The overall stereo effect is great and the recorded sound is of the highest fidelity.

Fresher Rose For Novelist Gertrude Stein

THE THIRD ROSE: GERTRUDE STEIN AND HER WORLD. By John Malcolm Brinnin. Atlantic - Little, Brown, $6.

Gertrude Stein, who wrote some three dozen books, has inevitably been much written about. Besides her innumerable appearances in volumes on Left-Bank Paris of 1900-50, she has been the subject of a couple of bibliographies and six other entire books. Stein scholars and biographers have long since got around to repeating themselves — just the fault some of the more spiteful critics charge her with. But now Brinnin, 13 years after her death, honors her with another biography, detailed and exhaustive, sympathetically illustrated, and even those who knew Stein best will find fresh insights and information.

The main story is quickly told — born Pittsburgh 1874, studied Radcliffe and Johns Hopkins, settled Paris 1903 first with brilliant erratic brother Leo and then with Alice B. Toklas — who now in their rue Christine apartment presides over the Stein collection of key paintings of the 20th Century. "Three Lives," "The Making of Americans," "Tender Buttons," "The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas," "Four Saints in Three Acts" and "Wars I Have Seen," among other books of hers, have raised up an army of friends and at least a corporal's guard of foes.

Brinnin puts an end to the nonsense about automatic writing; she used a pencil and ruled children's notebooks, not the ouija board. He stresses her creative intellectuality, the cubist content of her work, her major role in restoring to the theater some of its ancient ritual, and the litany - like charcter of both "Four Saints" and "The Mother of Us All."

"Rose is a rose is a rose is a rose" provided the title—a friend could take the first two roses, he told Brinnin, but found the third thorny. Brinnin is for Stein, or as he phrases it inversely, "She may not endure, as James Joyce and Picasso may not endure." But this is no blanket indorsement, this is not a Stein - can - do - no-wrong study. You might like "The Mother" less, or "Tender Buttons" more. The important thing is the over-all view. Soberly weighing plus against minus, the Brinnin ledger shows few red entries, and many in black. This examination of the Stein record, the fullest to date, results, as it was bound to, in the unchallengeable affirmation of her top place in our letters.

State Official Gives Ruling On Wide Cars

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — State Atty. Gen. George McCanless ruled Friday those wide, wide new cars must comply with a Tennessee law requiring truck-type clearance lights on vehicles over 80 inches wide.

Greg O'Rear, state safety commissioner, said the highway patrol would begin enforcement of the law after allowing motorists reasonable time to equip their cars with the amber and red lights and reflectors.

"We have no other choice," he said.

A check of auto manufacturers' specifications showed nine 1960 model cars with widths ranging up to 1.9 inches over 80 inches.

McCanless, in an opinion requested by O'Rear, said any car over 80 inches wide must carry eight clearance lights and six reflectors. Violation is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $50 and 30 days in jail.

O'Rear said owners of the extra wide cars would be given a grace period in which to equip their cars as required by law. He said he had not decided when enforcement would commence.

The 1960 cars over 80 inches wide include standard models of Chevrolet, Continental, Edsel, Ford, Imperial, Lincoln, Mercury, Oldsmobile and Pontiacs, O'Rear said.

The first victim was the patrol itself. O'Rear ordered the patrol's only 1960 model car a Ford, parked until it could be equipped with clearance lights. Another 31 patrol cars on order also must be similarly equipped, he said, before they can be used.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

One of the most pressing problems in library administration is that of having enough copies of popular books to meet the demand when the books are new, without having so many copies that eventually a great number are left sitting on the shelves. I have worried about this for a long time and with the increased use of the library, our waiting lists have grown longer and longer. We hope that we have partially solved this problem by subscribing to a service whereby we receive a number of new books at their height of popularity and return them when they are no longer needed. Last week we received the first shipment of books under this plan and it helped us to cut down on the waiting lists a great deal. If our patrons would cooperate by returning the books as soon as they have finished reading them, all of the books in our collection could move faster. This is another effort on our part to give you, the people of Ouachita Parish the best service that we can.

In addition to the books mentioned above, we have added a number of new titles to our collection in the past week. Two new mystery stories are: "The List of Adrian Messenger" by Philip McDonald and "Plot It Yourself" by Rex Stout. An interesting new novel, centered around Gibraltar is "The Rock" by Warren Tute. While Dorothy Stevenson is the author of a novel with an English background called "Still Glides the Stream."

The backbone of a library collection is it's non-fiction collection and we are working constantly to build it up. A number of interesting new books are now available for you. "Philosophy for a Time of Crisis" is the title of a very fine book by Adrienne Koch. "Reading the Bible Aloud" by J. Edward Lantz will give pleasure and inspiration to many people. "The Church Plans for Kindergarten Children" by Katherine Tobey is a very splendid book. "The Masks of God" by Joseph Campbell sheds new light on the world of primitive mythology. A new book dealing with the beat generation is "The Holy Barbarians" by Lawrence Lipton. "The Face of Disaster" by Donald Robinson is an account of how Americans have reacted to great national disasters. "The Road to Harper's Ferry" by J. C. Furnas is an interesting account of the anti-slavery movement in this country. "The Compact History of the American Red Cross" by Charles Hurd is an excellent book and one of which we are very proud, especially since it was a gift from our local Red Cross Chapter. "Your Child in a Scientific World" is a very helpful book for parents by Albertina Weinlander as is "Kindergarten; Your Child's Big Step" by Minnie Berson. "The Case for Basic Education" by James D. Koerner should be of interest to parents as well as teachers. "Christmas with Ed Sullivan" is an interesting collection which will be in great demand a little later on, Billie Burke's new book is called "With Powder on My Nose" and many people will want to read it.

In the field of science there are several new books. "The Voyage of the Beagle" by Charles Darwin has just been reprinted in a lovely edition. "Wildlife in America" by Peter Matthiessen is a very fine and beautiful new book. "Eat Fat and Grow Thin" by Dr. Richard Mackarness is another book of diet. "A Psychiatrist's World" is a collection of essays by Karl Menninger.

Gardening books are always popular and we have several new ones to offer this week. "The Gardner's World" is a splendid book by Joseph Wood Krutch. "Landscaping with Vines" is the title of a book by Frances Howard. One of the most beautiful cookbooks which we have had in a long time is the "General Foods Kitchens Cookbook." Recently we have had many calls for books on judo, so we have added several to our collection. One is "Popular Judo" by Pat Butler. Another is "Jiu Jitsu Complete" by Klyose Nakae and the other is "Judo on the Ground" by E. J. Harrison. In the field of literature there are several new books "The Family Reader of American Masterpieces" is a lovely collection by Ralph L. Woods. "Have Pen Will Autograph" is a humorous account of his experiences written by Harnett T. Kane. "The Anger of Achilles" is a lovely new translation of Homer's Iliad by Robert Graves.

"Three Against the Wilderness" is an exciting story of courage in the Canadian woods. "New Orleans" by Oliver Evans is a lovely descriptive book of that city. "Embarcadero" by Richard Dillon is a collection of true tales of sea adventure around San Francisco. "The Desperate People" is an exciting account of the Eskimos written by Farley Mowat. "Armada" by Garrett Mattingly, interestingly retells this great period in English history. "Picket's Charge" by George R. Stewart has all of the thrill of the Civil War. "In the Days of McKinley" by Margaret Leech sheds new light on a period of our history about which little has been written. "The Story of Indonesia" by Louis Fischer is a very much needed and splendid new book.

Another Book From Faulkner

THE MANSION. By William Faulkner. Random House. $4.75.

Though Faulkner recollects having the Snopeses in mind more than 30 years, your memory of them probably goes back only to 1940 when he introduced them in "The Hamlet." He left them, and their problems of money, ambition and sex, pretty much alone till 1957 when they returned in "The Town." There you again meet Flem and his wife Eula, and also both Charles Mallison and Gavin Stevens. Now here they are back in the old Major de Spain "mansion" remodeled pretentiously, "that - ere big white elephant of a house" with "them colyums" rising two stories, to describe it in the vernacular of V. K. Ratliff.

Mink, or M. C., Snopes is being sentenced. "Did you or didn't you kill Jack Houston?" the judge demands, but Mink won't tell — so Faulkner does. Mink had a cow, Houston had a herd, Mink's got into Houston's pasture. They dickered over it; Mink thought he was smart, Houston was smart and also ruthless, and the upshot was that Mink dug post holes nearly 40 days to pay the feed bill. But Houston's mean streak drove him and Mink also too far, Mink sneaked the family savings out from behind a fireplace brick, bought a gun, and shot Houston right off his wild and brutish stallion.

All during the trial he expected Flem to rescue him, but Flem was off in Texas with Eula, determined to stay away long enough so her baby did not appear to have been born scandalously early. When Mink served most of his 20 years, he was lured into an escape attempt by a tricky maneuver of Flem's involving some salacious photos, so Mink's sentence is doubled, and his passion to get even is intensified correspondingly. It is fatefully the child Linda, born too soon, who will petition for Mink's release and thus set him off his mad hunt for her supposed faithless father.

Though there isn't a single baffling long sentence, here are some Faulkner trademarks, for instance the habit of putting down two words for the reason he can't decide which he prefers, as in "what he sculpted, made," and "he flung, threw the pistol," and "there would be, was a back door."

But of the three Scopes novels this is the best, most meaningful and direct. Faulkner's men and women as always back and fill, take one step forward and two steps back; this verbal tangle, though it may look pointless and impossible to unravel, produces a surprisingly lush texture of emotion, character and scene. And in a sense it is nothing new. It may be better, but it's still the same, Faulkner's unevennesses do not affect the constant unchanging stories, and you don't review a new novel, you just review an extension of an old. One overlaps another. He writes not a string of books, but a Mississippi "comedie humaine."

Infantryman At The Front Is Top Work

INFANTRYMAN AT THE FRONT By Grady P. Arrington (Vantage, $3.50).

What happened in the turbulent years 1944-45, when the Allied armed forces swept across the English Channel and brought Hitler's Germany to her knees, will always remain one of the greatest adventures of mankind. Infantryman at the Front tells of those days from the viewpoint of an American foot soldier, . . . a story as gripping as a novel, yet so alive with truth that no one who reads it will ever forget it.

Here is the Battle of the Bulge, not as a paragraph in a history book but as a life-and-death struggle in which thousands of Americans lost their lives; and here, in vivid detail, is all the soul-sickening backwash of the battles that led to the heart of Berlin: the devastation; the effects upon soldier and civilian; the wild madness of suddenly released, starving DP's and prisoners of war.

Through the experiences of an Arkansas farm boy, a young man innately friendly and considerate, we see how an American infantryman can change from a jittery private to a sometimes merciless beast, indifferent to suffering and even feeling positive pleasure in inflicting it while engaging the enemy in house-to-house combat.

We see what it means to be in danger of losing one's life at any second; sense how it feels when comrades are struck down. We hear the infantryman's age - old gripes; share his lull - in - battle thoughts of home, family, and friends, and his confusion as to what the war is all about. We understand his uneasiness of mind, from U. S. embarkation port to European battle zone; enjoy his rough humor; and admire, constantly, the sheer guts which enable him to "fight his way through hell like a raving maniac, then emerge to retrieve his sense of benevolence and generosity toward mankind."

This is anything but a typical "war-is-hell" book . . . or a paean of praise. It is a searingly honest portrait of the American foot soldier, straightforward, uninhibited, understandable.

Running The Scales

By John Cale

Last weekend in the heart of the oil well and cattle country — Dallas, Texas, — a bit of the sheen of the golden age of opera came to life once more.

As was the case in 18th Century Italy, a soprano who had been making notorious headlines in Europe during late summer, turned into the box office hit of the year in the person of Maria Callas.

Her title role in "Lucia de Lamamoor," brought in $35,000 in receipts, a record sum for a single performance. Miss Callas who was dismissed from New York's Metropolitan Opera several seasons back by manager Rudolph Bing has thus far brought good financial fortune to the Dallas opera. But with a list of role refusals behind her at the "Met," and several cancellations to her credit in Italy, there is reason for opera officialdom to be concerned out Texas way.

GENTLE STRINGS

The refined performance of the Julliard String Quartet highlighted the Monroe musical scene last week, following the appearance of the Goldowsky Grand Opera Theatre on the La. Tech series in Ruston. The Dallas Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Paul Kletski is the next attraction billed for the Ruston series and is set for two performances on December 3. The Northeast State series has no more bookings until after the Thanksgiving-Christmas holidays.

"My Fair Lady" starring England's Diane Todd will open for a nine - day run in Shreveport on November 23.

An amazing sign of the times was the assembly of culture hunters which attended the program of the Julliard Quartet here Wednesday. Some estimates put the size of the audience at only a slightly smaller figure than the group which turned out for a political rally on the same evening. As for the entertainment value, there is no doubt that the political players can take a bow. But as to attracting an audience of such dimensions, due credit must go to the four gentlemen playing the cello, viola and two violins. Some reparts claimed curiosity played its part in drawing crowds to both events, and this is perhaps true. Still there were no doubt many who wanted a closer look-listen.

Not too many years ago, one public event in Monroe and West Monroe was considered sufficient for the evening. The fact that two or three such gatherings now can hold their own simultaneously is good evidence that the northeast Louisiana population is on the upswing.

LOCAL SYMPHONY

The Twin City Symphony has opened its membership drive for the 1959 - 60 season. This orchestra, comprised largely of local musicians and students is under the direction of Dr. Harry Lemert, head of the Fine Arts Department at Northeast State College. It is one of three membership supported culture organizations in the Monroe-West Monroe area, the other two being Little Theatre and the Northeast State Concerts Association. Instead of causing a drain on local and state tax sources — as is the case in many European countries these three organizations assure an adequate supply of entertainment before local footlights paid for by the persons most interested. For those who are inclined to want a greater choice, add the La. Tech series and try to match the cultural offerings per square week anywhere in the country outside of New York City. It would be difficult to do.

1. MACK THE KNIFE, Bobby Darin.
2. MR. BLUE, Fleetwoods.
3. PUT YOUR HEAD ON MY SHOULDER, Paul Anka.
4. DON'T YOU KNOW, Della Reese.
5. DECK OF CARDS, Wink Martindale.
6. TEEN BEAT, Sandy Nelson.
7. PRIMROSE LANE, Jerry Wallace.
8. (TIL) I KISSED YOU, Everly Brothers.
9. POISON IVY, Coasters.
10. LONELY STREET, Andy Williams.

College Place Baptist Sets Homecoming

The College Place Baptist Church will observe homecoming on its fifteenth anniversary, today, the pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg has announced.

A goal of 1500 has been set for the two organizations that day, 1,000 in Sunday School and 500 in Training Union. The services of the day will include Dr. A. V. Washburn, secretary of the Sunday School Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board of Nashville, Tennessee, slated to speak at the 11:00 a.m. service. The church will then have dinner on the ground followed by the anniversary service which will be at 2:00 p.m. At that time the main message will be brought by Dr. L. T. Hastings, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Monroe. The speaker for the evening service at 7:30 will be Dr. Earl Guinn, president of Louisiana College and formerly interim pastor of the College Place Baptist Church.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services of this day according to the pastor. College Place Baptist Church has grown from a charter membership of 240 in November of 1944 to a present membership of over 1700. The Sunday School enrollment is 1435, and the Training Union enrollment is 590.

College Place Baptist Church is located on Sherrouse Avenue in the College Town area of Monroe.

West Monroe Church Names Supply Pastor

The Highland Presbyterian Church, Wellerman Road at Jersey Street, West Monroe, has secured the services of the Rev. D. L. O'Neal, D.D., Executive of Church Extension for Red River Presbytery, as supply minister, it was announced today.

Dr. O'Neal will preach at the Highland Church each Sunday at 11:00 a.m. He will continue to serve the new church, organized November 1 with a charter membership of 105, until a regular minister is secured.

Elected to the board of elders were N. A. Randall, E. R. Wilson, James S. Rutledge and A. D. Brown. To the Board of Deacons the following were elected: D. C. Frantom, Raymond Odom, J. W. Roberson, James R. Johnston, Alton Calhoun and James L. McGuire.

Dr. O'Neal will preside today at the ordination of James S. Rutledge and A. D. Brown as Ruling Elders.

Small English Village Scene Of Epic Film

LYTCHETT MINSTER, England, (AP) — The ordinary folk of this sleepy English village — the lady of the manor and the dairymaid the village doctor and the cowherd—have teamed together in a novel work of religious faith. They've made a movie.

Using their own camera, working every Sunday for three years they produced an epic film of the life of John the Baptist.

It is now going round the world.

Not long ago the movie, called "Voice in the Wilderness," was shown at the 16th International Conference on Audio-Visuals in the Church at Green Lake, Wis. It has been screened also in New York and Ottawa. New sound tracks are being prepared in German, Iranian and Japanese.

It was the lady of the manor—to whom English country folk still touch their caps in deference—who thought of it all. Actually Lady Madeline Lees, grey-haired widow of a baronet, doesn't live in the manor any more because she can't afford it.

Making the movie fulfilled her life's ambition. Years ago, she watched the villagers of Oberammergau in Bavaria presenting their famous passion play. She vowed she would make Lytchett Minster, home of the Lees family for generations, the English Oberammergau.

"The only way to achieve it seemed to be by means of a film," she says.

"My husband and I had been to Palestine. We began to reconnoiter Palestinian scenery in and around Lytchett Minster."

Local ponds and streams became the River Jordan. Clay and sand pits served as the desert. For the streets of Jerusalem and Nazareth, there were the backyards and stables of the manor house itself.

Lady Lees' husband, Sir John Lees, died in 1955, but she carried on with her idea with the help of her family and the villagers.

Missionary Says Eskimos 'Enthusiastic'

BAKER LAKE, N.W.T. (AP)—After 30 years of labor in the frozen vineyard of the Far North, Canon William J. R. James still holds no affection for this bleak land on the upper west shore of Hudson Bay.

"I don't like the North," explains the 59-year-old Anglican missionary, "but I love the work."

His work is to bring the Gospel to some 500 Eskimos inhabiting a vast diocese covering 75,000 square miles of desolation in the Keewatin District of the Northwest Territories. His flock is small but what they lack in numbers they make up in enthusiasm.

Church services, conducted entirely in the Eskimo dialect, have become so popular that he holds two every Sunday, each time packing almost 200 persons into a 24 x 30-foot church.

Some of the Eskimos even show up for a third service, held in English in the afternoon and intended for the small number of government employes here.

One of the Eskimos plays the accordion, and the rest—following the ringing lead of the wiry canon—sing the well-known Anglican hymns in strange-sounding Eskimo with a gusto that would put to shame many more prosperous congregations.

There is a pump organ in the canon's neat home near the cream-colored clapboard church but he hasn't installed it because it would reduce available standing room.

Born in England, Canon James came here in 1930 straight from Wycliffe College at the University of Toronto.

Why did he choose so remote and harsh a missionary field?

"I came here because of the challenge," he says. "I have no regrets. It is my life's purpose and I should follow it. Fortunately, my temperament is fitted for isolation."

Originally he had thought of going to the prairies further south, but decided to accept the greater challenge of the Far North after praying for guidance. He is not married.

One missionary had preceded him to this region and had spent three years among the Keewatin District Eskimos. But they still believed in vague spirits and a medicine man was spiritual leader when the canon arrived.

"The ice was broken, but I still had to go to them," canon James says. Today most of the district's Eskimos have given up their nomadic ways and have congregated at Baker Lake. Consequently, the missionary's dogsled journeys into the wilderness to serve the natives as doctor, dentist and teacher have become fewer.

"The Eskimos themselves are very devout," the canon proudly says of his flock. "I love them, and I think that is what appeals to them most."

St. Paschals Church Sets Devotional

A 40 - hour devotion opened with the 8 a.m. mass at St. Paschals Catholic Church in West Monroe, it was learned today.

Father Lambert of the Order of Friars Minor was scheduled to preach the special sermons at the opening and evening masses today and on Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

He pointed out St. Paschals is the patron of the Eucharist, giving this as a special reason for all members of the parish to take part daily in the ceremonies of the devotional period. He noted confession, communion and a visit to the church were required of members.

In other activities at St. Paschals, a men's Holy Name Society was organized and meetings were scheduled for the second Sunday in each month. Dick Lebrun was elected president and Dr. Walter Krone was named secretary - treasurer of the organization.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Please explain that verse which says that it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom. I have heard that this has reference to a small opening in the wall of the old city of Jerusalem. F. D.

ANSWER: It is more likely that this is an Oriental proverb intended to make very vivid the truth that it is impossible for a rich man to enter the kingdom. Rich men become so accustomed to gaining entrance almost everywhere because they can buy their way in that they assume they can enter heaven by the same means. Their easy access to places of advantage is part of their way of living.

This would be a gloomy future indeed for the rich man who has a genuine desire to enter the kingdom and share in the joys and privileges of those who are numbered with the redeemed. But that is the very purpose of the proverb. Its sequel is plain, "With men it is impossible, but with God, all things are possible." Heaven is one place where the rich and the poor have equal opportunity and equal access. It is only through personal repentance and faith that we enter heaven. One can never buy his way in. The price has been paid, and the price was the sacrifice of Christ who died for all, and who saves all who believe on Him.

REV. C. R. BURCHAM

Ministerial Group Names New Officers

The Monroe Ministerial Association met Wednesday at the First Baptist Church and officers for 1960 were elected, it was reported today.

In the absence of Dr. James T. Horton, outgoing association president, Dr. George W. Pomeroy presided.

Elected to serve as president was Rev. C. R. Burcham of St. John's Christian Church. Rev. Donald Davies of Grace Episcopal was elected vice president and the Rev. R. B. Holladay, assistant pastor at the First Methodist Church was elected secretary - treasurer.

In further business, the group agreed to hold the union Thanksgiving services for downtown churches at the First Presbyterian Church. Services were set for 9:30 a.m. November 26 with the Rev. John O. Stewart of the First Christian Church delivering the sermon. The choir of the host church under the direction of Davis Bingham will furnish the music.

Present at the meeting were the reverends G. W. Pomeroy, John O. Stewart, Wayne Gray, Lea Joyner, W. M. Allen, Raymond Rugg, Bob Holladay, C. R. Burcham, Donald Davies and Major Louis Mockabee of the Salvation Army.

W.M. Church Sets Special Meeting

A special institute on the subject, "Stewardship" will be conducted for five nights beginning Monday, November 16 at 6 p.m. at Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, Ninth and Linderman streets, it was announced today.

J. E. Wilson, Sr., will teach the course for one hour each night at the West Monroe church.

"God's Plan for Our Lives" will be the theme of the program and Leslye Mae Thomas will lead the devotional worships, according to Rev. P. Rayfield Brown, III, church minister.

LT. SCHNEIDER

Revival Set At Salvation Army Center

Lt. William Schneider is currently holding a special evangelistic service at the Salvation Army Center, 510 Harrison in Monroe, it was announced today.

The 12-day revival will continue through Sunday, November 22. Weekday services are held each evening at 7:30 and the Sunday services are held at the 11 a.m. worship period.

Lt. Schneider is a graduate of the Salvation Army Training College of Atlanta. He served appointments in Georgia and Texas before he was assigned to the post of division evangelist for the Arkansas - Louisiana area.

Troops Fire On Bahutu Tribesmen

BRUSSELS, (UPI)—Belgian-led African troops fired on attacking Bahutu tribesmen in Ruanda Friday in a new "get tough" policy aimed at wiping out a savage African tribal war.

The troops, rushed into Ruanda from the Belgian Congo last week, opened fire with machine guns and rifles when the Bahutus attacked them with spears and arrows, according to reports reaching here.

Three Bahutus were killed and two injured.

The Belgian force resorted to firepower after fighting between the Bahutus and the giant Watutsi — the latter supported by Batwa pygmies with poison dart blowguns—took a sudden vicious turn.

Bahutus were reported to have driven elderly inhabitants of one village into flaming huts at spearpoint. Many of them died.

Rene MacColl said in a copyrighted dispatch from Nyanza, Ruanda, to the London Daily Express, that 500 Africans had been killed in the jungle war so far.

He told of "headless corpses, the bodies with hands or feet hacked off as trophies, the bodies slashed beyond recognition by machete or spear . . ."

Belgium moved 2,000 troops from the Congo into Ruanda to try to control the battling, which has been going on for two weeks. Instead, it has worsened.

A troop of the colonial army guided by a spotter plane surrounded 500 looting Bahutus this morning near the village of Muhondo, about 40 miles north of Kigali.

The Africans attacked with spears and arrows and then the troops started firing.

The Belgian troops had been having a tough time finding the elusive natives until they brought spotter planes into the action.

Reports reaching here said about 600 Africans had been arrested laden with spoils from burned villages.

There was no estimate of what percentage of the 2,500,000 Bahutus and Watutsis who inhabit Ruanda were engaged in the warfare.

But groups of Africans from adjacent Urundi were reported moving into the embattled territory to help their tribesmen.

GRANT FOR COLLEGIANS

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II have enlisted the aid of New England college presidents in establishment of an annual $1,000 cash award for the man or woman from Boston who "has done most for the theater during each calendar year."

The presidents will serve as a committee to select the annual winners.

Hammerstein says he and his composing partner may later establish similar grants in other American cities.

CHARLIE'S COLLARED — Fireman George Joseph managed to extricate 16-month-old Charlie Benjamin from the business end of his junior Chic Sale, but the maneuver leading up to this embarrasing predicament is still a mystery. Mrs. Charles Benjamin, right, said she left her son seated properly in his nursery chair. When she returned to the room, Charlie's head was trapped in the part where his bottom should have been. The hurriedly - summoned firemen cut the seat away and everything came out all right. (AP Wirephoto)

Colombo Plan Delegates Render Vote

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) —Delegates to the annual Colombo Plan conference voted Friday to continue the plan until 1966, five years past its scheduled 1961 expiration date.

The 21-nation conference also accepted an annual report showing a record $1,400,000,000 in aid to underdeveloped Asian nations during the year ending in June. Eighty per cent of the total came from the United States. Greater amounts will be available for the coming year.

The voting followed criticism of Washington by South Viet Nam, a major recipient of U.S. aid, for its new "buy American" policy aimed at getting borrowing nations to spend their loans in America.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Vu Van Mau also said terms offered by the American Development Loan Fund "are too difficult for any underdeveloped countries to meet," and threaten to make the price of goods and costs of services noncompetitive.

Therefore, Vu said, the proposed International Development Assn. for easy-term loans to new nations is most welcome.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subanrio told four visiting U.S. senators — J. Allen Frear (D-Del), Clair Engle (D-Calif), Hugh Scott (R-Pa) and Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) — that Indonesia welcomes American aid, but refuses to make itself over into America's image.

In an apparent attempt to dampen Western fears that Indonesia's request Thursday for extending plan membership to all countries was a move to bring Communist nations into the program, Subandrio told a news conference the proposal was "only a wish for the future."

The conference ends Saturday with a communique which informed sources said shows a relatively rosy economic picture for Asia and Southeast Asia, but also some very dark clouds churned up by an exploding birth rate.

The Colombo Plan for furnishing loans and technical information to underdeveloped countries was founded among British Commonwealth nations in 1950. Since then, it has been joined by all non-Communist nations in South and Southeast Asia, plus the United States and Japan.

AF Issues Stop Order On Technical Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has ordered private contractors to stop sending technical data of any kind to iron curtain countries without first obtaining government approval, it was disclosed Friday.

The Air Force said some of its contractors occasionally had sent unclassified or non-secret information to "eastern bloc" representatives or private persons without first getting clearance. The data was in the form of sales bulletins or sales promotion manuals.

In reply to questions, the Air Force said it has told all its contractors it was "prejudicial to national security" for them to answer inquiries from Communist bloc nations without government approval.

The Air Force sounded the warning in a Nov. 6 letter to the Air Material Command, Air Research and Development Command, Air Force procurement districts, Air Force representatives in industrial plants and Air Force contractors.

They were told that Eastern bloc countries had been seeking information or brochures from air force contractors.

The contractors were notified to send any such inquiries to the Air Force intelligence staff's foreign liaison branch to determine whether information could be supplied.

The Air Force also warned that supplying non-secret technical data even to friendly countries is governed by the State Department's regulations on international traffic in arms.

Bomb Threats Spread Fear In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—New telephone bomb threats Friday spread fears that another "mad bomber," may be on the loose in a quiet Staten Island neighborhood where a housewife without a known enemy was killed in a booby-trapped garage.

Police said four other persons in the general vicinity of Mrs. Concetta Giarletta's home had received calls that they "will be next."

Authorities, recalling the nationwide wave of threats that preceded the arrest of "mad bomber" George Metesky nearly three years ago, predicted there would be many such calls by children and adults with warped senses of humor.

Authorities assigned dozens of additional policemen and detectives to calm the fears of jittery residents of the Port Richmond area of Staten Island. All of the reinforcements are residents of Staten Island but had been on duty in Manhattan.

Mrs. Giarletta died Thursday of more than 50 wounds she suffered in the explosion of a grenade which had been planted to go off when her garage door was opened. The explosion, on Tuesday night, tore off both legs and embedded shrapnel in her abdomen and oth-

Harriman And Brown Talk GOP

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown and New York's ex-Gov. W. Averell Harriman got together Friday to kick the Republicans around a bit.

The GOP has failed to recognize the nation must grow, resulting in a tight money policy which stymies adequate credit for schools, home building and small business, declared the two Democrats at Brown's press conference.

"And Republican peace is about the same as Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence," added Harriman. "There's a cessation of hostilities but no real peace."

The two agreed California and New York will play vital parts in next year's Democratic convention to assure a "fighting, liberal platform" and "selection of the best candidate."

There's no doubt a Democrat will be elected president, predicted Harriman, but he wouldn't say who appears at this time to be leading the field of possible candidates for nomination.

Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota all have supporters in New York, said the former governor.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas isn't talked about much.

"How about Pat Brown of California?" asked a reporter.

Harriman glanced at Brown, then replied: "Gov. Brown hasn't told us yet whether he will be a candidate, but we've been watching his record in California and he's highly thought of."

Farm Bureau Setting Up New Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is quietly completing plans to set up a new organization designed to give farmers a stronger hand in bargaining for the prices of their crops.

The farm group's new marketing and bargaining subsidiary will start small. It is expected to begin operations next year with a one-man staff concentrating on service to local and area-wide farmer cooperatives which sell fruits and vegetables to processors.

But this relatively small start does not disguise the fact that the nation's biggest farmer organization is stepping into an area of growing importance in the fast-changing farm and food industry.

The Farm Bureau subsidiary, not yet formally named, will be working with farmers who contract the sale of their crops without going through local or central open markets. In many cases, contracts are signed before the crops involved are even planted.

Contract marketing has been widely used in the past by farmers producing crops for canning, sugar beets, and several other commodities. Farm Bureau officials now see signs that the system will spread to other major crops that have, until now, been sold mostly in bulk through open markets.

Farm Bureau spokesmen said that after their new subsidiary gets its program of aid to local bargaining groups underway in the fruit and vegetable field, the next step is likely to be expansion into poultry marketing. After that, they said, may come the same type of activity in marketing hogs, cattle, and other livestock.

The farm group said its bargaining subsidiary would not do any nationwide bargaining of its own. It is not going to be a device for getting a monopoly of any food or for fixing prices, Farm Bureau officials emphasized.

The main job of the new organization, these officials said, will be to strengthen the hand of local and area farmer bargaining groups by giving them as much information as the buyers have on the other side of the bargaining table.

The local groups would be fed reports on supply and demand conditions and contract prices for their crop in other areas. The new national group would also analyze proposed contract terms in advance and might give legal and other aid in setting up new farmer bargaining groups.

If producers of any one commodity want to coordinate the work of bargaining groups in scattered growing areas, the new Farm Bureau subsidiary could serve as a clearing house, officials said.

Test Program Is Outlined For Richland

MANGHAM (Special) — Milton Posey, Richland Parish counselor, gave an account of his plans for aiding teachers with the diagnostic testing program and counselling in high school on Thursday when the Richland Parish Classroom Teachers met in Mangham.

Cynthia Kenton, entertained the group with a piano solo, "Rustles of Spring" by Sinding.

Also on the program were three skits presented by the first grade students of Mrs. C. N. Underwood.

Miss Carrie Hatch presided and introduced the speaker who reviewed briefly the physcial, social and intellectual need of students.

Posey pointed out that a teacher's knowledge of individual students is essential in meeting these needs.

In addition to diagnostic test information, Posey recommended a cumulative personal record of revelatory data for each student.

At the present time, Posey is conducting a counselling service at Mangham High School one day each week for the Mangham seniors.

At the conclusion of the meeting, faculty members of the Mangham school served refreshments to those in attendance.

PROSECTIVE CITIZEN AT 100 — Mrs. Anna Collica, 100, of suburban Downey, crosses her fingers for luck after taking her preliminary test for United States citizenship. She didn't know it yet, but she passed. She came to the U.S. from Sicily 49 years ago but never learned to speak and read English, a shortcoming which made citizenship impossible until the requirement was changed several years ago. At the urging of a daughter, she recently decided to become an American citizen. The daughter told newsmen: "She's thrilled to death." (AP Wirephoto)

Catahoula Registration Hits 4,320

JONESVILLE (Special) — There are 4,320 persons registered to vote in Catahoula parish in the December 5 primary election, according to Mrs. Mary Swaggart, registrar of voters. The figure is not official.

Mrs. Swaggart said that of this number there were 339 Negroes. The number also included five white persons registered as Republicans in the parish. All the others registered as Democrats.

The total number of registered voters is approximately 200 short of the 1956 elections when approximately 4,500 were registered. No reason was given for the decrease of registered voters. The population of Catahoula parish shows a gain for Catahoula over the 1950 census according to a recent survey.

3 Soldiers Held After Bank Theft

CEDARTOWN, Ga. (UPI) — Three soldiers who had been AWOL 13 days were nabbed by police Friday for stealing all the cash in a small town bank.

An investigation indicated today that the soldiers also had robbed an Atlanta supermarket for money to buy the getaway car, police said. The three were arrested at a roadblock 90 minutes after the Liberty National Bank here was cleaned out of $44,965, every cent in the till.

Thomas E. Burke, 20, of Alma, Ga., Charles Ray Sims, 18, of Laurel, Ky., and Larry Francis McAulson, 19, of Parish, N. Y., will be prosecuted here on the bank robbery charges, according to Sheriff John Redding.

Then they will be delivered to authorities to answer charges of staging a $3,700 holdup at a food store in Atlanta Nov. 2, Redding said.

Georgia Bureau of Investigation agents Jim Hillen and Denver Gaston said the 1953 Oldsmobile used in the bank robbery was purchased in Rome, Ga., evidently with part of the supermarket loot. Agents said checks stolen in the Atlanta holdup were recovered in the car.

The soldiers, AWOL from Ft. Benning, Ga., since Nov. 1, were nabbed at a police roadblock near Buchanan, about 26 miles from here. They offered no resistance to arresting officers. The stolen money, stuffed in paper sacks and suitcases, was found in the car.

McAulson's parents were shocked when informed their son had been charged with bank robberry. Mr. and Mrs. William McAulson said in Parish that Larry "never had been in any kind of trouble before" and was a "fair student in high school."

The couple said they last heard from their son in Augusta and he was last home in July after serving a year in Korea. They were reported en route to Georgia to see him.

Mamie Smiles And Looks Trim On Birthday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower was glowing and smiling on her birthday Saturday—and looking as trim and every bit as young as the day she became America's First Lady.

A bit impatiently, President Eisenhower posed with her for pictures and then retreated quickly.

Mrs. Eisenhower was 63. Her next birthday will be the last as the wife of a president, and from all reports she isn't at all unhappy about that.

The joys of retirement evidently are far more attractive to her than the duties and responsibilities that fall upon an occupant of the White House.

All White House officials would say about a birthday celebration was that there would be a small private dinner Saturday night at the Augusta National Golf Club, where the Eisenhowers are vacationing. The guests at their cottage are Mr. and Mrs. George E. Allen of Washington, who are old friends.

And of course there were presents to be opened.

For a birthday picture, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower appeared on the walk in front of their white frame cottage. The President was eyeing clouds in the west, and obviously eager to lay hands on a golf club.

"It looks like it's going to rain," he said.

"Oh, it's going to be all right," Mrs. Eisenhower said.

And it was. The sun stayed out and pushed the temperature into the 70s.

Haddock, ocean perch, whiting and flounder are the most popular fish to be found on American dinner tables. Cod used to be the favorite but its popularity has declined sharply.

NE Pledge Class Of 43 Is Largest

Sigma Tau Gamma's pledge class of 43 members at Northeast State is the largest current semester pledge group in the national social fraternity.

The report was made by E. Kennedy Whitesitt, Sigma Tau Gamma executive secretary, during his visit to the local affiliate, headed by Jack Harper.

Whitesitt was here to assist Northeast's affiliate members with preparations for installation ceremonies planned for the forthcoming spring semester.

ENTHUSIASM

The national officer expressed enthusiasm over the progress which local members have made during the first term's affiliation with the fraternity. The Northeast group, organized as Delta Kappa Rho, last spring petitioned Sigma Tau Gamma for membership. The petition, which was soon approved, was followed by the college fraternity's rapid progress in fulfilling installation requirements.

Speaking at a joint meeting of members and pledges, Whitesitt states, "Sigma Tau Gamma endeavors through its chapter programs to promote the highest ideals of manhood, brotherhood and citizenship, and to uphold ideals and traditions of colleges in which its members are students."

Pledge class officers of the college fraternity here include: Edwin P. Thomas of Webb, Miss., president; Stewart Stover of Seminole, Okla., vice president; Donald Middleton, Monroe, secretary-treasurer; Clyde Elliott, Monroe, historian-reporter; sergeants-at-arms, Benjamin Tatum, Halls, Tenn., and Wallace Cox, Haynesville.

WOMAN RAPED

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A 22-year-old white housewife told police she was raped early Saturday by a knife-wielding Negro.

Police arrested one Negro a short time later and held him for questioning.

Detectives said the woman gave this account:

Her husband left for work at 3 a.m., leaving her and their two small children at home.

About 4:15 the intruder removed a window screen, entered the house, went to the bedroom and touched her on the shoulder. She woke up screaming.

He placed a cloth over her mouth, put a knife to her throat and raped her.

There's nothing like a new car—and no new car like a Chevrolet. This is the 1960 Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Coupe!

PEOPLE SAY THESE ARE THE THINGS THEY WANT IN A CAR...and CHEVROLET for '60 comes closest to meeting every need!

Interviews with thousands of car owners across the country show clearly what they like or dislike about their present cars . . . and what they want most in their 1960 cars. Here's what the people tell us they want . . . and here's how Chevrolet meets their needs.

"Price, that's what's uppermost in my mind." All Impalas and Bel Airs with V8 engines are lower in price, as are automatic transmissions and many other popular options. Also Biscaynes now include as standard equipment conveniences formerly optional at extra cost.

"And how about operating economy? And resale value?" You keep right on saving after you buy your favorite Chevrolet, too. And Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value means you'll get more back when you trade.

"Give me plenty of good old-fashioned comfort." There's comfort and then some in this one. Chevy's long on space, for one thing. Once you're under way you'll know just how comfortable Full Coil suspension makes your ride.

"Safety—don't forget safety!" You're surrounded by safety features in a new Chevrolet. You've got big, sturdy brakes underfoot, for example, that last longer. As it has been for years, safety is standard equipment in Chevy.

"Let's keep upkeep down, too." More than ever, Chevrolet for 1960 is built to stay on the road and out of the repair shop. You can tell that from its hushed, unruffled way of going, from the solid thunk of Chevy's big doors. Of course, if you should need service, you're always near efficient, economical attention to your needs.

"I want a car that will stand up to the driving I do." For proof of Chevy's staying power, just spend a minute watching the nearest road. You'll see more Chevrolets traveling on it than any other car—evidence-on-wheels of Chevrolet durability. (And that higher resale value attests to it, too.)

"Me for a sweet-handling car." Handling's always been Chevy's forte, and 1960 is no exception. But really, this kind of lightness and precision you've simply got to enjoy for yourself.

". . . a car you can look at and be smug about buying it." Chevrolet for 1960 leaves the low-price field far behind when it comes to fashion. But you're the best judge of styling, so take a good close look at Chevrolet. We warn you: you're about to fall in love.

"And performance. Let's have a hot one!" Chevy's spirited V8's have set the standard for ultra-efficient power in American-built passenger car engines. You've got a long list of performance-minded transmissions to pick from, too.

So that, friends, is what you told us you want. We think it can be summed up rather well in just one word: value.

Get the full story of Chevy's brand of value soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

'NOT CANDIDATE'

Brown Breezes Into Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown was the first of four leading Democratic presidential hopefuls to breeze into town Saturday and immediately announced he was going to a football game.

Brown spoke with newsmen and as he finished talking, in walked Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Michigan Gov. G. Menen Williams were due in later.

All four Democrats were to speak briefly at the Oklahoma Democrats' $25-per-plate dinner.

The California govrnor said flatly he was not a candidate for vice president and would decide later this month if he is more than a favorite son entrant in the presidential race.

"I hope I haven't any delusions of granduer, but I have confidence in our ability, if you'll pardon me for saying that," said Brown.

Brown announced plans to attend the Oklahoma-Army football game at nearby Norman. Symington said he didn't know if he would go to Norman.

In explaining his reasons for not wanting second place on the presidential ticket, Brown said: "California is faced with some real tough problems and while I'm not saying the lieutenant governor couldn't handle them if I leave, I'd want to stick it out and see the job as governor through." He explained this meant that he wouldn't want to leave California unless he was the presidential candidate.

Brown said he would take the religious aspect into account and added, "I can't really do anything about that, I'm committed on that." Both Brown and Kennedy are Catholics.

Last Thursday, Oklahoma Baptists went on record at their state convention with a resolution a Baptist leader, Dr. M. E. Ramay, said "could be aimed at a Catholic presidential candidate." It did not name any faith but the resolution said the Baptists opposed "the election to any governmental office in state or nation any person whose first allegiance is to any other power which would influence or lead him to fail to take a bold stand for our principal of spearation of church or state."

Oklahoma Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, a Prebyterian, has not said who he favors as a nominee but apparently leans toward Kennedy. Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla), master of ceremonies at Saturday night's banquet, supports Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Symington asserted leadership was lacking in this country. He said the President's handling of the labor situation in general was "too little and too late."

In a speech prepared for delivery before some 4,000 Oklahoma Democrats. Williams declared Republicans "have been behaving like beatniks in Brooks Brother clothing."

He said the Republicans "are apathetic, do-nothing, unwilling to work for a better future, full of excuses, cynical about the possibilities of progress, and constantly trying to justify, rather than remedy, their failing," he said.

"The Republicans believe that government's job is to do the least it possibly can," he said. "We must replace this with the Democratic party's idea, and ideal of government's job: to lead and serve the people; to act in their behalf; and to reflect and express the great aspirations of a country whose heritage celebrates a manifest destiny."

Applications For Grants Made At Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Eight Louisiana Tech girls have applied for the new Ruby B. Pearce Memorial Scholarship, amounting to $300 a year or $150 a semester.

Miss Sallie Robinson, retired guidance director at Tech and chairman of this scholarship committee, said the applicants were being considered by the committee members individually. She added that the successful applicant probably will be named at a meeting of the committee sometime next week.

The scholarship was established to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. Ruby B. Pearce, who was registrar at Tech for many years. The scholarship was provided by her husband, W. Floyd Pearce, Ruston insurance executive.

The purpose of the Pearce scholarship is to assist some worthy girl (or girls if the committee in charge deems it wise to divide the amount) who has completed half the number of semester hours required for graduation in her curriculum.

The recipient must have maintained an over - all average of C plus, must possess a pleasing personality, good character, ambitious purpose and qualities of leadership. When there is more than one applicant, the question of need will be a determining factor in selection.

Plans Laid By FFA For Activities

OAK RIDGE (Special) — Members of the Future Farmers of America Chapter discussed future events at their meeing Monday. They made plans to take part in the P-TA meeting and in the annual initiation of Green Hands.

Another meeting to complete the initiation plans was set for Friday. Those to receive the initiation are Mason McEnery, Calvin Smith, T. L. Jones, Sidney Jones, Bill Nobels, Oscar Copeland and William Earl Stanley.

Jacky Nolan, president, gave and interesting resume of his trip to the national convention held in Kansas City.

The group voted to give $5.00 to the United Fund.

S. P. Smith, FFA advisor, stressed the importance of completing the work set up for the year.

LSU Routs Maroons; Northeast Falls

Tigers Win, 27-0, On State Bobbles

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

TIGER STADIUM, BATON ROUGE, LA. — Taking a lesson from its Tennessee conquerors, LSU used two Mississippi mistakes for first half touchdowns, then picked up two more without any help to whip the Maroons, 27-0, here last night before a frigid 65,000.

LSU's Bengals took a state fumble and intercepted pass and made a pair of touchdowns out of them in the initial half, then scored after marches of 80 and 83 yards in the fourth period to win their eighth victory of the season against one lone loss.

Tennessee ended an LSU 19-game winning streak and knocked the Tigers from the nation's No. 1 spot by turning an interception and a fumble into touchdowns for a 14-13 upset last week.

Durel Matherne, doing most of the quarterbacking in place of the injured Warren Rabb, passed to Johnny Robinson for two touchdowns, the second and the last, and Hart Bourque and Don Purvis picked up their first touchdowns of the season as LSU soundly whipped the team that held them to a narrow 7-6 victory last year at Jackson.

Matherne threw six yards to Robinson for one TD and 21 yards for the other. Chinese Bandit Bourque went six yards for the night's first touchdown and Purvis danced 14 for his six-pointer.

Another Bandit, Tommy Neck, kicked the first two conversions and Purvis converted after his touchdown. Matherne tried to run for two points after the final TD but didn't make it.

Mississippi State, winner of only two games over minor league opposition, tried for a field goal after stalling at the LSU 20 in the first half with Walter Suggs booting wide and went to the Bengal nine to lead off the third period in its most serious threat.

The southeastern conference contest was played in 42-degree temperature but the cold didn't chill the enthusiasm of the crowd, surprisingly big.

All-American Billy Cannon was held to only 32 yards in 16 carries by the maroon defense but turned in some terrific punting, booting four for a 52.5 average The big Bengal back, who returned a punt 89 yards for a touchdown in the 7 - 3 victory over Ole Miss two weeks ago, was held to seven yards on two returns last night.

Big Earl Gros was the top gainer for LSU, going 59 yards on six carries. Robinson got 50 yards on 16 tries.

Matherne, dividing the quarterbacking with Bandit Darryl Jenkins, connected on seven passes in 11 attempts for 102 yards in the best showing of his LSU career.

Monroe's Elton Upshaw, who ran with the go team during practice last week, did not play.

Quarterback Billy Hill was state's top rusher with 34 yards in nine trips. Willie Daniel got 29 yards on nine runs.

LSU had the big edge in game statistics, getting 20 first downs to state's nine, gaining 211 yards on the ground to 122 for state and gaining 122 through the air to 54 for Wade Walker's maroons.

Guards Ed McCreedy, Emile Fournet and Tommy Lott, tackle Bo Strange and fullback Donnie Daye led LSU's defense while big Walter Suggs was a standout in state's line.

Gus Kinchen put State in a hole to help set up the first touchdown in the first period with a 33-yard punt that hit the goal line and bounded back to the five.

Billy Tohill ran one play for three yards before Bobby Bethune gained six yards and fumbled on the 13, Max Fugler and Kinchen recovering for LSU.

Cannon got nowhere at the middle, Daye went for two yards then Cannon picked up five to the six. Darryl Jenkins then ran the option and pitched out the Bourque who went wide for the touchdown, his first of the season.

Bourque picked up more cheers seconds later by recovering a state fumble on the Maroon 30. Lynn LeBlanc's kickoff, a line shot, hit State fullback Walter Flowers on the chest and bounced off, setting off a wild scramble for the ball with Bourque coming up with it.

The Tigers moved to the 12 in four plays but Cannon fumbled at the 11 and Ray Osbourne recovered for State to end the threat.

Later LSU fumbled again, Johnny Robinson losing the ball on the Tiger 34 and Ed Smith recovered for State.

The Maroons moved to the 20 before Tohill missed on a couple of passes and Walter Suggs was wide on a field goal try from the 27.

Late in the second period, State quarterback John Carrero was rushed badly with the ball at the LSU 45 and Donnie Daye intercepted on the sidelines at the Bengal 40.

One play later the period ended.

LSU marched the 60 yards to score in eight plays, Cannon ripping off 34 of the yards with an off tackle burst before being pulled down by Carrero on the four.

Robinson gained two off left tackle before Cannon lost four around end. Matherne then hit on a jump pass to Robinson for the touchdown with just 43 seconds remaining in the half.

Neck, after LSU was assessed a five yard penalty for illegal procedure back to the eight, converted to make it 14-0 at halftime.

Mississippi State made its most serious threat of the game to start off the third period, marching 74 yards to the LSU nine. Billy Hill gained 13 around end and Macon, Miss., flash Willie Daniel picked up 21 yards, almost going all the way, in the drive's big gainer.

Daniels run put State on the 17 with first and 10 but LSU stiffened to halt the drive at the nine, pulling down Bill Schoenrock there after he took a pass from Carrero on fourth down.

Later in the third, the Bengals took over after a punt on their 20 and drove for their third touchdown. Earl Gros got them off to a good start with a 32-yard dash on the first play, fumbling on the State 47 but Jimmy Bond, trailing the play, recovered for LSU.

Purvis, Robinson and Gros gave LSU another first at the 36 and Matherne picked up another with a 10-yard pickup. Purvis lost two before Matherne passed for eight to Robinson as the quarter ended.

Gros gained five to the 15, Matherne missed on a pass to Earl before little Purvis went wide around right end for 15 yards and the touchdown.

The little "Scooter" converted to make it 21-0.

LSU went the farthest for its last touchdown, marching 83 yards in the closing minutes of the contest to score.

Matherne sparked the drive, hitting on passes to Daye and Gros once each and Robinson twice for a total of 54 yards. He missed connections on only one pass during the drive, overshooting Scotty McClain in the end zone just before hitting Robinson with a 21-yarder for the touchdown.

Matherne tried to run around end for a two-pointer after the TD but was pulled down short to leave the score at 27-0.

Jacksonville Bags 27-To-12 Triumph

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. (Special) The Jacksonville State Gamecocks got in early licks to notch their sixth victory of the season Saturday in a 27-12 decision over Northeast Louisiana State. A misty rain fell throughout the contest.

Three first half touchdowns, two of them before the Northeast Indians could unlimber, put the Gamecocks ahead to stay, although Jacksonville barely had the edge in first downs, 13 to 13, and barely showed an edge in over-all yards gained with a net of 275 against 257 for Northeast.

Wayne Keahey, 175-pound fullback, headed the Gamecock scoring with two touchdowns. He capped a 61-yard drive to score the opener of the game on an eight--yard run in the first quarter, and he counted the last for Jacksonville from three yards out after a 64-yard march.

Longest scoring play of the game was a 38-yard touchdown jaunt by Jacksonville's Bill Nichols after the Cocks had began moving from their own 43 after a punt exchange.

But a moment later, Northeast came up with a pass play that almost matched the Nichols yardage. The Indians had recovered a Gamecock fumble on the Jacksonville 36. Two line smashes by Stewart Stover and Jim Laudadio gained just one yard, and then Bob Randel fired a pass to end Jerry Head for the first Northeast touchdown on a 35-yard play.

Jacksonville recovered a fumble on the Indian 35 just before the half ended, and J. E. Phillips climaxed the Gamecock drive when he took a pass from Harold Shankles on the eight and scored.

Northeast grabbed the game's final touchdown in the fourth quarter after recovering a fumble on the Jacksonville 15. Randel passed to Robert Earle for 12, and then Stover crashed over from the three.

Ron Elkins kicked points behind two second quarter and a third period touchdown by Jacksonville. Northeast missed its conversion attempts.

Northeast's Stover was the game's leading ground-gainer with 98 yards in 14 attempts. Jim Gentles led Jacksonville with 75 yards in nine carries. Keahey picked up 55 in 11.

NO BOWL HOPES YET

Dietzel Satisfied, Points For Wave

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

TIGER STADIUM — Coach Paul Dietzel, satisfied with LSU's 27-0 victory over Mississippi State here Saturday night, is thinking about Tulane and not a bowl game.

"Next week is the one we've been waiting for all year," said Dietzel after his victory over the Maroons.

"We have agreed not to say anything about a bowl game until the Monday night following the Tulane game," he explained.

LSU, with an 8-1 record for the season, meets Tulane here next Saturday in the final game of the year.

Dietzel, describing Mississippi State as having a "fine young ball club," said he was satisfied with the victory.

"We played it just like we planned it," he said, adding, "It was a real lovely little victory."

Dietzel pointed out that "nobody has stomped Mississippi State this year."

Praising quarterbacks Durel Matherne and Darryl Jenkins, Dietzel said he didn't play Elton Upshaw, Nveille's former all-stater, because the time wasn't right.

"I didn't plan on playing Elton early in the game but I planned on playing him later if there was a time. But there just wasn't a time."

Because of injuries to regular quarterback Warren Rabb and Go Team halfback Wendell Harris LSU had a problem with its substitution system," Dietzel explained.

"For instance, at one time in the third quarter Johnny Robinson was dead; he couldn't go back into the game," Dietzel said.

He said that Rabb would be taken out of his cast Sunday morning and would probably be ready for next Saturday's game with the Greenies. Rabb has an injured right knee.

Although the mercury dropped to near freezing before the game was over Dietzel said he thought it was perfect weather for football.

Several of the Tigers wore long underwear.

When asked how he went about boosting the squad up after last week's 14-13 loss to Tennessee Dietzel said, "The people in Baton Rouge did it."

An estimated crowd of 10,000 met the Tigers at the airport here last Saturday night when they returned from Knoxville.

Reminded that Georgia won the Southeastern Conference title Saturday and asked would this take any incentive out of the play for his squadmen, Dietzel answered philosophically. "A champion doesn't just lie on the mat after he's been slapped down. We weren't our sharpest tonight but we certainly came back."

He added, "All is not lost, ever, as far as I'm concerned, I think something will happen and we'll get the No. 1 spot back."

He concluded with a smile, "I'm a dreamer."

Hogs Nip SMU, Clinch Loop Tie

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas gained no worse than a title tie in the Southwest Conference and perhaps a Cotton Bowl berth Saturday with a 17-14 victory over Southern Methodist on sophomore Lance Alworth's 13-yard touchdown run and clinching two-point conversion.

It was Arkansas's last conference game and pushed the Razorbacks into first place with a 5-1 record. Texas Christian upset previously unbeaten Texas 14-9, leaving the Longhorns with a 4-1 mark and TCU at 3-1.

Texas can clinch the host berth in the Cotton Bowl by beating Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day, although Arkansas and TCU could tie the Longhorns for the title. The Longhorns get the bowl spot against Syracuse, which accepted Saturday, over Arkansas because they defeated the Razorbacks and over TCU because the Frogs have been in the New Year's Day classic since Texas' last trip.

An Arkansas-TCU tie would give it to the Porkers, who beat the Frogs.

Arkansas made it against Southern Methodist on the running of Alworth, who scored the first TD, and Joe Paul Alberty after trailing 14-7 at the half. Alworth and Alberty, who counted the second touchdown, combined for 200 yards rushing between them.

After Don Meredith had passed SMU into the seven-point lead, Arkansas' ground game got rolling in the third period, moving 59 yards for the TD that broke the Mustangs.

Alworth then led another drive that reached the SMU 2 before being stopped with only 16 seconds left.

And even that paid off for Arkansas. Meredith completed a screen pass to Jim Welch, who fumbled when hit and the ball rolled outside the end zone for a safety.

A crowd of 31,000 watched the game played in 34-degree temperature and sw Meredith better the all-time NCAA record for passing accuracy. Meredith threw his 352nd pass in a 3-year career and completed four for 217. It was a percentage of 61.9 and bettered record set by Paul Larson of California in 1952-53-54 of 57.1 for 350 passes or more.

'Pokes Stop SLC, 20-8

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Fullback Harold Thomas scored all three touchdowns as McNeese whipped Southeastern Louisiana 20-8 Saturday night in a Gulf States Conference game before 1,500 Homecoming fans.

Thomas tallied in the first quarter on a one yard run, in the second on an 11-yard run and in the third on a four-yard run. Lenny Kahn booted conversions after the first two touchdowns.

SLC scored in the third period on an eight yard run by fullback Jim Hanley. Elbert Harris ran the two-point conversion.

Rebs Borrow Tiger Chant, 'We're No. 1'

MEMPHIS (AP) — Mississippi's young giants, as big as horses but nimble as ponies, frolocked happily through their showers Saturday with "We're No. 1" on every tongue.

Coach John Vaught, his blunt features cracked in a rare smile, had praise for every Rebel, but especially quarterback Jack Gibbs, fullback Charlie Flowers and the center of the Ole Miss line.

"Center Ken Kirk and guard Marvin Terrell played their best game ever," he said. "So did our end, Larry Grantham. But they were all good. The finest bunch of boys we've ever had."

A former Mississippi great, one-time fullback John (Kayo) Dottley moved through the dressing room, slapping backs.

"Absolutely No. 1," he said. "And if that Flowers isn't all-America, nobody is."

It was quiet in the Tennessee dressing room. The glum Vols, beaten 37-7, packed quickly for the trip back to Knoxville.

"We had a flat day against a great football team," said coach Bowden Wyatt. "We were afraid They flew on us and whipped us down to the final minute."

The weary Vols sagged noticeably after a first half in which they fought the powerful Rebels on nearly even terms. Ole Miss had a halftime lead of 10-7 by virtue of a 43-yard field goal by Bob Khayat.

"We had hoped to reach the half with a 10-7 lead ourselves but Mississippi turned the tables on us," Wyatt said, referring to an attempted field goal by Gene Etter that hit a headwind and fell off to the right.

Wyatt said the Rebels "hurt us real bad with their flat passes. And they mauled us down the middle. That Flowers looked real good, a great ball player."

Flowers picked up 168 yards in his 26 carries—more than Tennessee's entire total offense. The Vols made 143.

Alert Oklahoma Subdues Cadets

NORMAN, OKLA. (AP) — An alert Oklahoma football team converted three fumbles into touchdowns and survived a devastating passing game for a 28-20 triumph over Army Saturday.

A crowd of 59,000 sat through 28-degree weather and saw Oklahoma's strong running game overcome the passing magic of Army quarterback Joe Caldwell.

The loose-jointed Cadet completed 21 of 42 passes for 279 yards, but that wasn't enough to offset numerous Army miscues. Caldwell's performance set an all-time Army passing record for completions and yardage in one game.

Army flashed for a quick opening touchdown on a 37-yard pass play. Caldwell zipped the ball to George Kirschenbauver and the speedy halfback went about 30 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown.

Oklahoma utilized the power thrust of fullback Prentice Gautt in a 70-yard drive to get the tying touchdown late in the first period. Gautt made 31 yards in the march and Mike McCellian got the touchdown, scoring on a pitchout from Bobby Boyd from the 1.

Center Jim Davis then kicked the first of his four extra points, giving the Sooners the lead. They never trailed again.

Oklahoma, scoring in every period, got an easy TD midway in the second period. End Paul Benien recovered a fumble in the end zone after Kirschenbauver was hit hard at the 5.

The Sooners counted again in the third quarter, picking up a fumble by fullback Al Rushazt on the 9. Boyd cruised across on the first play for a touchdown.

Oklahoma's final touchdown came at the start of the final period after recovering another fumble on the Army 20. Four plays later Boyd plunged over from the 1.

Army got its second touchdown on Caldwell's fourth-down 11-yard pass to end Don Usry.

Army kept in the fight after Oklahoma's final touchdown, again depending on Caldwell for key yardage. Caldwell completed four in a row after taking over on the Army 30. Rushazt got the TD on a one-yard plunge.

Missouri Rolls

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Mel West's breakaway thrusts sent Missouri rolling to a 26-0 Big Eight football victory over Kansas State Saturday.

The triumph before a chilled crowd of about 15,000 kept alive the Tigers' hopes for an Orange Bowl berth.

SECOND-HALF COMEBACK

Spartans Crush Wildcats' Hopes With 15-10 Victory

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State's 15-10 victory over Northwestern on a second half two-touchdown surge in a day of Big Ten upsets made the Spartans a surprise longshot contender in the conference title race Saturday.

Never before this confusing season has a two-time loser taken the title and the accompanying trip to the Rose Bowl.

With the Illinois 9-6 dumping of favored Wisconsin, Michigan State, Wisconsin and Northwestern all had 4-2 records in a three-way tie for first.

But Michigan State only plays six conference games and will have to wait and see what happens to Northwestern and Wisconsin each of which play seven league games. It will be Northwestern's turn to try Illinois next week and Wisconsin will meet last-place Minnesota.

Both would have to lose or tie to give the Spartans their third trip to the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Northwestern, ranked sixth in the AP poll this week, was beaten last Saturday 24-19 by Wisconsin.

It was the second week that Michigan State, now with a 4-2 conference record, had played spoiler. Last week the Spartans blasted Purdue, 15-0.

Northwestern showed great power and poise early in the game. The Wildcats surged 61 yards in 15 plays to score the first time they had the ball.

Ron Burton's power running was alternated with the crisp, short passes of Bob Eickhoff, who made three completions during the march—the last carrying from the 10-yard line to the one. Eickhoff went over on a sneak and Mike Stock kicked the point.

Michigan State picked up three points with 16 seconds to go in the first half on a 25-yard field goal by Art Brandstatter. Northwestern countered with a 35-yard field goal by Stock in the third period.

Michigan State got back in the game on a 28-yard scoring pass from Dean Look to Herb Adderley.

The recovery of a Burton fumble on the Wildcat 36 set up the second Spartan touchdown. Park Baker, lightest man on the squad at 12 pounds, made a key 11-yard gain and Look went over on a quarterback sneak from a foot out on the second play of the final quarter.

MSU tried to pass for two points after both touchdowns, but both tries failed.

It was the final Big Ten and home game for the unpredictable Spartans who finish out the season next Friday night against Miami. Michigan State is 5-3 over-all and 4-2 in the Big Ten.

Look, praised by Coach Duffy Daugherty as the best quarterback he has ever coached, retained his record of hitting a scoring pass in every game he has played this season.

Look turned down a $50,000 pro baseball contract for a final collegiate football fling as a senior. His decision very likely cost Northwestern $50,000 — the Rose Bowl payoff to the contending Big Ten team.

Look passed perfectly, 7-for-7 for 87 yards. It was a Big Ten team single-game record for perfect passing. The old mark was 5-for-5 by Wisconsin in 1941.

Northwestern passers hit 13 of 22 for 151 yards, but Michigan State outrushed the Wildcats 143 yards to 108.

Northwestern blew two good scoring opportunities.

John Talley was hitting his receivers in a Wildcat second-period drive from the Northwestern 37 to the Michigan State 14. But Talley was dumped in his backfield trying to pass and Stock was wide on a 42-yard field goal attempt.

Northwestern moved from its 25 to the Michigan State 17 midway in the fourth period, but the Spartan line held. Late in the game Northwestern penetrated as far as the MSU 30 before a fumble killed the last Wildcat hope.

DEFENSE SPARKLES

Vandy, Greenies In 6-6 Deadlock

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Connie Andrews charged through Vanderbilt defenses for a fourth quarter touchdown that gave Tulane a 6-6 tie in Saturday's Southeastern Conference game.

Andrews, a 195-pound senior fullback, took charge of the Tulane attack after a personal foul had given the Greenies a first down on the Vandy 23. He carried four straight times, finally driving over from the 3. Howard Kisner's kick failed.

The next 10 minutes and 52 seconds were filled with more excitement for the 18,000 fans than the other three quarters.

Vanderbilt took the kickoff and drove all the way to the Tulane 13 before stalling. A field goal try by Wes Morris from the 18 on fourth down missed.

Vanderbilt's touchdown came just before the half on an 80-yard march, helped by a 15-yard penalty. Thom Garden, a sophomore halfback, went the last three yards for the score. Morris' conversion try failed.

Tulane kept a close watch on Valderbilt's touted halfback, Tom Moore. His best efforts were a 45-yard kickoff return and an 11-yard run near the Tulane goal on the Vanderbilt touchdown drive.

Two minutes and 32 seconds remained in the first half when Garden crashed over for the first touchdown. The drive took 12 plays. Actually, Tulane had stopped the march at the Vanderbilt 45, but the penalty for roughing the kicker on fourth down kept it going.

A 17-yard run by Morris after he couldn't find a receiver and Moore's 11-yard end sweep were the big gainers.

A 46-yard punt by Bob Carnett that rolled dead on the Vanderbilt two led to the play that set up the Tulane touchdown.

Vanderbilt punted back after two running plays and Terre Terrebonne caught the ball on the Vanderbilt 39. He slipped to his knees, and a Vanderbilt player fell on him. An official called it a personal foul and moved the ball to the Vandy 23.

Andrews then smashed for eight yards. On the next play he took a pass from Cornett for eight yards and a first down on the Vandy seven. Two plays later, he roared into the end zone standing up.

Twice in the first half Tulane seemed to be headed for touchdowns. A fumble by Vandy fullback Bobby Nay gave Tulane the ball on the Vanderbilt 16.

The Greenies moved to the Vanderbilt three before the Commodores pushed them back to the eight and took the ball away.

The other Tulane drive carried 36 yards to the Vandy 32.

Tulane had an edge in first downs 11-8. In net yardage, Tulane had 73 on the ground and 91 passing. Vanderbilt gained 93 rushing and 75 passing.

Andrews was the top runner, carrying the ball 14 times for 55 yards. Garden led Vanderbilt with 34 yards on nine carries. Moore gained 30 on 13 carries.

The tie gave Tulane an overall 3-5-1 record. The Greenies have lost four times without winning in the conference. Vanderbilt has an overall 3-3-2 record. In the conference, Vandy is 2-2-2.

Navy Pushed To Take 16-8 Win Over GW

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A bronco busting run of 20 yards for a touchdown by halfback Joe Bellino in the third quarter Saturday sprung Navy loose for a face saving last half rally and a 16-8 football victory over tenacious George Washington.

Up until Bellino's takeoff, in which he rolled over four tacklers after a pass from quarterback Joe Tranchini, the Middies had their hands full with a team that had won only once in eight games.

An 18 yard sprint by Bellino started the Middies on their way to another third quarter touchdown which was scored on a 3-yard plunge by fullback Joe Matalavage.

Mayo Engineers Falcon Victory

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The Air Force zoomed 61 on three plays for a third quarter touchdown Saturday and spent the fading moments fighting off Arizona for a 22-15 football victory.

The game, played in biting cold before 8,500, wasn't decided until the Falcons stopped Arizona fullback Joe Carroll on a fourth down try at the 1 with 3 seconds left.

Syracuse Crushes Colgate, Accepts Cotton Bowl Bid

By ANDY PURCELL

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 college football team, humiliated hapless Colgate 71-0 Saturday and then announced that it had accepted a bid to play in the Cotton Bowl on New Years's Day.

The undefeated Orangemen took advantage of numerous mistakes by their upstate neighbors and scored on well - executed long plays as Colgate went down to its worst defeat in 69 years of football.

Eight Syracuse players chipped in with touchdowns in the romp. Ger Schwedes, German-born halfback from Whitehouse, N. J., accounted for two scores on a 30-yard pass play and a three-yard run. Tom Gilburg, a junior end, caught scoring passes of 24 and 11 yards.

But no individual could claim the major share of credit for the drubbing Syracuse handed Colgate in its 60th meeting although sophomore quarterback Dave Sarette threw three touchdown passes.

The Orange scored 30 points in the first quarter, a record in their series, and 15 more in the second. The high - scoring clip eased in the second half, which was played under lights when rain - caused darkness took a toll on the Orange scoring machinery and the 31,000 fans in Archbold Stadium.

Two of the scoring plays demonstrated the deadly effectiveness of the devastating Syracuse attack.

Sophomore halfback Ernie Davis accounted for the longest touch down run of the day when he scooted 56 yards.

Davis took the ball in his own territory, went to the right, reversed his field at the 50 and literally outran the entire Colgate defense.

Another long scoring play came when second-string quarterback Dick Easterly pitched a 50-yard pass to Pete Brokaw, a sophomore halfback.

Brokaw, who until this week was a third - string quarterback, made an impressive debut as a halfback.

Prior to Saturday's loss, the worst blot on the Colgate record was a 68-6 loss to army last season.

The Syracuse scoring total was considerably shy of the all-time Orange record of 144-0 against Manhattan College in 1904.

Southerners Edge 'Nooga By 14-6 Score

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi Southern scored twice in the first half and held off Chattanooga until the closing seconds to register a 14-6 victory before 7,000 chilled fans Saturday night.

Southern fullback Buddy Supple opened the scoring when he punched across from the one in the first period. End Hugh McInnis set up the score when he blocked a punt and Southern recovered on the Chattanooga 16.

Southern stretched its lead to 14-0 in the second quarter when quarterback Don Fuell capped an 81-yard drive by tossing a four-yard pass to end Leon Akins. Fuell connected with Akins again for a two-point conversion.

With 33 seconds left in the game, Chattanooga tallied on quarterback Dan Washburn's five-yard pass to halfback George Hogan. The play ended a 41-yard march.

Earlier in the fourth quarter, Chattanooga picked up a fumble and drove to the Southern one where they lost the ball on downs.

Fuell and Akins were instrumental in setting up the Southerners second touchdown. They clicked on passes of 12 and 18 yards to highlight the march down field.

Chattanooga's Carey Henley was the game's leading ground gainer. He carried 14 times for 53 yards.

The victory was the sixth for the Mississippians against two defeats. Chattanooga is now 3-6.

FOUR-STROKE MARGIN

Casper Widens Lafayette Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — National open champion Billy Casper increased his lead a stroke in cold windy weather Saturday as he posted a par 71 in the $15,000 Lafayette Open golf tournament's third round.

The roly-poly Apple Valley, Calif., pro, showing a nine-under-par 204, had a three birdie card. He highlighted it with a 40-foot chip shot for a birdie two on the 198-yard ninth and a 40-foot putt for a birdie three on 18.

Deadlocked in second place with 208's were stocky Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who also had 71, and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla., who shot 72. Ferree cadded an eagle 3 on the near 500-yard number 7 when he belted a 2-iron six-feet from the cup.

A 30 degree temperature dip to the low 40s made playing conditions difficult over the 6,700-yard Oakburne Country Club course and played havoc with scores. Only two golfers—rookie Monte Bradley of Hillsboro, Tex., and veteran Doug Ford of Crystal River, Fla.—busted par. Each had 70.

Big George Bayer, Gleneagles, Ill., with a 72, and Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah, with a 71, tied for fourth spot with 290. Alone in sixth position was recent bridegroom Gay Brewer, Crystal River, Fla., who fired a 73 for a 211.

The weatherman promised more of the same nippy weather Sunday. The forecast called for temperatures falling beteen 30 and 36 Saturday night, and cloudy and cold weather in the daytime.

If Casper protects his lead, it will give him his third victory in his last four tournament starts. He has not finished worse than seventh in his last six tourneys.

The 28-year-old putting whiz copped the Portland, Ore., open and the Brazil Open last month. His other victory this year was the National Open at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N. Y.

In 25 tourneys, Casper has won more than $31,000.

IN FINAL TWO MINUTES

Tech Tops Memphis, 10-8, On Alexander's Field Goal

RUSTON (Special) — A 21-yard field goal in the final two minutes of play gave Louisiana Tech a 10 to 8 upset win over Memphis State University here Saturday afternoon.

Bulldog end Norris Alexander of Ruston, who had missed two earlier field goal attempts, pulled the Tech homecoming game out of the fire by putting the pigskin through the goal on an angled boot from the Memphis 21 with only two minutes, 15 seconds remaining in the fourth peroid.

The non-conference contest was played on a soggy field before 55,000 Tech homecoming fans. Rain which had fallen since Friday night fell during the early part of the game.

The win was Tech's seventh of the season against one loss. It was also Tech's first win over Memphis State since 1952 and was sweet revenge for the Bulldogs whose last setback on the home field was a 17-7 loss to these same Tigers in Tech's 1957 homecoming bout.

The Techsters now have a home field winning streak of eight games that reaches back to the 1957 season.

The Canines scored a TD in the first quarter on a one-yard run by halfback J. W. Slack. Slack also kicked a PAT and the Bulldogs held a 7-0 lead until midway the second period when quarterback Mickey Buoni, Memphis State, swept in for nine yards. A two-point conversion on a pass from Buoni to Jerry Reese put the visitors ahead 8-7.

That 8-7 score held up until the closing moment when tackle Bobby Hudson of Tech fell on a Memphis fumble on the Tiger 51. The Techmen lost back to the State 30, but then Johnny Hudson threw a third-down pass to end Tom Causey, who went to the Memphis 16.

With fourth down, and only 2:15 left in the game, Alexander came in to make good on a field goal. That put Tech ahead 10-8. The Tigers took the kickoff following the field goal and quickly drove to the Tech 25. The scoreboard clock said three minutes were left in the contest when a Memphis field goal attempt by Jack Carter fell short on the last play of the game.

A Memphis punt partially blocked by Bulldog end Charlie Garris set up Tech's first period TD. Tech took the short punt on the Memphis 19. Slack ran to the 10, halfback Paul Hines got a first at the three and two plays later Slack hit paydirt.

Memphis State's second-quarter score capped a 63-yard drive. A 36-yard gallop by halfbck Gifford Wimpee put them the Tech 38. Carter added 15 more for a first at the Canine 23 after the Tigers got still another first at the Bulldog 11, Buoni found running room to his left and went wide for the score.

In the second and third periods, Tech drove deep into Memphis state territory. In the second period the Bulldogs were stopped at the Memphis 18 on a fumble. However about a minute until halftime, Wimpee, back to punt, had a bad snap from center, and Tech took over on the State 8.

The Techsters got only to the Tigers four on three plays. Alexander then attempted a field goal with 15 seconds left for halftime. However, it was blocked.

With nine minutes remaining in the final period, Bulldog tackle Bobby Hudson blocked a Tiger punt which gave Tech the pigskin at the Memphis 42. Tech drove to the Memphis 6. On fourth down, Alexander's second field goal attempt was low.

Tech outgained the Tigers on the ground 177-108. Memphis got 59 yards through their, Tech 38. Tech got 12 first downs to nine for Memphis. Leading the Tech rushing was Slack with 84 yards, in 23 carries. Hines carried 14 times for 60 yards. Fullback Lenny Kaplan led Memphis in ball carrying with 43 yards in 12 carries.

Sington Boot Boosts Tide Over Ga. Tech

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A gambling Alabama Crimson Tide edged favored Georgia Tech 9-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

Fred Sington kicked a 43-yard field goal, his fourth of the season, and gave Alabama the margin of victory in the second quarter.

Tech moved into the lead with a touchdown the first time it got the ball. Alabama's Gary O'Steen bobbled the game-opening kickoff and Tech's Taz Anderson recovered on the Alabama 27. From there Tech moved to the goal in six plays with Marvin Tibbetts going the last two yards. Tommy Wells kicked the point.

Alabama bounced right back, also with the help of an enemy miscue. Stalled after its first series, Alabama kicked and Tech's Wells fumbled. Alabama's Billy Richardson recovered on the Alabama 49. Then the Tide marched 51 yards to the goal in eight plays, gambling on a fourth and two situation once. Little Marlin Dyess zipped the last 10 yards for the touchdown.

Alabama gambled and tried for a two-point conversion but Tech stopped O'Steen's run.

Trailing 7-6, Alabama backed up Tech with a punt exchange that put the Engineers on their own 10. A short punt gave Alabama the ball on the 27, setting up Sington's game-winning kick.

The victory before 43,000 cold, rain-spattered fans gave Alabama a 5-1-2 record and left Tech with a 6-3 mark.

PENN ROMPS

NEW YORK (AP) — Pennsylvania ran up an early lead and held off a last half spurt by Columbia Saturday for a 24-6 victory that tightened its hold on the Ivy League lead.

BOWL HOPES FADE

Badgers Stunned By Illinois, 9-6

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — Piledriving fullback Bill Brown banged into the end zone as the final gun sounded Saturday to provide Illinois a 9-6 upset victory over Wisconsin and deal the Badgers' Rose Bowl hopes a damaging blow.

The 211-pound Brown, a standout in an 81-yard drive as the second ticked away, cracked one foot behind Illinois guard Bill Burrell to send Wisconsin down to its second defeat in six Big Ten football starts.

The touchdown ended a game of frustration for Illinois which outplayed the Badgers only to be stymied repeatedly near paydirt.

Wisconsin spotted the Illini a safety after stopping an advance one inch from the goal early in the first period, but then went ahead when end Hank Derleth recovered a fumble by teammate Dale Hackbart in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Badgers clung stubbornly to that 6-2 margin, stopping two Illinois advances deep into Wisconsin territory on a fumble recovery and a pass interception.

But Illinois, twice beaten and tied once in five previous conference games, was not to be denied and finally connected on Brown's bull-like crash. The extra point was added by Gerry Wood after official time had run out.

The loss left Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan State in a three-way tie for the Big 10 lead with 4-2 records. Michigan State has completed its big 10 schedule while Wisconsin and Northwestern each have one conference game left. Both Wisconsin and Northwestern would have to lose or tie for Michigan State to get the Rose Bowl assignment.

Illinois ..... 2 0 0 7— 9
Wisconsin ..... 6 0 0 0— 6
Ill—Safety Hart recovered Wisconsin fumble in end zone
Wis—Derleth recovered Wisconsin fumble in end zone (run failed)
Ill—Brown 1 run (Wood kick)

The Milwaukee Braves led the National League in home runs during 1959 with 177. San Francisco was second with 167.

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

Towels Not Needed

An intercepted pass and a lost fumble — mistakes of their own making — did as much or more to beat LSU in the Tennessee game a week ago as any other factor, and we're glad to get the word from Coach Paul Dietzel that his Tigers are champions enough to be champions in defeat and not try to fault-find game officials for their misfortune.

True, there were some early week reports attributed to Dietzel such as a television talk in which he has been quoted as saying "a couple of real booboos were called by the officials" and there's also the quoted remark at a Quarterback Club meeting of "We're not complaining, but I think it's a shame to lose one like that . . . I've already mentioned it to the man in charge of the officials."

Coach Dietzel, in his own story written for United Press International in Friday editions, declared he was "shocked" to read the quotes attributed to him.

"While it is true that officials are human and subject to error, the games we have lost since I have been at LSU, we have lost ourselves," declared Dietzel in refuting reports that he blamed officials.

In fact those early week reports brought us this telephone message from a reader one morning.

"Who's taking up the money down there for Dietzel?" says the voice.

"What money?" we ask.

"Why for Dietzel's towel fund, the crying-towel fund!" we were told.

The conversation rocked on a little more and we get the drift that this reader is an Ole Miss fan when he comes up with the challenge: "Why don't you get on the ball and give Ole Miss the recognition it is due?"

Personally, we think Ole Miss is earning its recognition and none needs to be "given." We also feel that since LSU had to lose, the statistics and game performances indicate that Ole Miss gave LSU a harder fight than Tennessee and if one really deserved to win, it should have been Ole Miss. But you know how the ball bounces! In fact, for a while we thought the LSU-Tennessee game statistics had been mixed up with some other game. Certainly those statistics didn't seem to go with a Tennessee victory.

But LSU lost the game and accepts all the blame.

Says Dietzel: "Personally, I detest a cry-baby. By a cry-baby, I mean the fella who tries to make excuses for why he lost."

That sounds like a towel fund is wasted money. Find a better cause.

Debates With Touchdowns

Some Football officials are asking changes in the rules that will permit them to go on the field to argue decisions with game officials. It a coach goes on the field now he draws a penalty for his team. But some of the tutors think they should have the rights of baseball managers to argue with umpires.

Lou Little, the retired Columbia U. coach, wisely foresees games tied up in long debates and bickering in seeking to temper the move. Fans go to football games to see action as intended by the game, not to watch games that go long into the night when constant arguments crop up and right now you can see coaches boiling onto the field from both sides every time a red flag hits the sod.

Football movies are also causing a lot of fuss, as the coaches are using them to replay the games and show "how we wuz robbed." But no movie has ever changed the score. These movies are chiefly made now days for scouting purposes. Maybe they should stick to using them for scouting only.

Ready To Open Season

Manager Fuzzy Huff's Farmerville City Drug basketball team opens its season among the independents at Bogalusa next Saturday against a Bogalusa team composed mainly of ex-Southeastern Louisiana College players.

Huff says his Druggists have also billed a five-game exhibition series with the House of David in games to be played in Winnsboro, Farmerville, Eros, Winnfield, and Dodson.

Southern Cal Edges Baylor In 17-8 Scrap

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unbeaten Southern California, bent on improving its national ranking, ran into tough Baylor Saturday but managed to come out with a 17-8 victory.

The thrice-beaten Bears from Texas presented the Trojans with a field goal in the first quarter and fought them to a standstill before surrendering two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, both of them the result of lucky breaks.

Baylor put on a spirited 72-yard march for a touchdown and scored on a run for the two-point conversion in the final minutes.

The battling Bears time and again frustrated the heavily favored Trojans.

A fumble on a punt by Baylor's Tommys Minter gave USC the ball on the Bear 27. Baylor held against a touchdown threat but kicking specialist Don Zachik put the Trojans on the scoreboard with a 28-yard field goal.

What proved to be the winning touchdown came when fullback Clark Holden bulled his way nine yards for the score in the early minutes of the final quarter. It was set up when Baylor quarterback Ronnie Stanley fumbled away a pitchout to his star halfback, Ron Bull, and the Trojans recovered on the Baylor 16.

49ers Need Victory Today To Grab Favorites Role

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, surprise team of the National Football League season, will become favorites to win the Western Division title if they whip the Bears at Chicago in Sunday's top game.

San Francisco (6-1) leads the second - place Baltimore Colts (4-3) by two games. The Forty-Niners, who began a tough, four-game road jaunt last Sunday by defeating the Los Angeles Rams, will assure themselves of returning home with at least a share of first place if they defeat the Bears.

After the Bears, the Forty-Niners, two-point underdogs for the game at Wrigley Field, tackle the Colts at Baltimore and the Browns at Cleveland before ending their regular season at home against the Colts and Green Bay Packers.

In Sunday's other key games, the Colts are 9½ point choices to down the Packers (3-4) at Milwaukee, the New York Giants (6-1) are favored over the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers (2-4-1) by 7½ and the Browns (5-2) are favored over the Redskins (3-4) by nine at Washington.

The Colts, defending league and Western Division champions, will try to snap a two-game losing streak when they meet the Packers. New York, with quarterbacks Charley Conerly and George Shaw nursing injuries, leads Cleveland by a game in the Eastern race.

Los Angeles (2-5) is favored over the Lions (1-5-1) by two points at Detroit and the Eagles (4-3) are four-point choices to defeat the Chicago Cardinals (2-5) at Philadelphia in the other games.

Each of Sunday's six games matches teams that have met already this season. This puts heavy pressure on the winners of those previous meetings because NFL clubs find it hard to sweep their annual home-and-home series with division rivals.

The Forty-Niners, for example, edged the Bears at San Francisco, 20-17. San Francisco won when Y. A. Tittle completed a 46-yard pass to R. C. Owens in the final seconds.

Coach George Halas expects his Bears to be stronger Sunday because two of his offensive stars, halfback Willie Galimore and end Harlon Hill, are in better physical condition than they were in recent weeks. San Francisco has a well-balanced squad that leads the league in scoring while allowing only 88 points.

The Colts thumped the Packers in their first meeting this year, 38-21. That contest in Baltimore was close until third-period interceptions, coupled with the passing of John Unitas, helped the Colts break the game open.

New York plays host to a club it worked hard to edge last month at Pittsburgh, 21-16. The Steelers failed to make a first down by about six inches in the final minutes of that game. If Conerly and Shaw are unable to play Sunday, Don Heinrich will do the quarterbacking for the Giants.

Cleveland downed Washington, 34-7, last month but the Redskins were badly crippled in that game. Jim Brown, Cleveland's fullback, leads the league in rushing with 862 yards and in scoring with 60 points. Cleveland has allowed only 86 points while Washington has given up the most, 195.

New York, San Francisco and Cleveland also have winning streaks to pit against the law of averages. New York has won five in a row while San Francisco and Cleveland boast four - game streaks.

Detroit is an underdog at home against a Los Angeles team it upset in California, 17 - 7. The Eagles entertain the Cardinal team they defeated last month at Milwaukee, 28-24, erasing a 24-0 deficit to win.

Frogs Tag Steers With First Loss

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian whipped previously unbeaten Texas 14-9 Saturday on a 56-yard scoring dash by Harry Moreland, and the loss by the No. 2 ranked Longhorns snarled the host half of the Cotton Bowl picture.

Undefeated Syracuse accepted a Cotton Bowl bid a short time earlier after overwhelming Colgate 71-0.

Arkansas—a 13-12 loser to Texas this season—bounced into the lead with a 5-1 record in the Southwest Conference, which sends its champion to the Jan. 1 game in Dallas, by tripping Southern Methodist 17-14.

But Texas still can got to the Cotton Bowl by beating Texas A&M in the season final Thanksgiving Day, even if the Longhorns wind up in a three-way tie for the league crown. That's because both Arkansas and TCU have played in the New Year's game since Texas' last visit.

The upset victory by the power-laden Horned Frogs broke Texas' nine-game victory string and kept alive Texas Christian's hopes for a Southwest Conference championship and a Cotton Bowl berth against Syracuse on New Year's Day.

Texas Christian overcame a 9-0 halftime lead built up by Texas and registered two second half touchdowns in freezing weather before 45,000 fans in Memorial Stadium.

Moreland, a 165-pound junior, broke over his own right end, cut back to his left and outraced the Texas secondary to mark up the game-winning marker with 7:20 left in the game.

It was all Texas in the first half as the Longhorns tallied a safety and drove 45 yards in eight plays to score on a two-yard plunge by fullback Mike Dowdle.

But the crushing ground offensive of coach Abe Martin's Horned Frogs, which rolled up 233 yards rushing, took its toll in the last half, and TCU's rock-ribbed defense allowed Texas only one first down in the last two periods.

TCU marched 48 yards, mainly on the bruising runs of Jack Spikes and the jump passing of quarterback Larry Dawson, to score late in the third period. Halfback Marvin Lasater ran wide around right end for the last five yards and the score.

But the big one was Moreland's tricky run that broke Texas and gave TCU the hard-fought victory.

Score by Periods

Texas	2	7	0	0	—9
Texas Christian	0	0	7	7	—14

Scoring summary:

Texas—Safety, Kristynik blocked Terrell punt; Dowdle 2 run Lackey kick).

Texas Christian—Lasater 5 run (R. E. Dodson kick); Moreland 56 run (Dodson kick).

L. Providence, Mangham In 2-B Playoff

MANGHAM, La. (Special) — Holly Ridge principal Edgar Upton, chairman of district 2-B football, announced yesterday that a playoff game between Mangham and Lake Providence would be held after regular season play to determine the conference winners.

Both teams have finished district play with identical records of three wins and one loss. Lake Providence defeated Mangham earlier in the year.

Mangham winds up the regular campaign against Rayville Thursday night at 7:30. The game was originally slated for Friday but was switched at the request of the officials' association.

Betty Passes For 3 Tallies In Terp Win

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Maryland quarterback Dale Betty passed for three touchdowns in a 28-25 upset of defending Atlantic Coast Conference champion Clemson Saturday.

The lanky Betty, from Butler, Pa., took charge from the outset, guiding Maryland's high-powered multiple offense to its third victory of the season against five losses.

He climaxed a 95-yard drive by flipping 17 yards to end Gary Collins for the winning touchdown with about three minutes left.

Clemson, behind nearly all the way, had just gone ahead 25-21 on a 74-yard march, fullback Doug Daignault scoring from the 2.

Clemson twice gambled for two-point converions that could have won the game had they been successful. Both times passes failed.

Huskies Near Roses With 20-0 Decision

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Washington's Huskies powered a giant step closer to the Rose Bowl Saturday as hard running backs Ray Jackson and George Fleming paced a 20-0 victory over California.

Jackson, a last minute starting fullback choice, spearheaded a drive of 70 yards in the second quarter and scored from the 1. Fleming's 42-yard punt return return early in the fourth led to the second touchdown and he cut loose with a 41-yard run in the final scoring drive.

A crowd of 38,800 saw California complete its home schedule in Memorial Stadium without a victory. It was the first season since 1897 that a California team hasn't won in Berkeley.

The Huskies' rugged defense throttled the Bear attack and brought Washington its first shutout over a California team in 22 years. It was California's eighth straight defeat, tying its all-time losing streak.

Winning its eighth game against one setback, Washington now needs only a triumph over Washington State at Seattle to clinch the Rose Bowl assignment against the Big Ten champion.

West Monroe Sets Basketball Meet Wednesday

The West Monroe Recreation Department will begin organization of basketball leagues in a 5:30 meeting Wednesday evening at City Hall.

Two leagues are planned for the winter, a boys league and an adult loop, according to league president Harold Hill.

Hill said the meeting would be limited to team captains and urged captains to call Coach Wilson at the West Monroe gym or K. D. Norris at Norris Style Shop for further details.

Boys 18 before September 1 are eligible for the boys league, all older will play in the adult circuit.

Trio Sparks Pitt Triumph Over Irish

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Sophomore halfbacks Bob Clemens and Fred Cox, with a big assist from junior fullback Jim Cunningham, brought Pitt a 28-13 triumph over Notre Dame Saturday in an intersectional football battle at Pitt Stadium.

The hard-running trio scored all of Pitt's touchdowns. Clemens raced 64 yards on a punt return in the first quarter, Cox scooted 44 yards in the second period and Cunningham tallied twice in the final stanza.

Bob Scarpitto, junior halfback from Rahway, N.J., snared two touchdown passes for Notre Dame. Don White hit him with a 50-yard toss in the third quarter and George Izo found him with an eight-yard heave in the final period.

A rain-drenched crowd of 52,337 and many more on regional television watched Pitt jump off to a 14-0 lead in the first half and add insult to injury with two more touchdowns in the concluding quarter.

Cunningham, who picked up 101 yards in 22 carries, got his first touchdown on a five-yard end run following a pitchout. He added the second on a three-yard plunge.

OHIO STATE SCORES — Roger Detrick (32), Ohio State fullback, holds the ball to his chest as he plunges over the goal line from the one-yard line in the first quarter against Iowa. Getting a head squeeze is Ohio State's Dick Anders (53). Others are Bob Ferguson (46) and Jerry Fields (24) of Ohio State and John Sawin (78) of Iowa. (AP Wirephoto)

Iowa Rally Turns Back Bucks, 16-7

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Iowa recovered from a case of first half fumbling jitters for a fourth period field goal and touchdown to defeat Ohio State 16-7 Saturday in a Western Conference game before 82,126 fans.

The favored Hawkeyes spotted the Bucks a first period touchdown after Jim Tyrer had recovered Olen Treadway's fumble on the 31, the Bucks requiring eight plays to get the score. Substitute fullback Roger Detrick went over from the 1-foot line.

The Hawks came right back with a 64-yard, seven-play drive by their second unit, with quarterback Wiblurn Hollis passing 13 yards to end Bill Whisler. A run for he extra points failed, and Ohio held its 7-6 lead until well into the fourth quarter. Then Iowa struck twice on long drives.

Halfback Ray Jauch, who fumbled the ball away twice in the first half returned a punt 42 yards to Ohio's 45, and seven plays later Tom Moore booted Iowa into a 9-7 lead with a 26-yard field goal.

Then Ohio started one of its famous drives, and carried to Iowa's 33. There quarterback Jerry Fields fumbled and Curt Merz recovered. With second-string halfback Jerry Mauren eating up 49 yards in two runs, Iowa went the 67 yards in six plays with Mauren scooting over from the 4 for the touchdown which wrapped it up.

The loss marked the first time in Coach Woody Hayes' nine-year regime that the Bucks have lost four games in a season.

Tulsa Dumps North Texas By 17-6 Count

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa smashed North Texas State's vaunted running game with a great defensive play Saturday for a rousing 17-6 upset that knocked the Eagles from the unbeaten ranks and denied them the Missouri Valley Conference's undisputed championship.

Fullback David White and quarterback Jerry Keeling scored Tulsa touchdowns after long drives, and halfback Jack Kreider kicked a 45-yard field goal, longest ever booted by a Hurricane player.

North Texas, the nation's No. 1 rushing team at game time, counted its only points on one quick 65-yard pass play, quarterback Bob Duty to swift Abner Haynes.

Only 6,872 cold-numbed fans saw Tulsa turn in its sharpest performance of the year to retain a chance for a one-third share in the conference title. A Hurricane victory over Wichita Thanksgiving Day would deadlock North Texas, Houston and Tulsa with 3-1 league records.

North Texas' loss ended its winning streak at 10 games, 8 of the victories this year.

Tulsa halted the Eagles' cold at the outset and went 77 yards for a touchdown by White from 1 yard out with only six seconds left in the first quarter.

Kreider's long placement, his first collegiate kick, followed early in the next period. It beat by 4 yards the school's previous record boot by Clyde LeForce against Baylor in 1941.

Guides Stanford To 39-22 Verdict

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Stanford found Oregon State defenders sluggish on end sweeps and sent fullback Spik Face on a 27-point spree that brought Stanford a 39-22 football victory Saturday.

Repeatedly, Stanford quarterback Dick Norman would fake a cutback at end, then pitch out to Face, who romped behind halfback Mac Wylie's blocking for sizeable gains.

'UNABASHED OPTIMISM'

Greenies Expect Good Cage Team

NEW ORLEANS, La. (Special) — When fall shadows deepen into winter, a young man's fancy is apt to turn to basketball. This is true at Tulane and countless other schools and universities across the land.

At Tulane, there is a strong tide of unabashed optimism as venerable Green Wave Coach Cliff Wells charts the course for his 15th campaign here. Experience, height, depth, cleverness, youthful exuberance - all these abound at Tulane.

To the Wave fold return six lettermen, including four forwards, a center, and a guard. This is the core around which Wells plans to fashion a contender.

Leading the returnees is senior center Vic Klinker, 6'5, Lafayette Ind., All Southeastern Conference last season. Vic has scored 656 points in two years of varsity play.

Another key man in Wells' plans is senior guard Dick O'Brien, East St. Louis, Ill. Dick probably will be called upon to engineer the Wave offense.

Nowhere is depth more apparent than forward where junior starter Gus Wenzel, 6'5, New Orleans, Al O'Brien, Chicago, Louie Anderson, 6'4, South Bend, Ind., and Ron Mitchell, 6'3 return.

But if the Greenies are to shoot into contention the principal propulsion must come from the upcoming crop of sophomores.

In pivotman Jack Ardon, 6'9, Tulane has one of the most sought after prep players in the country. An All-American at Lakewood, N. J. High, Jack led last year's bumper freshman team with a 20.8 production average. The frosh swept impressively to 13 wins in 15 outings, both losses coming by one point.

Other promising sophomores are forwards Dale Cloak, 6'4, Ford City, Pa. and Larry Getts, 6'4, Garrett, Ind., and guards Norm Delph, Anderson, Ind., Bob March, Star City, Ind., and Rex Krider Middlebury, Ind.

The Greenies open their 1959-60 season here December 1 against Alabama State.

Title Match Heads Local Mat Program

Championship wrestling returns to B&B Arena Monday night when newly - crowned state champ Mickey Sharp risks his belt against ex- titleholder Firpo Zybysko in the main event of a three - bout card.

Ken Cooper faces The Bat in a "grudge" match which takes semi-final billing. In a 15-minute, one-fall opener, Harvey Cole and Duke Scarbo tangle.

The main event will have an hour time limit and the semi-final a 45- minute limit. Both are scheduled for two out of three falls.

Sharp won the state championship two weeks ago in an elimination bout in New Orleans. The previous titleholder, Chris Belkas, left the state, and gave up the belt.

Zybysko lost the title to Belkas in a New Orleans bout some time ago and has been clamoring for another try ever since.

Claiming he got a raw deal last week, Cooper requested a rematch with The Bat, a masked Monroyan, and promoter August Baumgartner got it.

Cooper says he had the Bat beaten with a crab hold when his opponent's partner, Scarbo, jumped into the ring and shoved him. him.

Ken wants a shot at the masked man with nobody to bother him.

"Without Scarbo to help him, I'll tear The Bat up," says Ken.

Texas Tech Tops Houston

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Reserve quarterback Glen Amerson passed for two touchdowns and ran for two Saturday as Texas Tech slammed Houston 27-0 in a Homecoming game.

Amerson received terrific help from junior end Don Waygood, who caught a 1-yard touchdown pass, recovered a fumbled Houston punt and another fumble that led to touchdowns.

Amerson got his big chance when starting quarterback Ken Talkington injured his knee in the first period.

BIRD LEADS ROUT

Kentucky Mauls Xavier, 41 To 0

By JOHN G. DIETRICH

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Calvin Bird, who leads the nation in kickoff returns, ran one back 89 yards for a touchdown Saturday to highlight Kentucky's easily won 41-0 victory over Xavier.

Bird's sprint down the right sidelines with the second half kickoff, and his subsequent conversion kick, gave Kentucky a 21-0 lead that spelled the end of any hopes Xavier had to upset the Wildcats.

Quarterback Lowell Hughes had given Kentucky a 14-0 halftime lead with a well-sharpened passing attack that netted him seven completions in nine attempts for 119 yards, accounting for one touchdown and setting up another in the first two periods.

End Ronnie Can personally accounted for Kentucky's fourth touchdown when he broke through to pick off an attempted screen pass by Xavier quarterback Ron Costello, and run right past the startled passer for 48 yards midway in the third period.

Kentucky's final scores came in the fourth period on passes by Jevry Eisaman, one for 46 yards to end Charlie Vaughn and the other for 14 yards to fullback Gary Cochran.

Kentucky went 67 yards for its first touchdown on 12 plays, a pass from Hughes to end Tom Rodgers covered half the distance, and another Hughes toss to end Dick Mueller carried to the one, from where fullback Glenn Shaw rammed over and Bird converted.

Xavier pushed to the Kentucky 25 late in the first period but Kentucky's secondary broke up three straight Costello passes and took over on downs.

From there the Wildcats drove to a second touchdown, with Hughes connecting on five passes en route, three of them to Bird. The score came on a 10-yard pitch over the middle to halfback Charlie Sturgeon.

Score by Periods

Kentucky	7	7	14	13	—41
Xavier	0	0	0	0	—0

Scoring Summary

Kentucky — Shaw one plunge (bird kick); Sturgeon 10 pass from Hughes (bird kick); Bird 89 run (bird kick); Cain 48 interception return (Butler kick); Vaughn 46 pass from Eisaman (kick failed); Cochran 14 pass from Eisaman (Johns kick).

Tars Hand Virginia 17th Straight Loss

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Carolina broke two Atlantic Coast Conference records Saturday in defeating Virginia, 41-0.

The outclassed Cavaliers were unable to muster a serious threat as they went down to their 17th straight defeat over the past two seasons. North Carolina boosted its mark to four victories in nine games.

Senior Wade Smith, playing his last Kenan Stadium game, drew most of the cheers from the crowd of 21,000.

North Carolina's 32 first downs and 583 yards gained, in the air and on the ground, set two conference records. The previous first down high, 30, was set by both Duke and Clemson in 1957. The old yardage mark was held by Clemson, which gained 531 in 1954 against The Citadel. The previous North Carolina yardage total was 519, set in 1947 against Virginia.

Smith, a stocky halfback, scored two touchdowns and sparked a Tar Heel first team which tallied four of the six touchdowns.

Quarterback Jack Cummins, another senior, toss a 50-yard scoring pass to Milan Wall in the final quarter for the most spectacular thrust of the afternoon.

Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey used his reserves freely.

Kansas Cops 28-14 Verdict Over Cowboys

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas scored the first two times it got the ball, threw up an effective defense against the highly regarded Oklahoma State passing attack and coasted to a 28-14 victory over the Cowboys Saturday.

The non-conference victory gave Kansas a 5-4 record and left only next week's Missouri game for the Orange Bowl bid on the Jayhawker slate.

Quarterback Dick Soergel, Oklahoma State's passing ace, was injured in the first half and saw no service in the second.

Kansas marched 58 yards to score after taking the opening kickoff. Halfback John Hadl went the final 32 yards.

The second Jayhawk drive covered 49 yards with halfback Curtis McClinton and quarterback Bill Crank collaborating on the 41-yard scoring play. Crank ran for about three yards, then lateraled to McClinton, who raced the other 38 untouched.

KU's clinching third touchdown resulted when end John Peppercorn blocked a Larry Bahner punt an guard Dick Rohlf grabbed it out of the air on the Cowboy's 2, then took two steps into the end zone.

Orioles Slate 59 Arc Games Next Season

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles announced Saturday their 1960 American League schedule will include a record 59 night games. The club also said box and lower deck reserved seats will cost more.

General Manager Lee MacPhail said the club will open the season at home for only the second time since its return to the majors seven years ago, playing the Washington Senators on April 19.

The 59 night games are six more than the previous league high of 53, scheduled by Kansas City last season. The previous Oriole high was 48 in 1958.

MacPhail announced tickets for box seats next season will cost $3 and those for lower deck reserved seats $2.25, each up 25 cents. He said higher operating necessitated the increase but Oriole prices will still be lower than those of some clubs and no higher than those of most major league teams.

Owls Erase Safety For 7-2 Victory

HOUSTON, (E(— Gordon Speer, a speedy 196-pound halfback, returned a punt 60 yards on the last play of the third quarter Saturday to enable the Rice Owls to erase a freak safety and come from behind to defeat Texas A&M, 7-2 and shove the Aggies deeper into the Southwest Conference cellar.

A crowd of 35,000 had seen the Aggies turn a first quarter windswept blocked punt into a 2-0 lead that looked large enoughfor a victory until Speer broke loose on his long run.

A strong north wind with gusts of 25 miles an hour contributed to the safety after Raph Smith, the Aggie left end, crushed through to partially block Speer's punt from the Rice 1.

The punt travelled only to the 10-yard line, where the wind stopped it momentarily and then pushed the ball back into the end zone. Billy Bucek, the Ricequarterback, covered the ball.

FLOWERS UNSTOPPABLE

Bowl-Bound Mississippi Stuns Vols With 37-7 Win

By ESCAR THOMPSON

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mississippi's bowl - bound juggernaut crushed Tennessee 37-7 Saturday on the running of fullback Charlie Flowers and the passing of quarterback Jake Gibbs.

An overflow crowd of 32,512 saw the fifth-ranked Rebels tore loose an awesome display of power that had the outclassed Vols reeling at the end.

The victory was Mississippi's eighth against one loss—a 7-3 decision to Louisiana State, 1958 national champions. Tennessee upset LSU 14-13 last week.

Bowl scouts obviously saw enough to prompt them to hustle to the Rebels' doorstep with postseason invitations.

Flowers, Ole Miss' All-America candidate, was unstoppable on power plays and off-tackle slants. He piled up 168 yards on 26 carries through the Tennessee line, with his longest run covering 34 yards.

Gibbs riddled Tennessee's secondary with bullet - like passes which produced two touchdowns and set up another.

Mississippi scored in every period and in the final quarter turned what had been a fairly even contest into a rout. The Rebels blasted across for three touchdowns in the fourth.

Mississippi marched 70 yards for a TD the second time it got the ball with Flowers plunging from the 1 to cap the drive. Bob Khayat kicked thefirs t of four extra points from placement.

Tennessee bounced back and tied the score at 7-7 in the second stanza after tackle Lebron Shields blocked Flowers' quick kick and end Mike LaSorsa recovered on the Rebels' 7. Tailback Glenn Glass smashed seven yards off tackle for the touchdown. Cotton Letner converted.

With only 22 seconds left before the halftime intermission, Gibbs passed 32 yards to halfback Jimmie Howell on Tennessee's 25. Khayat then kicked a 43-yard field goal to put Ole Miss ahead 10-7 at the rest period.

The Rebels marched 38 yards in six plays for their second sixpointer, Gibbs tossing seven yards to halfback Dewey Partridge in the end zone.

Gibbs got into the scoring column early in the first quarter, racing 14 yards on a rollout play to climax a 76-yard march.

Jimmie Anderson, subbing for Flowers, plunged over from the 2 for the Rebe's' fourth TD.

A poor kick by Glass set up Ole Miss' fifth touchdown. The wobbly boot was caught by Cowboy Woodruff, who ran it back 36 yards to the Tennessee 4. After a penalty set Mississippi back, Gibbs passed seven yard to Daniels for the score.

Ole Miss rolled up 283 yards on the ground and added 153 more on passes to amass a total of 436. Tennessee picked up 86 rushing and 57 on passes.

The setback left Tennessee with a 5-2-1 record.

Penn State Romps Past Holy Cross

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., (AP) —Richie Lucas set a Penn State all-time individual offense record Saturday in leading the once beaten Nittany Lions to a 46-0 romp over an outclassed Holy Cross team.

The Glassport, Pa., senior quarterback, passed and ran for 216 yards against the Crusaders in a handsome comeback for the 10th ranking team in the nation. He scored one touchdown and passed for another.

Coach Rip Engle's gridders, obviously courting a bowl bid, ran upnthe score almost at will behind Lucas' quarterbacking. Penn State's only loss was last week's thriller to top ranking Syracuse. Until Saturday, Syracuse was also the only team to beat Holy Cross.

Lucas' was at his best in the second quarter when a beautifully thrown pass to end John Bocizk gained 70 yards to set up State's third touchdown.

It sent Lucas' offensive yardage for the year to 1,121—best in the 72-year-football history at State. By the final gun his yardage amounted to 1,184. The previous record was 1,082 in 1954, by Lennie Moore, star halfback of the Baltimore Colts.

Lucas also threw a 69-yard pass to Bob Mitinger, a 12-yard scoring pass in the third quarter to Mitinger and ran three yards once himself for a TD.

HARVARD UPSET

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Roger Cirone, a slim 165-pound halfback, scored two touchdowns and led Brown to a surprising 16-6 upset of heavily favored Harvard in an Ivy League game Saturay. It was Brown's first league victory of the year.

Tourney Pairings For Tech Title Defense Listed

SHREVEPORT, La., (AP) — F. H. Delaney, tournament director for the sixth annual Gulf South Basketball Classic, Saturday announced pairings for the Dec. 28-30 event here.

Defending champion Louisiana Tech will meet Washington University of St. Louis while Hamline University of St. Paul, Minn., challenges Eastern Kentucky in two upper bracket openers.

Northwestern (La) State College takes on Hardin-Simmons while host Centenary meets George Washington University of Washington, D.C., in two lower bracket first rounders.

The tourney consists of six sessions—two games each afternoon and two each evening. The championship game is scheduled the evening of Dec. 30, following the third-place contest.

JOE TIPTON

Ex-Major League Catcher Banished From Baseball

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Tipton, an American League catcher for eight years, has been banished for life from employment by any minor league club.

The action was announced today by George Trautman, head of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Tipton's banishment came after a hearing last August when he said he received two payments for hitting foul balls in a game at Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. in 1957. Tipton then was with Birmingham.

Trautman's report quoted Tipton as saying he was paid $50 in Chattanooga by Jesse Levan, a Chattanooga player who has since been banned from minor league play for his gambling activities. Tipton said he received the second payment of $75 in the mail after he had returned to Birmingham.

Both payments, the veteran of 18 years of pro ball said, resulted from his acquiesence in a proposal made him by Levan that he would be paid if he deliberately hit a foul ball when at bat.

Trautman said his office had been told that Tipton had acted as a liaison for a gambler. The former catcher admitted that he was approached with such a deal but said he refused the offer.

Tipton's baseball career began in 1941 and he retired in 1958.

He played in the American League from 1948 to 1954 with Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago and Washington.

In other results of hearings held last summer in connection with Southern Assn. gambling, Trautman said four players with the Dallas and Houston clubs, whose names were not disclosed, were questioned, but all but one said they knew nothing of any bribes or offers.

The one exception said in 1953 he was approached on a street corner by a man who offered him $700 to hit three foul balls in a game. The player said he laughed it off and said nothing of it because "at the time I thought he (the man making the offer) was joking."

Trautman said no action was taken against this player because he apparently at the time did not know of the importance.

The minor league boss also said he has rejected an attempt by Levan for reinstatement.

Trautman said that in a hearing on Aug. 13, Levan told of a meeting he had with a gambler early in the 1959 season at which time he and other unnamed players allegedly discussed a proposition under which both games of a Chattanooga-Mobile doubleheader would be lost intentionally. The former Chattanooga shortstop said he and the other players involved decided to ignore the offer.

The other players questioned, however, refused to confirm Levan's story, Trautman said.

CLINCH SEC CROWN

Bulldogs Upset Plainsmen In Final 30 Seconds, 14-13

By MERCER BAILEY

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Francis Tarkenton's 13-yard pass carried Georgia to a touchdown in the final 30 seconds Saturday and the fabulous Bulldogs upset mighty Auburn 14-13. The victory clinched the Southeastern Conference championship for Georgia and virtually assured a bowl trip.

Durward Pennington, a placement specialist, kicked one of the most pressure-packed conversions he'll ever kick and the overflow crowd of an estimated 54,000 went absolutely wild.

Tarkenton's pinpoint passing to fullback Don Soderdash and end Bill Herron snatched victory from defeat. On fourth down—and no hope for the future if this play didn't work—Tarkenton dropped back, Georgia receivers flashed out and Tarkenton spotted Herron wide open in the left-hand corner of the end zone.

This was one of the most exciting game ever played on Sanford Field, home of this miraculous crew of Bulldogs who were picked no better than ninth in the league before the season started.

Guard Pat Dye, a line hero this warm cloudy day, recovered a fumble by Bobby Hunt at the Auburn 35 to set up Georgia's last gasp surge goalward. And the Bulldogs simply wouldn't be stopped.

Auburn turned two Georgia mistakes into long field goals by fullback Ed Dyas in the first half and Georgia edged out front 7-6 late in the third period on Charlie Britt's 39-yard touchdown sprint with a punt.

Then came the play which could have broken Georgia's back—but didn't. Britt backed up and blocked a punt by his teammate Bobby Walden and Auburn recovered at the 1.

Bryant Harvard scored on the first play and gave Auburn a 13-7 lead with only 7½ minutes left.

Auburn, ranked No. 8 in the Associated Press poll, entered the game a three-point favorite over the Bulldogs, rated No. 12.

No matter what happens in Georgia's final game against Georgia Tech Nov. 28, the Bulldogs have the SEC title locked up. They are now 6-0 in the league and 8-1 over-all. Auburn is 4-2 in the SEC and 7-2 over-all.

This is Georgia's first conference title since 1948 and-discounting a trip to the ill-fated Presidential Cup game in 1950—the bowl trip that's sure to follow will be the first since that championship year.

Tarkenton, Britt, Herron, and Pennington put the points on the scoreboard. But an out-weighed Georgia line that fought like Wildcats deserves credit by the carload. Dye and his guard buddy, Billy Roland, tackle Larry Lancaster, end Jimmy Vickers and Gorden Kelley, centers Dude Thompson and Phil Ashe were among the most best.

Tackle Billy Wilson, guard Heywood Warrick, end Joe Lleichtnam and end Dave Edards were stickouts for the losing Plainsmen.

Tech Cagers Prepping For ETS Opener

RUSTON (Special) — With the basketball season only about two weeks away, Louisiana Tech's cagers are getting set for their season opener with East Texas State. The two teams will clash at Ruston on Dec. 1.

Bulldog cage fans are urged to purchase as soon as possible season tickets for the 12 games to be played at Ruston. Tickets are now on sale at Tech's Memorial Gymnasium.

Persons who held reserved sets last season will be able to claim the game seat if they purchase their tickets sometime during the coming week.

Defending champions of the Gulf States Conference, the Techsters will play a 23-game schedule this winter that puts them up against cage quintets from eight states. Last season the Bulldogs captured the GSC title with a 9-1 won-loss record and they racked up a 21-4 season mark.

Purdue Outlasts Minnesota, 29-23

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue clustered three touchdowns in the second quarter Saturday—and needed all of them to outlast Minnesota 29-23.

Purdue quarterback Ross Fichtner twice intercepted Minnesota passes at crucial moments, running one 66 yards for a touchdown and breaking up a promising Gopher drive in the last two minutes of the game.

Two Minnesota mistakes in the last 81 seconds of the second quarter let Purdue pick up 15 quick points to break a 7-7 tie and have a working margin in the bruising second half.

Purdue guard John Ciccone grabbed fullback Tom Robbins' fumble on the Minnesota 29 and set up Clyde Washington's 10-yard scoring run three plays later. Then Minnesota quarterback Larry Johnson threw into Fichtner's hands.

YALE WINS

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Yale caught fire after a two-man, 97-yard kickoff return and scored 23 points in the second quarter to beat Princeton 38-20 in their 82nd football meeting Saturday. Lou Muller and Nick Kangas collaborated on the kickoff reverse play that broke open the game.

Solon Says America Not Facing Up

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) contended Saturday night that Americans are not facing up to the nation's problems.

The Minnesota senator, in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Democratic party, urged the delegates to act "boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us."

Humphrey, considered a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president next year although he has not announced he will run, followed Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) by 24 hours at the convention. Kennedy, who also is keeping up the traditional fiction that he has not made up his mind about running, gave the keynote speech to the delegates Friday. Kennedy stressed what he said were advantages the Soviet Union has gained over the United States in the past seven years.

Both men have indicated they would enter the Wisconsin presidential primary next April if they decided to run and have made frequent trips to this state recently. The Wisconsin primary is one of the earliest in the nation and therefore is considered a good testing ground.

Humphrey said that America had "fallen for a kind of 'pitch' in our national life that substitues nonsense for reality, public relations for public service, and showmanship for leadership."

"This has happened to us," he said, "not only in the world of TV entertainment but in politics and government as well. We have been lured away from the good old American values of truth and reality and of not trying to be anybody but ourselves.

"Let's get back to reality. Let's forget the make-up men and go ahead and let the blemishes show. Let's grapple with the questions that nobody has supplied advance answers to."

Humphrey said he had no intention of "going around this country uttering sweet nothings in order to avoid getting people mad at me."

"I urge upon my party that it act likewise," he added. "If we fail to act boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us we will not win next year and will not deserve to win.

"I propose that the 'D' in Democrat come to mean debate and dissent and finally, decision. These are the three 'D's' that have served us well in the past."

Water Pollution Faces State Fishermen

BURAS, La. (UPI) — The grim spector of water pollution today faced shell-fishermen who depend for their livelihood on the 12 miles of bayous and bays between Buras and the Gulf of Mexico.

During the past five days shrimpers have been hauling in nets full of dead shrimp, and there was fear that oyster beds might also suffer damage. State Wildlife and Fisheries agents have been called in to investigate.

According to the shrimpers, lifeless catches were first noticed on Tuesday. State marine biologists were running tests on dead specimans.

The affected areas appear to include Scofield Bayou, Cyprien Bay, English Bay, Bay Jacques and Bay Pomme D'Or. Long time shell fishermen said they had never seen anything like it.

"I thought someone had broken his net and the dead ones were what he left," said Rene Cognevich, a lifelong shrimper, after pulling in his first net full of a dead catch.

"Then I got back and heard all the others had gotten them too. The whole area must be affected," he said.

Franklin 4-H Executive Group Names Head

WINNSBORO (Special) —Carolyn Scott was elected president of the Franklin parish 4-H executive council at a recent meeting.

BEER DRAMA

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert J. Shaw, a playwright from Milwaukee, has found a Broadway producer for his first work — a drama about a Milwaukee beer-making family.

"The Amber View" is to be done by H. Clay Blaney and Ramsey Burch. The latter, former managing director of the Margo Jones Theatre in Dallas, will handle the staging.

CAMERA NEWS

If you've ever wondered what to do with your pictures after their first showing, puzzle no more. Three men who have pondered this problem — along with thousands of other camera fans —have come up with an answer. Actually, a hundred answers. They're in a book called "100 Camera Projects for Fun and Profit," published by Ziff-Davis, New York.

The authors are John Durniak and Andrew Wahlberg, features and art editors, respectively, of Popular Photography, and Harvey Shaman, free lance writer-photographer. The trio planned, worked out and photographed each of the projects in the book, then tested the finished results on critical friends. They claim that any project that couldn't be done at home with simple equipment was eliminated.

One of the sections, for instance, is called "Decorate with Pictures," and here is where your drawer - full of favorite pictures could come in handy. Household objects like lamp shades, lamp bases, an old coffee table, a wastepaper basket or a jewel box can be made into conversation pieces by decoratively adding your personal pictures.

Selection of suitable subjects is important so that the theme will harmonize with the object and the room in which it will be placed. Thus a lamp for a child's room might have circus pictures or shots of the family pet while sport pictures would be appropriate for a teen - ager's room.

Some pictures should be printed on special Resisto or Resisto Rapid (a faster emulsion) paper because it has excellent stain-resistant and heat - resistant qualities. This would be applied to picture coasters, a picture hotplate, waste paper baskets and lamp shades.

In most cases, paper patterns should be cut first to assure proper fit and placement. You will need also a frisket knife or razor blades, scissors, rubber cement, dry mount tissue, black masking tape or colored adhesive tape.

Another section deals with "The World of Fun and Parties." Here are instructons for making a wall zoo and a picture theatre for children, picture place markers, party invitations and party masks, movable cut-outs of pets and hand puppets with portrait heads.

One of the authors' favorite projects was a picture mobile with eight pictures strung up on wire clothes hangers. These photos had to be printed twice, once straight and then in reverse by turning the negative over. The duplicate prints were then mounted back - to - back so that after they were strung up, the picture would show no matter how the mobile turned.

Some projects were of a practical nature. You can photograph your valuable possessions as a visual insurance record. In case of loss or robbery, the pictures are better than a written description in filing a claim and as an aid in recovery.

Hard - to - replace documents can also be preserved by photography as a safeguard against loss. They should be copied with micro - film or extreme contrast film for legibility. They should be filed or stored in a safe place of their own, not with the original documents.

With Christmas coming soon, there are some timely suggestions for making your own holiday greeting cards, picture ornaments to hang on the tree and a method of displaying your Yuletide pictures by mounting them on long strips of red and green paper hung on a wall.

If the do-it-yourself urge still persists among the nation's camera fans, this book should be a success and there should be no quetion of what to do come these long winter evenings.

Ex-Call Girl Recovers From Sleeping Pills

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Former $500-a-night call girl Pat Ward was recovering in a private hospital here Saturday from an overdose of sleeping pills.

The 25-year-old mother was admitted here early Friday.

The hospital refused to give out any more details of her case. She refused to see a reporter who called at the hospital.

She told a nurse to tell the reporter "I am suffering from malnutrition."

Miss Ward, now Mrs. Julian Savarese, made national headlines in 1953 as the 19-year-old queen of a high society call girl ring run by wealthy heir Mickey Jelke. She informed on Jelke when he jilted her.

She attempted suicide with sleeping pills in 1953 after a broken romance with singer Alan Dale She was found in commedienne Martha Raye's New York apartment.

She married New York attorney Delavan Smith, divorced him, and married Miami osteopath Dr. Julian Charles Savarese in Mexico, Nov. 11, 1957.

Their marriage has been stormy and she several times started divorce action against him only to effect a reconciliation each time. At one court hearing in Miami, she testified that Savarese beat her with a bullwhip and with an ashtray wrapped in a towel.

She was pregnant at that time and bore the child two months ago.

More Cases Of Paralysis Hit Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Seventy-seven more cases of paralysis have been reported, bringing to 9,544 the number of known victims of a cooking oil adulterated by merchants with used motor oil obtained from U. S. Air Force surplus.

The mixture, which was used by housewives to prepare food, causes paralysis by destroying nerves. Doctors here say the only hope for the victims is prolonged physiotherapy. A government official commented that the qualified physiotherapists in Morocco can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The motor oil, some of which had already been used in slushing vats to clean airplane engine parts, was sold as surplus by the Air Force at the Nourasseur base near Casablanca. U. S. officials said it was clearly marked motor oil.

In response to an appeal for food for families of victims, the base at Nourasseur today delivered 50,000 cans of food and other supplies and medicine to Moroccan authorities as a gift.

Solon Says America Not Facing Up

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) contended Saturday night that Americans are not facing up to the nation's problems.

The Minnesota senator, in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Democratic party, urged the delegates to act "boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us."

Humphrey, considered a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president next year although he has not announced he will run, followed Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) by 24 hours at the convention. Kennedy, who also is keeping up the traditional fiction that he has not made up his mind about running, gave the keynote speech to the delegates Friday. Kennedy stressed what he said were advantages the Soviet Union has gained over the United States in the past seven years.

Both men have indicated they would enter the Wisconsin presidential primary next April if they decided to run and have made frequent trips to this state recently. The Wisconsin primary is one of the earliest in the nation and therefore is considered a good testing ground.

Humphrey said that America had "fallen for a kind of 'pitch' in our national life that substitues nonsense for reality, public relations for public service, and showmanship for leadership."

"This has happened to us," he said, "not only in the world of TV entertainment but in politics and government as well. We have been lured away from the good old American values of truth and reality and of not trying to be anybody but ourselves.

"Let's get back to reality. Let's forget the make-up men and go ahead and let the blemishes show. Let's grapple with the questions that nobody has supplied advance answers to."

Humphrey said he had no intention of "going around this country uttering sweet nothings in order to avoid getting people mad at me."

"I urge upon my party that it act likewise," he added. "If we fail to act boldly and honestly on the great issues facing us we will not win next year and will not deserve to win.

"I propose that the 'D' in Democrat come to mean debate and dissent and finally, decision. These are the three 'D's' that have served us well in the past."

Water Pollution Faces State Fishermen

BURAS, La. (UPI) — The grim spector of water pollution today faced shell-fishermen who depend for their livelihood on the 12 miles of bayous and bays between Buras and the Gulf of Mexico.

During the past five days shrimpers have been hauling in nets full of dead shrimp, and there was fear that oyster beds might also suffer damage. State Wildlife and Fisheries agents have been called in to investigate.

According to the shrimpers, lifeless catches were first noticed on Tuesday. State marine biologists were running tests on dead specimans.

The affected areas appear to include Scofield Bayou, Cyprien Bay, English Bay, Bay Jacques and Bay Pomme D'Or. Long time shell fishermen said they had never seen anything like it.

"I thought someone had broken his net and the dead ones were what he left," said Rene Cognevich, a lifelong shrimper, after pulling in his first net full of a dead catch.

"Then I got back and heard all the others had gotten them too. The whole area must be affected," he said.

Wedding Vows Pledged By Miss Bennett, D. McIntosh

The Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Oak Grove was the setting Sunday, Nov. 1 at 5 o'clock for the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Carolyn Marie Bennett and Douglas D. McIntosh. Father Jean M. Germain officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wayne Bennett and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Douglas M. McIntosh and the late Mr. McIntosh.

The ceremony was performed in a setting of floor vases of white carnations combined with stephanotis and baskets of palms with branched candelabra holding tapers. Lighting the candles were Michael and Tom Pollard.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was wearing a white chantilly lace dress over taffeta. The fitted bodice had tiny self-covered buttons down the back. The full skirt was waltz length. Her fingertip veil was caught in a coronet of pearls. She carried a bouquet of a large white orchid surrounded by carnations.

The maid of honor was Miss Patsy Rush and the bridesmaids were Miss Maxine Robertson, and Miss Jo Ella McCleary of Monroe. They were wearing ballerina length dresses with boat neck and cap sleeves, each a different shade of blue. Their headpieces were matching as were their shoes. They carried bouquets of pink rosebuds and white carnations. Serving as the bridegroom's best man was Charles Pollard of Columbia. Ushers were Jimmy Posey, Jerry Harper and Robert Schrock.

Nuptial music was played on the organ by Mrs. J. R. Davenport, who also accompanied Mrs. Charles Pollard when she sang, "Because."

For her wedding trip the bride chose a lime green suit and white velvet hat. She wore the orchid from her bouquet.

RECEPTION

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the American Legion Hut.

The bride's table overlaid with a lace cloth over pink held the tiered wedding cake. This was served by Miss Martha McCabe and Miss Gail Weems presided over the punch bowl. Miss Sandra Bennett was in charge of the bride's book.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Sam McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown McIntosh, John Robert, Tom and Phillip of Darnell; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edwards, Nannie and Johnnette, Farmerville, Mrs. Owen McCleary, Mrs. Billie McGraw, Earl Bradley, Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. James Ronald Posey, Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. John Hester, Carol, Edna and Val, Lake Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Lancaster, Robert, Mack and Jennifer, St. Joseph; Mr. and Mrs. Will Bennett, Ferriday; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lambert, Delhi; Mrs. W. A. Brown, Epps and Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Pollard, Columbia.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

A rehearsal supper was given the couple by Judge and Mrs. John R. McIntosh of Oak Grove; Mr. and Mrs. John Hester, Lake Providence; Mr. and Mrs. John Brown McIntosh, Darnell and Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Lancaster of St. Joseph.

Mrs. A.S. Oliver Honoree At Afternoon Coffee

Mrs. A. S. Oliver, who with Mr. Oliver, recently moved here from St. Louis, Missouri, was honored Friday afternoon in the Herschel Ace Gentry home on Country Club Road. Mrs. Gentry brought a group of congenials together in an informal conversational hour.

Mrs. Oliver was becomingly dressed in a blue wool dress with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage, a gift from her hostess.

Mrs. Jack Peat, daughter of Mrs. Oliver, greeted the guests with the hostess and the honoree. Mrs. Peat's dress was a grey wool ensemble. Mrs. Gentry was dressed in a lilac jersey with velvet trim.

The dining table was overlaid with an imported satin tea cloth of pale pink. An off-center arrangement of muted shades of pink chrysanthemums, flanked by silver candelabra that held tall, pink tapers was the focal point. Silver trays and bon bon dishes held confections.

Mrs. Kent Anderson presided over the silver coffee service and was assisted by Mrs. Fred Huenefeld Jr., Mrs. David I. Garrett and Mrs. Jack Davis. Guests included Mrs. Oliver, honoree, Mrs. Peat, Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Mrs. Ben Downing, Mrs. Robert Downing, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Ben Marshall, Mrs. Calvin B. Girl Scout News

Troop camping, reports show, is the most popular activity that Intermediate Scouts enjoy, and lucky are the troops whose leaders make it possible. Each weekend sees a troop at Pine Wood for the fun of sleeping on the porch on Friday night, cooking breakfast outdoors, usually breadtwists over coals, perhaps going on a hike, again cooking at lunch time, probably a one-pot meal, the cleaning up the building, making bedrolls again before leaving for home early Saturday afternoon.

Girl Scout standards for troop camping call for a good night's rest, division of jobs according to a kaper chart, and observance of safety rules. Fun comes in working together, in songs and games around a blazing fire in the big fireplace. Adventure comes in following trails to the river, exploring new paths, going over a stile instead of through a gate, cutting the right kind of stick and cooking a breadtwist to a golden brown on it, making a fire even when the wood is damp.

Rain or shine, a troop carries out its plans for the overnight, since we are lucky enough to have a building with all facilities. Troop 26 had a rainy Friday night for their first overnight, but, according to their leader, Mrs. A. B. Gregory, nothing could dampen the enthusiasm of these first - year intermediates. One of the most interesting experiences the group had was watching a caterpillar weave a cocoon around itself.

Girls who participated in this troop camp were Janet Brueck, Peggy Dawson, Kyle Gregory, Joan Harris, Kathy Heckathorn, Pamela Hudson, Judy Jacobs, Wendy King, Joan Nowell, Kay Otnott, Martha Peters, Sarah Zeagler, under the leadership of Mrs. Gregory and daughter Sue.

Remember the Friday night it turned so cold. That was the night ten girls of Troop 2 spent the night. Upon reaching camp all the girls set out to find enough wood to burn all evening in the fireplace. By the time it was dark, beds had been made on the porch, and girls were cozy inside. They enjoyed nosebag suppers brought from home and afterwards a campfire of singing and games planned by the girls. Someone brought an old-fashioned popcorn popper, which the girls took turns in using. Warm from an evening around the fire, the girls snuggled cozily into their beds, to sleep soundly until the alarm went off at 7:00.

Mrs. W. T. King and Mrs. Thomas Keller were in charge of the group, which consisted of Susan Cochran, Nancy Edelman, Mary Tom Keller, Donna King, Paula Meek, Cheryl Montgomery, Janna Rorex, Delane Ruddick, Sandra Seale, Gale Summerfield.

Some good craft instruction is in store for troops, judging by the interest that leaders have shown in pottery, textile painting, and sugar molding demonstrations that have been given. Neighborhood meetings this week are Northside at St. Paul's, Wednesday at 9:30, College at Memorial Methodist Wednesday at 1:00, and Southside Thursday at 1:00 at Plum St. School. The first training session for leaders recruited in Bastrop will be held Friday afternoon at 1:00 at Westside School.

Area Dietetic Association Holds Meeting

The Northeast Area Dietetic Association met at St. Francis Hospital, Tuesday night, November 10, 1959. Members were welcomed by Sister Martha de Bethanie, who is in charge of the dietary department at St. Francis. Mrs. Alton A. Braddock, president, conducted the business meeting. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Marlene Bond, the program chairman. Miss Bond gave a report on the Annual Convention of The American Dietetic Association, which she attended last August in Los Angeles, California. She distributed materials brought back, to members present. Mrs. Charles Denham gave a talk on the Annual Convention of the Louisiana Dietetic Association held in October, in New Orleans. She reported that the La. Dietetic Association's Executive Board had approxed the newly organized Northeast Area Dietetic Association as the sixth local group affiliating with the state group. The executive board also appointed Miss Marlene Bond to fill the position of secretary of the Louisiana Dietetic Association.

Refreshments were served to the members present, Mrs. James Ballard, Mrs. Lettie Aswell, Mrs. Bond, Sister Martha de Bethanie Charles Denham, Miss Marlene and Mrs. Alton A. Braddock.

Miss Fleming C. L. Harville Are Wed

Miss Dorothy Elaine Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fleming of Crossett, became the bride of Charles Lindsey Harville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Harville of Hamburg, November 6th, in the Beech Street Baptist Church in Crossett.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. David Rice before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and ivy. The wedding music was played by Mrs. David Rice.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a light blue waltz length dress over blue taffeta, with white veil and accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations.

Mrs. Charlotte Montgomery, matron of honor, wore blue with white accessories. Julian Estelle served the groom as best man.

The couple are at home in Hamburg, following a short wedding trip.

Well, at last the weather got cool enough for the ladies to come out in the new fall clothes. At the Golden Harvest Ball given by the Revelers' dance club on the Frances roof last Saturday night, we saw a number of lovely winter dancing frocks, foreshadowing the gay holiday season ahead.

CODY ROSAMUND's dress featured a black sequin bodice above a white chiffon skirt. Medallions of the seqins were embroidered across the skirt, which was short in front and dipped to her ankles in the back . . . KATHERINE HOLLIS, wearing black peau de soie warp printed with red roses, was sporting a new hair-do . . . Also in a new hair style was CINDY WAKEFIELD, in a beige lace dress. With Cindy and Benton were his sister and brother-in-law, the CHARLES CARMICHAELS of Jackson, Mississippi.

Other out-of-towners at the dance included the CHARLES NUNNALLYS of Alexandria (Louise looked lovely in true blue satin) . . . the DUKE SHACKLEFORDS of Jones (Sue wore red velvet, with a red bow on the back of her head) . . . and the BILL GIFFENS of Clarksdale, Mississippi. (Annelle chose a seafoam blue chiffon with a panel of the material floating from her left shoulder to the hem on the right side.)

Red was a most popular shade. We spied MARY ALICE HUSTED in a slipper satin, and BETTY B. JACKSON and TOMMY SUE SARTOR in peau de soie, all with matching red shoes . . . WAVA FRAZER wore turquoise satin and lace . . . JEAN HAMILTON's green printed silk chiffon ended in a cuff around the knees . . . Electric blue satin was most becoming to DORIS FRAZIER . . . With a royal blue dress, LOUISE M'CARTER wore a full - length blue and green brocade coat . . . VIRGINIA HARGROVE's Irish green satin featured a matching separate stole . . . In black lace and organza was JUNE HOLMES.

□ □ □

Several intimate parties were given before or after the dance. Ten couples were invited to stop by the BOB CLAYS en route to the hotel. Pyracantha was used to decorate the den, where dips and snacks were offered with drinks.

The CLAY WILSONS entertained six couples at an informal buffet preceding the ball. French mulberry and coleus centered the dining table. Fried oysters served with a chili dip, ham, and sesame niblets were featured on the menu.

The D. V. LOFLINS invited a group for breakfast after the dance. Mary Alice was wearing moss green satin made with short, full organza sleeves of the exact shade . . . The buffet was covered with a gold colored cloth and centered with a pyramid of fruit. Guests helped themselves to sausage, grits, bacon and eggs; biscuits and sweet rolls; and coffee, of course. Individual green - covered tables were centered with a single candle wreathed with grapes and ivy leaves.

The TOMMY FORTENBERRYS were hosts at a seasonal - type meal Saturday night: squirrel mulligan. A fall arrangement of pyracantha and greenery was used on the buffet. With the game, Gail served a salad, rolls, and apple pie. Eight attended.

Another seasonal menu: roast duck with wild rice dressing. The JOHN CLAYS invited ten friends for this treat on Sunday night. An arrangement of white and mauve chrysanthemums centered the dining table. With the duck, Peggy served sweet potatoes and oranges; bacon - wrapped beans, vinaigrette; cranberry sherbert, and Chianti. Dessert was a nut date torte, with coffee.

□ □ □

Visitors in town always are the occasion for a round of parties. Guests this week of the G. M. SUDDUTHS in their home on Frances Place were Eleanor's parents, MR. and MRS. EDWIN D. WEMYSS of Stockton, California. They arrived last Friday, and that night enjoyed a family dinner with their children and grandchildren, KIP and SALLY. George's mother, MRS. LUCILLE W. SUDDUTH, drove over from Vicksburg to complete the party.

ELAINE and JOHN CRUMP invited a group of friends to meet the visitors at their home on Saturday night. Fall flowers were used in an arrangement on the coffee table. Hot hors-d'oeuvres were served with drinks to twelve guests.

Eleanor honored her mother with a luncheon at the Paragon Club on Monday. The gold-covered table was centered with yellow chrysanthemums arranged with stalks of wheat. Fourteen attended . . . On Tuesday, ELIZABETH ATKINSON was hostess at luncheon for eight at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club . . . Fifteen ladies were invited for mid - afternoon cake and coffee at PAT MADDEN's Tuesday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Wemyss left on Wednesday to return to California.

Former Monroyan MRS. JOHN PRACHER (Sadie) arrived Friday for a visit of about two weeks. She is now living in Lake Charles with her children, the JAMES PECKS. She will divide her time between the A. L. PETERS and LEONORA KELLER . . . Leonora's sister, AGNES GUNTER, who had been here with her for a week, left on Tuesday for her home in New Orleans.

□ □ □

A congenial group from this vicinity went to Knoxville for the LSU-Tennessee game last week end and, aside from the disrespectful treatment accorded the football team, were very hospitably welcomed. In the party were CAROLYN and BENNY GWIN and JANE and JOHN SHERROUSE, JR., from Monroe; KATHERINE and BILLY BOLES of Rayville; and ANN and LLOYD LOVE of Ferriday . . . On Friday, CARTER and HERBERT SLATTERY were hosts at a cocktail party for the Louisiana visitors preceeding the dinner dance at the Cherokee Country Club . . . The club was also the scene of the breakfast hosted by DOT and JIMMY ROBERTS on Saturday before the game. (Dot Roberts is Ann Love's sister.) . . . As our group was en route home, their plane caught fire, necessitating a delay of several hours while another plane was brought all the way from Fort Worth. Altogether, a very full week end.

EMY LOU BIEDENHARN left Friday for a two weeks visit in New York. She will be the guest of MARION GORDON - FRASER in her recently completed home at Amagansette, Long Island. Emy Lou will be home around the first of December.

When the ROY LEDBETTERS entertained at dinner on Thursday night, Helen used a most effective table arrangement of gray - green mats on a bare table. The mats picked up the colors of the Italian porcelain vegetables used in the centerpiece. On the menu were barbecued ham, cheese souffle, peas with mushrooms, and almond-jellied peaces. For dessert, citrus chiffon pie and coffee. There were eight guests.

JAMES MOORE celebrated his eleventh birthday with a skating party Thursday. The group played stop-the-music, with DOTTIE KIPER and RUSTY ROUTT winning the prizes. Doughtnuts and soft drinks were served to about fifty children who attended.

Newcomer LETA OLIVER was named guest of honor when JEAN GENTRY invited a group of friends for afternoon coffee on Friday at her home. Leta was wearing a brown crepe dress embroidered with copper beading and a corsage of white carnations. Among the guests we noted MILDRED JACKSON, lovely in an outfit of shades of lavender ond purple; and VERNE TERZIA, very stylish in a black suit with black fox collar and all black accessories . . . An old-fashioned nosegay flanked by a ceramic figurine of a hoop-skirted lady was placed at one end of the dining table. YVONNE ANDERSON presided at the coffee service at the other end. Cranberry cake, kisses, and other confections were served to about thirty ladies who called.

Jean was hostess at another party on Friday, this one honoring her granddaughter, BECKY HUENEFELD. Ten little girls in the second grade were invited to have supper and watch television. Hot dogs were the main course served with chicken salad sandwiches, salad, and individual iced cakes.

And speaking of clothes, we noted several new fall hats at the Junior Charity League luncheon meeting at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Saturday. Setting the seasonal mood was the centerpiece: a turkey made of pine cones and flowers, flanking an arrangement of dried material, yellow chrysanthemums and marigolds. BESS COURTMAN wore a deep cloche of raspberry felt . . . and EVELYN COLE, burnt orange felt with a slouch brim a la Garbo . . . The derbies had it, with CAROL M'DONALD wearing a steel gray brushed felt, MILDRED VANDERPOOL a brown felt with brown and orange band, and CLARA MONTGOMERY choosing high blue to compliment her all - blue outfit . . . MARNE MOUK's hat was a head - hugging band of red feathers.

BYRON GOYNE's tenth birthday was the occasion for a skating party on Tuesday. Stop - the - music winners were CYNTHIA TERZIA, BONNIE BANCROFT, ROBERT M'CUE, and MARY ANN SALISBURY, who were awarded silver dollars. Soft drinks and assorted doughnuts were served to about forty children who attended.

For our poem today, here's some advice for men by Georgie Galbraith:

Don't coddle me, my Lord, my love!
Take off that doggone velvet glove
And call me names you learned from Chaucer!
Kick my shin or sock my jaw, sir!
Please offend me, darling, for
I've simply got to go to war!
The world and I are at such odds
So many ways that, by the gods,
If I don't get to blow my top,
I'm going out and sass a cop
Or smash a window Dearest, think,
Than springing me from out the clink,
How easier to just provide
The fight I'm spoiling for. Beside,
Plus easing off my inner foments,
I love your more Cro-Magnon moments!

Garden Club Theme Is Yule Decorations

The November meeting of the Bayou Vista Garden Club was held Tuesday, November 3rd at the Holiday Inn with Mrs. Jack Harrington and Mrs. Evans Larkin as co-hostesses.

After a brief business session Mr. John P. Lewis discussed "Dominance" in flower arranging. The members present made various flower arrangements under the supervision of Mrs. Lewis.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames Malvin Brantley, Stanley Brister, Frank Francis, Frank Marchefski, R. W. Gregory, William Lynn, C. A. McKenzie, William Roche, W. H. Stapp, C. T. Thomas, Wilford Smith, J. E. Tripp, Jr., Roy Scalia, Max Waite, Ben Winegeart, and Cecil Johnson, with Mrs. C. T. McIntosh winning the door prize.

The next meeting will be December 1, 1959.

A. O. Pi Pledge Initiation Is Held For Group

A pledge initiation meeting of Lambda Tau chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi was held in the social room of the Ouachita Parish Public Library on Monday.

Pledges initiated were Sue Briggs, Helda David, Joyce Fowler, Pat Hand, Marilyn Landry, Jean Mozee, Judy Reagan, Joellyn Thompson, all of Monroe, and Ann McCarty of Columbia, Miss.; Carol Shipp, Bosco; Karen Strozer, West Monroe.

Mrs. Dawson Urges Daily Use Of Meat

Mrs. J. E. Murphy was hostess to the November meeting of the Woodlawn Home Demonstration Club with Mrs. Erby Tisdale serving as co-hostess. Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Ouachita Home Demonstration agent, presented a demonstration concerning the proper selection of meat for the family consumption, and revealed the proper method of identifying the different cuts of beef. The agent insisted that meat be used in the daily diet due to the great amount of protein provided, and stated the three factors to remember in meat preparation is to use dry heat, a low heat, and avoid overcooking.

Reports were heard from Mrs. G. E. Rutledge, food preparation leader, and safety leader, Mrs. John Bush. Mrs. John Bush has been elected as president-elect and Mrs. Leon Sims as vice-president. The president, Mrs. Truman Wright, led the business session, and plans were made for the December meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. Doyle Raborn.

Group recreation was led by Mrs. Tisdale and refreshments were served to the guests, Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. R. C. Murphy, and to members, Mesdames: G. E. Rutledge, Albert Kilpatrick, J. E. Rutledge, Donald Bonnette, Harvie Eady, John Bush, H. M. Wallace, Doyle Raborn, O. E. Smith, A. C. Hollingsworth, Maxine Brown, Gerald Morehead, Truman Wright, Ruby Morehead and Keith Cobb.

Junior Charity League Holds Club Luncheon

Highlight of the Junior Charity League luncheon held at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club was an explanation of the United Givers Fund and how it works.

President of the league, Mrs. Milas H. Sager, Jr., introduced James Moore who is this year's fund raising chairman for United Givers. Mr. Moore discussed how funds are raised and distributed through his organization. It was brought out that United Givers have 13 member civic and charity groups of our area and that by the united way 13 separate drives are eliminated.

Director of the United Givers fund, Don Kurtz, spoke for a few minutes following Mr. Moore. Mr. Kurtz announced that an effort is being made to form a Social Service Exchange which would determine the needs of the community and inform various groups what each is doing in this area.

The talks by Mr. Moore and Mr. Kurtz were the first of the league's new program of education for its membership under the direction of Mrs. Branton Kellogg.

Mrs. Harry Bell was thanked for a fall arrangement which adorned the speaker's table. On a bed of fall leaves, Mrs. Bell had placed a turkey made of pine cones and flowers. Beside the turkey on the leaves was an arrangement of dried materials in shades of brown used with varieties of yellow chrysanthemums.

It was announced by Mrs. William Dent that the plans for the league ball to be held December 5 at the Paragon Ballroom are made.

Mrs. Bill Giffen of Clarksdale, Miss., guest of Mrs. Don Giffen and Mrs. Charles Carmichael of Jackson, Miss., guest of Mrs. Benton Wakefield, were welcomed by Mrs. Sager to the luncheon. Mrs. Sager also announced that Mrs. L .J. Madden, Jr. will be the new assistant to the Thift Shop chairman.

Members present were Mrs. Sager, Mrs. Thad J. Ryan, Jr., Mrs. Lee Vanderpool, Mrs. Stanley Bagwell, Mrs. Dent, Mrs. Tom Hyland, Mrs. John Clay, Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. Bruce Gregg, Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Hilary C. Sanders, Jr., Mrs. D. C. R. J. H. Junior Girl's Unit Holds Meeting

The Rodney J. Hobbs Junior Girls Unit held their regular meeting at the post home on Saturday November 7. The president, Mary Claire Hanson, was the presiding officer.

A report was given on the Halloween social. The unit members voted to provide an elderly shut-in with a fruit basket as a Thanksgiving project. Several of the members brought toys to donate to a Christmas project which is being sponsored by the VFW Post 189.

Mrs. Odie Lee Gossett, president of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary 1809 commended the girls in their cooperation in assisting the Auxiliary in collecting CCA credits. Mrs. Gossett stated that the Community Club Awards Contest would continue until December 19 and requested the group to continue collecting the CCA credits.

Reveler's Dance Club Holds Annual Party

"The Golden Harvest Ball" was the theme of the Revelers' dance club annual open party held last Saturday night. Gilded magnolia leaves and fruit were used to decorate the roof of the Frances hotel for the occasion.

Focal point of the room was the buffet table placed against one wall under swags of magnolia leaves. An epergne filled with gold and bronze chrysanthemums and gold candles centered the table. Hors d'oeuvres and tiny sandwiches were served throughout the evening.

Sprays of magnolia leaves and fruit were used behind the bandstand. Jerry Lane and his orchestra played for dancing from nine until one. Serving on the committee for this dance were Mrs. Bobby Oliver, chairman, with Mrs. Bob Clay, Mrs. Larry Fox, Mrs. Dick Touchstone, and Mrs. Joe Dixon.

Guests present included: Mr. and Mrs. Thad J. Ryan, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Many Courtesies Extended Indiana Guest Last Week

Mrs. W. E. Gregory of Culver, Indiana, a recent guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Seymour on Park Avenue has been entertained extensively by her many friends made here on previous visits.

"Bernbet" was the setting on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Biedenharn honored Mrs. Gregory with a dinner party.

Arrangements of fresh pine boughs were used at vantage points in the party area. A large roaring log fire was set in the living room where the guests were served cocktails before dinner.

The table in the dining room was in all white. The arrangement centering the table was of French hand made beaded white flowers in a white French pottery bowl. This was flanked by five branched white matching pottery candle ho'ders holding burning white tapers.

Dinner was served to the following guests: Mrs. Gregory, the honoree, Dick Nugent of Little Rock, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. King Stubbs, Mrs. Veggie H. Rivers, Mrs. Haydn H. Cutler, Mrs. W. J. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Woods, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil P. Jarrell and Mr. and Mrs. Biedenharn.

OTHER COURTESIES

Friday evening's compliment was a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Kellogg at the "Embers." Cocktails were enjoyed in the lounge prior to dinner. Thirty guests were present.

Mrs. T. Arthur Grant Jr. entertained Mrs. Gregory at noon on Friday with a luncheon at the Paragon Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour invited a few congenials to their home on Thursday evening for an informal visit with their guest.

Thursday's compliment was a luncheon given at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club by Mrs. George G. Weaks.

Beta Sigma Phis Meet At St. Pauls

Beta Pi chapter of Beta Sigma sorority met Thursday November 5, 1959 at St. Paul's Methodist Church with Mrs. George Smale presiding.

Plans were made to have a rummage sale the first weekend in December. All articles are to be brought by Miss Helen Johnson's house.

The social committee discussed with the members having a dinner-dance for the Christmas party.

Mrs. Frank Pettit, and Mrs. Bill Brown gave a program entitled "Poetry."

Miss Gyl Rowell, Mrs. Joe Lister, and Mrs. Walter Hinckley served as hostesses for the meeting. Door prize was won by Mrs.

The next meeting of Beta Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will be Nov. 19.

Today's Women

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

If you measure success by the amount of comfort, happiness and general good a person spreads around in a lifetime, then the nurses on the maternity floor of any hospital must be among the world's most successful people. Especially the night nurses.

For some reason unknown except to the powers above, most babies seem to start getting ready for birth in the middle of the night. And it is in the long hours between midnight and dawn that hospital waiting rooms become most populated with chain-smoking young fathers and anxious grandparents, waiting out the hours until a new baby makes his earthly debut.

At such times about-to-be grandparents sit on the sidelines, and have time to observe. It's a strange and wonderful experience to await the birth of a first grandchild and remember, perhaps, the birth of his mother, seemingly such a few short years ago. It's hard to realize that the baby you once saw for the first time in another hospital and another time now is big enough to have a baby of her own.

You get a call at your office one evening and your daughter says, "Mom, I guess you know more about these things than I do, but I think little Christopher-and-or-Anne is about ready to start. Maybe you'd better come over — it would be nice."

You arrive at your daughter's apartment and confirm her report: You help her pack a bag and say yes, you'll see that Charley gets some dinner. With daughter, son-in-law and bag you taxi to the hospital, see her to her room, meet her doctor and obey the nurse's request:

Back in the room, there's final discussion about the baby's name, ended abruptly when the young parents remember that they still don't know whether it's a son or a daughter.

Then there's the uncertain moment when your daughter, looking very young and scared, is wheeled off for her big adventure.

The night finally ends. The announcement finally comes. A bleary-eyed young father wrings the hand of a tired but smiling doctor and shouts: "Wonderful! Wonderful! Wonderful! A boy! Wonderful! Thank you, doctor! Wonderful!"

Grandpa and grandma can't get in on this act. But they can look through the nursery window at a small pink-and-white bundle, miraculously perfect down to the last tiny fingernail, and they can solemnly agree:

"He's the most beautiful baby I ever saw!"

FALL '59 TRAVEL SUIT ECHOES ANOTHER ERA — Reminiscent of the Greta Garbo glamor of the early 30's, this fall's smartest suits reflect a softened tailored look. It molds brown chiffon wool flannel into a double-breasted "mannish" suit that travels handsomely around the country — or to business. The featherweight wool flannel keeps its sleek, look — around the clock — across the country.

Don't Be Slave To Your Baby's Daily Airing

AP Newsfeatures

It's nice to be outdoors on beautiful days and if you can find the time, take your baby for a walk. But don't feel that the world will collapse or your child will suffer terrible harm if you don't get him out. You can be just as good a mother indoors as out.

There is a common feeling that babies become pale when they stay indoors too long. This is only a superstition. The healthy rosy color we like to see comes from good general health and good nourishing food. Of course, brisk cold weather brings color to the cheeks but cold weather doesn't make the red blood.

DON'T PANIC

There is also a feeling that fresh air increases the appetite. Perhaps, it does a little. If anyone, baby or grownup, is out in the cold he needs a bit more food to make the extra heat needed to keep his body at an even temperature. But this does not mean he is any healthier because he has eaten and used up a few more calories of food.

In very cold weather little children are so bundled up to go outdoors they cannot move around as vigorously as they can indoors with less clothes on. This is an argument for plenty of indoor playtime during the winter months.

Sunshine is another reason for getting outdoors. Surely it's nice and it's pleasant to get out into the warm sun, but it isn't so important that you must break your neck to get outdoors. Time was when sunshine was more important for babies than it is today. In years gone by babies who never received sunshine developed rickets and their bones did not grow strong and straight. However, these days we know that sunshine — that is, the ultra-violet rays of the sun — change a substance normally present in the skin into vitamin D which then circulates around the baby's body and keeps his bones in good condition. Nowadays we know how to give vitamin D to babies by mouth so it is no longer necessary for them to get this vitamin only from sunshine. There is not a great deal of ultra-violet light in wintertime sunshine anyway.

USE COMMON SENSE

Going outdoors is pleasant and fun. Think of it this way. Do it just as often as you can manage because you will enjoy it. But when the weather is bad, whether it's too hot or too cold or too windy or just not very good, don't feel guilty if you stay at home.

Sometimes a young mother has so much to do inside her house that she cannot seem to squeeze in the time to take her baby outdoors. Once in a while maybe it's a good idea to let some of the housework go and relax in the sunshine. However, if an hour or two outdoors means mother is up until midnight getting her ironing done, there is not much relaxation to that!

If you give your baby plenty of good food, adequate vitamins and a safe airy place for wiggling, he'll do all right in the house. Enjoy your outings whenever you can manage them but don't feel guilty when you skip them.

Kiroli P.T.A.

The Kiroli School P.-T. A. met November 5 in Kiroli School auditorium. A film was shown on Safety. Safety at School and Safety at Home. A report was given on the successful carnival recently held. Room count was won by Mrs. Clark's 5th grade.

Amer. Education Week Observed By Lakeshore

Lakeshore Elementary School faculty has planned to observe American Education Week, which opened Saturday with TV and radio programs, throughout the coming week. A visitation program has been planned with invitations extended to all parents and others interested in the welfare of the schools.

The eighteen teachers sent invitations to the parents of their children asking them to visit their rooms at a specified time. Many have been invited to have lunch in the cafeteria, others will observe regular class work and still others have been invited to watch the TV music program with a follow - up of visual education (films) used in social studies classes.

The teachers feel that this program for the week will bring many to the classrooms that have not taken the time to see how little Johnny is taught the three R's plus.

The theme this year for American Education Week is: "Praise and Appraise Your Schools." This A. E. W. is really an annual roundup of efforts to renew and revive every American citizens' concern about their public schools.

Demonstration Given Drew HDC By Mrs. Dawson

"Meats in the Simple Meal," was the demonstration given by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, when the Drew Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. W. M. Roberts for their regular monthly meeting.

President, Mrs. W. M. Roberts, presided.

Plans were made for the regular Christmas party which will be held December 14th in the home of Mrs. P. M. Donald. Each member is to bring a gift to exchange, a covered dish, and something for their Bluebird Sister.

Mrs. Roberts reported that a Blue Ribbon was won on the Fair Booth. Refreshments were served to three visitors, Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Mrs. Alice Frankland, Mrs. Evelyn Hollinsworth, and members Mrs. Donald, Mrs. G. A. Strozier, Mrs. V. C. Brister, Mrs. Clara Gilliland, Mrs. W. O. Northcutt, Mrs. J. R. Agin and hostess, Mrs. Roberts.

She Lives And Loves Her Job

Every morning Jessica McLachlin congratulates herself on having found the perfect job.

Then she arranges the grapes on the breakfast table, adjusts the grape print draperies, makes sure that the grape-leaf ash trays are clean and departs for her office, to oversee the creation of new wine recipes in the test kitchens.

As home advisory service director for the Wine Institute, Jessica keys her home, her entertaining, her menus and even her clothes to the greater glorification of the grape. Says she:

"For a North Dakota girl who never even tasted wine until she was through college, I think I've come a long way."

Jessica lives in San Francisco, where she is noted for her smart dinner parties. She is married to Dr. Milton Greengard, an orthopedic surgeon, who fortunately also likes gourmet food, fine wines and lots of guests. Sometimes he does the cooking on the outdoor grill, sometimes Jessica does it on the kitchen range, but one thing is sure — somewhere in the meal will be a wine flavor.

"I have been working at this job almost ever since I was graduated from North Dakota State College," says Jessica. "I studied home economics and journalism there, and though the course did not include a study of wine, it gave me the basic knowledge o how to use it, appreciate it and write about it."

Jessica's passion for grapes extends to her clothes, hats and jewelry. She usually wears grape colors, from palest green, through the pinky muscat shades to deepest purple. She has a collection of grape - trimmed hats for all occasions. Sometimes she wears a small brown velvet hat trimmed with green velvet grapes —this with a suit or street dress. At a cocktail party she may wear a little hat made of black grapes and leaves. For an afternoon luncheon she may choose a hat of white grapes and delicate green leaves. Her favorite is a hat that was a present from her husband, who had it designed and made for her, in vintage colors.

Even Jessica's jewelry has a grape or grape - leaf motif. Says she:

"It's simply amazing how many things can be adapted to the grape design. The other day I even saw some shoes with bunches of grapes on each toe. Naturally I bought them in all colors."

The fabric is of rayon and acetate crepe. The shoulders are barely covered with attached rhinestone double pins.

Club Hostess Is Mrs. Evans

Mrs. W. B. Evans was hostess for the monthly meeting of Home Gardener Club. Acting as cohostesses were Mrs. Aline Banister, Mrs. J. W. Webster and Mrs. E. F. Kenny.

Arrangements of fall roses were placed at vantage points throughout the house. Flower arrangements in the Christmas theme were brought by Mrs. G. C. Williams and Mrs. M. W. Montgomery. Red and white colors were used.

Mrs. M. W. Montgomery presided.

Mrs. Mosley introduced Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent of Ouachita parish, who gave a demonstration on making Christmas decorations. An outstanding object was the red net Christmas tree.

After the meeting Thanksgiving refreshments were served in the dining room to the following members and guest: Mrs. C. R. Clay, Mrs. M. M. DeWees, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. J. A. Funston, Mrs. L. R. Harrison, Mrs. E. M. Henderson, Mrs. M. J. Hortman, Mrs. Lucy Mason, Mrs. A. F. McMullen, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. W. R. Moseley, Mrs. H. E. Munholland, Mrs. C. H. Osborne, Mrs. Frank Pettit, Mrs. S. W. Raby, Mrs. James Richardson, Mrs. J. O. Rhodes, Mrs. J. M. Smith, Mrs. W. H. Steen, Mrs. A. A. Tarpley, Mrs. John Varner, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Armand Wroten, Mrs. Banister, Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Mrs. Tripp Faulk and Mrs. Manell Nield.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American public is well-heeled. We buy 19 pairs of shoes every second. This adds up to about 3½ pairs of shoes a year for every adult and child in the country.

One pair, worn steadily for 3½ months, takes a total pounding weight of 73,500 tons — more than the weight of the largest aircraft carrier afloat.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Diet In Pregnancy Is Most Important

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The term diet often antagonizes readers. It isn't fascinating — as are recipes for food — but sounds exceedingly dull. But during the nine months when a mother is carrying her baby and for the months when she may be nursing it, there is nothing so important as the way she feeds herself. It is at its best the cause of her good health and her baby's, and at its worst the possible cause of disaster.

She should know that if she starves herself to keep the baby smaller (good pediatricians no longer advocate this) the baby will be deprived of essential nutrients. If there is an abundance of food, both baby and mother will profit; if there is less than is needed, the mother robs the baby. (Samuel M. Wishik, M.D., Professor of Maternal and Child Health).

Even if the baby is larger at birth, the birth process will be easier. When a woman is overweight when pregnant, it is considered advisable to avoid dieting until after the baby is born.

Animal experimentation, which has to be used since it would be unthinkable to starve a human being to determine the effects, has proven that deprivations of essential nutrients during the pregnant period lead to malformations in the animal when born. We can translate this to mean that this can happen to the infant.

Below are some of the essentials of a good pre-natal diet taken from "The Family Book of Child Care," by Niles Newton, Ph. D.

Should Have

have four cups of milk, either homogenizezd, buttermilk, skim milk, non-fat milk or a milk substitute.

Two medium or one large helping of meat, fish or poultry; two eggs, three slices of whole grain bread or cereal; two oranges or other citrus fruits; four stewed dry apricots; three figs or one-half cup of raisins; one-half cup of leafy salad; one-half cup of leavy green or yellow vegetables; one tablespoon of butter; two tablespoons of salad dressing; one potato or other vegetable or fruit.

In addition vitamins A and D pills and 1 teasponful of nutritional yeast powder. Liver, kidney, ground beef heart can be substituted for meats or poultry. Use iodized salt.

These essential foods can be eaten in the amounts that are pleasing to the eater and other foods she enjoys may be added to them. Nothing very hard about this, but the results are inestimable.

What To Do When Johnny Has A Cold

By D. V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Colds are everybody's problem. The person who seldom has a cold is a rare and lucky person and I doubt if anyone exists (except perhaps a young baby) who has never had a cold.

Medical science so far has been unable to find either a quick way of recovering from a cold or a sure way of preventing colds. However in spite of not knowing the answers to these most important questions we do know a good deal about this troublesome pest, the common cold. There is a tremendous amount of research going on both in this country and abroad right now. The U. S. Army and the Public Health Service have extensive programs under way and in addition a Common Cold Foundation has been organized to further and coordinate all the research. But until some one comes up with the important answers we are going to have to muddle along as we have been doing for years.

We do know some things.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

Children have more colds than grown-ups. On the average grown-ups have between two and three colds a year. A pre-school child may have as many as seven or eight, a primary school child probably will not have more than four or five, and an adolescent usually has no more than three or four. Babies, especially first babies, have fewer colds than run-around children, but a baby living in a household with several older children has more colds than a baby who lives the isolated and sheltered life of the only child.

The prevalence of colds in children is just something we have to take at the present state of medical knowledge. We seem to build up a resistance to colds by just living — probably by being exposed over and over again during our young hears.

Another thing we know about colds is that they occur more frequently in winter than in summer. This has more to do with the fact that people crowd together more in cold weather. We stay indoors more, keep windows closed and breathe each other's germs.

A rash of colds is pretty certain to break out when a group comes together and remains in close quarters. Soon after the beginning of school in the fall you can expect a lot of colds. It is often true, too, that right after the Christmas holidays there will be another sweep of colds through the classrooms.

Colds are caused by a germ, one of those tiny germs called a virus. You get a cold because you get a germ from someone else. As you get older you are better able to fight off the germs because slowly over the years you build up some immunity to the germ.

There are a thousand ways to treat a cold. Many, many people swear by some pat remedy. Mighty few of them do any good at all and some do positive harm.

ANTI-HISTAMINES

The anti-histamine drugs had a great vogue a few years back but they have now fallen into disrepute. True, these drugs will dry up the annoying discharge from the nose, but they don't kill off the virus that causes the cold. The truth is if you have a cold you are better off with a runny nose — its nature's way of getting rid of the infection. If you just dry up the nose, the germ is apt to find a pleasanter place to live and migrate down into the lungs and produce a more serious disease than just a cold.

When your child has a cold, put him to bed for a few days, let him breathe some steamy air — its very soothing. Let him eat and drink as he wants and keep him happy and don't dose him with a lot of useless medicine just because you think you sould be doing something.

If your child runs a fever call your doctor. There is probably something more wrong than a cold. There is little or no fever with a common cold.

Someday we hope we will have this problem licked, but in the meantime you and your children, I and my children will have to live with the common cold.

Four Flower Arrangements Are Discussed

The La Petite Maison Garden Club was held Friday morning in the home of Mrs. Bill McCain on Glenmar with Mrs. A. H. Jelks as co-hostess.

Four members brought flower arrangements for Mrs. John Lewis to comment on and discuss.

It was decided to have a Christmas workshop at the December meeting.

Following the program, refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames High, Amos Smelser, Sylvester Breard, E. T. Heard Jr., Renaud Breard, Doyle Hamilton, H. L. Breard, Malcolm Smith, Robert Easterling, Robert Smith, John Stoddard, Carey Thompson, Charles Wilds, Walter Ernst, Jack Murphy, V. O. Smith, Lewis Breard, Ben Johnston, Samuel Savaso, and Curtis Cookmums in a black lacquered oblong container.

A black rectangular container was used by Mrs. Joe Adams to make a triangle design of hydrangea foliage with three large orange marigolds at the base.

Mrs. H. W. Shepard used red floribunda roses with ivy to make a crescent design in a black oval shaped container.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Shepard. Members present were Mrs. B. L. Talton, Mrs. Travis Davis, Mrs. Rasberry, Mrs. Shepard, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Whitlock, Mrs. Neil Butler and Mrs. Joe Adams.

LONG NECK

If your neck is too long, wear your hair long and slightly fluffy. If your neck is short, it's a better idea to wear the hair short.

TALL GIRLS

Tall girls should use medium heels instead of flat heels. The taller heel looks dressier and fatters the legs.

Ashley Leads Ark. Totals In Deer Kills

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Game Warden Erby Byrd of Hamburg has reported that Ashley County apparently continues to lead the State in number of deer killed for the first half of Arkansas' split hunting season that ended yesterday.

As of Wednesday night, when the last tabulation was made, 200 bucks had been killed in the County, somewhat better than last year's record at the same time.

Byrd guessed that as many as 350 deer may have been killed this year, compared to last year's record kill of 300.

For a number of years, Ashley County has led the rest of the State in number of deer killed. The reason for this is that the county has 400,000 acres of forest, with 27,000 acres of game preserve providing a constant supply of game of all sorts.

The Hammond Smith camp on Highway 8 North of Hamburg led the kill for the week with 18 buck deer. The Water Holland camp South of the game preserve was in second place with 16 bucks killed.

There were no hunting accidents in the county. According to warden Byrd, this accidentless record has stood for a number of years.

A West Monroe man, the Rev. A. T. Langston, observed his 30th year to attend the Barnes Camp near Mist, Ark., East of Hamburg. He and another man, Ernest Franklin, are the only two honorary members of the camp, with due-free hunting priviliges.

There were over 100 camps set up in the woods, most of them with permits granted by the Crossett Company for hunting in the Crossett Forest. The Company grants permits only to residents of Ashley County, Arkansas. However, holder of the permits may invite guests from other Counties and states to hunt on the land.

The second period of Arknsas' split deer season will open Monday, December 14.

Pinata Theme Is Ideal For Xmas Parties

Here's a wonderfully exciting idea to be used as the theme for a children's Christmas party . . . or as a part of the traditional party.

The idea—admittedly, is an old one, and not only that, it is borrowed from our Latin neighbors—it's the pinata party.

At Christmas time in Latin American countries, a brightly painted earthenware jar, called an olla, is bought in the market place and taken home to be decorated. It is filled with sweets and hung in a doorway. It was then called a pinata.

Children were blindfolded and given a stick. While the older folks watched, each child was given a chance to try to break open the pinata.

Prisoner Gives Birth To Boy

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A prisoner whose pregnancy led to the firing of three sheriff's deputies gave birth to a boy Saturday.

Lela Fay Fleck, 22, bore a 6-pound, 13½-ounce boy at City Hospital. She and the child were both doing well, the hospital said.

The baby is expected to be placed with adopted parents while its mother goes back to prison to complete a one- to five-year term for robbery.

The three deputies were fired earlier this week after they were accused of being intimate with two women prisoners in the county jail. The investigation of the alleged intimacies began with the disclosure of Mrs. Fleck's pregnancy.

Sheriff M. A. Hinds said Mrs. Fleck who became pregnant while an inmate of the jail last February, was not directly involved in the discharge of the deputies. He said a separate investigation of the Fleck case was still under way and that more deputies may get the ax.

Roadblocks Set Up For Suspect, 21

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) —Tord Ove Zeppen-Field fled to Yuma, Ariz., by bus after the slaying of a Hollywood divorcee and was believed hiding Friday on a ranch or farm near the Arizona city, detectives disclosed.

The Arizona highway patrol has established roadblocks in the Yuma area and has joined with the FBI and local authorities in attempts to find the 21-year-old Swedish-born, would-be cowboy. The discovery that Zeppen-Field bought a bus ticket to Yuma early Monday morning came after police reported finding blood stains on the car belonging to Zeppen-Field's mother.

Yuma is located near the Arizona-California stote line, about 170 miles east of here. Edgar Hughes, a Greyhound bus ticket salesman, said he recognized a picture of Zeppen-Field in the Palm Springs Desert Sun as that of a young man who bought a ticket about 2 a.m. Monday—almost 24 hours after the body of Lillian Lenorak was discovered here.

Officers were believed also working on the possibility Zeppen-Field might try to cross the border into Mexico from Yuma, although they discounted it for the time being.

The search otherwise had been fruitless.

One tip lead to a dead end. Friends of Zeppen-Field, who always has desired to be a cowboy, suggested he might have gone to Chino Canyon on the northern limits of Palm Springs near Mt. San Jacinto. He often went there in the past to hunt for wild horses.

But a jeep posse found no trace of Zeppen-Field, who was wearing cowboy boots and levi trousers and a jacket when last seen at Indio, Calif., late Sunday.

More evidence linking Zeppen-Field to the death of Mrs. Lillian Lanorak, a Hollywood divorcee, was revealed Friday by police. A car belonging to the young man's mother, Mrs. Vega Zeppen-Field, an attractive former olympic swimming champion, was examined and found to have blood stains both on the exterior and interior.

County laboratory technician Ed Miller said a fingernail missing from the dead woman's hand was discovered in the car. Blood stains were found on the fenders and door and the upholstery at the bottom of the back seat.

Thursday, Brown reported discovery of an 18-inch sawed-off shot gun believed used to bludgeon Mrs. Lanorak. The "death weapon" was found between the mattress and frame of the bed in Zeppen-Field's room.

The body of Mrs. Lenorak, 42, was found on the outskirts of Palm Springs early Sunday morning. Six hours before, Dr. Frank A. Back, president of Zoomar Inc., of Hollywood, let her out of his car two blocks from the Zeppen-Field home after an argument.

The body of the woman was not identified until Tuesday, after Back read about the case in the papers. Her face had been struck four times with a blunt instrument, an autopsy report said.

New Attack Planned On Delinquency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The capital's chief juvenile inspector is pressing for a "school for the parents of delinquent children" to help in getting young criminals back on the right path.

This family plan of dealing with juvenile delinquency is the first step toward adoption of a much disputed "parental responsibility law," which would hold parents directly responsible for the criminal actions of their children.

Inspector John E. Winters, a veteran of 28 years on the capital police force and chief of its juvenile division for five years, has put the plan before the district commission, which governs Washington, D. C.

"It's about time we dealt with the root of the problem," Winters said in an interview.

"In most juvenile cases, there is something wrong with the 'togetherness' of the family" he said. "The school would be used to cope with cases where the delinquency of minors is a result of parental neglect."

Winters said the problem stemmed from parents "letting children do as they please instead of giving them guidance, old fashioned discipline and love."

He blamed modern theories of "not suppressing children," and "lack of communication in the family because of television," as causes for breakdowns in family togetherness.

Winters said the proposed parents school would be modeled after the traffic schools held by the many police departments for traffic violators. Parents of delinquents "whose neglect is obviously the cause of the kids going bad" would instructed by juvenile courts to attend the school.

"We would try to show them how to cope with problem children, and what their responsibilities are as parents," Winters said. "But we need a big stick to hold over parents' heads. The parental responsibility law is the answer."

This law has been called unfair because parents would be sent to jail for crimes committed by their children, he said. But if parents knew jail was facing them "they'd soon start keeping their children under closer supervision."

"After giving parents the opportunity of attending the school," he said, "if their children continued to violate the law because of neglect, then we'd take punitive action and send the parents to jail.

"It's about time we did something about youngsters, some just 10 and 11-years-old, roaming the streets getting into trouble."

ON DIVIDENDS, INTEREST

IRS To Enforce Tax Collection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is launching a campaign to get people to pay taxes on income from dividends and interest. Tougher enforcement is part of it.

Treasury figures indicate that the government loses roughly a billion dollars a year — and possibly more -- because millions of Americans fail to report interest and dividends on their tax returns.

The Internal Revenue Service is launching a big educational drive to get them to pay up.

As a starter, corporations, banks, savings associations and other firms paying dividends or interest have been invited to help by sending shareholder and depositors individual year-end statements of earnings.

The revenue service calls the drive "educational." But a spokesman said tax agents would back up the campaign by scrutinizing returns more carefully for unreported interest or dividend income.

The agency is not sending any "crackdown" directive to its 64 district offices. But agents are sensitive to Washington shifts in emphasis, and veteran tax officials believe that one of their best "educational" devices is public word that the tax men are cracking down.

Officials said one reason many people don't report dividends and interest is that they do not know they should. To help spread the word, the revenue service is preparing television and radio announcements. They will be broadcast starting Jan. 1.

TV cartoon film strips and radio plugs cost IRS about $5,000 to make. Some 60 big TV stations and many smaller outlets throughout the country have agreed to broadcast them without charge.

The tax collector also will bring dividend and interest income to taxpayers' attention by changes in the wording on the standard tax return forms and by including more elaborate instructions in the 60,815,000 tax forms that go out in January.

In another move, many corporations are expected to tuck a printed reminder of the recipient's tax liability in with fourth-quarter or year-end dividend checks.

But few corporations are likely to heed a Treasury appeal that they send out statements at the end of the year totaling up how much each stockholder received.

The Treasury made the appeal to influential industry groups, including the New York and American Stock Exchanges' lawyers, accountants and associations of corporate comptrollers and secretaries. Most were communicated with in the past few weeks.

Because of this relatively late start, officials doubt that many firms will be able to send out the annual statements this year. But they hope the campaign will continue to build up steam through 1960 and reap a much richer harvest in 1961.

Treasury Undersecretary Fred C. Scribner Jr., has outlined the list of revenue in recent speeches. He estimated that in 1956 more than three billion dollars of interest income and $1,400,000,000 of dividends went unreported.

Considerable dividend income is not taxable because the first $50 of dividends is tax free. Nevertheless, allowing for income rises since 1956, reliable unofficial estimates are that the lost taxes total about one billion dollars a year.

The Treasury hopes that corporations will help push the voluntary reporting of dividends and interest to stave off compulsory withholding. The latter would mean a great deal of extra work and expense for firms, especially for small savings institutions with many depositors.

Highway Work Set In Catahoula

JONESVILLE, (Special) — Proposals for the bituminous hot mix surfacing of two state highways in Catahoula parish will be received by the State Department of highways on November 18 according to Rep. W. S. Peck Jr.

The proposals call for the bitumuonus hot mix overlay of 12.6 miles of the Jonesville-Archie Highway No. 84 and the hot mix overlay for 6.87 miles on the Harrisonburg-Sicily Island Highway No. 8. The contract would call for overlaying the present roadbed with the bitumnous hot mix.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Garden Club Show Is Tops

By MARY JARDINE

By CARRIE McKENZIE
Guest Writer

The Green Thumb Garden Club of Ruston exhibited lovely fall arrangements. Each arrangement rated a blue ribbon.

The materials these talented ladies used were those easily available to all of us. It was the skill with which they used the material which gave distinction to their designs. This is one of the joys of flower arranging to create beauty from the things around us.

GREEN BOWL

Mrs. John L. Mathew placed first with a clever and original design in which she used commonplace materials, cane, daylily, foliage, small mums and grapes. A green bowl, contemporary in feeling was used on a handmade mat of native green cane. The vertical background placements were cane and curled daylily leaves. The secondary placements were small yellow mums accented by large ones. Placed low and over lip of the bowl were green grapes. Mrs. Mathew used magnolia leaves to give weight and depth to her arrangements.

Mrs. Mary Bains and Mrs. Earl Puddy tied for second place.

Mrs. Puddy made clever use of Turk's head squash as a container for an arrangement which reflected the beauty of fall. The vertical line was created with sanseveria. Yellow mums which graduated to large ones gave rhythm of design to the secondary placements. Yellow and orange pyracantha berries were used as a focal point to relate the design to the container.

Mrs. Bain's arrangement of bright yellow and orange mums in a grey - green footed vase would make a lovely fall arrangement for a church. The design was a modified Hogarth curve. The first placement was canna leaves. To create the curve, small yellow and orange ones were used. Large grey - green ivy leaves added weight and depth which completed the curve.

In horticulture, Mrs. Puddy exhibited a beautiful varigated Daikagura camellia. Mrs. Johnnie Gay exhibited a feather - type celosia of unusual rose-red coloring.

Thanksgiving Suggestions: If you are having a large group for dinner and need a long tablecloth — seventy - two inch dark green Indianhead or burlap makes an effective cloth and can be used at Christmas.

Pods and cones gathered now can be used for Thanksgiving and sprayed for Christmas.

Our woods and roadsides offer many nature - dried materials now — grasses, vines, seeds, flower heads, berries and all size pine cones.

Fall Cleanup Suggested For Tool Sheds

By NORMA GAUHN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

For a pleasant glow about a job well done, make this clean up the garden shed week.

It's a dirty but rewarding task. For there's no greater incentive for an early springtime start on gardening than a line of cleaned, oiled tools and neatly stacked equipment.

First, make sure you've finished outside work such as winterizing roses, evergreens and other perennials. That means pruning dead growth or long canes; adequate watering before the ground hardens and a protective mulch afterwards.

When hilling up soil around your roses, better do it with dirt from other parts of the garden. Othewise you may be pulling soil from the root area where it's needed for winter cover.

If you plan to force spring bulbs, put them in pots and bury them in soil where they can be dug up and brought inside around New Year's. Dig up dahlia tubers, begonias and other summer bulbs for a week's drying before storing.

And now for the garden shed. If you didn't clean the power mower after the final autumn grass mowing, get busy and drain the fuel; scrape off hardened cuttings; tighten up loose parts; put on a dust cover.

Your hand tools — trowels, spade, pitchfork, cultivators — should be cleaned of mud and rust. Then apply a light protective coat of oil, using old mower oil or light machine oil.

Throw away leftover seeds — they should be fresh in the springtime to insure germination. Scrub and sort flower ports and seed flats; organize your fertilizer, insecticides, dusting powders so you can see at a glance what needs ordering at planting time.

Then comes the pleasant part — assembling potting material for indoor winter gardening. You'll need top soil, humus, charcoat, lime, bone meal and containers.

If you haven't yet succumbed to the lure of bringing the outdoors indoors, a visit to a plant store should convince you that now is the time to try.

There are literally hundreds of rewarding plants for indoor growing; the chief problem is to pick out the best one for your decorative purposes depending on available light and heat.

Philodendrons are the most widely sold house plants, coming in both vine and potted types. They need a warm, humid atmosphere with north or west light.

If you have a sunny, warm room try a schefflera, rubber plant or cactus; for a cool room with an east exposure, try fatsia or ivy.

Hybrid gloxinias are an effective flowering plant and do well in heated homes, provided humidity is high enough. They also need several hours of strong daylight.

For proper humidity, place plants in large shallow metal trays spread evenly with vermiculite, sphagnum moss or pebbles. Keep this material damp—not soggy — and moisture will evaporate into the air around plants.

THE HOME SHIFT

Sassafras For Color Splash

By MILDRED SWIFT

There are so many gardeners worrying about saving seed from the imperial candle tree. The seed just do not mature in this climate. Our summer is not long enough. Even if you saved the seed, they'd need to be planted in the hot house in February so they'd get a good growth by the time you'd put them out in the yard in April, or May. This is strictly a hot weather plant. Just be satisfied to buy you several plants each year. They're not expensive and give so much pleasure the two months they bloom.

SASSAFRAS TREE

I'm indebted to a very nice person for the information on the sassafras tree. She did not give her name or address. So let me say here, "Thank you." I'm quoting the following from the clipping she sent; "If neighbors say its difficult to inject fall color into your landscape, you can exclaim, Oh, sassafras!".

This is a tree considered a weed by many, which needn't hide its light — in an assortment of vivid hues — on the waste lands, where it usually grows.

M. J. Hooper, field representative of a tree expert firm says the sassafras is a technicolor delight and a useful decoration on the home grounds. While it is sometimes difficult to transplant, once established it will thrive in the poorest of soils. It is well worth the effort to try one or more.

The sassafras offers variety not only in it spectacular fall coloring — ranging from greens through shades of yellow and orange liberally splashed with red and scarlet — but in the shapes of its leaves. Foliage may be elliptical or mitten shaped. Three or four distinct kinds of leaves may be found on a single tree.

American pioneers not only drank in its chromatic beauty, but sipped sassafras tea concocted from its aromatic roots as well. If any of you have a sassafras tree in your yard, call and give us your address. And — let's have some sassafras tea. I love it!

REMINDERS

Some have already planted tulips. It's rather warm for these bulbs to be in the ground. Buy them, yes, but put them on the bottom shelf of your refrigerator until December. Tulips need a much colder climate than we have here, so by keeping them chilled for a while, we acclimate them to our area. Don't depend on tulips coming up again next year. Nor — can you save the bulbs if you dig them. They're worth the money for one year's bloom.

Put out your pansy and calendula plants. Both will stand lots of cold weather.

I see a few violets in bloom. The flower arrangers say before tying these in bunches for your arrangements or corsages, submerge them in water, over night, with the blossom in the water. These will stay fresh much longer.

Clean off your garden tools and shellac these before putting them up for the winter.

The ginkgo tree should be out in all its golden glory today, in the Layton garden, 1133 South Grand St.

The dogwoods are turning a lovely fall color, too. I even think the yellow of the red bud foliage adds to the fall picture. Of course the sweet gums and maples are beautiful, too, at this time.

New gardeners — be careful about studying catalogues from northern areas. Their weather conditions are different from ours so their recommendations can mislead you. Get your information and your plants at home.

When using peat moss as the humus in the soil, remember it has been dehydrated. It will absorb many times its weight in water. Be sure that this peat is thoroughly wet down, or it will rob the plant of needed moisture which could be fatal.

Woody plans are going into dormancy which means you can transplant these. Try to make your plant happy by giving it the same conditions it enjoyed before moving. Some plants like sunshine, some like shade. They all want good drainage which means going deep to break up the "hard pan." We'll talk more about transplanting later next month.

HINTS

When winter clothes and heavy blankets come out of the moth balls,, you'll find little girls skirt hems need to come down. Instead of vainly trying to press out the old hemline, which is nearly impossible to do, why not cover it up with several rows of bias tape or ric rac? This can be repeated on the sleeves and collar.

Here's something for the boys. Sew those buttons on with dental floss and they'll never come off! Or — if you prefer, use elasticized thread.

Certain hair - dos will help you overcome flaws in your appearance, according to the hair stylists. If your neck is too long, wear your hair long and slightly fluffy. If your neck is short, it's better to wear the hair short.

The little fingers of your children will be able to zip galoshes and boots more easily if a small notebook ring is attached in each zipper pull.

A nylon hair net is a good thing to slip over a feather hat when you're storing it. It keeps the feathers from getting ruffled.

Put a large cork on the tip of each knitting needle when you stop for the day — it will keep the work from unraveling.

Use your brain and save on brawn when washing the broiler pan of your gas range. Sprinkle a layer of detergent over the hot pan and cover with wet paper towels or old newspapers. Let it stand while you eat. When you're ready to wash dishes, the grease will wash off easily.

New skillets and griddles will perform more efficiently if properly seasoned before using. Scour the utensils first with soap and steel wool. Wash thoroughly in hot suds, rinse and dry well. Brush the surface with unsalted fat or salad oil and heat slowly until very hot. Renew the oil coating after 10 minutes and continue to heat again. Turn out the flame and let the utensil cool. Wash in sudsy water, rinse and dry thoroughly.

BEAUTY HINT

A famous make - up expert says use honey for a facial. Pat it around your eyes, massage it into the skin. Press your fingers on your face and pull them away briskly from the stickiness. Work it for about 10 or 15 minutes. When the honey is taut and looks stiff, remove it. Wipe your face with a towel which has been dipped in ice water.

If you think hair dying is more or less new, let me remind you that historians say that Egyptian women as far back as 3,200 B.C. were old hands at the art. Recently remains of mummies were discovered in tombs in Cairo with hair dyed golden yellow and fiery red!

The new look in men's suits this fall stems from an Italian style concept. The jacket is more shaped and fitted at the waist and somewhat shorter; there's a cutaway front, two button closing and trousers that are tapered and cuffless. That's the new look in men's clothes for winter.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday a specialist from LSU extension will show us "Trees in the Landscape Picture" Tuesday, Mrs. Ethel Fuller will landscape the west side of the garden; Wednesday, Mrs. Jardine and flower arrangements; Thursday, home economists from a milk company will bring you some of her fine recipes; Friday, marketing with Mildred.

See you next Sunday.

STAMPS

To commemorate the South African National Antarctic Expedition which leaves Cape Town on Nov. 28, the South African Postal Department will issue a specially designed 3-pence stamp on Nov. 16.

The main design features a globe tilted at such an angle as to show South Africa in outline and the South Polar region. A dotted line stretching from Cape Town to the area concerned indicates the approximate route to the base. The letters "SANAE" in the lower portion are the initials of South African National Antarctic Expedition. The wording on each stamp is in English and Afrikaans.

The Israel Philatelic Agency in America reports that a new currency ordinance will prove a boon to collectors of Israeli stamps. The Israeli pound will consist of 100 agorots rather than 1,000 prutots. All future values on Israeli stamps will be printed in agorots rather than prutots.

In recent years the value of Israeli stamps has been declining to such an extent that collectors were selling their stamps well below face value.

Now, with the new currency in effect, collectors who have a surplus of Israeli stamps will be able to exchange their excess stock for new issues at face value and not lose any money.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that the 4-cent Ephraim McDowell "Fomous American" postage stamp will be placed on first day sale at Danville, Ky., on Dec. 3, 1960, to coincide with the McDowell centennial celebration being planned locally. The stamp had originally been announced for issuance on Dec. 30, 1960.

The United Nations Postal Administration announced the procedure for obtaining first day covers for the World Refugee Year stamps scheduled for Dec. 10 of this year. The 4 center is red and olive gold. The 8 center is blue and olive gold. The 1959 Y. issue replaces the Human Rights Day stamps which have been issued annually since 1952.

Collectors should send their envelopes to the UN Postal Administration, United Nations, N. Y., together with remittance.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

'Ideal Soil' Ratios Given

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The soil in your flower beds and in the beds where you grow seedlings ought to be as near the "ideal soil" as you can make it. Otherwise, planting, transplanting and seed sowing never will be a pleasure.

When soil has the right proportions of humus, clay and coarse sand, you can dig into it at any time, wet or dry. Perennials, annuals and bulbs that arrive from the nursery or from a friend can be set out immediately, and transplanting can be done whenever you choose.

RATIOS

There has always been an "ideal soil" in gardeners' minds. It is composed, roughly, of one third each of clay, sand and humus. Most of us do not have such dirt to work in, but we can change what we already have into something near this traditional formula. Heavy clay needs coarse sand. Soil that is almost pure sand needs clay, and decayed vegetable matter or humus has to be continually worked into any kind of soil.

Sand is necessary in good topsoil to let the air pass through. Every time it rains, the water passes down through the soil and then sucks in air behind it. If your soil is all clay, the water runs off, and no air can penetrate the fine texture of the dirt. When coarse sand is thoroughly mixed with clay, it holds the fine particles apart and prevents them from ever becoming a sticky mess again.

Dead vegetable matter or humus is the home of untold numbers of bacteria and other microorganisms. They feed on it and break it down into plant food. At the same time, each tiny particle of humus acts as a water reservoir. When it rains, after a drought, the humus swells up with water and holds on to it. The roots of plants then suck it up as they need it, and along with water, they also get their plant food in the form they can use.

We still do not know very much about the relationship of plants to the many micro - organisms in soil. We do know that plants in the heath family depend upon lower organisms that grow in slightly acid humus for part of the food. Azaleas, rhododendrons, heathers and many other plants in this group do not get their food like corn and beans. They must have their helpers in the humus or they will not survive. Some of our other ornamental plants are hard to transplant unless some of the soil and humus they are growing in is taken along to the new location. Perhaps their helpers have to go along with them if they are to survive. Especially in transplanting wild flowers from the woods, you should always bring in to the garden some of the soil in which the plants were found growing.

Top Economists To Meet In Jackson, Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Twenty of the nation's top economists will be in Jackson Dec. 8-9 to discuss expansion of the Mississippi Economy.

Dr. W. Paul Brann, director of the Mississippi research center, said this economic conference is aimed at raising questions at which state leaders should be looking.

"Underdevelopment results in overpopulation in agriculture and we need guidelines to trigger economic growth in Mississippi," Dr. Brann said.

Specific areas to be covered are income, barriers to growth, role of state government in economic development, foreign trade through Mississippi ports, national economy and how it affects Mississippi agriculture, manufacturing and market.

Conference speakers will include Dr. Alfred C. Neal; president of the Committee for Economic Development, New York; Joseph Fisher, president of resources for the Future, Washington; Robert C. Turner, professor of business economics at Indiana University; and Robert French, director of the port of New Orleans.

Garden Tools Deserve Care

By AUDREY DAWSON

Our garden equipment proves to be an expensive item around homes today and really deserve more care than some of us give them. This equipment should have some special care before storing for winter. For instance, sprayers should be washed carefully to remove spray residue and the tank and other metal parts should be coated with a thin covering of oil and placed in a dry place — better still is to hang it. Dusters should be brushed clean with a stiff brush, being careful not to get any moisture inside. After garden tools are used for the last time be sure to clean off dirt and rust — sharpen blades and coat the metal parts with oil and the wooden parts with linseed oil. You will be surprised how quickly and easily you can get to those spring gardening jobs next year if your equipment is ready.

Don't forget those leftover chemicals. Label each one carefully and store out of reach of children and pets.

To get a sharp cut through meringue pie, butter the knife you use.

When changing screen windows rub paste wax on the edges and they won't stick.

To keep narrow hair ribbons handy, cover towel bar with velvet and hang near dressing table. Velvet will not let them slip off rod.

To mail coin in envelope slit a matchbook cover.

Last year 10 million people in the U. S. wasted money on dietary fads. If you want to lose weight, see your doctor — save both your health and your money.

JEANS

The most popular item of clothing for boys and girls today is probably blue jeans. Although jeans are considered a standardized garment, they still offer enough difference in style, construction, price and other qualities for mothers to have a choice in buying.

Jeans on the market of either standard or western levi cut, the fabrics vary from light weight to heavy denim. They come in several colors besides the deep tone blue and faded blue. Style, fit, comfort and durability are considered in buying blue jeans. Shrinking and fading or bleeding of color in washing are the two most common problems in caring for jeans.

GIVE THANKS

The world is not perfect but here are some reasons that we here in America should be especially thankful, not only at this season of the year but through all the year. We should be thankful that 174,546,321 Americans are not Communists, that 38,435,329 couples will stay happily married this year; that 27,564,497 teen agers are not delinquents; 64,437,621 persons are getting regular pay checks and that 34,542,876 school children are learning to read, write and spell.

WEIGHT WATCHERS

It is good sense to cut down on calories by eating more low calorie fruits and vegetables and less fat and sweets. It is also sensible to increase your activity in order to keep your weight down. Dr. Ancel Keys of the University of Minnesota says, "Careful studies of the habitual diets of fat people show that in most cases the food intake is not really very large. The trouble is often mainly on the energy expenditure side, too little physical activity to burn up a normal diet." You will feel better, emotionally and physically if you get some exercise than if you try to do the whole reducing job by diet alone. "Exercise" says a committee of the American Medical Association is one of the important factors contributing to total fitness.

COUNCIL MEETING

All Home Demonstration Council members remember the date of your meeting has been changed to November 20. Invite the members from your club to come with you. One of the 24 clubs will be recognized for the best work performed during the past year and will receive a silver coffee service as an award. Mrs. A. T. Stout, one of our past presidents will install the new council officers.

A THOUGHT — No nation, no people have ever had so much to be thankful for as we in America.

Court Ruling

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Indiana Appellate Court Friday ruled against the city of Angola and for the happiness of Hoosier dogdom.

Angola officials had sought an injunction against Charles and Esther Hulbert on grounds that a post supporting a sign at the Hulbert's service station was less than 10 feet from the curb.

But the circuit court ruled against the city and the case was taken to the appellate court.

The high court said the city had insufficient evidence to justify a reversal of the lower court ruling.

"Thinking of the far - reaching effect and general havoc that a ruling by this court might have upon the welfare and happiness of the canine population of our state, because of their natural inclinations when turned outdoors," the court said, "we have arranged this case with due and careful consideration."

"We cannot be swayed in our opinion by the particular desires of man's best friend," the unanimous opinion said, "but must determine this matter on the brutal and unfeeling basis of a legal interpretation."

MUSIC WORLD

By DELOS SMITH
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Probably there will never be consistent realism on the American opratic stage. American operatic audiences don't get it. When an operatic lady gets kicked in the pants most properly, they're not pleased. But when an operatic lady brushes her hair out of her face most inappropriately, they don't notice.

These incidents highlight the discouraging drawbacks on Manager Rudolf Bing's unremitting efforts to give the operas at the Metropolitan Opera at least as much theatrical reality as you'll find in the average movie. Opera is drama floated on music, remember; at least that is the theory. Bing has improved the dramatic acting standards at the Met enormously.

This season he offers a brilliant new production of one of the finest and most credible of operas, Mozart's "The Marriage of Gigaro." Therin occurs the pants-kicking. Lovely little Mildred Miller is playing the part of an adolescent male with a high nuisance value to older males.

DISLIKE PANTS-KICKING

Actresses in male clothing incur male hazards, and such was Miss Miller's lot in an opera which was acted out to the hilt. But the incident of the pants-kicking is likely to be dropped as the season advances. There was a definite audience disapproval. "Vulgar" was the mildest of the critical characterizations.

The hair-brushing was that of Giuletta Simionato who is new at the Met and who has a contralto voice of such richness it penetrates to the marrow.

She was playing one of the principal characters in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" which the Met this season has restored to its full power by producing it as a musical drama in which the actors really act.

BRUSH BREAKS SPELL

As the Gypsy Azucena she is dragged out onto the stage by a bunch of rough-neck soldiers who intend burning her at the stake as a witch. Understandably, the soldiers have bound her arms behind her back. Miss Simionato is commenting songfully on the situation in the most gorgeous tones when she takes one hand from behind her and brushes hair from her face. The illusion is broken.

She is not a gypsy en route to the stake at all, but an eminent prima donna respectfully and kindly treated by other opera singers.

Another case on this point, is the character of that well-known opera character, Carmen. The composer himself, Georges Bizet, said she was a vicious (although fascinating) creature who richly deserved her terminal fate of being stabbed by one of the men she ruined.

Rise Stevens has played Carmen that way season after season, but this season's first Carmen was played by Jean Madeira who made her a poor misunderstood little golden-heart, more sinned against than sinning. Thus one of the most realistic operas is converted into one of the more fantastic.

VIDAL SWITCHES STYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Gore Vidal is switching his playwriting attention from comedy to political drama.

The author of "A Visit to a Small Planet," is at work on 'The Best Man," the plot of which centers upon a national party convention.

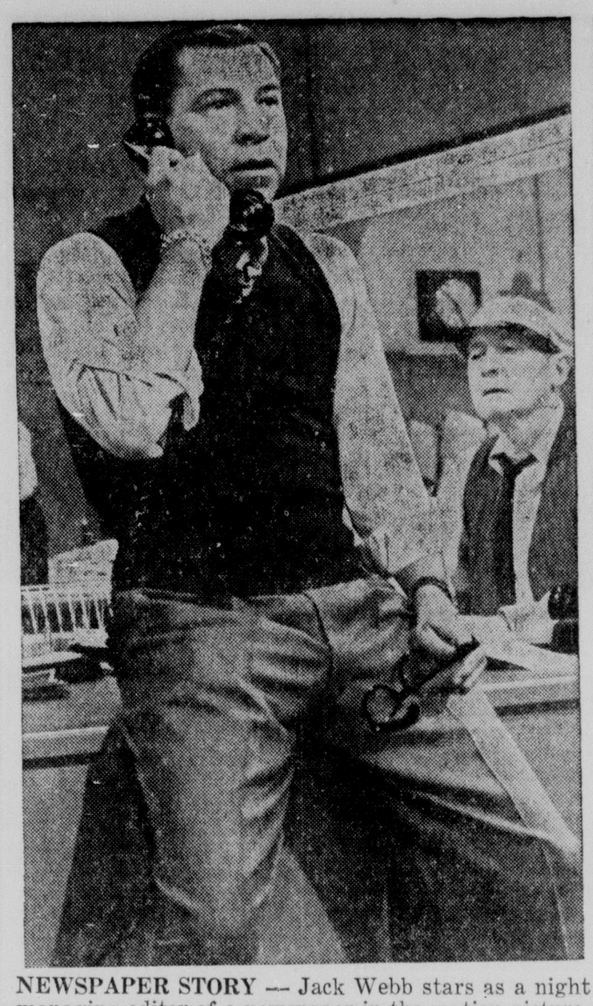
EWELL WILL STAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Ewell has signed to appear in a Broadway drama derived from the works of James Thurber.

Entitled "Thurber Country," the production is to include readings from and dramatizations of the author's droll narratives and fables. Burgess Meredith is to direct the venture for producers Michael Davis, Helen Bonfils and Haila Stoddard.

STAR — Pat Owens, cast as one of the nurses turned soldier, is in the exciting film "Five Gates to Hell", now showing at the Paramount Theatre.



NEWSPAPER STORY — Jack Webb stars as a night managing editor of a newspaper in the motion picture, "-30-" which costars David Nelson and William Conrad coming Thursday to the Paramount.

Science And You

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. atomic project has given away enough once closely-guarded secrets to enable any country or corporation with the necessary resources to embark on power and other peacetime nuclear projects.

But, says Charles L. Marshall, "I would hope that we have not declassified enough information for others to make weapons with what they learned from us."

Marshall is director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Division of Classification. He and his associates are constantly going over data still classified secret to see what further information can be made available to industry and to the Atoms - For-Peace program without jeopardizing U. S. security.

There was a time less than a decade and a half ago when it would have been a criminal offense for any person in the atomic project even to reveal its existence.

The world Atoms-For - Peace program and the growth of industrial participation in nuclear power development have changed all that.

Marshall estimates that well over half of all the informaton amassed by the atomic project is now available to anyone who takes the trouble to look it up.

Information still secret includes data on manufacture of weapons, atomic power plants for warships, aircraft, rockets, and ramjets; production of atomic fuels and explosives and explosive devices to be used in otherwise non-secret peacetime projects for digging harbors and performing other work with nuclear blasts.

Even in these categories, however, some information has been released. Two basic approaches to weapon-making, the so - called gun barrel and implosion bomb types, have been described in some detail.

An, of course, many military secrets are being shared with America's allies, notably Great Britain. But they remain secrets in the sense that they are being withheld from the world generally.

Information obtained in development of submarine engines has to a large extent been freed for use in civilian power development. Similarly, data acquired in the design and operation of reactors for production of plutonium have contributed to private power development.

Meanwhile, everything this country knows and is doing in the field of thermonuclear fusion research to harness H-bomb reactions for power has been thrown open to the world.

In the field of atomic fisson reactors, everything has been released for civilian power development except details bearing on plutonium production and military propulsion.

All the AEC knows about the distribution and heaith aspects of bomb fallout is being made public.

Still "very closely-held," however, is information on the gaseous diffusion process for separating fissionable uranium-235 from uranium-238. The giant gaseous diffusion plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Portsmouth, Ohio, and Paducah, Ky., like the plutonium plants at Hanford, Wash., and Savannah River, S.C., are still out of bounds to kibitzers.

In view of Russia's possession of nuclear weapons, why not declassify U.S. information on the military atom? There are two main reasons, according to Marshall.

In the first place, "We have better weapons than the Russians,'" and this country does not want nuclear weaponeering to spread any further than it has among the nations of the world.

LITTLE THEATRE

Rehearsals of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" are progressing splendidly with the final casting of the play. Paul Goldman has been chosen to play the part of Lt. Greenwald and Claude Fuller will play the part of Lt. Challee. These parts are very arduous and Ivan has done well to cast them so expertly. Other members of the cast are: Rufus Bruce (last seen in Pajama Game) who plays the part of Commander Queg; Val Ringo, who plays Captain Blakely; Frank Wilder takes the part of Lt. Steve Maryk; Bill Cody plays the part of Lt. Willie Keith, while V. P. Dalrymple plays the part of Dr. Bird. Craig Campbell is cast for the part of Dr. Lundren and Ed Anders as Captain Southard. Lamar Mullican has the role of Lt Keefer and the two Judge Advocates are played by Mr. Kenny and Joe Coster. Ivan needs five more men for non - speaking parts and he still needs Navy uniforms. Please help him.

The opera "Rigoletti" shown in Ruston last Monday night attracted a large crowd from Monroe. Some members of Little Theatre seen in the audience were Sophie Laudenheimer, Mrs. Myrtle Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cretney, John Henry Vaughan and Henry Haas Jr., Robert Rue and Marguerite Gignac gave a colorful performance and everyone was loud in praise of the presentation.

Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn is spending a month in New York, visiting friends and attending performances at the Metropolitan.

News comes from L. S. U. that Joan Magruder has been chosen to play the lead in "Cricible." This is indeed an honor and Little Theater is proud of her. Several members of Little Theatre have been ill and we hope that they have a speedy recovery.

Everyone is looking forward to seeing "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." When it opened on Broadway, the critics were loud with praise. The New York Times hailed it's craftsmanship as more artful than the book. Also generous with praise were critics from the New York Herald Tribune, World Telegram and Sun and the Mirror. This play reveals the court martial proceedings against a young, upright lieutenant who relieved his captain of command in the midst of a harrowing typhoon on the grounds that the captain was psychopathic and in this crisis was leading the ship and it's crew to destruction. Naval tradition is against the lieutenant, but as the trial progresses, the weakness in the character of the captain is slowly revealed in a devastating picture of disintegration. This is "the modern stage at its best" and the Little Theatre is to be congratulated for bringing it to Monroe audiences.

It Happened Last Night

NEW YORK — Eddie Fisher looked so cheerful having dinner with Liz Taylor that somebody said, "What's he so happy about? He's not on TV any more." A shrewdie said, "That's why!".... The Jack Webbs and Joan Crawford saw "The Miracle-Worker," then they got little Patty Duke's autograph. "For our kids," they explained.

The payola-probers in Washington and New York will ruin about six Tin Pan Alley reputations. Kid singers'll learn they got famous not for their gittars or great voices but through payoffs, or "prices" of the their contracts and their hearts will be broken.

Jackie Gleason was pouring at a party at his Peekskill Round House (for Milton Berle, Buddy Hackett, and others) and didn't get to watch himself and Brendan Behan on "Small Wonder" when the Irish playwright appeared to be stinko. Gleason taped it a month ago. He assured me this crack "He's coming through fine here — 100 proof" was said as a joke: "I couldn't hear him very well and didn't know it if he was loaded," J. G. insisted. Gleason wants to do Behan's life story on B'way. "I want to do something dramatic and his life's certainly been dramatic," Gleason said.

One of the Wash'n. quiz witnesses — who paid celebrities to attend his parties in another city — offered Steve Allen $3,000 to come to his New Year's soiree. Steve refused. But other stars were paid $1,000 to $2,000 to be party guests — and were "booked" as such through a famous talent agency...Lynn Dalton, a Taffy Tuttle-type who used to be hostess on "The $64,000 Challenge," saw a gal on 5th Av. in the new French look and said, "She looks like she's got on shorts with a plunging neckline."

A feller named Feller — John Feller, of Forest Hills — told his son the other day: "Johnnie, you've got an exam coming up and I want you to study for it real hard — after all, this is no TV quiz!"

World-traveler Toots Shor phoned from Florence, Italy, and talked about $36 worth. "Europe isn't no different than America," he said, "except that in my store we drank booze and in the stores here they drink wine." Toots, Mrs. Shor, and Virginia Warren, dtr. of the Chief Justice, visited the Vatican twice, once to attend a special audience given by Pope John.

MISSISSIPPI OIL

New Discovery Told In Pike

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Another new oil discovery is reported from Pike County.

The Ballew et al No. 1 Holmes tested at 212 barrels of oil on a seven-hour gauge and flowed at 1,480 pounds pressure.

The wildcat is located in section 4, 3 north, 7 east, between the McComb and Summit Oil fields. It is two miles north of McComb and three south of the Summit field.

The wildcat flowed from perforations at 10,978-11,000 feet.

Southwest of the new discovery, Ballew, Elam et al are rigging up at their wildcat, the Cook-Sells Petroleum No. 1, in sec. 8-3n-7e, an 11,000-foot test.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. has abandoned its Pike County wildcat, the Lane No. 1, sec. 21-2n-7e, located seven miles south of McComb. Operators perforated and tested several zones, recovering salt water in all. The total depth was 11,482 feet.

Larco Drilling Co. is below 8,900 feet in its Yazoo County wildcat, the Gooch Lumber Co. No. 1, sec. 31-10n-4w, located near Satartia. The wildcat logged about 5 feet of oil sand at 8,783-92 feet. The venture is to go to 10,500 feet.

In Hancock County, Marshall R. Young is reported to be running electrical log in his wildcat, the Jordanacres No. 1, sec. 35-7s-15w, with reports that slight shows were noted below 10,000 feet. The hole is northwest of Bay St. Louis.

In Amite County, Larco Drilling Co. is below 10,000 feet in its important wildcat test, the Central Lumber Co. No. 1, sec. 10-4n-6e, located about 7 miles northwest of the Summit field. The venture is to go to 11,300 feet.

In the Gitano area of Jones County, Nelson Bigson is below 6,800 feet in his wildcat, the Raspberry No. 1, sec. 15-9n-13w, a scheduled 13,500 feet test. The venture is located near the Hargrave Oil Co. No. 1 Coats, sec. 9-9n-13w, which is being completed as a producer.

Lone Star Producing Co. is below 11,500 feet in its Copiah County Wildcat, the Southern Package Corp. No. 1, sec. 1, 10n-7e, northwest of Hazlehurst. Contract depth is 12,500 feet.

In Wayne County, Central Oil Co. is below 7,250 feet in its wildcat, the Hobdy-Green No. 1, sec. 13-8n-9w. The venture has logged slight shows of heavy oil at 7,384 feet, with contract depth 12,500 feet.

Field drilling during the past week saw one oiler and two gas condensate wells completed.

At Little Creek on the Pike County side, Elam et al finaled the Busby No. 2, sec. 14-4n-8e, flowing 299 barrels of oil per day from 10,754-80 feet.

In the Dexter field of Walthall County, Union Producing Co. completed its Lee No. 1, sec. 6-1n-13e, flowing 1,711,000 cubic feet of gas and 9 barrels of condensate per day. Completion was at 9,578-83 feet.

Humble Oil completed its Sandy Hook gas unit No. 1-2, sec. 13-1n-18w, in the Sany Hook field of Marion County. The well flowed 4,897,000 cubic feet of gas and 58 barrels of oil daily from 11,769-779 feet.

Abandonments:

Adams County — W. W. Heard and Petroleum Inc., Junkin No. 3, sec. 35-8n-1w (Forrest Home field) dry at 4,242 feet.

AFTER STEEL STRIKE

Business Finds Tough Sledding

NEW YORK (AP) — Business started pulling itself out of the morass of the steel strike this week but found the going tough.

The steel industry fired up long-cold furnaces and got up to an estimated 45.9 per cent of capacity. It will be a long haul before near capacity is approached.

The automobile industry actually slipped deeper into the quagmire created by steel shortage.

Retailers in strike - affected areas didn't look for much of a Christmas shopping harvest from paychecks of workers back on the job.

Virtually all of the half million striking steelworkers were expected to be back in the plants this weekend.

The biggest steelmaker, U.S. Steel Corp., said it hopes to boost production to 70 per cent of capacity next week. Industry sources predict it will be four to six weeks before mills can produce at the normal rate of about 90 per cent.

Railroads and coal mines started calling their idle men back to work at a slower pace but iron ore-carrying vessels were quick to get into service on the Great Lakes.

Automobile production remained at the depressed pace of last week—a little over 60,000 units, down nearly 50 per cent from the same week a year ago.

General Motors shut down its last assembly line, increasing its idle workers to 220,000. GM said it will be four or five weeks before there is enough steel on hand to start assembling again. But there was a bright spot in announcement that 10,000 will be called to the Ternstedt body hardware plant by Nov. 23.

Chrysler closed its first assembly line. It said its other assembly plants are scheduled to operate next week for three or four days.

Pennsylvania Railroad halted its big freight car-building program in Altoona, Pa., because steel was exhausted. This put 3,500 men out of work. Carrier Corp. will furlough 3,100 workers this month in Syracuse, N.Y.

Strike area merchants weren't optimistic about the immediate outlook. They were expecting minimum purchases from workers who have accumulated bills during the long layoff and who hope to put some money aside in case the strike resumes after the court-ordered 80-day cooling off period.

For the country as a whole, retail trade climbed two to six per cent this week over the same week a year ago.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 16,195,437 shares and was not comparable with the previous week's total because of the election day holiday when the exchange was closed. Average daily turnover, however, was 3,239,087 shares compared with 3,470,992 the prior week.

Corporate bond trading amounted to $34,326,000 par value compared with $26,153,000 the previous week and $39,806,000 a year ago.

Retail inustry leaders predicted sales in 1959 will exceed 200 billion dollars, the highest in history. They looked, too, for the biggest Christmas business ever.

Soybeans Lose Glitter After Running High

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures lost some of their glitter this week on the Board of Trade after running up to new high prices for the season. At those levels, many dealers decided the time had come to cash in. They did and prices steadily retreated.

For the week, they declined as much as three cents a bushel while the grains were mostly steady to strong.

Both wheat and oats also hit new season peaks during the week and still were near the tops at the close. Corn, carrying good gains from last week, also encountered profit taking from time to time and ended in a narrowly mixed range along with rye.

The selling of soybeans appeared to have been touched off by the government's November crop report which estimated the 1959 yield at about 528½ million bushels, down only 1 ½ million from the October figure which many brokers expected to be cut fairly sharply.

Wheat and oats derived their support principally from the prospect for an expanded report business. Wheat sales by producers into commercial channels continued at little more than a dribble most of the time and there were reports that stocks of the red variety at eastern points were dwindling.

A good flour mill demand which popped open suddenly Friday accounted for a good part of the wheat advances.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1-2¾ cents a bushel higher, December $2.02¾-½; corn ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, December $1.12¾-⅞; oats ⅜-2⅜ higher, December 78¾; rye ● higher to ⅞ lower, December !1.34⅛-¼; soybeans 1¾-3 cents lower, November $2.21⅜-¼.

Rites Scheduled For Miss Downs

Funeral services will be held Monday for Miss Nora Downs, 75, of Monroe, who dies in a St. Louis hospital Saturday after a brief illness. The services will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at the Hixon Brothers Funeral Chapel in Monroe, with the Rev. George W. Pomeroy of the Monroe First Methodist Church officiating. Interment will follow in the Riverview Cemetery.

Miss Downs had been a resident of Monroe for 52 years. She was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Eastern Star. Before her retirement she was an employee of a local law firm.

She is survived by five cousins.

Pallbearers will be G. R. Downs, Sr., Lassley J. Downs, Dallas Thomasaon, Carroll Royce, Henry Bernstein Jr., George Snellings and Milling Bernstein.

Honorary pallbearers will be friends of the family.

Stock Mart Trading And Prices Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market got the news everybody said it was waiting for this week—return of the striking steelworkers to their jobs — but prices and trading both ran behind the previous week.

The market staged a short-lived rally on Monday following the Supreme Court's steel injunction. Nearly all categories shot upward in heavy trading during the first hour, but prices worked lower the rest of the season and finished about unchanged.

One market expert said the listed failed to follow through on the initial rise because there was nothing surprisingly good in the court's action. Others believe the 80-day injunction period merely takes the pressure off both sides in the negotiations, and possibly could make bargaining that much tougher.

The rails, although chief beneficiaries of the end of the steel strike, moved lower ofter a firm start and finished at new lows for the year.

The Dow - Jones railroad average finished the week at 149.45 off 4.65; industrials at 641.71 off 9.21; utilities 86.67 off 0.39, and 65 stocks 210.10 off 3.36. It was the first general decline in prices in three weeks.

Trading again averaged over three million shares per day but was under the previous week.

The glamor issues — electronics, aircrafts and rocket fuel makers—shot upward to counter the lower trend in the blue - chips. Space stocks were helped by the Air Force announcement of Dyna-Soar contracts.

Motors were mixed despite a sharp curtailment in production and employment.

American Motors again was the most active issue with sales of 493,200 shares. It closed at 91⅛ up 2⅞ in the week. Electric & Musical Industries was runner-up on volume of 406,900 shares and finished at 11¼ up 1¾. Studebaker - Packard with 280,900 shares Hiokol, 251,600 shares, and International Telephone & Telegraph 206,500 shares, rounded out the top five.

The auto section showed America Motors up 2⅞ and Chrysler a point, while Ford fell 3⅛ on word of Ford Foundation was going to sell another two million shares of the company's stock. General Motors dropped 2¼.

Several social functions are scheduled during the three-day affair, including a breakfast for the ladies and the annual banquet.

Irish Head Says Money To Be Paid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Irish official forecast Saturday that some indemnity would be paid the family of a Negro maid killed this week by a car driven by the son of the Irish ambassador. He also thought it likely the youth would be sent home.

At the same time, an attorney representing the woman's relatives said the ambassador, John J. Hearne, had informed him that he an his son, David, planned to attend funeral services for the victim Sunday.

Young Hearne's car struck and killed Mrs. Jossie Hamlin, 54-year-old widow earlier this week. But all charges were dropped when he invoked diplomatic immunity.

The Hamlins' attorney, William S. Thompson, said Hearne contacted him and asked if the family would object if he and David attended the funeral. Thompson said he was sure the ambassador would be treated "with all the courtesies and dignity that go along with his office."

The lawyer said Hearne made no mention of any payment during their conversation.

"He (Hearne) was rather friendly and expressed sympathy," Thompson said. "But that doesn't help bury her or support other members of the family who depended on her.

The attorney indicated there would be a conference with the Hearnes when they attend the services, to be held at 1 p.m. Sunday at Cortland, Va., near the woman's hometown of Emporia. Mrs. Hamlin's survivors include two brothers, seven nephews and three nieces.

In New York, a member of the Irish diplomatic corp said:

"I am sure an indemnity will be paid, and I think it very unlikely the boy (young Hearne) will stay here much longer." The spokesman asked that his name not be used.

The 21-year-old Hearne has had repeated brushes with the law in Washington. In every case, including the traffic death, he has been protected from any criminal or civil action by diplomatic immunity.

Business Briefs

The Board of Directors of Arkansas Fuel Oil Corporation Friday declared a quarterly dividend of twenty - five cents per share on its common stock, payable Dec. 21, to shareholders of record Dec. 4.

The 1959 mid-year convention of Louisiana will be held Friday and Saturday at the Capitol House in Baton Rouge. About 100 members are expected to participate.

The Butane - Propane group is an organization of dealers and suppliers of liquefied petroleum gas, appliances and domestic and industrial gas equipment. Louis Freeman, "Oklahoma's Rural Philospher," will be guest speaker.

NEW YORK (Special) — Edward Malcolm Taylor, 41, has been named Corporation Counsel of Commercial Solvents Corp. The announcement was made by Maynard C. Wheeler, president.

A native of Hoboken, N. J., Taylor was admitted to the bar of that state in 1940. He is a World War II and Korean veteran and served as an Army civilian attorney and as a legal officer with the Judge Advocate General's office. His headquarters will be in New York.

Cotton Futures Prices Rally In Brisk Surge

NEW YORK (AP) —Cotton futures prices rallied briskly late this week to chalk up net gains of 5 cents to $1.55 a bale on the week.

Distant months sagged early in the week on southern and local selling. Later, though, the distant months more than recovered their losses on fairly active mill and trade price fixing, short covering and a relative lack of hedge selling.

The nearer months, meanwhile, edged steadily higher. Demand for the nearby December delivery was attributed in part to the smallness of the certificated stock.

The official forecast of the crop released by the Agriculture Department on Monday showed an increase of 109,000 bales above its report of a month earlier.

Before the official report was released, most trade experts had expected production to show a slight decline because of heavy October rains in parts of the eastern and western belts.

The Census Bureau reported, meanwhile, that 9,718,000 bales had been ginned through Oct. 31. Of the total, a record 2,722 had been ginned during the second half of October.

Ginnings through Oct. 31 represented 66 per cent of the prospective total crop, an about average figure.

According to reports received by the New York Cotton Exchange service bureau, cotton exports during the week ended last Tuesday amounted to only 55,000 bales against 47,000 a week earlier and 64,000 a year earlier.

For the current season through Nov. 10, exports had reached an estimated level of only 576,000 bales against 685,000 a year ago.

METALLIC'S NEW LO-PITCH BUILDINGS

Modern architectural treatments developed the need for a Metallic-type building with a low pitch roof, such as the building above. The Metallic Lo-Pitch building combines all the economy and adaptability of standard Metallic buildings plus the Lo-Pitch roof that blends into the architectural pattern of modern shopping centers. Unobstructed, clear span interiors provide maximum usable space. These buildings are easily insulated and air conditioned and can be furnished with any type walls desired. Roofing and siding is available in six eye-appealing colors. Exclusive Stran-Satin color sheets have a two-layer protective coating of vinyl-aluminum that is vastly superior to paint — assures minimum maintenance.

These buildings can be financed through Metallic's own time purchase plan.

Schizophrenic Mystery May Near Solving

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A German psychiatrist said Saturday new drugs may unlock the mystery of why schizophrenics get that way.

Schizophrenics are called split personalities. They often are extremely violent.

Dr. F. G. Stockhausen, staff physician at a mental hospital in Bonn, told 300 psychiatrists at the University of Texas that tetrabenazine tests on 70 patients with schizophrenia had brought marked improvement in 12 hours to three days.

He said a follow-through on the drug may permit psychiatrists to understand the ailment and why it affects some persons and not others.

"If this could be done, it would be a milestone in research," he said.

Dr. Norman Lende of Saribault State School and Hospital in Minnesota said tetrabenazine is the most effective drug yet used on mental patients.

Dr. Arthur L. Scherbel of the Cleveland, Ohio, Clinic called another drug, Marplan, a paradox.

"In one instance it masks the pain but does not heal," he said. "In another it masks the pain as well as heals."

He said the drug eases pain of connected-tissue diseases such as rheumatoid arthritis and chronic colitis while at times actng as a healer. The drug also shows favorable results, he said, on central nervous system disorders.

Special Week Observance Set

GRAMBLING (Special) — Rev. A. Edward Davis, pastor of the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church in Chicago will be the featured speaker at the special Grambling College Vesper Service today at 6:00 p.m., being held in commemoration of National Achievement Week an annual observance under the auspices of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

"The Achievement of Excellence: Today's Challenge, Tomorrow's Necessity" is the theme of the observance, now in its 34th year as a national observance of the organization. The purpose of National Achievement Week is to focus attention on worthwhile achievements and to stimulate youth and others to greater attainments.

Set Cooking Instruction At Grambling

GRAMBLING (Special) — A meat cooking demonstration under the auspices of the Grambling College Home Economics Department will be presented at the school Tuesday, November 24, to accquaint homemakers with the latest developments in this important food field, it was announced by Mrs. Fidelia O. Johnson, head of the department.

The demonstrations, the department chairman said, will be conducted by Mrs. Hattie H. McSwain, field home economist with the National Livestock and Meat Board. She will give special demonstrations explaining every move in preparing meat dishes which will appeal to every member of the family.

FOOD

"Meat is an accomodating food," Mrs. McSwain has said, "and it offers a wide range of selection for the homemaker to keep her family well fed."

Several of the presentations will be special recipes developed and tested in the kitchens of the National Livestock and Meat Board, a national authority on the selection, care, cooking and serving of meat.

Mrs. Johnson said thatpersons who attend the demonstrations will also be given an attractive and practical meat recipe book.

BARGAIN HOME

Homes below $7,000 are few and far between, but we have a six room home just outside West Monroe city limits. It's supplied with natural gas, water, and septic tank. There's enough room with the 210x420 lot (OFF HY. 80, W. M.) to divide it into 2 to 4 lots. Sure, it needs some work, but look at the price! It's truly maximum value in the low priced field.

STERLINGTON
ASSUME 4½% LOAN

This neat 3 bedroom home is just a few minutes drive from the business district of Sterlington. The tastefully carpeted and draped living room radiates gracious living. All 3 bedrooms are extra large. Two cheery baths eliminate "traffic problems." This lovely home is situated on a hillcrest site for beauty and privacy. There's no big price tag on this feature rich home, as it's priced below $13,500.

CAREFREE LIVING

Is yours in this 3 bedroom brick home in KIROLI WOODS, WEST MONROE. Wall heaters maintain even heating throughout this compact home. There are 1½ baths with shower over tub. The children will have a play park of their own as there's cyclone fencing. Your ticket to carefree living in this home is just $500 plus closing costs.

TRIUMPH IN BEAUTY

You're sure to agree when you see this well constructed new home. It's on the NORTHSIDE, just ONE BLOCK FROM LEE JUNIOR HIGH. The 1½ tile baths add to the convenience of this modern as the minute home. Mom's kitchen is beautiful with its built-in Tappan oven and range and Nutone hood. The 1500 sq. feet of this lovely home is adequately cooled by central air conditioning. Dad's heart will be made glad at the sight of the roomy double carport. Quality usually cannot be bought for this price (less than $20,000).

Convenient Sterlington Location

Is one of the features of this most livable home that has been recently redecorated. Family "togetherness" will be felt in the spacious living room. Oak floors will mean less work for Mom. Floor furnaces will cut the number of "sniffles" in your family this winter. The yard is lovely and completely fenced. Just $250 and closing will put you on the road to becoming a satisfied home owner.

LOSE NO TIME

In seeing this cute and cozy 2 bedroom home which will make your friends praise your choice. It's well located (OFF SPENCER BLVD.) and is convenient to churches, Lexington School, and shopping centers. The living room and hall have luxurious carpeting. There's also clean, central heating and a window air conditioner. You'll have no traffic hazard with your children in the fenced back yard. All of this and more is yours for less than $12,000.

3 BEDROOMS AND DEN

This attractive home is JUST ACROSS FROM LEXINGTON SCHOOL. The house is exceptionally well planned so there's not an inch of wasted space. The den is ideally located for use as a guest room, study, or office. The large lot has many trees which shade the barbecue pit in the back. You'll agree not even the low price on this home could be improved, less than $15.000.

TIRED OF LIVING? . . .

In a rented home . . . do something about it. In this 2 bedroom home just 5 blocks from PLUM STREET SCHOOL, there's good value. The spacious living room will be a great asset when company or family drop in for a visit. The kitchen provides work space enough to suit any homemaker. Oak floors add beauty to this feature-packed home. Your children will have a safe playground in the fenced back yard. This is an unusually good house and exceptionally low priced, below $8,500.

GOOD-BYE MR. LANDLORD

Is what you'll say when you see this home which can be yours for only $250 down plus closing costs. This 2 bedroom home is located just OFF NORTH SEVENTH STREET, WEST MONROE. There's a quite spacious living room. The kitchen has very good cabinet space and a vent-a-hood. Home ownership is sweet in this home that's priced less than $8,000.

TRULY MAGNIFICENT

In its SELECT NORTHSIDE LOCATION is this home with 2,000 sq. feet The kitchen ha severy feature imginbeautiful with wall-to-wall carpet. The kitchen has every feature imginable—lovely Mahogany cabinets, built-in oven and range, dishwasher, and disposal. The Mahogany paneled family room with its quarry tile floors will be everyone's favorite spot for family fun and informal entertaining. Next summer will be anxiously awaited by all the family as there is central air conditioning inside and a private swimming pool for refreshing relaxation outside. This is truly a gracious home in a gracious setting.

ACCENT ON BEAUTY

Just TWO BLOCKS FROM HIGHLAND SCHOOL, WEST MONROE, is this neat home. The spacious and attractive pine paneled den will be the center of family living. The living room itself will accommodate more than a dozen guests easily. The lovely lawn is fenced in the back for the safety of the smaller children. Living will be worth while in this beautiful home, for a price less than $10,500.

3 BEDROOMS 2 BATHS

Seldom does one find this combination for the price, less than $10,000. The living room will accommodate your most massive furniture. The master bedroom has a walk-in closet. The children will adore the play house in the back yard. You could never invest so little ($300 and closing costs) and receive so much from a home.

RENTAL SLIPS SHOWING?

Then this modestly priced 2 bedroom home (below $8500) is your dream come true. It's NEAR PLUM STREET SHOPPING CENTER and is on the bus line. There's a separate dining room that Mom will appreciate for holidays and special guests. This compact home is adequately heated by floor furnaces. For just $300 and closing costs, you can throw away your rent receipts forever.

FRIENDLY LITTLE HOUSE

In a quiet, older neighborhood OFF SOUTH GRAND is this 2 bedroom beauty. There'll be no dodging furniture in the spacious bedrooms. Many enjoyable days are ahead with the cozy wood burning fireplace in the living room. Mom will have her choice of dining room or breakfast room on special occasions. The unusually large walk-in hall closet will bring many sighs from the family. Spring will "burst out all over" in the breath taking yard filled with many shrubs, trees, and flowers. There's much value in this home, but a small price of just $400 and closing costs will make it yours.

LOW ASSUMPTION $59 MONTH

This home of masonry construction is located in one of WEST MONROE'S fastest growing subdivisions. The living room is quite spacious. Wall heaters provide ample heat against the winter winds. Why hesitate when home ownership is so inexpensive (the total price of this neat home is less than $9,000.)

HESITATE AND MISS

The opportunity to own a 3 bedroom home just OFF SOUTH GRAND. All bedrooms are unusually roomy. The living room is also quite spacious. Keeping your home free of drafts this winter will be no problem as there's central heating in this compact home. Next summer all of the 1288 sq. feet will be comfortably cool with 3 air conditioners. You'll give your budget a lift with this home so reasonably priced, below $12,000.

HAPPIER LIVING

Will be yours in this attractive 3 bedroom brick home in a very desirable WEST MONROE SUBDIVISION. The master bedroom is quite spacious. The kitchen has ample natural cabinets, double sink, vent, PLUS a large dining area. Central heating will prevent drafty, chilly rooms this winter. Who wouldn't be proud to own such a home as this for just $100 down and closing costs.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

JUST THE RIGHT PRE-SCRIPTION

Automobiles, like people need treatment now and then to get well or better yet . . . to keep well.
A simple Check-Up now and then will tell you what condition it is in . . . what service it may need.
Bring your car in for "CONSULTATION" on any ills it has. It's the best Prescription for top performance in the long run.
You'll feel better too . . . knowing your car is in top operating condition . . . both from a mechanical and a safety angle.

TAIN-SHUD!

RELAX, YOU CLOWNS

I THOUGHT YOU HEROES WERE ALL DEAD—OR SOMETHING!

GENERAL PHILERIE! I DO DE-CLARE!

I'LL HAVE A LITTLE RESPECT FROM YOU JOKERS—SO THE PENTAGON DOESN'T FIND OUT I'M OBSOLETE!

WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT, SIR?

WE'RE GOING TO SET UP THE GRAND ARMY FLIERS OF THE REPUBLIC—THE 'GAFR' AIR FORCE, STEVE...

IT'S SO YOU OLD GAFFERS MAY MARCH IN PA-RADES ON NATION-AL HOLIDAYS...

...WEARING YOUR MEDALS AND YOUR 50-MISSION CRUSH HATS FROM WORLD WAR TWO!

PH- I MEAN, GENERAL, WHAT'S THIS GATHERING OF OLD, BOLD PILOTS IN AID OF?

I CAN'T TELL YOU, BLUE JAW! I HEAR YOU'VE TAKEN TO USING RUSSIAN DRESSING ON YOUR SALAD!

I'M A SWAMP RAT, SIR! THIS HERE NORTH COUNTRY IS SO COLD MY CORPUSCLES ARE CURDLIN'!

THIS IS MERELY A TEMPORARY STAGING AREA, MINNIE-BALL

...WHERE WE'RE GOING YOU'LL HAVE TO WEAR A HEATED FLYING SUIT IN THE SHOWER...

IF WE HAD SHOWERS...

WHEELS UP AT 0600!

SO THE VETERAN PILOTS TAKE OFF IN AN AIR FORCE TRANSPORT...

... AND WHERE THEY ARE GOING AN EQUALLY ASSORTED GROUP OF HUMAN BEINGS AWAITS THEIR ARRIVAL...

BRINGING UP FATHER

JIGGS, CAN YOU COME HOME EARLY AND TAKE ME SHOPPING?

I'M SORRY, DARLIN'-I'M GOIN' TO HAVE A BUSY DAY--

I'VE GOT AN IMPORTANT ENGAGEMENT IN THE AFTERNOON!

AND I CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS IT!

WELL, I'LL HAVE TO GO SHOPPING SOME OTHER DAY-

MAGGIE THINKS I HAVE NOTHIN' TO DO BUT TAKE HER SHOPPIN'-

I SAID I HAD AN IMPORTANT ENGAGEMENT -AND I WUZN'T KIDDIN'!

JIGGS & Co.

HI, JIGGS! YOU'RE JUST IN TIME-

I ALWAYS LIKE TO BE PUNCTUAL!

YOU'RE NOT DOIN' SO GOOD TODAY, JIGGS-

IT WOULD HAVE BEEN CHEAPER TO TAKE MAGGIE SHOPPIN'!

HEY! THE PIPE SPRANG A LEAK!

LET'S GIT OUT OF HERE!

GOLLY, I GOT SOAKED! WHAT'LL I TELL MAGGIE?

TELL HER YOU GOT CAUGHT IN A SHOWER--

© 1959, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

---SHOWER?! I DIDN'T SEE ANY SHOWER!

IT WUZ AWFUL DOWNTOWN-- A REAL CLOUDBURST!

..FORTIETH DAY WITHOUT RAIN!.. CITY HIRES RAINMAKER IN EFFORT TO END LONG DROUGHT--

B-B-BUT, "DADDY"! WE HEARD IT ALL AND SAW WHAT HAPPENED! THEY JUST TOOK HIS DI'MOND AN' KILLED HIM, AND TOSSED HIS BODY INTO TH' RIVER!

"JUNIOR" NEVER GOT OVER BEING A SMALLTIME CARNEY GRIFTER!

WELL, HE'S GOT OVER EVER'THING NOW! I SAY RUN, AND CALL TH' COPS!

HO-HO! IN THIS TOWN? CHIEF'S PROBABLY THAT KILLER'S BROTHER!

NO, ANNIE! JUSTICE HERE CAN BE A STRANGE AND TRICKY THING, BUT BUSINESS IS ABOUT THE SAME THE WORLD OVER! COME ON, LET'S GO IN!

AH! GOOD EVENING, FRIEND! YOU BUY AND SELL ANYTHING, EH? I HAVE HERE ONE MAGNIFICENT DIAMOND!

IT'S HIM! TH' ONE OLD NIGHTSHIRT SAID HAS MILLIONS IN STONES!

A BEAUTY, EH? WORTH EASILY FIFTY THOUSAND! TO YOU, AMIGO, TWENTY-FIVE G's, AMERICAN!

YOU WASTA MY TIME! MAYBE YOU STEAL IT! BUT I GEEVE YOU FEEFTY DOLLAR!

NOT SO FAST, CHUM! THOUGHT Y'MIGHT LIKE A PAIR! YOU SEE THIS IS THE MATE TO THE ONE YOU JUST, AH, ACQUIRED FROM THE OLD GANDHI-TYPE CHARACTER, BEFORE HE WENT SWIMMING!

Y-Y-YOU TALKA CRAZY TALK!

OH, HELLO, BOYS! DON'T YOU EVER KNOCK?

THEY "KNOCK" YOU GOOD, WISE GUY! KNOCK YOU OFF! NOW!

BEHIND YOU, "DADDY"!

11-16-59

JUST RELAX, CHUM! NOW, WITH NO MORE RUDE INTERRUPTIONS, LET'S GET DOWN TO BUSINESS, EH? FIRST, LET'S SEE HOW MUCH CASH YOU HAVE IN THE SAFE!

YOU ROBBER! BANDIT! THIEF!
